UP COUNTRY FARMERS WANT CHEAPER RATES

Kitsumkalum and Terrace Farmers Hold Meeting and Protest Against High Freight Rates

Kitsumkalum, B.C., Nov. 22.—A meeting of the Farmers' Institute was held at Kitsumkalum recently. It says a good deal for the interest of the members in the work of the Institute that in spite of a most inclement spell of weather a goodly number of the settlers turned out. Amongst other subjects discussed was the question of cheaper freight rates between Terrace and Prince Rupert.

It seems to be a part of the scheme of things that high rates and railroad service should go hand in hand, and if these rates are general all around they would be paid without any grumbling, but in this case the Skeena settlers have to compete with much lower rates from the south.

The rate from Ashcroft to Prince Rupert is lower than the rate from Terrace to Prince Rupert, and the Seattle producer gets his goods landed in Prince Rupert at one-third what it costs the local settler to market his goods there.

The Lakelse and Kitsumkalum rancher is not afraid to pit his goods against even the reputable Ashcroft product in point of quality, and all he wants is a fair field and no favors, and he can carry along.

One of the speakers in the course of his remarks called attention to the fact that Mr. Cham Berlin, of the G.T.P., had been asking the government to encourage immigration to this northern country. He pointed out, however, that it was scarcely fit to encourage immigration if the immigrant was not to be protected from a monetary point of view. He said that the government would bring many more into the country, but the number he would bring in would be nothing in comparison to the number an unsatisfied immigrant would keep away. The Kitsumkalum and Lakelse valleys have resources enough to support a large and prosperous community, but under existing circumstances the farmers were being badly handicapped. He thought, therefore, that it was up to the Grand Trunk to combine with the government and the settler to make the most of the great possibilities dormant in the hinterlands of Prince Rupert.

RECOMMENDATIONS IN JURY'S PRESENTMENT

Safer Handling of Money in the Registry Office—Enforce Liquor Laws

The report of the Grand Jury upon the public institutions and their welcome to the Chief Justice was as follows:

Prince Rupert, B.C., November 21st, 1912.

My Lord,—We the first Grand Jury empanelled in the city of Prince Rupert, tender a hearty vote of welcome to Your Lordship, and appreciate the fact that a criminal assize court has been established in the Northern portion of the province.

We, the Grand Jury, beg to report that we have inspected the various public institutions, and beg to say that the facilities for holding court are very unsuitable and in convenient as at present constituted, and while we are aware that a new court house is to be erected, we would urgently advise that such buildings be started and completed at the earliest possible moment. We would draw attention to the fact that all monies, paid into and all documents deposited with the Land Registry office are accepted, and no receipts given therefor. We would strongly advise that steps be taken by the proper authorities to have receipts given for all such monies and documents. We have inspected the municipal jail in which the provincial prisoners are at present housed, and find that it is kept in an exceptionally clean and sanitary condition, and on inspecting it we were impressed with the fact, that the numerous occupants of the municipal gaol hall might be employed at some useful labor during their term, with benefit to themselves and the public at large.

We have visited the local hospital, and have found it a splendid institution, well equipped.

SHOOTING WITH INTENT TO KILL WAS CHARGED

Case of Rex vs. Bright in Assize Court—Alleged He Shot With Murderous Intent

The case of Rex vs. Solomon Bright, shooting with intent to kill, came up for hearing at the assize court yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Hon. Fred Peters, K.C., represented the accused, W. E. Fisher prosecuting for the crown. As is usual with all the Indian cases considerable time and patience is necessary to obtain an intelligent story of the affair. The Rev. W. E. Col. lison acted as interpreter, his intimate and perfect knowledge of the Indian language greatly facilitating matters.

The prosecution introduced several witnesses who testified that the shooting actually took place and that one person, an Indian woman, the wife of John Greene, the principal witness, was struck by a bullet and seriously injured.

The old story of the illegal use of intoxicating liquor was at the bottom of the trouble. Solomon had been drinking, the witness said, some decoction made by the natives out of fermented berries. He hailed a gasoline launch being run by another Indian of the name of Joseph Latimer, and asked for a tow. The latter apparently did not hear him. This incensed Solomon, who thereupon proceeded to get a rifle out of its case, that he kept on board, as all fishermen do for the purpose of frightening seals that eat their fish in the nets. Having succeeded in his purpose he started blazing away at the launch containing Latimer and his wife. The witnesses all declare he fired five shots.

