

MODERN ICE-AGE CREATURE — This fearsome dinosaur was a prize winner in the ice and snow statue feature of the Michigan Tech winter carnival at Houghton, Mich. Note its sharp teeth. The Rock Knockers Club of the Geology Department formed the prehistoric creature and equipped with a speaker that emitted growling and hissing sounds.

Overland Link To "Outside" Established For Yellowknife

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. — This mining town 600 air miles north of Edmonton now has an overland link with the "outside" and many residents are planning to travel "outside" with the next convoy later this week.

The settlement's only overland link was completed Friday night when five trucks owned by Grimshaw Trucking and Distributing Co. rolled into Yellowknife with 30 tons of freight.

The trucks had completed 20 hours of actual travel on the 300-mile trip from Grimshaw, in north-western Alberta. With the exception of the last 18 miles into Yellowknife, the road is good.

A Hamilton of Grimsby trucking estimated the road will have cost the firm $30,000 by the time it is completed next winter.

A 1949 venture by another company failed after an outlay of $70,000 when most of the first convoy's equipment was wrecked.

Now trucks loading in Edmonton Monday will be able to deliver freight here Thursday. The only previous means of prompt service was air freight.

Fund Urges Prison Reform For Juveniles

VANCOUVER — A proposed 12-point program for prison reform of juveniles has been sent to the Hon. G. Fauteux, chairman of the Supreme Court of Canada by officials of the Jim Peters Fund here.

"We strip all privacy from these children when the prison gates clang behind them," the submission said. "We guide them with all modern facilities available, but under loaded guns, behind iron bars."

Fund officials urged "minimum security" for juvenile prisoners, other than incorrigibles, and that families be permitted to visit prisoners once a month with a lunch.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

