FOUR MEN ALL BUT MET WET DEATH

What might very easily have terminated in a serious boating fatality occurred yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Four men were upset out of a small boat near the mouth of the harbor and were picked up in an almost exhausted condition by some Indians, who, fortunately, saw the accident from a distance and hastened to the rescue, bringing the men back to the city.

REDCLIFF SHIPS FINE RICH ORE

The steamer Amur left Stewart yesterday for Tacoma with 500 tons of ore from the Redcliff Mine. This is the first of a regular service of ore shipments from the well known mine, which is said to be looking exceedingly promising. There are over sixty men on the pay roll.

PULPWOOD CONSUMPTION INCREASES

The quantity of pulpwood manufactured in Canada in 1911 showed an increase of 73,801 cords, or 12.3 per cent, over 1910. In 1911, 672,288 cords were manufactured, as compared with 598,487 cords in the previous year. The value of the wood also increased, with the result that the 1911 product brought to its vendors $4,338,024, as compared with $3,585,154 for 1910, an increase of $752,870. The value of the wood ($6.45 per cord) was greater than it had been for years. Of the total amount Quebec consumed in its 28 mills 58 per cent. Ontario used nearly one-third of the total consumption; this province has the highest consumption per mill of any, viz., 12,450 cords. New Brunswick mills were hampered by low water during the year. The consumption of pulpwood in these four mills was 45,824—over twice as much as in the depression of the previous year. Nova Scotia, where only mechanical process of pulp making is used, in its seven mills consumed 22,221 cords of pulpwood. In British Columbia pulpwood manufacture was still in the experimental stage.

Quebec used four species of wood for pulp—namely, spruce, balsam fir (or balsam), hemlock and poplar. Ontario and Nova Scotia employed spruce, balsam fir and poplar, while New Brunswick used spruce and balsam fir only.

STEWART PEOPLE PASS THROUGH

Mr. William Pratt, one of the pioneer residents of Stewart, and until recently one of the leading business men of that place, passed through this morning on his way to Victoria and Vancouver.

Mr. W. H. Gray, manager of the Traders Bank at Stewart, which has closed up for the time being on account of quietness of business at present, was a passenger south today on the Prince George.

Mrs. Strohn, wife of Frank Strohn, one of the leading mining men of the Portland Canal district, came down from Stewart this morning on her way to California to join her husband in that place.

UNIQUE EVIDENCES OF ANCIENT OCCUPATION OF MARINE STATION SITE

Wonderful Collection of Antiquities, Tools, Weapons, Ornaments, in Possession of Foreman of the Works McLean Who Displays Ability as an Antiquary in Discovering Uses of Queer Implements

In the frequently published news items concerning the rapid progress of the construction of the now completed Digby Island marine station more attention was paid of course to modern development than to ancient history. Passing reference was made once or twice to discoveries of ancient relics brought to light by the steam shovels and the picks of the laborers, but the intensely interesting nature of these finds was not brought out and they were not described in detail.

Skulls and Stone Axes.

Through the foresight of Mr. McLean, who was foreman of the works during the important undertaking, a considerable group of these curios and antiquities has been assembled, and through the courtesy of Mr. McLean several citizens have been privileged to make a close examination of them. Mr. McLean himself is something of a Sherlock Holmes in the art of deduction and inference pointing to the probable uses of the various implements unearthed. Some look like very common round stones, but reveal themselves on closer inspection as undoubted tools, weapons or ornaments.

Deep Under Cedar Tree.

At a depth of about ten feet below the centre of the trunk of a huge standing cedar tree 22 feet in circumference Mr. Mc-Lean found a human skull with teeth in fair preservation. How long ago the interment of that ancient denizen of these parts took place can be imagined. Centuries may have elapsed before the cedar tree was even planted by wild nature on his grave. Centuries must have passed afterward. The size of the tree proved the fact. The primitive man, Indian, or whatever he may have been, had a fairly good cranial development.

Arrow Heads, Pestles, Clubs.

Various kinds of hunting, fishing and fighting implements were collected by Mr. McLean. Bone and ivory arrow heads he discovered in quantities and of many clever shapes. The stone pestles and mortars used for bruising grain or meats were found in numbers. Other curious implements were discovered, such as battle axes and ornamental clubs, and are beautifully carved out of hard stone. Chisels used for making dugout canoes Mr. McLean picked out, and smaller chisels used for cutting bone arrow heads and ornaments. No metal of any kind appears, but there is one fine flint arrow head exactly the same as those exhibited in museums as the work of the ancient Britons in the flint age, which is immensely far back in the years past. One tiny chisel is made of a dark jade-like stone which modern Indians have told Mr. McLean can be found no nearer than Hazelton. Others are made of stones which are not recognized as peculiar to this district, and may have come from far away.

Dagger and Detective Work.

There is one very finely shaped bone dagger which could do execution still only it was unfortunately broken in the digging out. There are other queer stones, red colored as if with a crust of dyed matter over them which seems to have defied the ages. People have called it blood stains, but it is really some form of iron ore. These stones Mr. McLean detected with really inspirational intuition had been used as some sort of tool. The shiny places exactly corresponding to the finger grips on them are immediately apparent once you are shown the method of holding the stones.

'HOGAN' HAS GONE TO SWIFT END

A dog that was well known on the waterfront and answered to the name of "Hogan" bit a man named William Joyce yesterday afternoon, taking a piece of his trousers away as a souvenir. Instant punishment was meted out by Mr. Joyce, who, catching the dog, fastened a large piece of iron piping to rope around its neck and consigned it to the watery depths.