The jury brought in a verdict at 2 o'clock of guilty on the second count, "shooting with intent to do bodily harm."

In Lethbridge one judge at the recent Dry Farming Congress says that never before did he see such a collection of wheat. It was most perfect milling wheat. The winning wheat, grown by Henry Holmes of Raymond, Alberta, was as near perfect as possible, taking into consideration the commercial value, weight and color.

HUNDREDS DIE IN TERRIBLE STORM WHICH SWEEPED THE JAMAICA COAST

Tidal Wave of Terrible Height Swept Boats and Wreckage Half Mile Inland---Hardly a House Left Standing in One Town Estimate Dead at Over a Hundred

(Special to Daily News.)

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 22.—Official estimates of the number of dead in a terrible hurricane which raged here Wednesday and yesterday, and which was followed by a gigantic tidal wave places the number at about one hundred. coast sloops and small craft in the harbors at Green Island, Montego, Lucea and Savannalamar founded, and a large percentage of the crews are drowned. Many persons living in the towns and cities lost their lives from falling walls and debris.

The tidal wave at Savannalamar is reported to be the highest seen for more than a century.

Coasting vessels were washed half a mile up the street and mixed with the wreckage of buildings on the main street in the centre of the town can be found marine flotsam. Ninety-five per cent. of the buildings fell. Many bodies have been recovered, and the work of rescue is going on as fast as can be done.

THE COAL STRIKE.

According to the brief press despatches, the situation at Cumberland must be a serious one when one hundred special policemen have to be sent to that place from Victoria. Apparently the miners do not take kindly to the working of the mines by non-union labor, and it is to prevent disturbances that the government sends the policemen.

The present strike on Vancouver Island is a curious one. The men are claiming that the gas men appointed by the unions have been discriminated against by the company. The government was asked by the miners at the commencement of the trouble to investigate and find if their statements were true and then, if so, to take measures to rectify matters. The minister of mines, Sir Richard McBride, refused to do this, so the strike continued.

In refusing the petition of the strikers, McBride wanted them to lay specific charges and prove conclusively the accusations. He only had to turn to the files in the Department of Mines to find where David McKinnell had his certificate cancelled as overman in the Extension mines for discharging James Black for reporting the existence of gas did he want verification of the reasons set forth as the cause of the strike. Moreover, he knows of the case in that he gave the certificate of competency back to McKinnell in contravention of his own mining laws.

James Black was discharged from his position as fire boss at Extension for reporting the existence of gas. The very thing that he is supposed to do. He forced an inquiry and the overman lost his papers—but they were returned to him.

When such things as this go on, and knowing that in the same mine a few months before thirty-two men died by reason of a gas explosion, can you blame those miners for striking when they imagine that their gas men, appointed by the union although employees of the company, were discharged and blacklisted? Do you blame those men fighting for their lives, or do you think that the Department of Mines—which restores a certificate cancelled for such an action, thus supporting the company in discriminating against the men to the danger of their lives—is to blame?

Now, instead of giving the investigation asked for, the government sends one hundred policemen to keep the miners from giving any trouble to the mine owners or the men who are strike breaking. We do not believe in violence and would not for a single moment advocate it, but it does seem hard that after placing their case before the Minister of mines and entreating the government to settle the matter peaceably and being refused they are compelled by armed force to sit idly by and watch the strike breakers march to and from work.

You Are on the Bench

YOU—the Public—are the judge. On your good opinion and your good word depends the success of the advertised article. For no amount of advertising will induce you to buy a second time what you do not like. No advertising will offset the bad effect of a dissatisfied buyer.

That is why advertisers must and do maintain the quality of their goods.

Advertisers realize that to turn their outlay for advertising into profit they must give good value.

No manufacturer can afford to advertise for long an inferior article. From the moment the advertising begins, the quality must either be kept uniform or improved—to go back means ruin.

The day is passing when you ask for a pint of pickles. You name the brand.

You don't ask for Rolled Oats. You name the brand you prefer.

The unknown article may be good, but you are not sure of it as you are of the advertised article, which bears the seal of quality, —a well known maker's trade name.
