PRINCE RUPERT WELCOMES H. M. S. SHEARWATER

C. P. R. EMPRESS OF BRITAIN CUT A COAL STEAMER IN TWO

Montreal, Aug. 1.—The C. P. R. liner Empress of Britain, carrying over 700 passengers, collided on Friday evening with the collier Helvetia between Cape Magdalena and Fame Point in a dense fog.

First news of the accident came to Quebec about 6 o'clock Sunday by wireless, and this was followed by another despatch that the Empress had her bows badly stove and her four compartments filled with water. The Empress struck the Helvetia amidships, cutting her in two. The injured vessel sank shortly afterwards.

Those on board the Helvetia, however, were all rescued and taken on board the Empress. Captain Murray immediately gave orders that his ship be brought back to Quebec, and assistance

A BRIGHT SMOKER HELD BY EAGLES

The smoking concert given by the Fraternal Order of Eagles last evening in the K. of P. hall was, as is always the case, a most popular and enjoyable affair. The members of the order were here in full strength with a host of their friends, and the evening was given over to boxing contests, songs, etc., with a plentiful supply of the most tempting refreshments, and all were fortunate enough to have voted it a huge success.

CHAMPION SCULLER OF ENGLAND DEFEATS ARNDT OF NEW ZEALAND

London, Aug. 1.—Ernest Barrow, champion sculler of England, today won the world's professional title by beating the holder, Richard Arndt of New Zealand, over the famous Putney lake course, after rowing his opponent to a standstill. Official time, 23 minutes 8 seconds.

Arndt led slightly at the start, taking 38 against Barry's 36, but increased his lead to two lengths, but Barry then improved his position, the men being level out half way. Barry then readily drew away with a clear lead at Barnes Bridge, which he improved to two lengths. This still further increased, and he just gave up just before the finishing post.

"THE ROSE OF BLANDEEN"

Description of the Pretty Musical Comedy Coming to the Westholme

The new musical comedy "The Rose of Blandeen," which the Juvenile Bostonians will present at the Westholme Opera House on Saturday evening, is undoubtedly the best vehicle with which this favorite company has as yet been supplied. "The Rose of Blandeen" fairly sparkles with excellent comedy, catchy music and pretty girls, while the principal parts are in the hands of delightful little singers and artists.

The scenic equipment this year is far superior to that usually carried by musical comedy companies. The songs introduced are all new and of a bright catchy order, songs that you will whistle and sing for months.

WEST GETS INTO TOUCH WITH EAST

The Vancouver man can at last read the current price of Montreal and Toronto stocks in his daily paper, and in a short time he will have a branch of a Montreal brokerage house in which he can buy and sell those stocks over the broker's own private wire. All this is of incalculable importance towards the financial unification of Canada. It is a pity that it has been delayed so long, but it is not too late.—Montreal Financial Times.

H.M.S. SHEARWATER IN HARBOR ON HER WAY NORTHWARDS TO THE BEHRING SEAL FISHERIES

H. M. S. Shearwater steamed into the harbor this morning shortly after 10 o'clock and anchored out in front of the G. T. P. wharf. The Shearwater, which is in command of Capt. THE PHANTOM STRIKE.

Although a strike has been officially declared taking effect today amongst labor on the local contract work, the work is apparently proceeding just as before. Not a single man struck work on Archie McDougall's contract this morning. The contractor is going right on with his work, and the shot holes for the big coyote due in a day or so, are being loaded. On the depot site contract in the hands of Foley, Welch & Stewart the order has gone forth for steam shovel operations to begin soon at the old postoffice site or near it, and the contractors say that larger bodies of men will be occupied on both contracts very shortly.

THE LACROSSE DEADLOCK RECONCILIATION OUTLOOK

Feeling over the strained relations between the Vancouver and New Westminster lacrosse clubs is still very acute in the latter city, but in spite of this, there is a disposition among the cooler heads to arrive at an understanding and patch up the quarrel which threatens to greatly injure if indeed it does not ruin the future of the game on the coast.

May End Trouble

Mr. Robert Jardine, one of the lacrosse commissioners, stated that in his opinion the principal difficulty in the way of a reconciliation was the change in the schedule of the games, whereby a game had been listed for Vancouver when it should have been played at New Westminster. He thought that if that resolution were rescinded—it would be an easy matter to reestablish friendly feeling.

Encourage Amateurs

Among excellent suggestions offered, says the Vancouver Sun, is that for the appointment of a committee of business men from the two cities who shall have full power to adjust the existing difficulties. Another timely suggestion by the mayor of Vancouver is that greater encouragement be given amateur lacrosse in this city and province.

