Fantastic Statement by PUC

DRINCE RUPERT has received some kicks in the face before but none quite to blatant as the one reportedly delivered by the Public Utilities Commission in rejecting a daily but service between here and the smelter city. The service was rejected, it was reported, because the commission felt there was insufficient trade and traffic between Prince Rupert and kitimat. Such a statement gives rise to the question as to whether or not the commissioners know where Frince Rupert is and the amount of people who travel daily between this 48-year old city and the growing municipality of Kitimat.

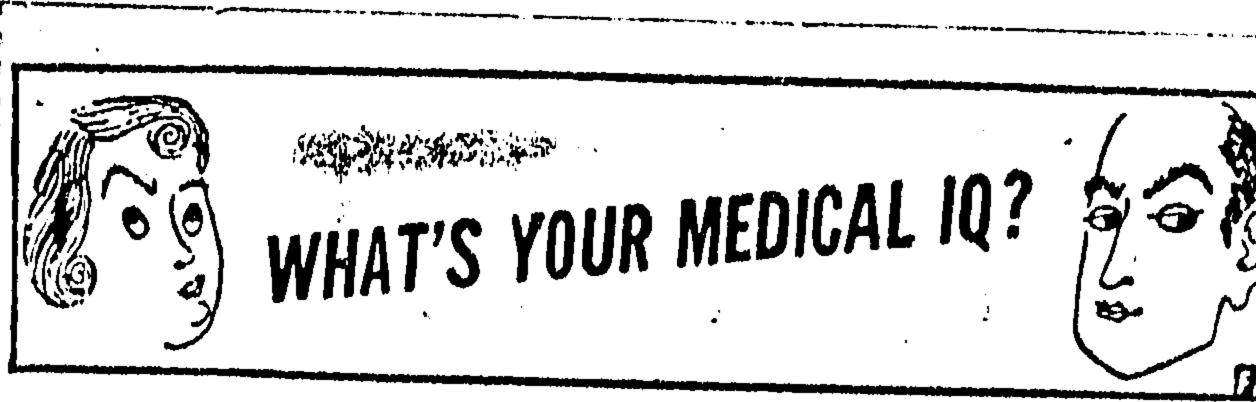

One fact appears apparent. Prince Rupert has once more been "sold down the river" on a project manned to benefit both residents here and in Kitimat. At first we had daily Canadian National Railway service. That was suspended. Now Canadian National Transportation Ltd., is granted permission to operate a bus, express and baggage service and the daily passenger service between Terrace and Kitimat is to be withdrawn. All Prince Rupert's enterprising Neal Evans transportation company is left with, is permission to take passengers and freight between here and Terrace where it will be taken either by one of the two CNR vehicles or a third company the Kitimat Express Ltd., to Kitimat. Instead of straight-through service, the arrangement approved by the PUC means an additional setback for Prince Rupert shippers, of extra handling | 3 charges. Why we should be perpetually handed these rebuffs is beyond understanding. It couldn't be deliberate. It must be through ignorance.

More amazing still are the rates as approved by in various age groups, as to the tr the PUC, $1.45 one way and $2.60 return for the jand the USA. Canadian National Transportation Ltd., and $2.50 one way and $4.50 return for the Kitimat transportation firm. This seems ridiculous on the face of it and can only mean that the Kitimat firm plans to take the CNR's overflow passengers. Surely no one is going to ride on a bus that charges almost as twice French Canada adamant against or else. That "or else" representations of the service o as another. It would appear that there is something peculiar somewhere.

If ever the Chamber of Commerce had an issue has happened in the 13 years field punishment. worth fighting about this seems to be it. Prince Rupert merchants who had the initiative to set up gains in winning an internation-marching in perfect order, in 75 period, to 229,000,000 from There's a man grossing $217 two centres) should protest this action against their home town. The Chamber of Commerce should demand a detailed explanation as to why the Public Utilities Commission should allow such discrimination as to both service and fares.
