

One Of City's Pioneer Firms To Change Hands On Monday

One of the oldest-established firms in Prince Rupert changes hands today.

Opening Monday under new management is Chandler's Studio, 216 Fourth Street.

Part of the life of Prince Rupert since 1910, the well-known photographic business severing the last link with the Chandler family today when Mrs. R. D. (Bessie) Thorarinson, daughter of founder Fred W. Chandler, hands over the keys to the new owner, Theodore Dimitrov.

Mrs. Thorarinson, born in Prince Rupert, can look back on a lifetime spent here. "I can't remember a time when I was

Rummage Sale To Be Held By WOTM Group

The Mooseheart committee of the Women of the Moose泰山夜 at its regular meeting completed plans for its WOTM Bingo night to be staged tonight in the Moose Temple.

In other business, it was decided to hold a rummage sale this month with Mrs. William H. Nesbitt appointed convener.

The session, chaired by Mrs. Nesbitt and held at the home of Mrs. L. C. R. Raabe on Eighth Avenue West, was attended by other members. Mrs. Florence Birtch, Mrs. Elizabeth Dunn, and Mrs. Thomas Parkin, and Mrs. Jean Numa.

"I'll just settle down and be a housewife," she smiled.

New proprietor of the business, which will continue under the same name as before, is Theodore Drov Dimitrov.

Both Mr. Dimitrov and his wife, Rose, are experienced photographers having owned three studios in their native Yugoslavia. They came directly to Prince Rupert from their homeland five years ago, and have four children—Tommy, 7

Mrs. Thomas Parkin, and Mrs. Lorrene, 3.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Johnstone and sons Bruce, Blair and David of 318 Fourth Avenue East, left this morning by car for a holiday in eastern Canada. While Mrs. Johnstone and children visit their mother in Sioux Lookout, Ontario, Mr. Johnstone, commanding officer of HMCS Chatham, will attend a naval course in Montreal.

not working in this store," she said. "I used to help my father when I was only a little girl."

In the midst of preparations for leaving Prince Rupert, Mrs. Thorarinson and her husband, who has resigned his position as a labor foreman with Columbian Cellulose Company, face the future with mixed feelings.

"My father died in 1954, and my mother the year after" she said. "It seems to be the right time to make a move. But I know we will miss Prince Rupert and all our friends."

Mr. and Mrs. Thorarinson and children Beatrice, 15, and Douglas, 6, expect to leave for Duncan, B.C. in about a week's time.

"Bessie," as she is familiarly known to many Prince Rupert residents, has no plans to open another photographic business.

"I'll just settle down and be a housewife," she smiled.

New proprietor of the business, which will continue under the same name as before, is Theodore Drov Dimitrov.

MUSEUM BRIEFS

—By JOCELYN BOLTON—
Some of our interesting guests this week have been from far-away places, and some local people have also been to see us. We visited Kispox, and are now bound for Kitwanga and Kitwaneo. Mr. Weston is a keen photographer and has taken many great pictures.

Mrs. Elizabeth Erlanger, an artist from New York was enthralled with our totem poles, and bought copies of "Soogwills" to take home to her friends and pupils. We enjoyed talking to her.

We have been fortunate in further donations to our exhibits

—Mrs. Oggi Tylosky of Edmonton sent us some Mexican money for our coin collection through her sister Mrs. H. S. Cobb. Dr.

L. P. Charbonneau through Dr.

R. G. Large, sent us two large heavy cannon balls, which will add to our armament exhibit.

They were used in the struggle between the English and French at Fort Churchill on Hudson's

Bay many years ago. Borden Street School also sent us another stone tool for our Native exhibit. Mr. Sing of the Prince

Rupert Hotel also paid another visit.
