CASH ACTUALLY INVESTED RUNS UP TO OVER HALF MILLION MARK IN FORTY MINUTES

TODAY SEES START OF LONG DESIRED SALE OF PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT LOTS

Intense Interest Excited Amongst Real Estate Men, Visitors and Citizens in All Circles---High Prices Predicted for Fine Inside Property Long Held by the Government

Today marks an epoch in the real estate history of Prince Rupert. It is a day long deferred, long looked forward to by citizens of every rank and profession, especially looked forward to by the real estate men. Into the ears of the Premier of this province and into those of his emissaries and the members of the Legislature concerned in Prince Rupert the demand for the sale of the last remaining government lots in the sold sections has been ringing for days, weeks, months, even years. Now at last the demand is being acceded to. The government's holdings in Sections 1, 5, 6, 7 and 8 are under the hammer as you read this.

Intensity of Interest.
There are throngs within the Westholme Theatre, where the sale is being conducted by Frank Ellis, still reflecting the remembered success of the Section 2 sale. Probably never in the history of Prince Rupert has there been such an assemblage of solidly assured investors in local realty. There is money represented in no meagre amount by that company of investors. It was said in the city amongst business circles yesterday that no lot would go cheaper than $600, some realty men had their doubts of that, but all agreed that the downtown lots will cost their purchasers thousands of dollars. They will be worth thousands as a plain straight-out investment, for the day of the golden spike is now so very near, in spite of labor troubles, and the city and its surrounding rich resources are developing so fast that the purchase of property here becomes the simplest of good financial business. This is no speculation for purchasers. Prince Rupert is already able to deliver the goods.

Section 2 No Comparison.
It does not do to compare the Section 2 sale with the present sale. There is, as Mr. D. H. Hays said yesterday, no comparison between the two events. Section 2 sale was phenomenal as a sale of absolutely unimproved realty, at which remarkably high prices were achieved simply because of the unbounded faith local and outside investors had and have in Prince Rupert. Today's sale is a sale on unimproved property as far as the mere lots are concerned, but property very highly improved indeed by the proximity to it in many cases of modern business buildings, modern business streets and the general advances of the city since the first sale of lots. There is no comparison between today's sale of this class of property and the sale of the natural simply cleared land on Section 2.

Million Will Be Realized.
A rough contrast may be drawn, however, in view of the points of similarity between the two sales. Section 2 sale covered some 583 lots and the price realized by these lots in the aggregate was no less than $600,000, a splendid return for unimproved land. The present sale embraces some 282 lots, all in sections well settled and for the most part well improved. What will they fetch in the aggregate? Well, that remains, at the time of writing, still on the lap of the gods. But one prominent real estate man here has without batting an eyelash placed the figure at not less than one million dollars and probably over that sum.

CANON HERE WHO DIRECTED CORONATION

Rev. Canon Jocelyn Perkins of Westminster Abbey, who is here today as the guest of Bishop Du Smet, besides being one of the principal organizers of the B. C. Church Aid Society, and indeed the man who has placed this society on its present firm footing of great utility to the Anglican church in the province, is also an interesting visitor apart from his local connection. He is sacrist of the famous English abbey, and as such held the high office in charge of all ecclesiastical details connected with the coronation of His Majesty King George. This is an onerous and sacred post, and its correct and worthy performance distinguishes Canon Perkins as a man of exceptional ability and knowledge of church ordinances of the highest order.

CHARMING "AT HOME" YESTERDAY

Mrs. Frank W. Dowling entertained at a most enjoyable "at home" yesterday afternoon in honor of her house guest, Miss Ola Phelan, of Vancouver. It was one of the largest affairs of the kind ever given in Prince Rupert. Mrs. Dowling received in a handsome gown of black lace over yellow satin. Miss Phelan was daintily attired in an up-to-date gown of cream satin veiled in ninon and trimmed with real lace and satin ball fringe. The decorations, which were most elaborate, were carried out in color schemes of yellow and white. The rooms were beautifully decorated with white asters and yellow poppies with yellow and white ribbon streamers. Mrs. Alder and Miss McTavish poured tea and coffee and Miss Gibbons cut the ices. The refreshments were served by four little girls in white frocks.

