What's news at Inco?

By The Associated Press

Hollywood-Mickey Northrup,

These are pellets of iron ore from Inco's new plant at Copper Cliff

This ore contains over 65% iron and less than 2% silica. This is higher in grade than any iron ore now produced in quantity in North America.

This is the $19 million plant which, with planned enlargements, will eventually produce about I million tons of iron ore a year. The present unit will treat 1000 tons of pyrrhotite concentrates daily.

Inco's process for the recovery of iron ore took years of laboratory and pilot plant studies. It opens the way for increased recovery of other elements from the complex Sudbury ores when economically feasible,

This latest major result of Inco's process research is one of a series of planned, long-range developments by which its ore treatment processes are being revolutionized. It is a further step loward one of Inco's printary objectives—the maximum utilization of its ores.
