Elks Take Lead

AA UCH credit is due the Elks Club for its initiative in sponsoring a parade and other events in the city on Dominion Day.

Although holidays of any sort are always welcome, a great deal is added for those staying in town if there is a bit of pageantry to mark the occasion.

In the past Prince Rupert has not shown to any extent that it has much initiative in this respect. While most communities of comparable size have at least one occasion during the summer for indulging in festive mood - Kelowna has its Regatta, Pentic- ganization there would have ton its Peach Festival, Vernon its Pioneer Days and so on - Prince Rupert usually does not see fit to let its hair down unless there is a Coronation, a Shriners convention or some other special affair to celebrate.

For the Elks the organization of a parade will involve a certain amount of work which they seem quite happy to undertake. It is to be hoped, however, that there will be others who will step forward to show that this effort is appreciated. Already several organizations have signified their intention to enter the parade, but it is a case of the more the merrier.

While prizes for the best float and decorated car are a real attraction, the fun of devising and arranging an entry should by itself prove sufficient incentive.

In giving the Elks Club our thanks, let's also give it some active support in its worthwhile program,

Welcome Visitors

Turing yesterday and today Prince Rupert has, been host to Masonic delegates attending the meeting of the Grand Lodge of B.C.

It is a noteworthy occasion for this city, being the first such meeting to be held here in 33 years. Moreover the visiting delegates represent 150 lodges throughout the province with a total membership of the power to mobilize the moral, vants and patronage - hungry nearly $40,000,000 this year. 24,000. This is an important section of B.C.'s populace made up of men who no doubt have an active part in their communities' affairs.

Having recently entertained a large number of members of the Gizeh Temple Shrine who were here for their initiation ceremonies, the city feels it is it kept the antagonists talking committee which Sen. Crerar increase government spending, forming a pleasant and firm acquaintance with British Columbians — and others from points outside the province — in the Masonie Order.

They are men who have contributed a great deal in charitable endeavor and we are proud to have them with us.

OVER-ENTHUSIASTIC POLICEMAN stubborness of Russia and the " CUSSES AT WRONG MOTORIST

PITTSBURGH &—Traffic patrolman Maurice Quinlan lost his temper Thursday as a motorist made a turn in downtown Patisburgh. He order the motorist to get moving because he was tying up traffic.

The motorist, who said Quinlan used a few choice cuss
