Yanks Raily For Six Runs in Ninth To Split With Rampaging White Sox

Big Battle Due Tonight

Weather permitting and if Roosevelt park is dry enough—tonight the night!

"We'll do it again," says Ray Giordano, coach of the Gyro Pony league baseball team, referring to tonight's repeat performance of that memorable battle of two years back between his team and the Gyro Club.

"This time it'll be different," counters Bill Lambie, applicant for the Gyro Club's coaching job. Bill is considered top choice over six other prospective Stengels because of a drill-sergeant's voice fit to convince any umpire to see a home run where a normal eye can only detect a foul

Bobby Rudderham, still ailing from a spiked shin received in the last encounter, is out of the line-up.

Back is Jack Lindsay, the man who belted one out of the park last time and was picked off second base.

"We have the hitting power, but lack a bit in speed," admits Lambie, sorrowfully recalling Joe McKay's triple that landed him on first base.

One piece of equipment that will be missing tonight is the arm chair used by catcher Dido Gurvich in the last game.

Lambie denied rumors that Gyro Club will be using steel resinforced shoes to prevent injuries like the one George Murray suffered when he stopped a ball in the outfield with his foot.

STILL SERVING . . . AT 75!—Mercer Beasley, recognized as one of the greatest coaches in the history of tennis, is still active and enthusiastic about the game at the ripe old age of 75. As a faculty member of the Spalding Tennis School, Beasley is probably teaching more youngsters to play tennis than anybody in the country. The New Jersey-born Beasley has been head tennis coach at such institutions as Princeton, Tulane, Lawrenceville and the University of Miami. This study of Beasley was made in the deserted but symbolically appropriate West Side Stadium in Forest Hills, Long Island.
