HOLD-UP SUSPECT ON BAIL: S.S. RUPERT ARRIVALS: LOCAL NEWS: LATEST TELEGRAPH

A PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR RETIRING EDITOR

For a brief spell today an unusual silence reigned in the mechanical department of the Daily News. The hum of presses and the click of typesetting machines, which sounds are as music to the ear of an editor, suddenly ceased. Every member of the staff but one understood and to that one the explanation was soon revealed. Mr. Norman Mackintosh, who has resigned his position as editor of The News and was occupying the editorial chair for the last day, was called to the composing room, where he was posed by the staff with a leather suitcase as a token of their regret at his departure and the kindly feelings entertained for him by each individual. Mr. S. D. Macdonald, foreman, made the presentation, and in a few appropriate words referred to the splendid work done by Mr. Mackintosh as reporter in the earlier days and recently as editor. It was with feelings of deep regret that the various members of the staff had learned of Mr. Mackintosh's resignation, but he was assured that the best wishes of the staff went with him. Although coming as a complete surprise to Mr. Mackintosh, his usual self composure enabled him to respond, expressing his appreciation of the good fellowship which had always existed between the individual members of the staff and himself and thanking them for showing their feelings in such tangible manner.

Mr. Jones, who is engaging a gasoline boat with two men to accompany him, purposes leaving at the earliest opportunity, taking advantage of the beautiful weather to make a thorough examination of his property during the next few days.

The remainder of the party will remain in Prince Rupert until he returns before proceeding up the canal.

AN IMPORTANT EPOCH FOR THE QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS FIRST FARM PRODUCE FAIR

The first agricultural exhibition on Graham Island will be held on October 8th at Lawn Hill, under the auspices of the East Coast of Graham Island Farmers' Institute. Mr. Wm. Manson, M.P.P., has promised to attend and open the exhibition, which, from reports, promises to be a successful affair. The committee are arranging the prize list, which will be announced later. It is intended to offer prizes for the different kinds of vegetables and grains. A program of sports, such as foot-racing, horse-racing, and tug-of-war, is also being arranged as well as other attractions. Everyone is invited to do all they possibly can to make the exhibition a success, and Mr. A. J. Gordon, who has the matter in hand, will be glad to receive any help in the way of donations towards the prize fund.—Queen Charlotte Islander.

MINING ACTIVITY IN SLOCAN COUNTRY

New Denver Citizens Pay Annual Visit to Prince Rupert—Astonished at the City Progress
Among today's arrivals by the Prince Rupert are three prominent citizens of New Denver, B. C., Dr. J. E. Brouse of the Slocan hospital, Angus McInnes of the Mining Recorder, and C. F. Nelson. Like other visitors to Prince Rupert these gentlemen were astonished at the wonderful progress made by the city since their last visit a year ago. Mr. McInnes reports considerable activity in the mining industry in the vicinity of New Denver. There is a steady increase in the output of the older mines and several new ones are being opened. The Standard mine is paying a monthly dividend of over $50,000, and has ore blocked out to last for twenty years. The Finch & Springer Co. of Spokane have recently opened the Idaho and Alamo mines, both of which promise well.

BALMORAL BOYS HELD GAY DANCE AT PORT ESSINGTON TO MARK SEASON'S CLOSE

One of the most enjoyable social affairs ever held in Port Essington took place Thursday evening, when the boys of the Balmoral Cannery entertained their friends at a dance in the Cunningham hall, which was most tastefully and appropriately decorated with the Balmoral colors, admirably thought out by Mr. Alf Perkins, ably assisted by Mr. Albert Abrey of the hotel. At the end of the hall a net was draped in a very artistic manner, surrounded with the general gear of the fishing industry and set off by a huge sal-

Daily News on Daily Doings

A YOUNG PRINCE AND HIS SLEEPING BEAUTY.

Here in Prince Rupert at the very heart of living thriving Northern British Columbia, right in the midst of the most matter-of-fact interests, of real estate, of industrial beginnings, of capitalistic seekings for investment, of hard and even unkindly toil, there is a fairy story of old-time always, and almost literally true. Long amongst the mountains of the North has dwelt behind the all-but impenetrable thicket of the trees Beauty Asleep. None cared that this Sleeping Beauty should ever be admired or awakened to the wonderful work of the world until with the kiss of Young Prince Rupert the charm of the sleeping silences is broken, and Beauty radiant and awake to the world's need for her crowns the young Prince with gladness.

REDISTRIBUTION PROSPECTS.