SIXTEEN CHILDREN ARE POISONED

Montreal, July 17—As a result of drinking well water, sixty-one children in the little village of Steeceil, near here, have died within the past two weeks. To prevent the total annihilation of children in the village, which is threatened, the city of Montreal will run an emergency water pipe out to it, a distance of several miles.

THE COST OF LIVING STILL CRAWLS UP

Ottawa, July 18—A steady advance in prices continued in the June labor departments index number having increased to 37.9 in May. Previously the highest record of it was 136.9, compared with 126.1 in June last year. The chief increases in June are in animals and meats, fodders, fruits, and vegetables, hides and leathers, there having been a slight increase in dairy products, prepared fish, sugar, coal and coke.

The Marine Station at Digby Island, now complete and in charge of Captain G. Saunders, Superintendent of Marine Works. On the site of these fine modern buildings strange ancient habitations were once erected by prehistoric men whose remains and traces have been discovered and are today in Prince Rupert.

RUBBER ATROCITIES IN PERU

Washington, July 17.—A repetition of the Congo rubber industry among the native rubber gatherers of Peru is the cause of a dangerous mission which the State department has quietly sent up the Amazon River in the interests of humanity. Acting Secretary Huntington Wilson has received information that Captain Fuller, one of the department's most trusted agents, had arrived at Iquitos, 200 miles up the Amazon, on his way to the wild stretch of country, to learn the facts at first hand. The State department reports indicate the existence of conditions below the equator that parallel the intolerable outrages in the Congo country in Africa, where natives were forced by tortures and mutilation to collect certain quantities of rubber for Belgian and other concessionaries.

UNEASY IS PILLOW OF RICH BRIDE

Hillsboro, Cal., July 17—Alarmed, it is reported, by anonymous letters threatening her life on the eve of her marriage to Malcolm Whitman, Miss Jennie Crocker, California's richest heiress, today placed her estates under the closest surveillance. Detectives are on guard at all gates which mark entrances to the grounds. Even tradesmen are not allowed to enter, leaving their wares at the gates, to be carried half a mile to the Crocker mansion by trusted employees.

OLD TIMER SUDDENLY DIES IN THE SOUTH

Today news reached Prince Rupert of the sudden death from an acute internal trouble of Jack Bartholomew, a well known old timer of this city, who used to run a popular barber parlor on the old Rupert road. Mr. Bartholomew was at a ball game in his home town in California when during the excitement he was seen to fall forward. Suffering acute pain, he was taken home. He died in a day or two. His many friends amongst Prince Rupert's old timers will learn of his passing with great regret.

Daily News on Daily Doings

THE PREMIER DEPARTS.

In superb weather, after a thoroughly successful visit, Sir Richard McBride took his leave this morning from Prince Rupert and district. Sir Richard has certainly covered the ground in record time since he arrived to the blare of trumpets and the fluttering of banners last Monday. To visit Prince Rupert, Hazelton, Stewart and Granby Harbor, to hear requests and grievances, to receive congratulations full-some or sincere, to view great undertakings in their various stages and amidst it all to do a little trout fishing certainly means going some, whether for premier and knight or for plain human being. All Prince Rupert stood united in the welcome given Sir Richard. All Prince Rupert readily agrees that Sir Richard has availed himself of every opportunity to look into our northern needs, concerns and ambitions during his flying visit. Prince Rupert and district have done their best to "do the Premier proud." Even the weather was on its best behavior for him. Now what more could our knightly Premier want?

haymakers, so that they may work to music. The results are said to be highly satisfactory. Similar splendid results in efficiency were discovered when the commander of a British battleship innovated gramophone selections in lively time as an accompaniment to the work of coaling ship by hand. Permission has been granted the city band to practice in the city hall library or council chamber. Citizens may look forward now with justifiable expectation for something as yet unheard of in the way of city hall efficiency if only the city fathers permit the band to play while they are in session.

ANCIENT PRIVILEGE ATTACKED.

An Ohio court has held that a woman who steps off backward from a moving street car and sustains hurt thereby cannot collect damages. Against that decision, as it shall become an effective precedent, it is the duty of chivalry to protest. Privileges that are inherent, ancient and incontrovertible by reason of the nature of those who enjoy and exercise them should never be put in question. The privilege of getting off a street car backward has belonged to women since street cars were invented, and will be exercised by them so long as the world rolls—provided street cars continue in use.

will be greater than ever. We are bound to move the entire stock. Everything must go. At some sales they think because they advertise a reduction of 10%, 15%, 20% and 25% that they are doing wonderful things, but let me tell you candidly that we recognize none of the old stereotyped percentages—we have cut the prices away down so low that in some cases our prices are less than half of the former prices and in some cases we have reduced things to just 1/4 of the former price. Our whole aim is to get rid of this stock at any price.

We have made a second cut on the sale prices of these goods, so that they are now positively less than Wholesale Prices.

Modern advertising has elevated the standard of business ethics. It protects the manufacturer from unscrupulous competition and the consumer from base imitation.

Modern advertising has given us an insight into various manufacturing processes. The producer has taken us, the consumers, into his confidence and told us just how his mince meat, his flour, his clothing, etc., is made.

Modern advertising has opened up new opportunities to the oppressed and poor of far-off lands. It has turned an unceasing tide of immigration to new countries.

Modern advertising has enabled us to unlock the treasure house of the world's divinest melodies through the medium of the player-piano. The motor car has lengthened the business day and brought the fragment countryside to our door.

All this advertising has done and will continue to do. It is the ever-increasing influence for the advancement of mankind—the most potent, indeed, of the many forces influencing human action.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any good advertising agency or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write if interested.