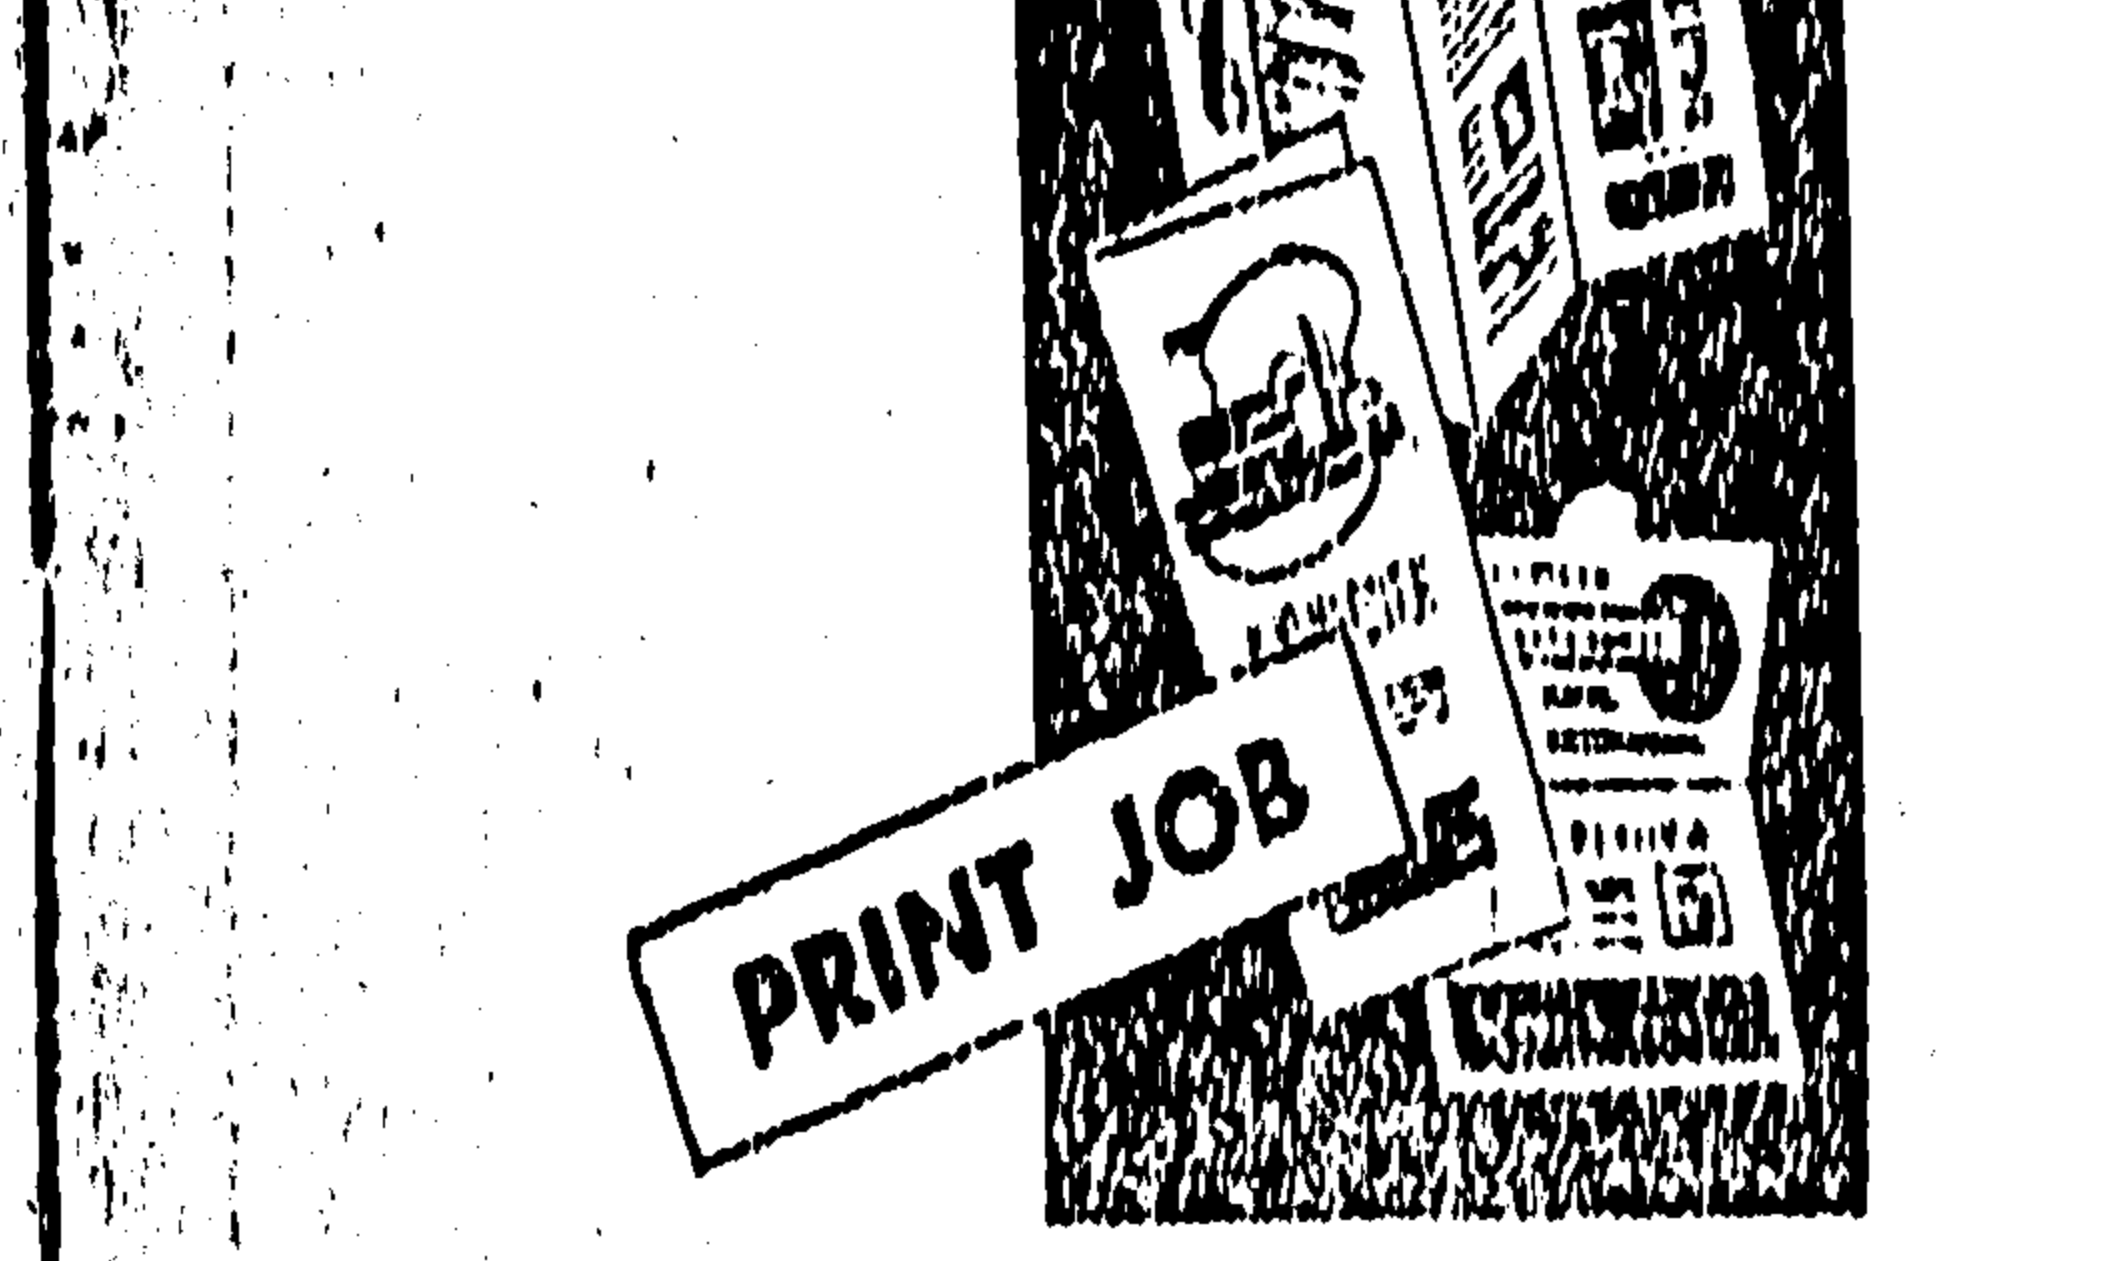

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

For the ultimate in the printing art... delivered to you quickly and on the agreed-upon date... at surprisingly modest cost, be sure to consult with us for your next printing order.

there is no obligation. Just phone 4125 for an appointment.

count on us!
THE DAILY NEWS
COMMERCIAL PRINTING DEPT.

Mister Roberts Voted Top Film Of Last Year

The best feature film shown in Canada during 1955 was Warner Brothers' comedy of the United States Navy supply ships, Mister Roberts, it was decided by press, radio and TV critics in the closest vote yet in the annual Ten Best poll of the Canadian Film Weekly. Runner-up in a picture finish was United Artists' picture of life in the Bronx, Marty, which lost out by the narrowest margin in the 14-year history of the poll. Both films have been nominated for Academy Awards.

Top in the selections for the Ten Best players was Grace Kelly for her performance in Paramount's The Country Girl, a film which was released in the USA in 1954 but was not generally shown in Canada until almost a year later and therefore was not eligible for last year's Canadian Film Weekly poll. The Country Girl finished third in the picture poll and another film released later here, Warner Brothers' A Star Is Born, ended up fifth. Both were strong contenders in the 1955 Academy Awards. Runner-up to Miss Kelly was Glenn Ford for his performances in The Blackboard Jungle and Trial, two MGM features that finished sixth and ninth respectively in the picture poll.

Surprisingly, the star of Mister Roberts, Henry Fonda, did not make the first ten, although James Cagney, his co-star, finished fifth—mostly because of his fine work in Love Me or Leave Me. Ernest Borgnine, the star of Marty, was third.

Six of the ten films were in cinemascope. All films were produced in the United States, the first time since the inception of the poll that a British film did not make the first ten, although three J. Arthur Rank pictures—Mr. Hulot's Holiday, The Divided Heart and Romeo and Juliet—were among the five closest to the top ten. The other two which just missed were MGM's The Tender Trap and Empire-Universal's 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

Altogether there were 140 eligible pictures and the critics voted for 91, as compared with 157 and 80 last year. This seems to show that, while there were fewer films, the quality had improved considerably in the critics' estimation. Votes were cast for 109 players this year and 106 in 1955.

