

Sports Trail

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK (UPI)—Typewriter doodling: Maybe the golf underdogs are going to start nipping this year. An unknown named "Dub" Pagan beats the "big names" in the Macauhantion pro-amateur at Miami Beach, and Jay Hebert, who never had won on the tournament trail, takes top money in the Bing Crosby pro-amateur at Pebble Beach. Doug Ford, a "name" player, started the year by winning the Los Angeles and Panama opens, however, so maybe the old guard isn't going to give up so easily.

Speaking of money, 30 thoroughbreds with earnings totaling more than $6,000,000 currently are quartered at Hialeah. The list includes such celebrities as Needles, three-year-old champ; Barbizon, two-year-old champ; Decathlon, champion sprinter, and Double-Dog dare, top three-year-old filly.

MI. Jackie Robinson can back up his charges that certain members of Milwaukee Braves contributed to the failure of their team to win the National League pennant by doing their training in night clubs it takes a little glitter from the Brooklyn Dodger victory. It means the Bums didn't win the pennant, they backed in as the Braves lost it.

PA. Robinson officially has submitted his resignation as a professional baseball player. There is no guarantee he is resigning from his role as free-lance critic and coiner of sensational statements. He "should stand in bed" as far as his remarks concerning the Braves are concerned. Right or wrong in his statements, he was wrong in publicizing them.

After watching Harold Carter and Bob Baker go through their slow-motion exhibition the other night, we've come to the conclusion Floyd Patterson has nothing to fear from the current contenders for his heavyweight title. If, there is a real contender, he must be hiding somewhere. Maybe it's big Bob Albright, Jack Hurley's pupil whose real name is Bob Albrecht and who works as a mechanic in an airplane factory in Seattle. Maybe it's Al Weil's Dave Rent or Solomon McNeil.

NY. And speaking of fighters, it looks like Rocky Marciano will have to fight to prove he won't fight. Nobody seems to believe him.

Sawchuk Quits

Considered Key to Boston Rise; Gives No Reason For Leaving

BOSTON (CP)—Terry Sawchuk, 27, has decided to quit Boston's battling Bruins.

The news hit the hockey world today as a sad, if somewhat familiar shock. Sawchuk is not the first tip-top goalie to feel the strain of stopping, not dodging, pucks in the National Hockey League.