ENTHUSIASM AND KEEN EXCITEMENT

First Lot Fetches $24,000--The One Beside It Goes for $22,800

With the introductory announcement from C. D. Rand that the Premier had instructed him to announce at the outset of this sale that the Provincial government buildings for Prince Rupert were now in process of planning and will be erected on block 15, Market Place, the great sale began this afternoon.

There was an immense concourse of people in the Westholme Theatre and standing room only was the rule. All the best known citizens of Prince Rupert thronged the front rows, and the ladies were principally accommodated in private boxes. The Daughters of the Empire had reserved two boxes, which were filled. One wee baby, probably the record holder in infantile interest in real estate, occupied a corner of another box along with its mamma, and in the hush that preluded the actual sale the baby voice might be heard lusty in delight at the crowd, symbolic of baby Prince Rupert.

Warming Them Up to It.

With few preliminaries Auctioneer Frank Ellis, immaculate as ever, opened the ball. There was a moment of inertia over the first lot put up. Then away went the bidding, hammer and tongs. A thousand, two, three, four, ten, fifteen, twenty thousand, the bids rose volleying at first against each other. The baby in the box crowded with joy. Then came a wrestling match financially between two stalwarts seated not far from each other, both pretty far back. One man bid with nod, the other by holding up a swift hand. Rapidly the bids pattered against each other, jumping the price by the hundred at a time. The sale was really beginning to hum. A moment or two of sharp bid and counter bid, a pause, a silence, and then with a rap of the auctioneer's hammer the first lot was sold.

First Lot Fetches $24,000.

Twenty-four thousand dollars was the bid at which H. J. Haskamp secured lot 7, block 20, section 1. He had the option of taking lot 8 also, and a wag awoke a titter all around by exclaiming "that figure."

Lot 8, block 20, started at $13,000, and was knocked down at $22,800 to Herman J. Haskamp.

Lot 5, block 18 was jumped up to $15,000 from a first of $10,000. It leaped by five hundreds to $20,500, and then went warily to $20,700, where it was knocked down, the purchaser being J. S. Freeze.

Lot 6, in the same block, fetched $20,100. It was bought by A. J. Edelbrock.

Bidding began tardily for lot 17, block 14. The price of $18,400 was reached before long, William Watson securing the property.

Lot 16, in the same block, also went to Mr. Watson at the same price.

Lot 15, same block, fetched

AND THEY SAID "THERE'S NO MONEY IN PRINCE RUPERT!"

Constable Adams was detailed off this afternoon to stand guard over the office of C. D. Rand on Second avenue, where immense sums were held on deposit against the operations of substantial investors at the lot sale.

SENSATIONAL DYNAMITE SUSPICIONS ARE AROUSED OVER LAWRENCE STRIKE

Special to Daily News

Boston, Aug. 28.—An alleged conspiracy on the part of a number of the officers of mills in Lawrence to secret dynamite during the general strike in the latter city last winter is the subject of investigation by a Suffolk County grand jury.

The district attorney directed assistants to go to Lawrence and ascertain if dynamite found there during the strike was purchased in Boston. At the time of the prosecutions in Lawrence John Brown, a politician of that city, was convicted of storing explosives and fined $500.

Among those summoned to give evidence before the grand jury was Ernest P. Pittman of Andover, a millionaire contractor, who shot and killed himself this morning. When the dynamite was found secreted in several places in Lawrence the leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, who are conducting the strike, declared that they were not responsible. They charged that the dynamite was "planted" for the purpose of leading the public to believe that unions were plotting to blow up the mills.

Messrs. Barnum and Gierzen, two well known old timers in the service of the G. T. P., and pioneers of Prince Rupert, the latter being one of the divisional engineers, are down from up the line on a short visit and are guests at the G. T. P. Inn.

Lot 19, of the same set, was speedily run up to $17,000 and William Watson bid $18,900 to become its owner.

William Watson also purchased lots 13 and 14, block 24, Second avenue and Seventh street, which from $35,000 by thousands reached $48,000.

Lot 12, in this block, started at $8,000 and was secured by Max Freed for $16,500. The buyer took lot 11 at the same figure.

Lots 15 and 16, block 24, reached $35,000 in two or three high-jackets and then rose steadily to $36,000, H. O. Richter being the buyer. The property is on Third avenue and Seventh street.