Warner Brothers, which for several years did not have any films in the first ten, made up for it with three this year, tying with MGM for the lead among the studios. Twentieth Century-Fox had two, United Artists' one and Paramount one.

Calgary Lawyer First Albertan To High Court

OTTAWA — Henry G. Nolan, Calgary lawyer and one-time associate prosecutor for an international military tribunal trying war criminals in the Far East, has been named the first Albertan ever to be named to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Justice Nolan, 50, succeeds the late Mr. Justice J. W. Estey, who died Jan. 22. Mr. Justice Estey was from Saskatchewan.

In Calgary, Mr. Justice Nolan said he learned of the appointment from a news bulletin and declined to make any comment on it until he had confirmation from Ottawa.

The appointment crowns a distinguished 33-year career which started when he was admitted to the Bar of England and of Alberta in 1922. He is a graduate of the University of Alberta and Oxford University, where he went as a Rhodes scholar.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Says Militia Concentrating On Training

HALIFAX — Canada's militia soldiers now are paying more attention to training, Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Leeson, militia adviser to the general staff, said Sunday night as he began a tour of militia units in Nova Scotia.

He said more technical training has brought an improvement in the calibre of militia recruits. Those who thought of the reserve army as a place "for a few beers" had been weeded out.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

ONLY Beatty WASHERS HAVE Stainless Steel

Double Tubs and TWO-TONE FINISH

6 YEAR GUARANTEE

Indestructible Iron, Wingers, 4-piece Ball-Bearing Mechanism

MORE BEATTY WASHERS IN USE IN CANADA THAN ANY OTHER MAKE

GORDON & ANDERSON

Prince Rupert, B.C. Phone 3014

JOHNSTONE & MICHIEL LTD.

Terrace, B.C. Phone 33

NEW DRESS FOR GUARD'S PIPE BAND... Cpl. William Stirling, left, of Petawawa, and Pipe Major Archie Cairns of Hamilton, Ont., 2nd Battalion, Canadian Guards Pipe Band, model new full dress uniforms for wear by pipers of the regiment. The wearing of the Royal Stuart tartan in the kilt and plaid was approved by HM the Queen some time ago. The kilt is unique inasmuch as it is pleated in back to show the tartan's darker colours. Four black tassels on the white horsehair sporran represent the regiment's four battalions. The bonnet is of black ostrich feathers with a red, white and blue diced band, similar to that worn by the Scots Guards Regiment. A red and white plume is worn on the left side of the bonnet. Only the 2nd and 4th Battalions of the Regiment of Canadian Guards have pipe bands. (National Defence Photo)

Below-Zero Weather Fails To Halt Ontario Fishermen

ONANAM LAKE, Ont. — Three fishermen link nets under ice in 40-below-zero weather so that they can continue to fish. The fishermen are from the town of Onanama, Ont., and are fishing for whitefish. The weather is so cold that the fish are frozen in the lake. The fishermen are using a special net to catch the fish. The net is made of a special material that can withstand the cold. The fishermen are using the net to catch the fish. The net is made of a special material that can withstand the cold. The fishermen are using the net to catch the fish.

Whether a blizzard is raging or knifing winds slash across the open ice of the lake, 110 miles northwest of Port Arthur, the hardy trio of fishermen daily set out on their snowmobile.

Jack McKirdy, who has a commercial fishing licence, usually runs the operation.

He drops off two men at points 200 feet apart. With forged steel chisels they hammer through two-foot-thick ice until they have made holes big enough for a man to fall through.

Nets are used, not hooks, and the problem—solved daily—is to get 300 feet of net from one hole to the other. This is accomplished by means of a jigger.

Of unknown origin, the jigger, as modified by Mr. McKirdy, is 7½ feet long, made of four-inch plank with a groove cut through the centre of the plank. Beneath this, an iron bar drops of its own weight and in doing so, raises a wooden arm on the tip of which is a steel spike. A light line is attached to the metal end of the jigger, and the device is pushed through the ice hole.

By pulling on the rope, the iron arm operates the spiked end and the jigger "walks" to the next hole 300 feet away. The net is then attached to the light line and hauled up and made secure in the second and subsequent holes.

SPEEDY WHEN CLEAR

"A good jigger man can run a net through in four or five minutes," said Mr. McKirdy.

