24 of 26 Bodies Located

Mine Reopened At Springhill

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (CP)—A draggerman said early today the bodies of 24 miners who died in the depths of the Cumberland Coal Company's No. 4 colliery have been found. He added "we have a good idea where the other two are."

The unidentified man said several of the bodies could be brought out immediately but the crews are first attempting to clear the mine of gas and rock-falls. This is expected to take another day.

The mine, sealed off after the disastrous explosion Nov. 1 which killed 30 miners, was reopened Friday. Draggermen fought through a rockfall to reach the bodies of the 26 men left underground.

Another draggerman said: "There could be a puff (explosion) when air pushed down to the lower levels forces gas to the top if proper precautions are not taken."

THROUGH TUNNEL

However, the mine is in "fairly good condition. No smoke, heat or fire is present. There is some gas which has to be pushed out, below the 3,300-foot level but the top part of the mine is free."

A dragger crew entered the mine early today, from adjacent No. 2 colliery, by means of a tunnel which connects the two pits at the 3,300-foot level. Mine safety crews fought their way 200 feet into the pit from the tunnel Friday but were stopped by the rockfall.

Miners will continue shoring up rockfalls and removing obstructions while company, union and government officials survey damage from explosion and fire.

The mine was sealed Nov. 5 to allow fires and heat to die down. "There seem to be more rock-falls than were anticipated and apparently a lot came after the mine was sealed," said United Mine Workers District 20 vice-president Steve Dolhanty.

Impaired Driver Given Term in Jail

A 54-year-old city man was sentenced to 14 days in jail with no option of fine when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. D. Vance, through counsel, A. Bruce Brown, in city police court this morning to his second offence of impaired driving.

Jailed was Daniel J. Wiek of 1001 Hays Cove Avenue, who, police said, was found in his car which was astride the CNR railway tracks January 5.

Police said Wiek was unable to give an explanation at the time as to how he got there. They said all lights were green on the railway track which meant had a train come through, Wiek would have been killed.

For driving with out the care and attention, Edgar Mostad of 800 Sixth Avenue East was fined $25 and costs or in default sentenced to 14 days in jail when he was found guilty before Magistrate W. D. Vance in city police court yesterday afternoon.

Visitor Here For 18 Years Off Again

A woman who came to visit a sister in Prince Rupert for a two-week holiday in 1938 and remained 18 years, left today for another two-week holiday. Mrs. M. J. Saunders of 1207 Water Street, came here 18 years ago to spend a two-week holiday with her sister Mrs. Gordon Brooks, now of Vancouver. Today she left on the "Queen of the North" to spend a two-week holiday with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William James in Vancouver. Mr. Saunders says she doesn't stay away 18 years.

ONE OF THE YOUNGEST POLIO patients in B. C. is four-year-old Andrea Tidmarsh of North Burnaby who is receiving rehabilitation treatment in Vancouver under sponsorship of the Kinsmen's B.C. Polio Fund. To date the fund has given $1452 to help Andrea to full recovery. Kinsmen this month are campaigning for $400,000 to continue polio care and to start a new program of rehabilitation for an estimated 27,000 handicapped B.C. children.

Campaign For $3,500 Launched by Kinsmen

Prince Rupert Kinsmen Club today launched its annual campaign for funds to fight poliomyelitis—only this year they have undertaken another aspect designed to aid handicapped children—that of rehabilitation.

Campaign chairman Frank Dafoe said the objective for Prince Rupert this year is $3,500, last year's target was $2,500. The local Kinsmen drive is part of the B.C. Kinsmen's Polio fund campaign to raise $400,000 to help an estimated 27,000 handicapped children and continue the polio care program which they started in 1951.

APPEALS MAILED

This weekend more than 3,000 direct appeals will be placed in stores throughout the city and in addition circulars will be mailed to every home outlining the project and asking assistance.

Mr. Dafoe said, that as in the past, the support of the public for "such a worthwhile project is urgently needed."

The campaign will be administered through the B.C. Polio Fund and the Kinsmen plan to co-operate to the endeavor with the Crippled Children's Registry of B.C. and through other organizations that helped handicapped children.

For the purposes of the rehabilitation program a handicapped child is defined as one suffering from some physical or emotional handicap which will hamper him in gaining an education and earning a living in adult years.

VAST PROGRAM

At present the problem can not be effectively met because available treatment centres can

Architects Call For Tenders On Modernization Of Hospital

Stowaway Appealing Deportation

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—An immigration officer Friday ordered the deportation of Christian George Hanna, 23-year-old itinerant stowaway with no place to go.

Counsel for the small, dark-skinned exile, who until Thursday had not set foot on land in 15 months, immediately filed notice of appeal.

The appeal is expected to be heard Monday by Immigration Minister Pickerskill personally or, if he decides, by a three-man board in Vancouver.

