DIPLOMATS TRY TO MAKE LIGHT OF THE TROUBLE

MAYOR NEWTON TURNS COUNCIL MEETING INTO CLAP TRAP MEETING AND ABUSED CLERGY

MAYOR NEWTON RAGED AT THE CLERGY WHO CRITICIZED HIM

COUNCIL CHAMBER LAST NIGHT IS SCENE OF DISGRACEFUL TIRADE AGAINST MINISTERS OF CITY WHO DO NOT SUPPORT MAYOR NEWTON.

With a bylaw calling for the expenditure of millions of dollars before them, the Council last night devoted themselves to discussing religion and politics. Most of the evening was taken up in listening to the frequent bursts of oratory on the part of the Mayor, who, when once wound, runs like a clock work gramophone, repeating over and over the same record.

It was disappointing in that the gallery was not filled to hear the tirade of His Worship, the chief magistrate of the city, in his criticism of the morals and Christian principles of the clergy of the city, who had the audacity to hold views contrary to his ideas.

The question arose upon debate in committee of the whole on the Sunday pool bylaw, which was introduced, read a first and second time, considered in committee and adopted at one sitting.

Alderman Bullock-Webster was called to occupy the chair. The adoption of clause one was moved and immediately Mayor Newton was on his feet with the light of battle in his eye. A political speech having no bearing whatever on the question before the house (the time for opening and closing the pool rooms) followed.

The clergy were taken to task for their attitude on the question of an open town. Dramatically he accused them of the basest ingratitude in not supporting him and Alderman Bullock-Webster, who, from his position at the head of the table, gazed spellbound at the Mayor as he thumped the table in his anger or gulped down water to quench his throat, dried by the burning eloquence that poured like molten metal from his lips.

They, with the chief of police, had been earnest in their endeavors to aid in the moral uplift of the city, but what was the result? In vain did he call for an answer. Alderman Bullock-Webster wetted his lips but answered nothing. Even Alderman Montgomery was silent. He answered himself, "Ingratitude."

Had not the minister who Sunday night condemned him on one occasion said: "Stick to that line, Newton, and you will be all right?" Now that same man was found opposing him.

Warming to the subject, he raised his voice till it reverberated throughout the building and could be heard in the street below, calling for preachers who would preach Christianity and leave politics alone. His own father had been a preacher, he informed the Council, but later when Alderman Clayton told him that the Council was "no place for a minister's son" depreciated that fact by saying that he had too much religion driven into him when young.

Politics is a dirty game, he explained, and ministers should not dabble in it. If the ministers were true to their Christian principles they would have joined hands with them (Alderman Bullock-Webster and himself) and would support them in their actions.

Aldermen Clayton, Douglas and Dybhavn fought against the passage of the bylaw, saying that it was poor policy at the eleventh hour to break their own bylaws. Having the majority of the Councillors with him, Mayor Newton forced the bylaw amendment through, tacking on to it, by way of explanation to the following council, a stipulation that the pool rooms should remain open until such time as a workman's club was established.

compared to the actual benefit and assurance given the electors. Ald. Bullock-Webster was of the same opinion as Alderman Clayton and advocated that the bylaw should have been gone into thoroughly before it went to the vote.

City Solicitor Peters pointed out that it would be impossible to get an expert opinion before Saturday.

Interment of Dead. Even the dead were not allowed to rest in peace in the general talkfest at the city hall last night. The question as to whether or not relatives were compelled to bury their dead at Fairview Cemetery or could inter them at Garden Island was discussed. Alderman Morrissey referred to a rumor he had heard that the denomination to which he belonged would not bury their dead at Fairview because the ground had not been consecrated. This he contended was untrue, as the plot was consecrated when the interment took place.

City Hall Furnishings. George Tite was given the contract on the recommendation of the Board of Works to furnish the city council chamber with suitable furniture. The cost will amount to some $700.

Fraternal Order of Eagles. All members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles are requested to attend the regular meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 27th. Important business. 279

ALD. MORRISSEY OBJECTS Would Not Acknowledge Bill Unless Itemized Statement Is Submitted.

Alderman Morrissey strenuously objected to acknowledging the indebtedness of the city to the government of a sum totaling $124,439.50 without a detailed account of what the government spent the money for.

Considerable discussion arose in trying to point out to Alderman Morrissey that the auditors had gone over the account and had checked it up.