Nets are made at intervals of three days and as soon as the nets are lifted they are stripped of the pike, pickerel, white-fish and sent under again. They freeze as soon as they leave the water but the fishermen say it makes them easier to handle.

Twice a week Mr. McKirdy sends a snowmobile towing a temporary quarters.

MOOSE JAW, Sask. — Mayor L. H. Lewy says the city may use the present post office building as a city hall. A new $2,000,000 post office is to be built on the site of the old city hall next summer.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Even Mr. Heinsite Can't Think This One Through

Quick to criticize the play of others, Mr. Heinsite is often unable to come up with the right play for the contract, himself.

Today's contract was a tricky one and Mr. Muzzy muffed it, as usual. Mr. Dale led the king of spades and dummy's ace won. "There'll be no cross-ruffing in this hand," said Mr. Muzzy as he quickly extracted all of the defenders' trumps in three leads. Delighted that the trumps broke 3-2, he started on diamonds. When that suit failed to break evenly, however, the opposition won two diamonds and two spades for a one trick set.

ANALYSIS

"A child could have made it," announced Mr. Heinsite, flatly. "Take only two rounds of trumps, then lead the ace, the king and another diamond. If the diamonds break 3-3, you are all right for four-odd. If they break 4-2, you still have the chance that the player with the doubleton diamond also had only two trumps. You can then ruff a diamond on the board. That happened to be the set-up in this hand."

"You're on the right track, but it doesn't lead anywhere," interrupted Mr. Dale. "You must think I'm this child you referred to. When I got in with the third round of diamonds I would simply lead the last trump off the board. Then how could Muzzy ruff a diamond?"

Mr. Heinsite changed his mind and tried again. "Don't lead trumps at all, then," he argued. "Just bang out three rounds of diamonds beginning at trick two."

Mr. Dale was enjoying himself. "That's no good, either," he said. "When I won the third diamond, I would just lead a fourth round. If you ruffed in dummy with the queen of hearts, my jack would eventually take the setting trick. If you didn't ruff with the queen of hearts, my partner would win the trick by ruffing."

The play to make the hand was to lead the queen of hearts at trick two, then to lead a diamond and duck it entirely. Here the defenders could cash two spade tricks, but no more.

When Mr. Muzzy got the lead at the next trick, probably with a club, he could lead one more high trump, then cash the ace and king of diamonds and ruff his last diamond with dummy's last trump. He could return to his hand by ruffing a club, pick up the jack of trumps and spread the hand.

DALE'S ANSWER

Mr. Dale was enjoying himself. "That's no good, either," he said. "When I won the third diamond, I would just lead a fourth round. If you ruffed in dummy with the queen of hearts, my jack would eventually take the setting trick. If you didn't ruff with the queen of hearts, my partner would win the trick by ruffing."

The play to make the hand was to lead the queen of hearts at trick two, then to lead a diamond and duck it entirely. Here the defenders could cash two spade tricks, but no more.

When Mr. Muzzy got the lead at the next trick, probably with a club, he could lead one more high trump, then cash the ace and king of diamonds and ruff his last diamond with dummy's last trump. He could return to his hand by ruffing a club, pick up the jack of trumps and spread the hand.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in 1940, the new justice practiced law in Calgary. In 1944, he was named vice judge advocate general at national defence headquarters, a position he held until 1945. He was Canada's prosecutor before the International military tribunal from 1946 to 1948.

In 1945 he was named to a special board established to review sentences of one to five years imposed on troops for military or civilian offences.

Mr. Justice Nolan is the son of the late P. J. (Paddy) Nolan, KC, who was described as one of the leading advocates in the Northwest Territories before the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan were formed. The late Mr. Nolan came to western Canada from Ireland in the 1880s. For a short time he was the editor of the Calgary Herald.

Mr. Justice Nolan married Doris MacArthur, sister of Brig. George A. MacArthur in 1928. They have two daughters, Shelia and Mona.

The appointment carries a salary of $22,500 a year.

Mr. Justice Nolan was head of the Calgary law firm of Nolan, Chambers, Might, Saucier, Peacock and Jones. The late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett once was a senior partner of the firm.

SON OF FORMER EDITOR

Before joining the army in