Lots 1 and 2, block 17, corner McBride street and First avenue, obtained a preliminary bid of $10,000. The second one was $250,000. This corner reached $29,000. It was bought by H. W. Haskamp.

A rapid summation of the prices after forty-five minutes showed that the money invested had already passed the half million point, the total being $525,800.

Lot 3, block 17, went to H. W. Haskamp for $11,100.

The remaining lots offered in this block went as follows:

Lot 4, $9,500; J. J. Mackay.
Lot 5, $8,300; Fred Button.
Lot 6, $8,050; Westenhaver Bros.

Lot 7, $8,050; Westenhaver Bros.

Lot 8, $8,550; Westenhaver Bros.

Lot 9, $8,500; S. E. Parker.

Lot 10, $7,500; S. E. Parker.

Lots 11 and 12, $7,100 each; Jules Truefelt.

Lots 13 to 16 inclusive, $7,050 each; bought by T. D. Pattullo.

Lots 17 and 18, $7,800 each; Westenhaver Bros.

At this stage the sum already invested totalled $655,500.

KAISER WILHELM ON SICK LIST

Berlin, Aug. 28.—There are grave fears on the part of the public that Kaiser Wilhelm may be suffering from something considerably graver than that of a cold and muscular rheumatism, following an attack of influenza. The fear is not allayed by the publication of an official account of the origin and present state of His Majesty's illness in a bulletin issued by Count Enlengberg, the chief marshal of the Imperial court.

EMPEROR OF GERMANY

No medical bulletin has so far been published. It is admitted that His Majesty's condition is such that he must have a complete rest for an indefinite period.

Latest Bulletin.

Cassel, Hesse-Nassau, Germany, Aug. 28.—Emperor William spent some hours out of bed and working today, but suffered a slight rise of temperature at bed time. Physicians ascribe the change to over exertion. The swelling of the neck and jaw muscles and glands are not worse tonight. The general physical condition of the royal patient is, however, considerably disturbed.

THE SALE AND THE PROPHETS.

Considering the long continued and persistent efforts made by the citizens to persuade the Provincial government to dispose of the last series of lots held in the sold sections of the city, it is not surprising that there should be excitement over the event of today. The withholding of the lots from the market until this time has placed them in excellent light from the point of view of the sellers, and fully upholds Premier McBride's assurance to a Prince Rupert audience that the Provincial government is in the real estate business good and hard. Such superb lots as the old school house block on Second avenue, situated right in the business heart of Prince Rupert and surrounded by property valued at $1,000 per foot or more will not go for a song at this sale. Prophets of the real estate market have been exercising their powers to great extent of late, and the song has ever been of higher and higher values. There is no question that Prince Rupert is prepared to see a six figure total out of this sale.

REDUCTION OF RUPERT'S INSURANCE RATES.

Insurance rates are usually looked upon somewhat askance, some men even think they cannot afford to insure, or that it is poor economy, stated Fire Chief Heath of Saskatoon in a paper before the seventh annual convention of the Western Canada Firemen's Association. They should realize that they cannot afford not to insure, if they are to protect themselves—a blind trust in luck and Providence will not go far to avoid fire, nor to replace losses which occur through destruction of property. A fire department which has attained and maintains a maximum of efficiency is a protection to the citizens as well as to the insurance companies, and is also a direct monetary saving to citizens and municipality. Five minutes gained at the commencement of a fire is worth more than an hour after the fire has reached a certain stage. Where you find a fire department equipped with all the latest, most modern and approved fire equipment, alarm systems, machinery, tools, hose apparatus, etc., and with a strong discipline, the whole brought up to a stage of expertness and promptitude, ready for any contingency, you will find that the insurance companies are in duty bound to recognize the advanced stage at which you have arrived and to cut your insurance rates accordingly.

A DIFFERENCE IN IMPERIALISM.

One notable difference between the imperialism of the Australian people and the imperialism of the Canadian people is the absence, on the part of the Australians, of bluster and of the assumption that with them lies the fate of the empire. Australia has already devoted a very substantial sum of money for purposes of imperial defense, and very little has been said about it. Canada has so far not contributed a dollar and yet we are talking over here and our representatives now in the old country are talking there, as if it would be Canada that would take the lead in maintaining peace in the world or in chastising those nations which are determined to break the power of Britain on the ocean.—Brantford Expositor.