There is nothing in the British North America Act, or in the established practice at Ottawa, to compel the Borden Government to face the Dominion electorate within a short time after the redistribution of the constituencies. The British North America Act simply provides that the life of a Parliament shall be five years from the date of the return of the last writ in a general election. That is to say, the Borden Government's lease of power runs until October, 1916, though, of course, the Government may go to the country sooner.

GOOD AQUIRY FOR THE ISLANDS.

In the "Queen Charlotte Islander" appears an item of interest to all who have the prosperity of the Islands and of Prince Rupert at heart. The first agricultural exhibition on Graham Island will be held on October 8th, at Lawn Hill, under the auspices of the East Coast of Graham Island Farmers' Institute. Prizes are offered for vegetable and grain exhibits. This occasion is really a great one, however small its actual appearance. Only this spring the Dominion Government Labor Correspondent for Prince Rupert District was obliged to return blank to the department the schedules sent out asking for returns of wage-rates paid agricultural laborers during the past decade. Of agriculture such as employs labor with a regular wage-scale there was none in sight. Next spring should see a difference now that the Queen Charlotte Islands can put on an exhibition of farm produce. And the difference won't mean any less prosperity for Prince Rupert.

ON PARTING FROM PRINCE RUPERT.

Swift change is the order of the West, and well for the West, too. From the strength of the most enterprising of the East comes the energy of the resistless West. New men and new minds bright, alert, capable and business-like fresh from good work in Ontario are up-building British Columbia and Prince Rupert this very day. Warmly they are welcomed, and in Prince Rupert particularly, most willingly they are helped. There's nothing small towards a newcomer about Rupert people. The writer of this was a newcomer and knows. But with the changes of the West there come times of parting as well as times of welcome. Times when men must leave even Prince Rupert and associations which they may have learned to love, tasks of which the very tribulations have grown to be treasured memories, work-mates who have proved themselves friends in the fighting line of the battle to make good, other associations, simple but sacred. Life is made up of partings, but to part from Prince Rupert requires the motive of a real personal purpose, and a pretty vital one, to make the gleam that a man must ever follow or fail, seem worth the pang of that parting.

TERRIFIC CONFLAGRATION

Ocean Park, Los Angeles, Devastated—Damage $2,500,000.

Tardy intelligence has just reached Prince Rupert that Ocean Park, Los Angeles, a recreation spot well known to many people here, has been razed by a terrible fire, doing damage up to $2,500,000. Five hundred people were rendered homeless, 21 lives were saved by boats when the terrified people leaped into the sea. J. F. Loeke was drowned. He leaped, blazing, into the sea and sank. Seven Japanese could not be rescued. The fatalities and rescues occurred at Fraser pier.

BRITAIN BELIEVED TO HAVE FALLEN DOWN A BIT OVER OLYMPIC GAMES OF 1912

London, Sept. 14.—The failure of Great Britain to secure better results at the Olympic games at Stockholm is explained today in the report of the British Olympic committee, which says:

"It was not mere specialization which enabled Sweden and the United States to do better than the British Empire. The only winner of three gold medals came from Finland. The Pentathlon and the Decathlon were won by an American who showed quite extraordinary all round ability. Sweden won all the points in the modern Pentathlon and obtained more points than any other nation in the whole of the games by sedulously cultivating every form of physical ability possessed by her inhabitants, and her strength and capacity as a nation have been enormously increased in the process."

The lack of serious interest in the games on the part of the British public is declared to have greatly affected the enthusiasm of the British competitors. Owing to want of funds these were also deprived of opportunities for training under trainers acquainted with the best scientific methods.

"It rests with the British public," says the report, "whether this state of things shall be remedied in the future."

RAILWAY WRECK NEAR SEATTLE

Winlock, Wash., Sept. 13.—A southbound local passenger train on the Oregon-Washington Railway which left Seattle yesterday morning jumped the track four miles west of here late in the afternoon. Twenty-six persons were hurt, two seriously. The first coach rolled over twice before it reached the bottom of a forty foot embankment. The other coaches did not turn over or leave the grade.

TRIPLE SELF GOVERNMENT FOR BRITAIN

Dundee, Sept. 13.—In an address here today interrupted somewhat by suffragettes, Mr. Churchill stated that Home Rule is the forerunner of a system of self-government for England, Wales and Scotland.

LLOYD-GEORGE MAY COME TO AMERICA

A deputation of Welsh-Americans who are promoting an international Eisteddfod at Pittsburg next year called on David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer in London lately, and invited him to attend. They assured him of the warmest welcome.

