Symbolic Ceremony

TARIVING of the last spike at Kitimat may not rate the same place in Canadian history as the CPR's final spike ceremony at Craigellachie many years ago but it is an event to be remembered nonetheless,

By this symbolic act the country's newest rail line officially was completed and its newest rail included in the national transportation network. The significance of the occasion was aptly summed up by CNR vice-president S. F. Dingle who said that it brought attention to a "portion of the national heritage that has for too long lain dormant."

Mr. Dingle was referring not only to the area at the head of Douglas Channel but to the whole northwest Pacific region. In the past few years we have seen this region take on fresh importance but the time has been long in coming and there is still much more to be done before it can be said that Canadians really appreciate what they have up here.

To publicise the ceremony and to give those present something to remember it by, it was gratifying to see that some imagination was used. The aluminum tickets and replica spikes that the guests received were eleverly done souvenirs which no doubt will be carefully kept by all who received them. It was a happy way to mark an oceasion which, for the northwest at least, was historic.

Protect The Herring

THE ACTION of the Chamber of Commerce endorsing the closure of Shelikof bay to herring fishing, is to be commended. Indeed, there may be other areas which should also be closed.

Herring is a most important food fish for practically every fish that swims, including the King salmon, which contributes so much to the economy of Ketchikan, via the trollers and the Ketchikan King Salmon derby sport-fishermen,

There should be a definite curtailment of herring fishing for anything but bait. Use of herring for fertilizer should be prohibited until such time as the herring runs have been built up to a point where a quota take could be instituted for fertilizer purposes. -Ketchikan Daily News.

INSULTING REALTOR SUCCESS AS THOUSANDS READ "ADS"

LONDON 45 - Roy Brooks takes advertising space to insult the properties his realty firm has to offer. This philocophy has put Brooks at 39 into high tax bracket.

Thousands look forward to reading his advertisements. A goodly number of the readers buy,
