Man circling continent in outboard motorboat

By GLADYS BALDWIN

The days of high adventure aren't over yet it seems, at least not for John H. Bremer, 35-year-old writer and lecturer of Lake Zurich, Illinois. He is taking the longest cruise ever attempted in an outboard motorboat—the complete circumnavigation of the North American continent.

Starting from New York city board day cruiser, powered by combination is just right! two Scott-Atwater 40 horse power motors.