VISITOR MOVES RUPERT.

Reported in the Vancouver Sun is an interview with Mr. John A. Macdonald, a London financier, and recent visitor here. Mr. Macdonald is quoted as saying in original criticism of Prince Rupert that the city must move farther south because the site is too rocky to allow of the building of a residential section and the harbor too deep for sufficient wharves. He says that this is proved by the fact that the mosquito fleet has been ordered to shift to "an island to the south," and adds that "the population will move southward, where there is a flat eminently suited for townsite purposes." Considering that Rupert's residential section is the envy of other cities, that the mosquito fleet's new harbor is at Seal Cove, which is not an island and lies to the north, and that the first "flat" to be found to the direct south of Prince Rupert is on the top of Mount Oldfield, our visitor's criticism seems rather astray. To do Mr. Macdonald justice, however, he is no intentional knocker of Rupert for in the same interview by the Sun he declares that Prince Rupert is sure to forge ahead faster than any other city in Canada.

MOST ELOQUENT APPEAL EVER MADE TO A JURY IS THAT OF DARROW

Famous Lawyer Who Undertook the Defence of the McNamara Brothers Rose to the Heights of Oratory Full of Pathos When Making His Last Passionate Address to the Men Who Held His Fate in Their Hands

Clarence S. Darrow, the able solicitor, who undertook the defence of the McNamara brothers and was the other day acquitted of a charge of bribery made to the jury in his own defence one ever heard from an accused man. In closing Darrow said:

"This McNamara case came like a thunderbolt upon the world. Everyone in sympathy with capital thought it was dynamite. Everyone in sympathy with labor or thought of something else. Society was in open rupture. They called on me. I didn't want to go. I urged them to take someone else, but I had to come."

Both Sides Wrong

"There was an open cleavage, and it grew more bitter every day. No one could see the end. I've loved peace all my life. I believe both sides have gone about this in the wrong way. I believe men have been driven to some things by the acts of those whom they are fighting. But ever we are going onward and upward to the sunshine where hatred and violence will disappear. I believe I could have tried that case and tried it through and a large class of labor would not believe them guilty. I could have made money if that was what I was after, and I could have saved my face."

"But I know they could have hanged these men, and they would not have changed any man's opinion, but they would have settled in the hearts of men a hatred so deep that it would never pass away."

"Wherever I got a word of praise for what I did, I got a thousand words of blame. I know the crowd. In a way I love them. In a way I despise them. I have been their idol, and I have been cast down beneath their feet. I have heard the mob praise my name, and I've gone on my path unmoved by their hisses and ex-ecrations."

"No man is judged rightly by his fellow men. Some look upon a man and see no good, and here I am today in the hands of these twelve men. Well, so be it."

"I believe we are all in the hands of destiny, and if it is written in the book of destiny that I shall go to the penitentiary, there shall I go, and if these twelve men vote to liberate me, so it shall be."

Unseen Forces Move Us

"We go through life with unseen hands and unseen forces" that move us at their will, I can look back at circumstances that brought me here and I can see that I had nothing to do with it whatever. We have little to do with ourselves."

"Life is a game of whist, and unseen hands deal the cards. I do not like the way the cards are shuffled, but I like the game. I've taken the game and I've played it the best I could. And I'll play it out to the end, whatever that end may be."

"I know my life. I know what I've done. It's not been perfect. I have been human, too human. I've felt the heartbeats of my fellow men. I've tried to be the friend of every man. I've not had malice in my heart. There are some people who know it. There are some people who don't believe it. There are some people who regard my name as a byword and a reproach. There are honest men who misunderstand. There are men who would destroy me."

Pleads With Jury

"But I have friends the length and breadth of this land, and they are the poor, the weak and the helpless—whom I have helped, and I want to say to you that if you shall vote to acquit me there will be thousands through out the world who will thank you."

"I know in my heart that there are working men whom I have served who are praying today for my success. I know that in factory and workshop and store are thousands who love me. I know that if you find me not guilty, across these mountain peaks there will be thousands of little children who will give their thanks to you."

