

Criminal Code Backs Trading Stamp Fight

Prince Rupert Labor Council arguments against trading stamps have the support of the Criminal Code, according to a statement made at last night's meeting.

Electrician's union delegate D. M. Newton informed members through a letter that in two recent instances the operation of the trading stamps system had resulted in convictions.

President E. P. O'Neal, reminding the meeting the system was considered in many quarters to be a dangerous factor in the rising cost of living, said this was welcome news. It seemed that the Criminal Code could take care of the problem. If the Attorney-General availed himself of the Code's opportunities, with saddled with the responsibility Secretary-treasurer J. S. Furdess said the city was fortunate that the trading stamp situation had not arisen here, but it was comforting to know that such firm measures existed for dealing with it.

Agreeing, vice-president H. S. Harrison proposed that the council contact the Attorney-General immediately if the system was ever initiated here. This was approved.

President E. P. O'Neal will be Prince Rupert Labor Council's delegate to a Vancouver conference aimed at improving liaison between the Congress, Federation and Council labor levels from April 13 to 14.

Prince Rupert Trades-Labor Council dropped the word "Trades" from its title when their new constitution draft was accepted half-way through last night's meeting.

Pending approval by the Canadian Labor Congress, they will in future be known as Prince Rupert Labor Council. Only one section of the draft was questioned before its adoption. This ruled ineligible for election as an officer any member who attended less than 75 per cent of council meetings in the preceding six months. It was pointed out that this would render any member ineligible if he missed only one meeting under the new system.

Mr. O'Neal explained that the interpretation of the rule would always be governed by whether absence was due to sickness or similar reasons. Such instances would not be classed absenteeism.

Comptroller Still Seeks Assistant

Wanted urgently: An assistant to Clerk-Comptroller, R. W. Long.

For four months now since council first authorized Mr. Long to hire a competent assistant, the query has cropped up periodically: Where is he?

The answer has been the same: "still working on it to no-avail."

Monday night the delay in hiring this assistant raised the ire of Alderman S. J. Dominato who demanded: "How long is this going to go on?"

The assistant the city is endeavoring to hire must come up to the standards set by Mr. Long. City council has no say in the matter at all.

This was decided after council threw out a motion by Ald. Dominato that the city advertise in the Vancouver newspapers for a qualified assistant for Mr. Long. Ald. P. J. Lester, only other supporter of the motion, suggested that the city should try to hire a local man at a wage decided upon by the wage committee.

However, Ald. A. Donald Ritchie contended that Mr. Long must, on final analysis, hire the assistant and reaffirmed the clerk-comptroller's authority to hire whom he considered capable for the position.

Sheath Ensemble Features Soft Look of Nearby Spring

PATTERN M235
by Ginny Stutzlen

Ginny Stutzlen, talented American designer, sees the newly soft look as the silhouette for spring, "because it's wonderfully becoming to a woman's figure," she declares. Pattern M235 is her charming interpretation of this fashion — taking the form of a lovely two-part ensemble. The sheath dress displays its flurry of softness in the little bodice insert; jacket with its brief length makes fashion news too! Miss Stutzlen suggests a shantung, fine linen, polished cotton for this ensemble — bodice of pretty organza or chiffon. Sewing is very, very simple — whether you're a beginner, or an expert. Pattern M235 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 dress 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch fabric; jacket, 1 1/2 yards. Send Fifty Cents (in coins) for Pattern M235 to Prince Rupert Daily News, Pattern Dept., 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ontario. Please print plainly Your Name, Address with Zone, Style Number and Size.

Champlain stands at The Seaway

If Champlain returned to the waterway he knew so well, could he enter into the far-reaching spirit of the mighty Seaway project along the St. Lawrence? We believe he could, for Champlain, "Father of New France" and founder of Quebec, was a businessman-explorer . . . seeking new lands for development.

Former City Man Wed In Anchorage Ceremony

Prince Rupert and Kentucky families were united in marriage in Anchorage, Alaska, March 2 when Walter D. Renshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Renshaw of this city took as his bride, Miss Imogene Polley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Polley, Hodgenville, Kentucky.

The groom, Airman Second Class stationed at Elmendorf as radio operator with the 1931st AACS squadron and the bride, activities director at the Calvary Baptist church closed their wedding rites at the afternoon ceremony in Calvary Baptist Church.

Rev. John Turner read the ceremony and married the couple before 200 members and friends of the church.

Major James Snoddy gave the bride away before an altar decorated with pink carnations and white stock and lilies. Baskets and candelabra were in pastel pink.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk brocade. The fitted bodice was styled with a scalloped neckline and the skirt flared softly. Her fingertip tulle veil fell from a cap of pearls and sequins and she carried pink rose buds.

Mrs. Turner, matron of honor and Miss Iris Anderson, bridesmaid chose rose taffeta waist-length gowns.

Best man was Dewey Core. A/2c and Mrs. Renshaw are making their home at 1340 Bluff Road, Anchorage, following a week-long honeymoon.

Tea room hostess will be Mrs. Frederick Wilson and Mrs. Harry Paulson will direct the kitchen. A sale of home-cooking will also be featured.

Tea Proceeds To Assist Orphanage

Proceeds from the Past Mistresses Ladies Orange Benevolent association's spring tea tomorrow will go towards supporting the Royal Protestant Home in New Westminster, it was reported.

President Mrs. Victor Morrison will be official hostess for the annual affair from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Civic Centre.

This is the only event in which the group helps to support the children's orphanage. Mrs. Morrison said.

Tea room hostess will be Mrs. Frederick Wilson and Mrs. Harry Paulson will direct the kitchen. A sale of home-cooking will also be featured.