Finally the clerk was sent for a detailed statement, which was in the form of many typed pages. It looked as if Alderman Morrissey was satisfied, but discovering the name of F. George as being the recipient of certain sums of money he demanded to know whether or not it had reference to Fort George and pointed out that mistakes had occurred before.

A communication was read from the Attorney General to the effect that when the government was given assurance that it would get the money owed by the city it would allow the sale of the treasury certificates.

CITY CLERK'S PAY Debate on Overtime Lasts Long Time—Expert Advice on Typewriter.

Half an hour was spent last night by the city fathers in fierce debate as to whether or not the city clerk should be given extra pay for overtime spent in compiling the voters' list.

Mr. Woods, the clerk, was called upon to explain why and wherefor he should receive compensation for his time spent after hours.

After much time had been consumed it was finally agreed to reimburse him for his overtime.

Superintendent Duncan, of the light plant, asked for a typewriter, and recommended a second hand machine. He explained in answer to a question that he had an expert's opinion on the value of the machine.

The Finance committee were given power to act in the matter.

RAILWAY LOST APPEAL Cameron Bay Appeal Dismissed by Council at Ottawa—Board Sustained

Yesterday word was received in the city from M.A. Cars, of the law firm of Cars & Bennet, who is in Ottawa in connection with the Cameron Bay law suit, to the effect that the appeal, taken by the G.T.P. to Governor-General in Council, had been dismissed.

The appeal was against the order of the railway commission, ordering the opening of the bay.

POWERS TRY TO MAKE LIGHT OF POSSIBILITY OF BIG WAR

GRAVE SITUATION IS MADE WORSE BY POSSIBILITY TURKEY HOLDING BACK TO WAIT ACTION OF QUARRRELLING NATIONS

(Special to Daily News.) London, Nov. 26.—The extreme anxiety of all the European governments to deny that there are any warlike preparations being made with a view to hostilities between Serbia and Austria, is in itself regarded here to be an indication of how slender is the thread that holds the peace of the world. The fevered energies of the powers to maintain the supposition of peace is taken as an evidence that war is not far off.

Another grave cause for alarm is the possibility that Turkey following a traditional policy, will adopt an irreconcilable attitude in negotiating peace with the Balkan states in view of the probable hostilities.

IS CONFIDENT THAT OIL EXISTS ON GRAHAM ISLE Expert Says That Oil in Abundance Will Be Found on Coast.

Masset, Nov. 21.—Work has been suspended on the oil plant at Tiahn Point. The superintendent and driller have gone to Vancouver to make arrangements to continue the work.

A. Panvini visited the west coast recently and is very optimistic over the indications there. He is interested in several claims and is known as one of the best mining experts in the country.

Mr. Panvini is confident there is oil in vast quantities along the coast and is endeavoring to interest capitalists in the placing of drills on the ground.

BETTER BOAT SERVICE NEEDED ON THE COAST

Bella Coola and Other Valuable Districts Retarded for Lack of Service

Last week the Courier endeavored to show that Bella Coola as a farming community was unable to take advantage of the market offered by Prince Rupert owing to lack of steamboat service.

The present system of one steamer taking farm produce from Bella Coola and dumping it down on some wharf or other, to lay there for a week or more, until picked up by another of same company's boats is hard to tolerate, and to be told that this is the best the steamship company can do with the number of boats available, while no doubt very true, does not help matters one iota.

Prince Rupert is destined to be wholesale distributing point for Northern part of the province, and it is absolutely essential that all points north of Queen Charlotte Sound must be brought into close touch, and this can only be accomplished by good service of coasting steamers.

The development of Northern British Columbia will naturally fall to the lot of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in the same way that the Canadian Pacific Railway has been responsible for the upbuilding of the southern portion. The time is not far distant when the G.T.P. will, if necessary, in order to make all points tributary to Prince Rupert, have to inaugurate a more complete service of coasting steamers. Of course providing that this need has not already fully met by some other company or companies.

This is a matter which should interest the wholesale merchants of Prince Rupert quite as much as us, as it will soon be up to them to see that the present order of things, the north dependent on the south, be altered, and the trade of the north be kept in the north, where it rightfully belongs. Prince Rupert must use her influence to secure a good coasting service for the north or she can never be the wholesale distributing centre as she should be.—Bella Coola Courier.

