Cardinal well after amputation

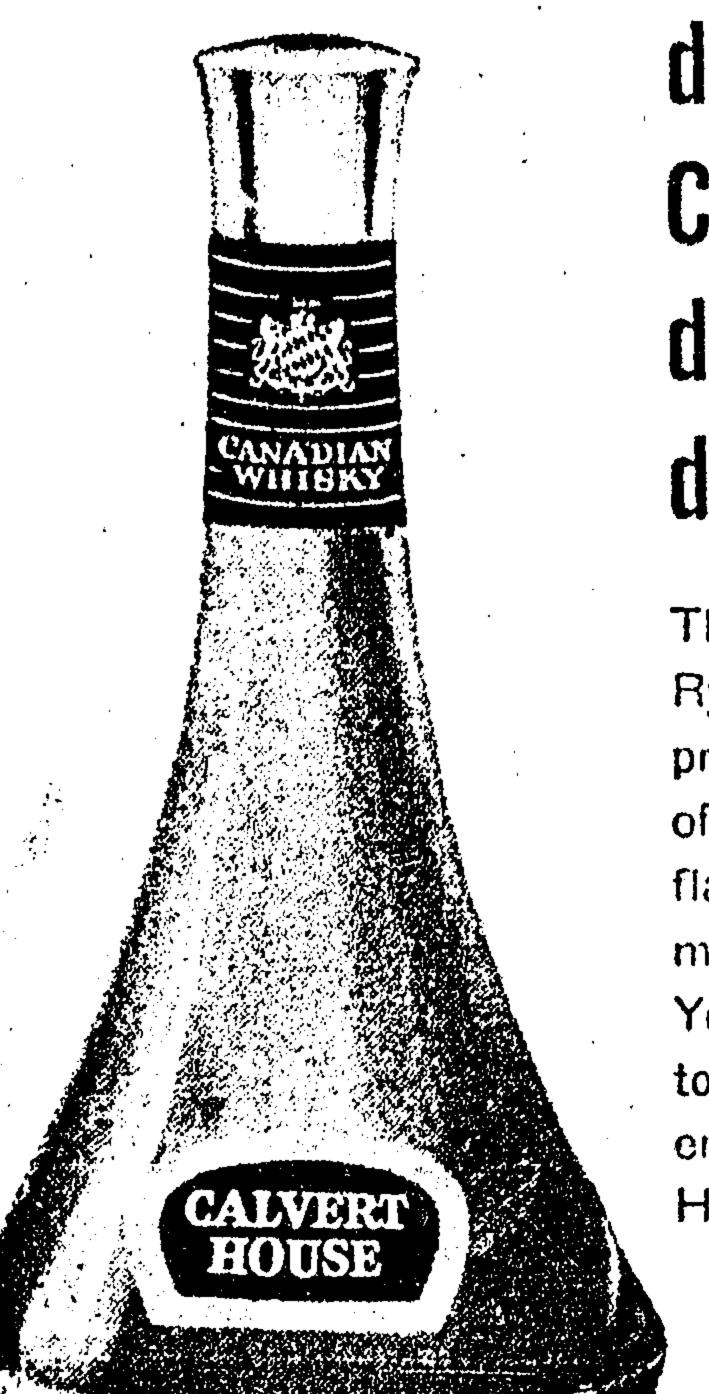

ROME M—"I know they're not there," Samuel Cardinal Stritch told a visitor Monday night, "but I feel sensations in the tips of the fingers of my right hand."

The cardinal's right arm was amputated above the elbow Monday after a blood clot developed in the lower arm and gangrene set in. Doctors said today the 70-year-old Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago should be out of bed in two or three days.

Cardinal Stritch was stricken while en route to Rome to become pro-prefect of the Church's Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith.
