ONE of the many reasons for not "teaching" your partner during the game is that he may mis-apply the information you give him and which he didn't ask for in the first piace. This is especially true if your risks that go with directing and partner happens to be Mr. Muzzy.

In several previous hands, Mr. Heinsite had berated him for East dealer failing to pick up the outstand- East-West vulnerable ing trumps at the first opportunity. But see what happened in

"Why did you lead trumps so early?" snarled Mr. Heinsite when the play was over. "Because I didn't want anybody ruffing in," Mr. Muzzy re-

"Who cares whether they ruff," snapped Mr. Heinsite, "when the only trump they have between them is the ace?" While Mr. Muzzy laboriously
