

CNR Employees Honor T.C. May on Retirement

A Canadian National Railway employee who has lived in all the Western provinces chose Prince Rupert in which to retire.

T. C. May and his wife arrived from Victoria five years ago to take up a similar position as assistant locomotive foreman.

At his retirement party Friday night in the Canadian Legion auditorium Mr. May said, "This is a time in life when most people feel everything is over, but I feel no different than I felt five years ago when I came here. We've made a lot of new friends and we are happy to be staying with you for a little while longer."

Master of ceremonies J. G. Paul read congratulatory telegrams from Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Watson, their daughter and son-in-law, R. M. Cowan, superintendent of locomotive power and car equipment; F. W. Pickersgill, chief visual and time service, Winnipeg and N. R. Crump, president of Canadian Pacific Railways.

Cecil McCarthy, locomotive foreman, presented a group gift to Mr. May and said, "In your long and varied career taking you from many things and places, you can now throw away the monkey wrench and hammer."

and just relax." Mrs. May received a bouquet of red roses, presented on behalf of the CNR employees by Miss Marie Pringle, car foreman's clerk.

In a lighter mood, Cliff Cameron appeared in Mr. Mays overalls, equipment, taken by the men several days before.

Committee chairman for the party were Mrs. Paul, Harry Rollason, Mr. Cameron, Harry Hanson, J. E. Bateman and Malcolm Blair.

T. S. Haupt, Edward Harding and K. S. Bateman took pictures of the party.

Buffet lunch was served by the CNRA's women's auxiliary.

Providing dance music was an orchestra composed of Cliff Cameron, Harry Hanson, Dick Pollack, Bill Ryan, Gordon Hunter, Alf Hunter and David Clegg.

"DON'T GET me wrong... I love Hollywood," moans Kathryn Grant, "but they do funny things. After I spent long hours, making myself beautiful (left), they cast me in Columbia's 'The Guns of Fort Petticoat,' in which I play a trigger-happy frontier gal, rugged, homespun — and just plain ugly." The two photos tell the tale.

Lloyd M. Mosher Weds Jean Elaine MacKenzie

Candlelight enhanced the tall standards of spring flowers for the evening wedding ceremony in First Baptist Church May 18 when Jean Elaine MacKenzie became the bride of Lloyd Melbourne Mosher.

Rev. J. A. Roskam officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard MacKenzie of Liverpool, Nova Scotia and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mosher of Luxenburg, Nova Scotia.

Given in marriage by Burton Heckman, the bride wore a cocktail length gown fashioned on princess lines and featuring cap sleeves and a scooped neckline. An Elizabethan crown, covered with pearls and rhinestones held her shoulder-length veil. She wore matching velvet shoes, short gloves and carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses. A single strand of pearls and earrings, gift of the groom completed her ensemble.

Miss Ernestine Moberhouse as bridesmaid chose a cocktail-length gown of velvet in pale blue, matching gloves, a headpiece of pink and blue forget-me-nots and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Sterling R. Langille was best man and ushers were John Lisko and Richard Knickle. Mrs. W. D. Smith was organist.

At the reception in the Sons of Norway hall a two-tiered cake centred the bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, which was a gift of the bride's grandmother. Tapers arranged in carnations flanked the cake.

Mrs. Louis Giordano, wearing an eggshell toned bengaline sheath, navy accessories and a corsage of pale yellow carnations, received the guests on behalf of the bride's mother. The groom's mother wore a blue suit, navy and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

August Wallin proposed the toast to the bride. Conveners for the refreshments were Mrs. Hilda Tattersall, Mrs. Keith Murdoch and Mrs. Molly Olson. Serviteurs were Miss Sylvia Iceland, Miss Marian Smith and Miss Lucy Olson.

The newlyweds plan to visit Nova Scotia in September.

Bride-Elect Honored With Shower

Popular bride-elect Miss Sandra Waldbauer was guest of honor Wednesday night when Mrs. Lloyd Jesse held a miscellaneous shower at her home assisted by co-hostess Mrs. Michael Orom.

Miss Waldbauer marries Lance Theobald tomorrow.

Seated in the guest of honor chair, festooned with pink and white streamers, Miss Waldbauer received a large variety of gifts which were arranged in a decorated wagon.

Miss Waldbauer, Mrs. James Cowper, Mrs. Jack Burnett and Mrs. Donald Smith won bingo prizes.

Others attending were Mrs. Herbert Waldbauer, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Helga Kvist, Mrs. John Michaelsen, Mrs. Bud Bergum, Mrs. Richard Gilker and Mrs. Stanley Koshman.

TCA pioneers research into new electronic reservations system

Faster service in the jet age

Every year, more Canadians are taking to the air... in 1956, over two million passengers flew TCA. The planned expansion of TCA services is to go on. With the introduction of new fleets of DC-8 jetliners and prop-jet Vanguards in 1960 and 1961, TCA will become the first of the world's intercontinental airlines to operate an all-turbine fleet.

The speed of air traffic in the jet age... the growing volume of passengers... will call for a swiftly-moving reservations system, capable of keeping in step. So TCA is experimenting with totally new methods, making use of the modern miracle of electronics. Reservations offices across the continent would be connected directly with a giant electronic "brain"... completely automatic, able to plot every seat on every flight months in advance, to give flight information and make reservations, in seconds.

TCA is setting the pace in jet age planning... enlisting the latest methods to bring you still better, faster service.
