Woman Adjudicator Busy Buying For Canadian Trip

By SYLVIA HACK
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (C)—Pamela Stirling, first woman chosen to act as adjudicator at Canada's regional drama festival, is "madly busy" buying clothes for her Canadian visit.

The slim, grey-eyed actress, who was born in Scotland, brought up in France and now lives in London, will fly to Vancouver Jan. 4 to begin her three-month tour. She will be accompanied by her French actor-producer husband, Claude de Saeche.

Miss Stirling, 35, will watch some 80 plays performed by English and French-speaking repertory groups at the 13 regional festivals. After each play, she will go on stage and deliver her opinion on the acting and production. Eight plays will be chosen for finals later in the year.

MADE VOICE RECORDINGS
To get the job, she had to make recordings of her voice speaking in French and English. She passed easily. "I believe I am the first woman to be chosen as adjudicator by Canada, and I feel highly honored," she told a reporter.

"Right now I'm madly busy buying clothes and putting my affairs in order before we leave. I have bought five evening gowns especially for the trip and there are still a couple of warm suits to come."

Miss Stirling was born into the theatre. Her father, Edward, took her to Paris when she was two years old, his purpose being to form his own company. Later

CITY COUNCIL BRIEFS

Grant of $4,000 For Bureau, Museum To Be Recommended to 1956 Council

The city council will recommend to the incoming council that $4,000 be granted to the Northern British Columbia Museum and the Prince Rupert Tourist Bureau so that the two groups can carry on operations next year.

The grant represents an approximate increase of $2,000 in city aid over the money allotted the museum and tourist bureau this year.

Recommendations arose from a letter from the museum board stating that past efforts to finance the organization through donations and tag days had proved inadequate.

The letter stated that consideration was being given to supporting the museum and tourist bureau through possible institution of a business tax.

Canadian Births Set New Record In Past Year

OTTAWA (C)—A new high in number of births in Canada in 1955 and a record low death rate were reported Tuesday in a private health survey.

"Canada's health record for 1955 is the best in the history of the country," said Hon. Brooke Claxton, vice-president and general manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Canada.

The company's regular year-end report on the country's health said 1955 births reached a record of nearly 450,000. The death rate was expected to be somewhat less than the previous low in 1954 of 8.2 in each 1,000 of population. Last year's death rate was 12 per cent below the 1948-50 average.

The report added that despite a great increase in child population in recent years, the death rate from communicable diseases of childhood was unusually low this year.

Infant mortality would be less than 35 in 1,000 live births and the death rate of mothers in childbirth likely would be at a record low of "appreciably less" than one in 1,000 live births.