LAURIER DECLARES HE WILL JUDGE NAVAL SCHEME AS BRITISH SUBJECT

Grand Old Man of the Opposition Criticizes the Government—All That has Been Done for the Farmer is to Risk His Loyalty—Will Discuss Navy as Canadian Should

(Special to Daily News.) Ottawa, Nov. 25.—Preliminary proceedings in the House of Commons were confined to the introduction of a couple of bills by Bradbury, member for Selkirk, viz., pollution of streams and the prohibiting of the use of the British flag for advertising purposes. The latter bill provides severe penalties for any indignity to the flag.

The debate on the address from the throne was commenced by Bainville, the member for Vercheres, who took occasion to refer to the naval policy of the government, saying that it was the most important question ever placed before the people.

Nielck, Conservative representative for Kingston, in seconding the reply to the speech, confined himself to the prosperity of the Dominion. He referred briefly to statements made in the recent Hochelaga contest by Nationalists.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier on rising to speak was loudly applauded from the opposition benches. He spoke for sixty-five minutes criticising the government. All that the administration had done for the farmer, said he, was to apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington for preferential rates on grain shipped south, with possible damage to their loyalty and danger of annexation.

Sir Wilfrid said that if the proposed trade agreement with the West Indies was right the opposition would support it. Referring to the naval policy, Sir Wilfrid said that he would wait until it had been announced before he would discuss it. When the bill was laid on the table he would go into it on its merits, and would be guided by what Canada owed Great Britain as British subjects and what Canadians owed Canada as Canadian subjects.

Hon. R. L. Borden, the premier, followed Sir Wilfrid Laurier and spoke for thirty-five minutes. He declared that Laurier's arguments were the result of party grievances, and assured the house that during the year in office the pledges made had been carried out.

The premier gave notice that important government measures in an act to authorize measures for increasing the effective naval forces of the Empire would be introduced. He also intimated that provision would be made for increased senatorial representation for the western provinces, and also that the Act governing the Royal Northwest Mounted Police would be amended.

Boat Stolen. Last evening about 11 p.m. an Indian complained to the Rupert Marine Iron Works that a small boat lying on top of his gasoline launch attached to the wharf, had been stolen. He was told to go at once and inform the city police, who together with Dominion Constable Pat Philipson, have been on the look out for it ever since, although so far unavailingly.

BURNING OF THE LAUNCH POLARIS AT OLD MASSET. Advices from Graham Island tell of Sinking of Well Known Boat.

An authentic account of the wreck of the Polaris on the rocky coast around Old Masset, on Graham Island, has been received in town.

The boat, which was one of the smartest and best equipped little gasoline launches that was ever in these waters, was the property of Messrs. Brownlee and Nash, civil engineers and land surveyors, who have been occupied with government work this season on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Mr. Nash and his survey party who resided on the boat, were caught in one of the recent storms off the Island, near the mouth of the Ain River, the boat being dashed about and caught on the rocks, in eminent danger of going to pieces. The occupants had to scramble ashore and remained all night huddled up until morning when a row boat was despatched to Sewall City to bring the assistance. Fortunately the Polaris was

NO EXPERT OPINION IS WANTED ON SEWERAGE

Mayor Newton Opposes Idea of Expert Advice on Sewerage System.

That several million dollars are too much to spend on the authority of one man was the contention of Alderman Clayton last night in discussing the sewerage bylaw which will go to a vote next Saturday. In this he was backed by City Engineer Mason, who said that he would welcome the criticism of a man competent to judge.

Mayor Newton was adverse to such a course. Plans had been made and the people could vote on them first and get advice afterward. It would cost possibly $2,500 to get expert advice on the plans. A public meeting would be held and indeed he advocated two of them, when the voters would have an opportunity of hearing the matter discussed. Personally he did not care whether it passed or not.

Alderman Clayton pointed out that the only man who could give any information authoritatively was City Engineer Mason. Some of the aldermen did not fully understand the plans and specifications and how could the majority of the voters cast an intelligent ballot? Personally he thought it a good thing, but he was of the opinion that it would be defeated because the rate payers had no guarantee that the proposed system was the best in the interests of the city. The cost of advice would be small

Editorial Notes and Clippings

A DISGRACEFUL MEETING.

For four hours last night the City Council sat and talked, listened to the abusive language of the Mayor, and as a net result have to show for their work and consumption of light and fuel an order to furnish the city hall.