Arthur MacLennan, counsel for the immigration department said Mr. Pickerskill will probably refer the case to a board which would be appointed by the department. The board's decision would automatically be reviewed by the minister.

STILL IN CUSTODY

In the meantime Hanna, who was removed from the Norwegian freighter Gudveig at Port Alberni, B.C., by a young Vancouver lawyer who espoused his cause, is being held in custody at the immigration building here.

The "deportation order" was made by Frank Wragg, special inquiry officer who acted as a one-man board set up by the department to hear Hanna's application for domicile.

Hanna, who says he was born at sea, has no passport or citizenship papers. He stowed away on the Gudveig 15 months ago at Beirut, Lebanon, and since then has been turned away by at least six countries.

At the hearing, Hanna's counsel, Donald White, 25, pleaded for his client on compassionate grounds. Hanna said his mother was French Somali and his father Liberian. His mother died when he was six years old. He never saw his father and does not know whether he is living. He had no other known family connections.

Manslaughter Charge Laid After Collision

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—A 25-year-old Vancouver man was charged with manslaughter Friday after a two-car collision that left one person dead and four others injured.

John William Devries was charged in hospital at nearby New Westminster, where he was under police guard while being treated for possible head injuries and shock. He was expected to be released from hospital shortly.

Devries followed the death of Bill Williams, 31, of Surrey, B.C., who was killed when a car allegedly being chased by police collided with another car in

Philpott Gets Nomination

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada and the world needs the peace-making abilities of the Liberal government, Elmore Philpott, MP for Vancouver South, said here Thursday night.

The columnist was nominated to contest the riding again in the next election. He was unopposed.

"Mr. Philpott told delegates he thought the federal election will take place in June this year. "I am not going to make any predictions about this election," said Philpott. "But I am going to forecast that the question of war and peace will be the main issue of this election."

Faced with these issues, Canada will need Liberal statesmanship, he said.

"We have the most practical team of peace makers that the electorate can find, and they are in fact the most practical peace making team which heads any democracy in the world today."

PRETTY MAXINE BARNES who tips the scales at a mere 90 pounds seems to have a bit of trouble hoisting a big 10-pound outboard trout she caught in Novada's Walker Lake. The fish put up a 45-minute fight after she'd hooked it, but since it's the largest catch thus far of the season, Maxine's efforts were amply compensated for.

All Four Floors To Be Renovated

A milestone in the history of Prince Rupert General Hospital was reached yesterday with the calling of tenders for approximately $60,000 in modernization.

The "top-to-bottom" renovation program is the result of a six-year long range plan by the Hospital board which was launched in a fund drive in September, 1951.

The calling of tenders was made yesterday by Victoria architects Whittaker and Wagg, with sealed tenders to be sent to PRGH administrator Arthur Rutherford to be opened in public at 5 p.m. Wednesday, February 13, 1957.

Specifications may be obtained from Whittaker and Wagg.

The architects estimate the approximate cost of the renovation project at $60,000.

Through the efforts of Health Minister Eric Martin, the provincial government has approved a grant of one third, $20,000 toward the job and the Hospital board's modernization fund of approximately $41,000 will take care of the rest.

The renovation to be started as soon as possible after the contract is let, will see changes on every floor of the hospital including the attic.

Completion of the modernization will place the Prince Rupert General Hospital one step closer to accreditation.

Administrator Arthur Rutherford said today that first floor, when renovated will include a new waiting room, a new admitting office, a new emergency out-patient operating room, an office for the superintendent of nurses, a pharmacy and the children's ward.

On the second floor, the whole west wing will be taken up a completely self-contained maternity department which will include a new-born nursery and altered obstetrical delivery rooms.

The third floor, Mr. Rutherford said, will see a men's medical section take the place of the present children's ward.

The fourth floor, presently the attic, will be changed to contain the Hospital Women's auxiliary library, a clean linen storage room, the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society clinic, a medical staff room, a medical records room, and will have space available for a medical records library, a store room for oxygen and oxygen tents and splints.

The elevator, which at the moment only goes as far as the third floor will be extended to go up to the fourth floor.

Blast Fatal To Six Men

OLYMPIA, Wash. (CP)—A ton and a half of dynamite blew up without warning Friday, killing six men, injuring seven and obliterating a work building at the Pacific Powder Co. plant 11 miles south of here.

The building vanished in a great ball of flame as the jarring explosion stripped nearby trees of their small branches and scattered fragments of the "Jell shed" over a half-mile area.

PEDESTRIAN TO PAY DAMAGES FOR BUMPING PASSING CAR

HITCHIN, England (AP)—A man who bumped into a passing car and dented a fender has been ordered to pay the motorist $70 damages.

"I don't see why a motorist who suffers damage by a pedestrian should not claim damages just like a pedestrian hurt by a motorist," ruled Judge Lawson Campbell.

The pedestrian, Paul Walker, said he struck the car while running for a bus.