CANADIAN JUDGE TRIED DARROW

London, Ont., Aug. 28.—Judge George A. Hutton, who presided at the trial of Clarence S. Darrow at Los Angeles for bribery, is a native of this city. He was born and received his early education here. Judge Hutton's mother lives at Windsor with her daughter, Mrs. Laing. Fred Hutton of this city is a brother.

GREATLY INCREASED CALL FOR WIRELESS OPERATORS; CANADA'S GREAT SYSTEM

It is understood that one of the results of the recent international wireless congress held in London, at which Canada was represented by Deputy Minister of Naval Service Desbarats and Superintendent of Dominion Wireless Edwards, will be that the various governments will make wireless equipment on lake and ocean going vessels compulsory.

Effect of Titanic Disaster.

It is recognized that no such strict regulations can be enforced through the congress, but it is stated that the various representatives will recommend such a course of action to the governments which they represent. Already the demand for wireless operators in Britain, owing to the realization of the need of both a night and day operator which was impressed by the Titanic disaster, has exceeded the supply, and advertisements have been appearing asking for as many as 500 operators to fill the need in Britain alone.

At the present time many of the vessels plying on the great lakes are not yet equipped with the apparatus, the chief reason in the past being that there was little land communication available. Two new stations have, however, just been opened, namely, Midland and Tobermory, both of which are now operating, while within a few days there will be a station in operation at the Soo. Midland will command the Georgian Bay westward, while Tobermory will command the same water eastward and also Lake Huron. The Soo station when completed will have a range all over Lake Superior to Port Arthur, while at an early date the present station at the latter point will be superseded by a more up-to-date apparatus and equipment.

Chain from Lakes to Ocean.

These are what are known as five kilowatt stations, their apparatus having a range of 300 miles. They are at present under lease to the Marconi Company, and within a short time it is expected to complete the chain through to Kingston, whence connection will be made to Montreal and thence to the east coast stations.

Already work is being started on the station at Port Edward. When the chain is completed vessels equipped with even short range apparatus will scarcely be able to get out of touch with one or other of the land stations at any point of their voyage.

Already a number more of the C. P. R. and Northern Navigation companies' boats are being equipped, a large amount of apparatus having been installed at recent dates, and it is expected that many of the other companies will voluntarily install the equipment without being required to do so.

NOTICE

Public notice is hereby given that under the first part of Chapter 79 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906 known as "The Companies Act," letters patent have been issued under the seal of the Secretary of State of Canada, bearing date the 18th day of June, 1912, incorporating Richmondville Hart, barrister-at-law; George Merle Miller, student-at-law; Pearl Stockers, Jessie Strachan and Winifred Morgan, stenographers, all of the City of Toronto, in the Province of Ontario, for the following purposes, viz:

(a) To acquire by purchase, lease, exchange or otherwise, and to use, hold and improve lands, tenements, hereditaments, immovables and interest therein and generally to carry on business of a land company and real estate agency with the power of renting, exchanging, selling and otherwise dealing in real estate and any interest or right therein.

(b) To develop, improve and lay out any such property in building lots, streets, lanes, squares or otherwise, and upon such property make, construct, build and maintain roads, bridges and other internal communications, houses, mills, factories and other buildings necessary or expedient to an occupation or improvement of any such property.

(c) To make advances by way of loans to purchasers or lessees of any part of the company's real estate for building purposes or other improvements, to aid by way of advances or otherwise in the construction and maintenance of roads, streets, waterworks, sewers and other works of improvement calculated to render the company's property more accessible or to enhance its value.

(d) To take and hold mortgages, hypothecs and charges and to secure the payment of the purchase price of any property sold by the company or any money due to the company from purchasers or advanced by the company to purchasers for building purposes or other improvements.

(e) To act as an agency or association for and on behalf of others who entrust the company with money, invest and also secure the repayment of the principal or the payment of the interest, or both, of any money entrusted with the company for investment, and for the purpose of securing the company against loss upon any guarantee or obligation or any advance made by the company and to receive and dispose of any description of assets or security which is conveyed, pledged, mortgaged or assigned to or warehoused with the company in connection with such guarantee, obligation, advance or investment, and to guarantee any investment made by the company as agent or otherwise.

