Two other marks fall at Vancouver

By NAT COLE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bill Slater, Vancouver 18-year-old, breezed through a gruelling 1,650 yards of water Wednesday night to set a Canadian swimming record. Then he stepped from Empire Pool as fresh as a daisy and said he hadn't trained for it.

Slater, a Canadian representative at the 1956 Olympic Games gatta, it was his first swim since and this year's British Empire he left the Cardiff games three Games, swam the distance in weeks ago. 19:21.6, nearly 25 seconds better than his own Canadian record for the 55-yard pool.