Of all the freak, out-of-order, ridiculous meetings ever held in Prince Rupert it was the worst. As usual in these weekly sittings of the Council, which in the eyes of many are regarded in the light of a vaudeville performance, the Mayor was the central figure.

For over half an hour he abused those who were opposed to the opening of the pool rooms on Sunday, and with tears in his voice called to his colleague, Alderman Bullock-Webster, in the chair, to show where either of them had been the recipients of the least bit of gratitude from the citizens for their moral principles.

No word of commendation had been given either of them for their efforts with the chief of police to improve the moral tone of the city.

NO EXPERT WANTED.

Alderman Clayton last night, in a last effort to have some businesslike method adopted in presenting the proposed sewerage system to the electors, advocated again the necessity of an expert's opinion in regard to the work.

Mayor Newton led the debate against him, saying that it mattered not to him whether or not the bylaw carried.

It was remarked that the Councillors themselves did not know anything about the by-law. How much less will the electors know when called upon to vote for the expenditure of not hundreds but millions?

In securing a typewriter for the superintendent of electric light the Council required the expert opinion of a qualified judge of machines of that class before buying. How much more necessary is it then to have expert advice on the buying of a sewerage system for which the citizens will not be paying $75, but millions?

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Omineca Herald in its Prince Rupert column, in discussing the present City Council, seems to have hit the right nail on the head.

Complaint is made that a great deal of the time for which the city pays the Mayor $2,000 and the Councillors $400 each has been spent discussing the whereabouts of a lost deer, the personal charms of the young lady applicants for the job of telephone operator, or some other question of equal importance, while items involving real money are handled like a girl plays baseball.

GRAHAM ISLAND TORIES WANT NOTHING TO DO WITH RUPERT

CLAIM THAT DISSENSIONS ARE RAISED IN ISLAND TORY CAMP BY "BUNCH" FROM THIS CITY WHO USED THREATS TO ASSOCIATION.

For the purpose of getting together after being at outs for a long time to the detriment of the Conservative party and the Queen Charlotte Islands in particular, the two Conservative associations known as "progressive" and "liberal" will hold a meeting soon for the big peace smoke.

Next Friday evening the "progressives" will hold a meeting at which it is the declared intention of the leaders to dissolve the association. This is the larger association in point of numbers.

But a greater purpose than the mere settlement of local differences is in view. It is apparent to anybody who has interested himself to any extent in the politics of the north country that in Prince Rupert there is a coterie of politicians inclined to dictate not only in their own councils, but to ride rough shod over the whole of the north, commanding here and demanding there.

It is not the desire to longer submit to the dictates of the Prince Rupert bunch. They do not know conditions over here and some of them probably think this group still inhabited principally by Indians, bears and geese.

But the fact is during the past three years there has been a large influx of white people and the Conservatives among these do not want to be dictated to by a few in Prince Rupert, eighty miles away—a few whose business and political interests all are on the mainland.

What is proposed now is a Queen Charlotte Islands executive to look after the interests here. This proposal undoubtedly will be recognized as best by the party executives in the south, who, no doubt, are aware of the autocratic attitude of the petty few in Prince Rupert, who, it is alleged here, have declared "unless you fellows on Graham Island do so-an'-so you won't get a d— thing."

The Prince Rupert gang was big enough when the puddle was small, but the puddle has grown.

PLEASED WITH RUPERT

E. Parkinson, collector of inland revenue for the province of British Columbia, who has been in the city for the last few days in connection with the appointment of J. Jephson as local collector, returned to Vancouver on the Princess Beatrice.

This has been Mr. Parkinson's first visit to Prince Rupert, and he has taken advantage of the opportunity to thoroughly look over the townsite. He is delighted with all that he has seen and is more than complimentary in regard to the energy and enterprise shown by the citizens in the building up of the latest terminal city.

STIRRING APPEAL FOR THE DOWNTRODDEN AND OPPRESSED

In these days when the wires grow hot detailing the doings of suffragettes in their fights for their rights, and the world grows weary of hearing the cry of "votes for women," backed up as it is by almost every conceivable act of violence, the cry for justice that emanates from the omnica Herald is welcomed as an oasis in a desert.

The protest, no doubt the result of long oppression by the gentler (?) sex, goes up bearing with it the prayers of those down-trodden humans called men, and although it is similar to the pleas in favor of the horse when the automobile first made its appearance, it is still a protest, a plea, a prayer—nay, even more, it is the call for justice.