The chancellor replied that it was impossible, owing to his parliamentary duties, to accept an invitation for the fourth of July, but if there were any possibility of fixing a more convenient date he would take the matter under consideration. He said that nothing would give him greater pleasure than to talk in the Welsh tongue to his fellow-countrymen in America.

Will Visit States

The chancellor added that he had received many invitations of late years to visit the United States, but he has been too busy to accept. He intended, however, to avail himself of the first opportunity to go there.

The Daily Express prints an attack upon the chancellor's tax collection methods by giving a list of 50 millionaires of his party whom it claims are untaxed.

Among the prominent names in the list are Lord Pirrie, of Harland and Wolff, shipbuilders, Lord Cowdray, formerly Sir Weetman Pearson, who made his fortune in America oil fields; Lord Abercromby, Lord Ashby St Ledger, Lord Brassay, and Baron De Forrest.

Always insist on having the best at the lowest price. See Hart's decorated bedroom crockery, 10-piece sets $3.30; nothing to equal.

W. H. Harrison of Messrs. McCaffery & Gibbons' real estate office was a passenger south on the Prince George.

BRITANNIC SHOULD RULE THE WAVES

Liverpool, Sept. 13.—The White Star Company announces that its new 50,000 ton steamer is to be named the Britannic. It will have a complete inner skin and the bulkheads will be increased. It will be capable of floating with six compartments flooded.

LAST LINGERING RELICS OF THE DAYS OF THE BUFFALO ARE SOLD ON THE PRAIRIE

The world's last shipment of buffalo horns was sent from Winnipeg to Ottawa recently by the Indian Curio Company, Main and James streets. It consisted of 10,000 horns and was worth about $5,000 wholesale. In the Dominion capital the horns will be "made over" into their future shapes as hat racks, gun racks, drinking cups and souvenirs of all kinds.

Last of Great Store.
Barring 500 horns which still remain in the possession of the local curio company, this shipment does away with the last of a store of about 30,000 of the headgear of the former proud masters of the prairie. The collecting of this stock is closely connected with the early history of Winnipeg. The horns were picked up on the prairies by the settlers and Indians. If the brave warriors could have thrown a glance into the future when they, after killing the buffaloes, rode away with only the skin, the tongue and the heart, leaving the rest of the carcass to the tender mercies of the elements, and then seen that they a few years later would be walking around digging the half buried horns up from the ground to sell them to the palefaces, they no doubt would have shown more care in disposing of them.

The man who bought the buffalo horns from the Indians and the settlers was the late W. F. White, first a blacksmith in the service of the C. P. R., and later a curio dealer on Main street, and here is where the similarity of the early history of Winnipeg and that of the stock of buffalo horns comes in. The growth of the new and prospering town kept exact pace with the growth of the horn stock. For every new arrival in Winnipeg, as it were, either in ox carts via the trails from south and east, or boat, or in the time honored way of simply being born, for every such

DON'T TALK "GOO-GOO" TALK TO BABIES: EVEN THE TINIEST CAN UNDERSTAND COMMON SENSE

The use of the words "cute," "cunning" and "old fashioned" as applied to children, although they are hoary with antiquity, are serious evidences of the existence of a real evil. It is of great importance to the development of a child that it should be surrounded with everything that is helpful, and modern science is laying especial stress on the help that lies in the expectation of good things. It is a common thing to hear the parent or other relative of a fairly intelligent child quoting as a "funny story" some sentence of the child's in which he or she has used a long word, although the word may have been rightly used.

As many such stories are told before the children themselves this fatal error has two dangers, either that the child may become conceited and desirous of showing off, in which case it will get hold of all the long words possible and use them whether they have any meaning or not; or else, that the child will fail to develop the use of proper words for fear of being laughed at. It is not right to laugh at a child at any time, but to laugh at a child for doing right is so obvious an injustice that it is a wonder it continues at all.

Closely allied with this is the mistake of speaking to children in a way far less grammatical than grown-up people would consider possible among themselves. At the very time that it is important that a child should learn the balance of phrases and the use of the right word in the right place, careless mothers and fathers will permit utter carelessness of speech and even the use of "baby talk," which is a crime in a child's upbringing. There is no reason to expect a child to speak ungrammatically!

A child does not learn speech through grammar, but scores of cultured people to whom a grammatical slip is impossible who know absolutely nothing of formal grammar. Many of the writers who are distinguished for good literary style have no memory of the exact definitions that occur in parsing and analysis.

Children say enough really witty things without spoiling all their ideas about speech by laughing before them at every sign of their advancement. A misplaced word may be laughed at if the relation of the sentence is ludicrous, but the reason should be shown to the child in order that the word may be used rightly the next time; under no circumstances, however, should a child be permitted to hear its fair development being treated as a joke.

