

New MP Pledges MLAs Utmost Co-operation

Special to The Daily News

TERRACE—Frank Howard, recently elected MP for Skeena, today pledged his co-operation with northern MLA's for the development of the North.

In a letter sent to MLA's William H. Murray of Prince Rupert, Asselstine of Atlin, Shireff of Skeena, and Shelford of Omineca, Mr. Howard said:

"During the time that I was an MLA I found many situations which required the co-operation of both the MLA and the MP. This letter undertakes to pledge to you, in my complete co-operation in matters effecting this northern area. I am sure that between us we can work together successfully for the benefit of people who are in this best part of the province."

"Though I belong to a different political party than the one to which you belong, I think that the development of the North must transcend political differences, and I'm sure that you feel the same way," Mr. Howard wrote.

Mr. Howard also said that he wished to "express my sincere thanks to those who placed their confidence in the CCF by entrusting that tradition to me. I shall try my best to carry on in the same manner as those who held this responsible position in the past."

"My two friends, Mr. Applewhite and Mr. Kerr have my utmost respect for their honesty and integrity and the manner in which they campaigned. They generated a great deal of support for their respective programs and their supporters had two fine gentlemen to work for."

He said that he hoped everyone, "regardless of party" would feel free to call on him if they thought he could be of assistance.

To Tell Full Story of Strength Take Least Chance of Too High Bid

Special problems arise in choosing which suit to bid first when you have two-biddable suits. Sometimes it is advisable to bid a four-card suit before a five-carder as Mr. Dale did in this deal.

His prime purpose was to get his full story told while taking the least chance of getting the hand too high. Bidding the spades first would give him an opportunity to play at the two level if his partner had a weak hand and a preference for hearts.

Putting it the other way around, suppose Mr. Dale had opened with one heart and Mr. Masters had responded with two diamonds. Now a two-spade bid by Mr. Dale would force his partner to bid at the three range if he liked hearts better than spades.

Notice that Mr. Masters chose the suit Mr. Dale had bid secondarily for the final contract. In spite of the fact that he held exactly the same cards in both major suits. He knew Mr. Dale had a five-card heart suit because the suit had been rebid, but under modern bidding methods Mr. Dale MIGHT have only four spades.

The hand had to be played carefully for ten tricks. Mr. Dale got a trump opening and won the first trick with the king of hearts. He realized that if he played any more trumps at this point there

ARMY PLAN

Subsidized Education Available for Youths

The importance of the Canadian Army's offer to provide an education and career for high school graduates was stressed here today.

Major John Cook, of B.C. Army Headquarters, Vancouver, said today that the army plan provides a high school graduate with a "subsidized university education."

The regular officer training plan provides college training for physically fit young men of good character having university entrance qualification or equivalent, he said.

The plan covers educational expenses for attendance of anyone of three service colleges or one of 36 Canadian universities. It also provides for monthly pay of $60, free medical and dental care and 30 days annual leave.

Major Cook said that further information could be obtained from Lieutenant R. A. L. Forbes at the Prince Rupert Hotel until Sunday morning, or by writing to headquarters, B.C. Area, Vancouver, B.C.
