Eileen Laurie, Canadian Broadcasting commentator from Vancouver, was her customary cheerful self yesterday despite the fact that she had picked up a mild virus since her arrival in Prince Rupert Sunday.

Mrs. Laurie was hostess yesterday to Alderman Kay Smith, Mrs. Jocelyn Bolton and myself at lunch at the Club 27.

The weekend visit was Mrs. Laurie's second here. She was here on tour for the CBC late in February.

Mrs. Laurie and husband Jim left Vancouver June 30 for a month's car trip through Central and Northern British Columbia and had already met several hundreds of people before arriving here Sunday afternoon.

"I was greatly surprised and flattered to find how many people in B.C. listen to and enjoy my radio program 'Morning Visit,'" Mrs. Laurie said.

While in Kitimat last Friday at the formal opening of the Kitimat-Terrace railway line, "I felt like a queen," Mrs. Laurie said. She attended the luncheon given for members of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central and Northern British Columbia and Yukon and South eastern Alaska.

She said she was quite surprised to learn how many men as well as the women enjoy her program.

"It is most gratifying and more than encouraging."

City Women To Visit Old Country

Three old-time residents of the city are leaving tomorrow by plane for extended visits to their former homes in England and Scotland.

A junior and senior course are available to civic employees and some city hall personnel are already enrolled, City Clerk R. W. Long told council.

Ald. Casey said that the city had no strings on the allegiance of its employees.

"If they are ambitious, they'll get ahead," he said, and added that the ratepayers should not have to pay for their education.

A plea by Mrs. E. Goodsell, of 521 Sixth Avenue East for reconsideration of the assessment on her property was referred back to the finance committee for study and report, Mr. Goodsell told council that she felt sure a mistake had been made by City Assessor Fred Boyd and asked council members to inspect her property, which she said had been assessed at more than double its previous figure.

Couple Leaves For Norway

First leg of a three-months trip to their native Norway began Saturday for Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fossheim, 1136 Second Avenue West, when they left by train for Edson, Alberta, where they will visit with their eldest son, Elmar and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fossheim will sail aboard the Stavangerfjord July 20 for Bergen where they will visit friends and relatives.

At Edson, Thorald Fossheim, 20-year-old brother of Mr. Fossheim, will join the couple for the trip to their homeland. While it is the first trip in almost three decades for Mr. Fossheim, it will be the second for his wife, who visited her parents at Bergen in 1945.

Monthly statements of city expenditures will be made available to the city council shortly, City Clerk Long told aldermen last night in answer to an enquiry by Ald. Casey as to why periodic statements had not been issued up until now.

Acting-Mayor Krueger said that the accounting staff had not only undergone changes but had had their time taken up with assessment and tax notices since the first of the year.

Mr. Long said that a six-month statement of expenditures was now in the process of being prepared.
