During the past 20 years, automobile accidents have taken the lives of 37,000 Canadians — the entire population of a fair-sized city. A half-million more have been injured.

To meet the staggering cost of traffic accidents, the automobile insurance business this year will pay out more than $80,000,000. Beyond this, insurance companies will do everything possible to stem the rising toll of automobile accidents --- by offering the sale driving incentive of lower insurance premiums for accident-free car owners and through safety work and public education aimed at making drivers more aware of the perils of modern-day motoring, on behalf of more than 200 compating companies writing Fire, Aufomobile and Casually Insurance.