FIVE ROYAL BABY BOYS AND GIRLS

arrival Mr. White bought a new set of horns.

The race between the town and the horns was neck and neck, until the latter numbered about 32,000. The railroads then made the competition less equal, and then there were no more horns to gather on the prairies, at any rate not in sufficient numbers to make it worth while for even the squaws.

Sold and Stolen Back.

This horn trade with the dusky braves was not without trouble and inconvenience. The original lords of the western plains were not exactly famous for their honesty. They would come in large numbers to Mr. White's store and, one at a time, bargain with him for the sale of their pickings, or rather those of their wives. The horns were usually wrapped up in bundles looking very much alike, and when Mr. White had bought one, he usually throw it out in the back yard and then turn to the next customer. The one who had disposed of his bag then took a stroll around to said back yard and if nobody was watching he simply helped himself to the very same bundle and sold it to Mr. White again.

On a successful day the Indians thus made good profits and the dispensers of fire water, who in the good old days were not subject to such strict rules as in this writing, did a rushing business as long as the Indians' money lasted, and then the trouble began. The braves put on their war paint and went on a high old spree. It would often require more than the local constabulary to persuade them to leave town.

As stated before, this shipment to Ottawa does away with the last big store of buffalo horns in the west. There is no more supply to pick from. The only place where a few well preserved horns still may be found is around Medicine Hat, Alta., but the supply there is hardly sufficient to satisfy the local demand from tourists.

TWO FIRE WARDENS VISITED

Mr. W. C. Gladwin, chief supervisor of firewardens, of Vancouver, and Clyde Leavitt, chief fire inspector of Ottawa, came here from the south on the last trip of the George, and was met by Mr. Geo. A. Kerr, divisional fire warden for the Skeena river division, who accompanied them as far as Hazelton, returning again on Thursday evening. Mr. Gladwin, who was here three years ago when interviewed, said he would not believe if he had not seen for himself what Prince Rupert had accomplished in the past two years.

Both gentlemen enjoyed their trip very much and are greatly pleased with the manner in which the Grand Trunk people are clearing up and keeping clean their right-of-way, and the desire on the part of the chief officials to co-operate in every way possible with the government for the suppression of fire along their line.

Mr. Gladwin and Mr. Leavitt left again for Victoria yesterday morning and Mr. Kerr will return to Kitselas tomorrow.

BRITAIN TO BUILD MOST POWERFUL OF WARSHIPS

The most powerful battleship yet ordered is to be laid down at Portsmouth in November by the British Admiralty.

She is to be 700 feet in length and is to displace 30,000 tons, while her high-powered turbine engines are to develop a speed of 29 knots.

It is reported that the new vessel is to be armed with 14-inch guns, the first tried in the British navy.

Mr. A. T. Broderick, manager of the local branch of the Union Bank, has returned from Stewart, to which place he accompanied the general manager, Mr. G. A. Balfour, on a short visit.

Why put up with that uncomfortable mattress when you can get a "Restmore" for $9.95 at Hart's.

At the Theatre

"The House of a Thousand Candles" Presented Excellently by the Allan Players.

Another crowded house witnessed the performance last evening of "The House of a Thousand Candles" by the popular Allan Stock Company. The play, which is of a most uncommon character, has a mysterious atmosphere that keeps the audience in a state of wonderment until the fall of the last curtain. The staging and lighting effects were excellent, the set in the second and third acts was particularly pleasing and effective, and the color scheme, furniture and profuse display of candles that is the raison d'être of the uncommon title of the play being the most ambitious stage setting that has ever been attempted here. Great credit is to be ascribed to the management for their ability to put such a scene on, on such a comparatively small stage. The acting all through was of the high standard set by the Allan players.

The play this evening, the roaring farce "Whose Baby Are You?" is the greatest fun maker ever written and is sure of playing to a bumper house, three local babies having been specially procured for the occasion, who will make their first appearance on the professional or any other stage.

LEADING CAPITALIST LEAVES OLD YUKON ARGONAUT SOUTHBOUND

T. Frame Thompson, the London capitalist, accompanied by his secretary, Percy R. Jackson, who have been visitors to this district the last few days, left on the Prince George for Vancouver where Mr. Frame Thompson has his private car, in which he will proceed on his return east. Mr. Frame Thompson before leaving expressed himself as genuinely delighted with his visit and all he has been able to see of the country during his short stay, and is enthusiastic about the great future development that is assured as soon as the railway is completed.
