

Speaker Has Bad Day as Opposition Tees Off on C. D. Howe on Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP)—Sometimes, says Speaker René Beaudoin, the Commons is enough to make anybody dizzy.

He offered this remark Thursday toward the end of the House question period. Here are some of the developments that helped get things spinning:

J. C. Van Horne (PC-Restigouche—Madawaska) provoked angry Liberal protests and created a visible stir in ranks of his own party by calling Labor Minister Gregg "a saboteur of the rights of the working men in Canada."

BLASTS FROM WEST

CCF members Stanley Knowles, Winnipeg North Centre, and Claude Ellis, Regina, each accused Trade Minister Howe of misleading the House in replying to two different questions.

It was the third time in two days that Mr. Howe had been so accused. George Hees (PC-Toronto Broadview) made a similar accusation Wednesday.

Prime Minister St. Laurent's heated protest of the accusations was ignored—except for a few added interjections uncompromising to his minister. Mr. Howe, not unacquainted with controversy, sat unruffled.

Mr. Beaudoin finally suggested Thursday "for the good of all of us and I suppose for the good of Parliament that we should refrain at question time from engaging in debate."

VICIOUS CIRCLE

At times, he added: "It is a vicious circle and it is enough for anybody to get dizzy, especially the Speaker."

Presently, debate resumed on the government's bill to extend compulsory marketing powers of the Canadian wheat board another five years from next July, when they expire.

The pace settled back to a lazy whirl, except for a flareup of the smouldering battle between the CCF and their former colleague, Ross Thatcher (L-Moose Jaw-Lake Centre.)

Mr. Van Horne's charge, shouted across the Commons, was greeted by silence from Mr. Gregg. Mr. Beaudoin suggested he "revise that language."

"I have been revising enough things around here," snapped Mr. Van Horne. "I want some action."

Finance Minister Harris, government House leader, asked that the word, "saboteur" be withdrawn. It was out of order and unparliamentary.

Mr. Beaudoin said rather than get into a discussion about it he would hold off decision until he could study a transcript of the exchange.

At the storm's height, Mr. Hees slipped from his seat to speak to the back-row member. In the momentary calm that followed, party whip George Tuston, after whispered consultation with Conservative Leader Diefenbaker, also slipped back for a chat with Mr. Van Horne.

SAYS HOUSE MISLED

Mr. Knowles led off with the charges that Mr. Howe misled the House. He said the minister Jan. 31 told the Commons the government had signed no new agreement with Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. in connection with construction of the natural gas pipeline from Alberta to Montreal.

Yet the previous day Mr. Howe had tabled documents showing an agreement among the government, Trans-Canada and the Northern Ontario Pipe Line Crown Corporation was signed Jan. 30.

"I contend therefore," said Mr. Knowles, "that on Jan. 31 the minister misled the House."

"There may be a technical violation," said Mr. Howe.

Cost to the board for the District 52 teachers' salary boosts was $30,000.

These figures were reported by Frank Reder, secretary of the B.C. School Trustees Association, as his office worked to compile data on current salary figures.

Rupert Teachers' Salary Increase 2nd Highest in 57 School Districts

Prince Rupert teachers who recently concluded negotiations with District 52 school board received the second highest salary increase out of 57 British Columbia districts whose contracts with teachers were open for amendments.

The local teacher association won an 11 per cent overall average increase, second only to the Kitimat Teacher's Association which was granted increases of 17.11.

Cost to the board for the District 52 teachers' salary boosts was $30,000.

These figures were reported by Frank Reder, secretary of the B.C. School Trustees Association, as his office worked to compile data on current salary figures.