Great credit is due to the man who penned those lines. His must be the spirit of an Alexander, the courage of a Napoleon, and no doubt when men rise in their might and demand their rights he will occupy the proud position of leader of the rebels, even as Mrs. Pankhurst shines in the sphere of the militant suffragette.

His health even now is being hoisted over walnuts and soda pop, and many are the prayers for the long life of one who has so much personal courage. Of such are martyrs made.

Here is the protest. It is passed on in the hopes that it may inspire some poor, down-trodden brother who has almost given up hope of emancipation.

"We happen in a home the other night, and over the parlor door saw the legend, worked in letters of red, 'What is Home without a Mother?' Across the room was another brief, 'God Bless Our Home.'"

"Now, what's the matter with 'God Bless Our Dad'? He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg and wipes off the dew on the lawn with his boots while many a mother is sleeping. He makes the weekly handout for the butcher, the grocer, the milkman and the baker, and his little pile is badly worn before he has been home an hour.

"If there is a noise in the night Dad is kicked in the back and made to go downstairs and find the burglar and kill him. Mother durns the socks, but Dad bought the socks in the first place, and the needles and the yarn afterward. Mother does up the fruit; well, Dad bought it all, and jars and sugar cost like the mischief.

"Dad buys the chickens for Sunday dinner, serves them himself, and draws the neck from the ruins after everyone else is served. 'What is Home without a Mother?' Yes, that's all right. But 'What is Home without a Father?' Ten chances to one it's a boarding house. Father is under the slab, and the landlady is the widow. Dad, here's to you. You've got your faults—you may have lots of 'em, but you're all right, and we'll miss you when you're gone."

GRIFFIN TO OFFICIATE AT THANKSGIVING MILL

Jim Griffin Will be Third Man at Wolgast - Ritchie Fight

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—That question of vital interest to fighters and fans alike, as to who shall officiate as referee of the Wolgast - Ritchie Thanksgiving afternoon battle at Daly City, is settled, Jim Griffin being accepted by both sides.

At the conference between Tom Jones, manager of Wolgast, Billy Nolan, manager of Ritchie, and Promoter Coffroth, to determine the referee question, Coffroth proposed the names of three men—Griffin, Harry Foley and Eddie Hanlon. Jack Welsh, who also was present, asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration. The promoter urged that a local man be selected, declaring that it would be a reflection upon the ability of San Francisco sporting men if an outsider were chosen.

Jones objected to both Foley and Hanlon, but approved of Griffin, who was named after some argument.

A feature of the conference was the attitude of Coffroth and Nolan toward each other. The men are not on speaking terms, and not once during the entire session did they exchange a word.

CLAIMS TOBACCO KILLS THE GERMS OF CHOLERA

German Doctor Claims That Germs of Cholera Cannot Live in Smoke.

Because there has been no epidemic of cholera for a long time there is no reason for us to believe that we are immune forever. During the second half of the last century there have been not less than four epidemics of cholera in Europe, and in spite of precautions the immigrants who come here from all parts of the world, and especially from Asiatic countries, may some of these days bring us the contagion.

Consequently it is necessary for us to know how to fight this terrible disease, and especially how to preserve ourselves from it.

There is no preservative more accessible to all or easier to use than that which Dr. Wenck, a professor at the Imperial Institute of Berlin, has just discovered through observations which he made during the choleric epidemic at Hamburg.

This preservative is infallible and is simply tobacco. Dr. Wenck's experiences have demonstrated that in the thickness of cigars moistened with water containing a million and a half choleric bacilli per cubic centimeter, all the microbes perish in twenty-four hours, and an examination of cigars manufactured during the epidemic showed that these were entirely free from bacilli.

The tobacco leaf is not the only thing that has the property of destroying choleric germs; tobacco smoke does it also.

Dr. Wenck has proved that the choleric microbes will not survive more than from half an hour to two hours when in contact with the smoke of the tobaccos grown in Brazil, Sumatra and Havana.

Moreover, in five minutes tobacco smoke will kill all choleric microbes in saliva. Thus not a single employee in the cigar factories of Hamburg had the cholera.

Canadian tobacco is perhaps not as valuable as that of Havana for making cigars, but although Dr. Wenck has not experimented with it there is nothing to indicate that it would not be quite as effective for killing microbes.