On Saturday the New Westminster team scored a goal at Queen's park while the Vancouver team did likewise at Recreation park, both claiming the match originally scheduled in New Westminster and altered by the British Columbia Lacrosse association to Vancouver.

A PERMANENT LABOR BOARD.

The Dominion Minister of Labor has discussed the appointment of a permanent Labor Board to deal with and pronounce upon all industrial disputes. The plan, roughly outlined, includes a board of men of conspicuous ability secured by the payment of large salaries. With the purpose or object of such legislation, all must fully sympathize. Anyone who can devise a means of averting the loss arising through the refusal to sell labor at the price offered will be indeed a public benefactor. Labor is the most perishable of all commodities, and the labor of today cannot be withheld until tomorrow without serious loss. The strike makes the sacrifice of immediate loss to avert the slow advance of greater losses in future.

A SHORT WASTEFUL CONFLICTS.

In deciding the main issue of the industrial conflict a Labor Board has to estimate every wage established by competition elsewhere. Wages may range all the way from the subsistence of the worker to the actual product of the work for which they are paid. They can never range permanently above or sink permanently below these bounds. The tendency under existing conditions is toward the lower level. There is an artificial surplus of labor on account of the possibility of profit through the gratification of natural opportunities. Where the means of self-employment are not pre-empted the tendency is toward the higher level. Competition's results are the only guide for Boards that undertake to decide as to fair rates of wages. This fact seems fatal to the possibility of arbitration. But no effort should be spared to avert the wasteful conflicts that are precipitated by human obstinacy and unreasonableness. — Toronto Globe.

MUNICIPAL FINANCE.

It is hard to see any injustice in the demand of the municipal bond investor for a better return on his money. After a long period of peace and prosperity, the industrial bond investor is getting a large return upon a security which in point of safety is not greatly inferior to the municipal and government issues, while the man who invests instead of loaning his money is getting a better return than he has done for generations. Why should not the government bond investor demand his share? — Montreal Financial Times.

ON GOING EAST TO MAKE MONEY.

Sometimes a Canadian makes his fortune in England, although usually the story reads the other way. A Toronto contractor employed a certain man as foreman in the building of houses. Ten years ago the foreman left him, only to reappear recently in the yards of his old employer a wealthy man. He had made his fortune in England building houses on the Canadian plan. Instead of erecting structures aimed to last for centuries, he built them so as to last a generation, or two; they contained from six to eight rooms; had furnaces and other modern conveniences; he sold them at from $500 to $1,000, and in his ten years' experience could not build them quickly enough. The English people of that particular region were building for his houses before the Canadians were finished. Now he is taking a six months' holiday. Sometimes it pays to go east. — Colliers.

LABOR'S BIGGEST BLUNDER:
WASTED WARFARE OF THE STRENGTH STEALING STRIKE

It has been announced in Prince Rupert that a strike is on. While the news of cessation of work and deserted camps has come down to Prince Rupert from up river, there was, until yesterday, no acute indication of impending labor trouble within the city limits. But labor trouble, like leprosy, is contagious, and although the cry of the labor conditions cannot be made to apply to Prince Rupert as it is supposed to in the up-river grading camps, there have already been rumors of possible defection on the drydock works.

Rupert's Last Strike

Today brings the first definite announcement of a strike on these works. The I. W. W. men are called off and citizens are preparing to watch developments. Memories of Prince Rupert's last miserable strike period naturally occur, and only the most rabid agitator could be anxious to see such doleful things repeated. Sensible citizens will certainly protest against that whether they be of the business doing or wage-earning class. The cause of labor gains no more from the ram-stam blunderingly stupid strike method than does the woman's suffrage cause from the militant method.

Wise Wage-Earner Works

Prince Rupert at present is looking towards prosperous times, and the efforts of every worker or business executive are most wisely expended to further the progress of Prince Rupert. For motives of self-interest if for none else, even the worst paid worker today in Prince Rupert would be better to keep on working if he means to stay with Prince Rupert. By striking and keeping the city still longer in its transition stage the selfish soul of laborer thinks to gain. He loses. He loses all along. The striker is but the baffled froth on the back-beaten wave. Bruised, broken, dispirited, starved, with perhaps a wretched wife and family in worse plight, he prides himself that he is advancing the tide of the welfare of labor. He is wrong.

Wastefulness of Strikes

Infinitesimally it may be, but still surely, every backwash retards the incoming tide. So does every strike really retard the advance of improved labor conditions which as history reveals, are steadily coming with the progress of humanity but never by the selfish forward thrusting of the often unreasonable demands of impatient malcontents stirred into dissension by fanatic strike organizers. Strikes are as wasteful in every way as fires. They are productive of nothing that the reserved strength of wisely organized workers (not strikers) could not far more effectively and economically secure.

