THE NAVAL ISSUE.

> Few Canadians are disposed to dispute the debt which Canada owes the Mother Country for the protection which she has afforded us against foreign aggression, but we doubt if many people born in this country will go so far as to say that our only reason for doing so are business first and sentiment after. Canada's attitude on this question is purely that of a son toward his father. It is a family affair, where the chief consideration is the need. If the Mother Country were really in danger and were unable to hold her own abong the nations of the world, no Canadian would begrudge all the assistance in the power of the Dominion, but when we find Englishmen themselves at