(f) To act as agents, or attorneys, for the management of estates, the sale of property, the investment, lending, payment, transmission and collection of moneys, rents, interests, dividends, mortgages, bonds, debentures and other securities and the undertaking of investigation, valuation, sales, exchanges, leases, subdivisions and the like.

(g) To construct, build, repair, alter and equip buildings and other structures and to deal in any building requisites.

(h) To construct, acquire and operate works for the production of power or force and deal in such power or force for any use or purpose for which the same may be adapted, subject to Provincial and municipal authorities.

(i) To acquire letters patent of invention, patent rights, processes, concessions, licenses, trade marks, copyrights or any other privileges of like nature connected with anything convenient for the purposes of the company, and to turn the same to account by manufacturing or working the same or granting licenses in respect thereof or otherwise.

(j) To purchase or otherwise acquire, or undertake all or any part of the business, property, assets or liabilities of any person, partnership or company carrying on business with objects similar in whole or in part to those of the company or possessed of property suitable and proper for the purposes of the company.

(k) To apply paid up shares, bonds or debentures in payment either in whole or in part of any property real or personal, rights, claims, privileges, concessions or other advantages which the company may lawfully acquire, and also in payment, part payment or exchange for the shares, bonds, debentures or other securities of any other company doing a business similar in whole or in part or incidental to the business of this company.

(l) To purchase, acquire, hold and own shares of the capital stock, bonds or other securities of any other company, corporation or individual carrying on or engaged in any business which the company is empowered to carry on or engage in, and to acquire, hold or otherwise dispose of such shares, bonds or other securities, notwithstanding the provisions of section 44 of the Companies Act.

(m) To enter into any arrangement for sharing of profits, union of interests, co-operation, joint adventures, reciprocal concession or otherwise with any person, partnership or company carrying on or engaged in or about to carry on any business or transaction which this company is authorized to carry on or to amalgamate with such company.

(n) To raise and assist in raising for and to aid by way of bonus, loan, promise, endorsement, the guarantee of bonds, debentures or securities or otherwise of any other company or corporation, and to guarantee the performance of contracts for such persons with whom the company may have business relations.

(o) To distribute among the shareholders of the company in kind, any property or assets of the company, and in particular any shares, debentures or securities of any other company or companies which may be purchased or taken over either in whole or in part the property, assets or liabilities of this company.

(p) To sell, lease, exchange or otherwise dispose of, in whole or in part, the property, rights, or undertakings of the company for such consideration as may be agreed upon, and in particular for shares, debentures or securities of any other company having objects altogether or in part similar to those of the company.

SHOULD BANK CLERKS MAKE BETS?

Toronto, Aug. 28.—Betting on the races is given as the cause of the wreckage of the careers of two Toronto bank clerks. Roland Harris, assistant clearing house teller of the Standard Bank, has to answer to the charge of misappropriating about $7,000 from the bank's funds, while Richmond, paying teller of the Elm street branch of the Bank of Toronto, lies at death's door at St. Michael's Hospital following two attempts at suicide after he had stolen $500 or more of the funds of the bank. According to the confessions of both tellers, they yielded to the temptation of placing large bets on "sure things" which did not fulfil expectations, and their efforts to recoup their losses were in vain.

END OF STRIFE IN SENATE

Washington, Aug. 27.—Sobered by embarrassments of Saturday's all-night session of filibustering and disagreements, Congress adjusted its differences today, and invited President Taft up to the Capitol once more. At 4.30 p.m. the end was marked with a return of harmony and an end filibustering. Senator LaFollette after demanding action of the Penrose campaign fund on moving the resolution found all opposition smoothed away in front of him and the resolution passed almost without discussion.

MERELY MABEL REMARKS

That she heard a man remark the other afternoon that he thought Prince Rupert government lots should be open to pre-emption.

That everybody's doing it. What? Digging down into their jeans.

That a man made $500 yesterday afternoon on a $25 deposit by cheque after the bank had closed, and plus a little know how.

That some men in Rupert have know how and others can't manage to get any now.

That the man who was a lemon squeezer the other evening was observed around town searching for a sucker.

That now is the time for all good men to get in and buy government lots.

That in the real estate game it's bad to be only a center.

That the peachiest thing in government lots is a pretty girl crossing in front of the Provincial buildings.