G. T. P. TRACK
PROGRESS IN THE EAST

Reports from Cochrane state that the line of the Transcontinental Railway between that point and Winnipeg will be finished by the end of September. Two hundred and six miles of track have been completed west of Cochrane, and the work is progressing at the rate of a mile a day. Rails are down from Winnipeg to Superior Junction, leaving a blank of 184 miles between that point and the present railroad of the line from Cochrane. All the grading has been finished on that gap, and that remains is to lay the steel. Stations are being built at seven-mile intervals, and section houses and trammee's houses are being supplied, while a large roundhouse is being finished at Hearst, one of the main stations west of Cochrane. East of Cochrane there is less haste being shown, as that section will not be needed for the transportation of grain this fall. The line is finished eastward for 156 miles from Cochrane.

RUPERT
RED CEDAR

The approaching exhaustion of the grade of red cedar used in Germany, Britain, and the United States for the manufacture of lead pencils is greatly worrying the manufacturers. No less than 400 tons of cedar goes into lead pencils daily throughout the world, and of course a like quantity is whittled away by manual, enable knives. It looks as if British Columbia should be able to do a large export trade in cedar soon. — Toronto Globe.

THE LLOYD-GEORGE LABOR INSURANCE PLAN IN BRITAIN OVER WHICH WAR IS WAGED

On Monday, the National Insurance Act came into operation in Great Britain, so far as the payment of contributions is concerned. With the exception of what is called "sanatorium benefit," claimable on that date, no other benefits are claimable until January 15, 1913. The framing of this legislation was a work of considerable magnitude and its application will probably be a still greater labor. It does not appear that employers have rendered themselves familiar with the procedure of the act. This is more interesting in view of the fact that the penalty for offences against the legislation or the regulations under it is a fine not exceeding £10.

Onus on Employer

As pointed out by The Times the duty of paying contributions is under the Act placed upon the employer in the first instance. He is, save in exceptional cases, entitled to recover part of the contribution from the worker, but it cannot be too clearly understood that the employer pays the full contribution in the first instance, and that he cannot recover the worker's share by deduction from wages or otherwise, unless he has first paid it. Every employer is required to pay contributions under the Act in respect of all persons employed by him who are between the ages of 16 and 70, unless the employment falls within one of the classes which are expressly excluded from the compulsory provisions of the Act. These excluded classes are clearly set forth in the explanatory memorandum above referred to, which should be consulted. They include apprentices without wages, and so forth.

All Workers Insured

It does not matter for how short a time the worker is employed, nor for how many employers he works, nor whether he is paid by time or by the piece. Nationality makes no difference; contributions must be paid whether the worker is an alien or a British subject. In cases where other money payments, not from his employer, but from other persons, the employer is still made responsible for the payment of the contributions—e.g., the owner of a cab who lets it out to a cabman is responsible as employer for the payment of the contributions in respect to the cabman; and the employer of a waiter whose earnings depend entirely on the "tips" he receives is under the same liability. In short on Monday, requires that, with the Act, which came into force certain exceptions, easily ascertainable, every person in the service of an employer must be insured, if between the ages of 16 and 70, and must—

Compulsory Regulations

(1) Get a contribution card

before July 15th, either from the approved society of which he or she is a member, or from any postoffice; and (2) produce it to his or her employer before July 15th, to be stamped on the first pay day. Every employer must (1) require contribution cards from every person in his employment (save those who are excepted by the Act; or, if the employed person fails to produce a card, use an emergency card which may be obtained from any postoffice; (2) obtain health insurance stamps at the postoffice; and (3) stamp the cards before paying wages. Should employers or employed fail in the performance of these obligations they will do so at their peril; since, as stated above, the penalty for each offence against the Act or the regulations is a fine not exceeding £10.

Special Arrangements

The Insurance Commissioners are prepared to make arrangements with large employers of labor for the stamping of the cards of their regular employees quarterly instead of weekly by week. The Act requires that the full contribution shall first be actually paid before the employer can deduct the employee's share of it from his or her wages and consequently any employer with whom the above-mentioned arrangement is made will have to remit to the Commissioners, in advance, a cheque sufficient to cover the contributions payable in respect of the employees to whom the arrangement applies. These remittances may be made either quarterly or weekly in advance. The arrangement can only apply to employees who have agreed to deposit their cards with their employer during the quarter, because in the absence of such agreement the employee must be given his card each pay day, duly stamped to date.

