VANCOUVER O—Some juveniles are driven to crime to finance the cars they own, Oscar Orr, veteran Vancouver magistrate, told the annual convention of the British Columbia Magistrates' Association.

"They put down a payment on a hot rod and become a legal owner. Then they find they can't afford it. They have to steal the gas and parts and often the car is used in commission of other crimes."

He said a condition for probation in such cases should be that the youngster must not drive another car during the period he is under supervision.

British Pull Out Of Suez

End 74 Years Of Occupation

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—The last British soldier quit the Suez canal zone today, ending 74 years of military occupation in Egypt.

The last to leave was Brig. J. H. Lacey, who quietly handed over the Port Said harbor navy house to the Egyptians at 6:25 a.m. local time.

Then he boarded the British landing ship Evan Gibb, and with 10 officers and 80 men sailed for Cyprus. They were the last of the British canal zone garrison, which two years ago numbered 35,000 men.

The Union Jack was lowered for the last time in the zone Tuesday evening.

Egypt has taken over operation of the huge bases Britain built in the area. Britain retains the right to return to them at any time in the next seven years if an outside power attacks Turkey or any Arab state.

The British force pulled out six days before the deadline set in the 1954 British-Egyptian treaty.

The Egyptians are planning a major celebration for the deadline date, June 18.
