Three separate services were neld: Jewish. Roman Cathilic ind Protestant.

A bright sun rose over the now-capped ridge of nearby Mount McGuire as Rabbi Bert A. Novethaler of Vancouver began; onducting the brief Jewish service for the 14 mourners of Max; Bailey of Municeal, the only person of Jewish faith aboard that crashed North Star.

The rushing Vedder provided an accompaniment for the rabbi as he read the 23rd Psalm, spoke 'a few words of consolation and then chanted a kadisch--prayer for the dead.