Still on the Employer

It will also be necessary for the employer to stamp to date the card of any employee who requires his card during the quarter either for production to his society in order to claim benefit or on leaving the employer's service. When a quarterly stamping arrangement has been made with an employer, the latter will be able to stamp the cards at the end of each quarter (the quarters run for 13 weeks, beginning July 15), and the necessary stamps will be sent by the commissioners to the employer in return for the remittances made. Stamps for 1, 2, 10, and 13 weeks' contributions will be available for this purpose. There are certain other conditions with which employers to whom these special facilities are granted will be required to comply.

The operation of the Act will be watched with great interest by insurance men everywhere.

A FAMILIAR PICTURE TO THE CAPTAIN OF H. M. S. SHEARWATER

Captain Shearwater will remember with affection his old ship, the famous Egeria.

THE FIRE RISK IN RUPERT WHICH KEEPS INSURANCE SO HIGH MAY BE REDUCED

Nearly every week the total destruction by fire of some wood-built village or town in Canada occurs; yet the building of such towns of the same old inflammable materials goes on without restriction or regulation. The present control of the Ontario Government over the whole situation in New Ontario should be far seeing in the matter of fire protection of the proposed towns and villages, even if it does not extend to the arrangement of fire insurance.

Wood must necessarily be used for most of the buildings, but the government should retain and exercise control over the distances between buildings which should depend upon the uses and occupations, and over the spaces between and behind them, which should be kept clear so that, when fire does occur, it should not, as a matter of course, entail the destruction of a whole town, or even of a whole farmstead, as is now too often the case.

Colt and Chalmers, Chalmers, S. Scholastic and countless other places in Canada, have furnished object lessons which should not be disregarded.

Regulations Must Be Enforced.

The country is big enough to afford breathing space and safety to its people; one person's carelessness should not assuredly result in the loss of life or property to others as is now the case in most of the towns and villages and in some of the cities of Canada, but it is only by wise forethought that this state of affairs can be prevented from extending to New Ontario.

Personal greed causes the substitution of townships into tiny small, with streets and lines so narrow that when a fire breaks out the whole town is endangered.

In nearly every place the spaces between and behind the business buildings are filled with old boxes, oil barrels, crates, straw, shavings, weeds, and other such quick burning rubbish; all of which, being nobody's business, is everybody's peril; local indifference or local influence permits the continuance of the dangers, so that if, in New Ontario, common-sense measures are to be taken for the safety of life and property, they must be the outcome of governmental vigilance and governmental regulations which must be enforced by governmental officials.

Nelson's Example a Good One.

Insurance companies' inspectors see and protest, but dare not insist on the clearing away of inflammable materials or removal of sheds. Insurance companies may reject risks or may impose rates of premiums based upon maps and plans which do not show the dangerous materials which exist between and behind the buildings. Insurance agents being desirous of commissions sometimes seem to ignore the facts or are ignorant of them. Individual proprietors are either careless or unobservant or are not personally responsible, and so these dangers continue and increase.

It was interesting to note that Nelson, B. C., had recently a general clearing up day when everybody cleared up vacant lots, alleys, backyards and basements, so as to minimize the danger from fires; such days should be observed at least quarterly in every place, but in addition to this there should be sufficient space between wooden and buildings of inflammable material to afford a measure of protection to those surrounding it.—By Henry Lee in the Vancouver Times.

KEEP OUT!

"KEEP OUT!" used to hang as a sign on every factory door. The old idea of secrecy in business made it seem a crime to show outsiders processes, materials, and methods of manufacture.

Now the white light of publicity is being let in by those who depend on public favor for business profits and business growth. The "keep out" sign is disappearing from factory doors and the "welcome" sign is taking its place.

Candor and honesty form the backbone of modern advertising. Men tell the truth, and it pays. Modern selling relies more and more on the confidence and good will of the buyer.

To-day, eyes are too sharp and intelligence too keen to make deceit possible. Absolute frankness in advertising is the straight road to confidence. The public demands the light; it abominates and fears darkness.

To-day, many cunning factories, packing houses, businesses, and public kitchens welcome visitors, counseling.

To-day, many public service companies use the newspapers to tell the truth about themselves.

To-day, many big industrial enterprises are open without hindrance to the inspection of an interested public.

To-morrow, many more companies, depending for their success and prosperity on public confidence, will lift the curtains that veil their board and workrooms—they, too, will come to printing candid advertisements in the newspapers.

The public may overlook, but does not forgive, a lie or an abuse of its confidence. The public regards with suspicion those who attempt to serve it in secrecy and silence. The public is repelled by jangled facts or befogging words. The public rewards with its favor and money those who tell it the truth. It walks and shops where the light shines and where the paths are straight.

Throw on the light!