This discovery will not please those who would like to see a law enacted prohibiting people from smoking. (Adv.)

CANNOT DIE

Capital Punishment Cannot Be Given Accused Murderers in Salem.

Salem, Mass., Nov. 25.—Joseph Ettore and Arturo Giovannitti, who are on trial here for killing Anna Lopizzo during the troubles following the textile workers' strike last spring, can only be found guilty of murder in the second degree and cannot be given a capital sentence was the charge of the presiding judge to the jury.

"What punishment did that defaulting banker get?" "I understand his lawyer charged him $40,000." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

AN IRISHMAN'S WIFE

Irish Bachelor Wants Perfect Wife, with No Faults and All Virtues.

An interesting letter was recently received by the Moate (West Meath) Board of Guardians. It consisted of a request for a "perfect" wife on the part of a bachelor, who stated that he was about to leave Ireland and having never experienced the joys of wedded bliss, wished the guardians to select a partner from the women in the work-house. Among their qualifications should be the following:

"She must not be a suffragette nor a suffering sister. I can (adds the writer) look to it that she suffers enough later on.

"She must not be comical in appearance, nor say comic things. "She should not be tall nor short, nor stout nor slim, and her hair (if not cut short) should be some color other than red.

"She will require to be a high-stepper, with good action, and whilst she should not stalk along with a stride like an ostrich, I do not want her to walk with a shuffling gait nor a duck's waddle.

"She must not have a long nose, as it might acquire the habit of poking into other people's business and incidentally into mine.

"She should be of graceful lines and symmetry, and when dressed should not look like a sack of wool with a cord tied around its middle, and her neck should be short.

"She should not be a worshiper at the shrine of Bacchus, as we could not afford to maintain two of his disciples.

"She may profess whatever religion she likes, so long as she does not endeavor to make me conform to it.

She need not have many qualifications in the culinary line. If she has not attended domestic economy classes so much the better, as our cooks will be numerous; in fact, the number will depend upon her energy in interviewing them, and her wheedling abilities when negotiating with them.

"She should be over sixteen years of age, and it is not essential that she should never have been kissed."

A young man who had a strong liking for poetry, but a rather mediocre talent for writing it, deduced himself into the belief that the world was determined to keep him down. He continued writing for years, confident that he would win fame in the end. Once, in conversation with a clever girl, he started in on his pet theme.

"Like the rest of the world," he said, "you don't understand me. But I can afford to laugh at present neglect, for I'm writing for posterity."

"Oh, I understand you now," replied the girl. "So that 's the reason your poems are not published during your lifetime!" — J. J. O'Connell.

GET SOLICITOR TO KEEP TAB ON GOVERNMENT

B. C. Municipalities to Hire Man to Watch Legislation at Victoria

North Vancouver, Nov. 23.—The City Council of the City of North Vancouver have decided to throw their support in with other municipalities of this province in retaining a solicitor to watch legislation at Victoria, at a cost to North Vancouver of $20 annually.

The resolution, which passed the U. B. C. M. convention at Revelstoke this fall, outlined a plan for the retention of a solicitor to be employed jointly by the municipalities to watch all legislation during the session of the Provincial government and in the event of adverse or other legislation affecting any particular municipality it would be the duty of the solicitor to notify that municipality of the same.

Mr. Bose, secretary of the U. B. C. M., stated in his letter that Mr. McDairmid, late city solicitor of Victoria, had been appointed. The approximate cost of this service to the end of the 1913 session from the present was given as $750.

A Boxer's Fads.

Every boxer has his fads. Paeky McFarland, for instance, insists on boxing in the same trunks which he wore in his first bout and has a great liking for ice cream. Ad Wolgast believes in watching the eyes of his opponent to gauge his next blow.

Stanley Ketchell used to say that he wanted to watch the glove in which his opponent had "the most kick." But have you ever heard of a boxer watching his opponent's knees? That is what made Tommy Ryan a terror in the ring ten years ago. Ryan never watched an opponent's face or gloves. Crouching low, with his stomach well guarded, Tommy would watch the other fellow's knees. Practice had taught Ryan that a boxer can make not one movement of his arms without some action of the knee muscles and he became so expert that he could gauge the blows by the twitching of the knee muscles.

He was probably the only boxer who had this trick down to a science.

ITEMS OF NEWS FROM HAZELTON

Construction Machinery.

Three more steam shovels, six cinkey engines and one hundred cars are being made ready now to ship to Burns Lake and for the big contracts this side of the lake. The shovels are for Paget and for Rankin. The contractors are now anxious for the snow to come so that they may transport this machinery.

Small Cave-in.

This week a small cave-in occurred in Ross' tunnel. Some of the timbers slid in from the bottom. The damage is not serious and will soon be repaired.

D. G. Allen arrived from Vancouver on Wednesday night and will be connected with the Union Bank staff. This is another indication of the growth of New Hazelton.

Another Store Coming.

W. J. Larkworthy was in town on Wednesday looking for a location to which he can move his Sealey stock. Mr. Larkworthy will have only temporary quarters for this winter and in the spring he will put up a permanent place. He will carry hardware, men's clothing, boots and shoes, etc. He will be welcomed to the new town.

Sent Wrong Steel.

The steel for the next bridge to be erected on the railway east of New Hazelton, which was reported to be for Porphyry Creek, a bridge farther on. The Mud Creek bridge has still to come.

Camps Filling Fast.

On Wednesday night one hundred and ten men arrived on the train for Foley, Welch & Stewart. They were looked after in town and on Thursday morning were started off up the line for the various contractors. There are now over 2,500 men on the line and more coming in fast. The contractors will all have lots of men this winter.

Lots of Freight.

The local merchants are receiving lots of freight now. They have to haul every pound of it from Sealey and that adds very materially to the cost. The railway company has no excuse whatever now for delaying the service any longer as the road is completed and the head office has been notified. There is more freight coming to this town than to any point on the whole system east of Prince Rupert.

"I fear I have made a mistake." "Why?"

"He proposed in a taxi cab. The minute I accepted him he paid the bill and we got out and walked." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

A WOMAN'S WEAPON

Woman Takes Poker to Beat Burglar, but Substitutes Switch for It.

An interesting and amusing story of a struggle between a woman and a burglar, in which the midnight intruder came off second best, was told at Kilkenny Quarter Sessions, when Patrick Byrne was charged with entering the rural post office at Corluddy with burglarious intent. Byrne, in the middle of the night, entered the post office through the chimney, awakening the postmaster and his wife. The postmaster grappled with the intruder and his wife went to assail him with a poker. The postmaster, giving evidence in the case, said the prisoner appealed to Mrs. Lucas, an old woman, not to hit him with the poker. "Whereupon," added the witness, amid laughter, "my wife gave him a good licking with an asphlant."

AT THE THEATRE

The Griffith Stock Co. added fresh laurels to their triumphs of last week in the presentation before a crowded house last evening of "The Deep Purple." This powerful drama faithfully portrayed a phase of life, all too common in a large city, with its denizens of the underworld. Although the play was to a large extent extremely sordid, the various performers handled their parts so carefully that no objectionable features appeared.

Miss Lillian Griffith as "Chicago Nell" Connelly, the keeper of a cheap lodging house, renewed the favorable impression made last week. Although her part was an extremely difficult one, she displayed a great deal of ability.

Miss Jessie Miller in the ingenue part of a minister's daughter fallen among thieves, displayed a pretty personality, and in the last act considerable force of character.

Miss Zana Vaughan was charming as Ruth Baker, the pretty young sister of the young mining engineer, and very amusing as Huldady, the Swedish maid-servant, while Miss Dorothy Mitchell, as the fond mother did excellent work. Mr. S. M. Griffith was very funny as "Dad" Preston, the old confidence man, while Mr. Rex Snelgrove gave a life-like representation of William Howland, a smooth grafter. Mr. Harry Lancaster as Jim Maynard, the Western desperado, won the sympathy of the audience in his efforts to turn over a new leaf.

Messrs. Claude Brennan, Roy Hague and Joseph Simpkins respectively as Inspector of Police and officers filled their parts admirably. Altogether the performance was an extremely enjoyable one, and the company is assured of crowded houses during the rest of their stay.

Harry C. Evans, piano tuner, is in town. Leave orders at Hayner's. 27711

The merchant who shows through his advertising that he is progressive and aggressive is likely to get the business of these prospective residents of Prince Rupert.

The real estate dealer who does not use the advertising columns of the local press is neglecting the opportunity offered him in reaching buyers in many quarters of the world. Here are a few of the requests that were received today:

J. P. MORGAN IS HARDEST MAN IN AMERICA TO PHOTOGRAPH

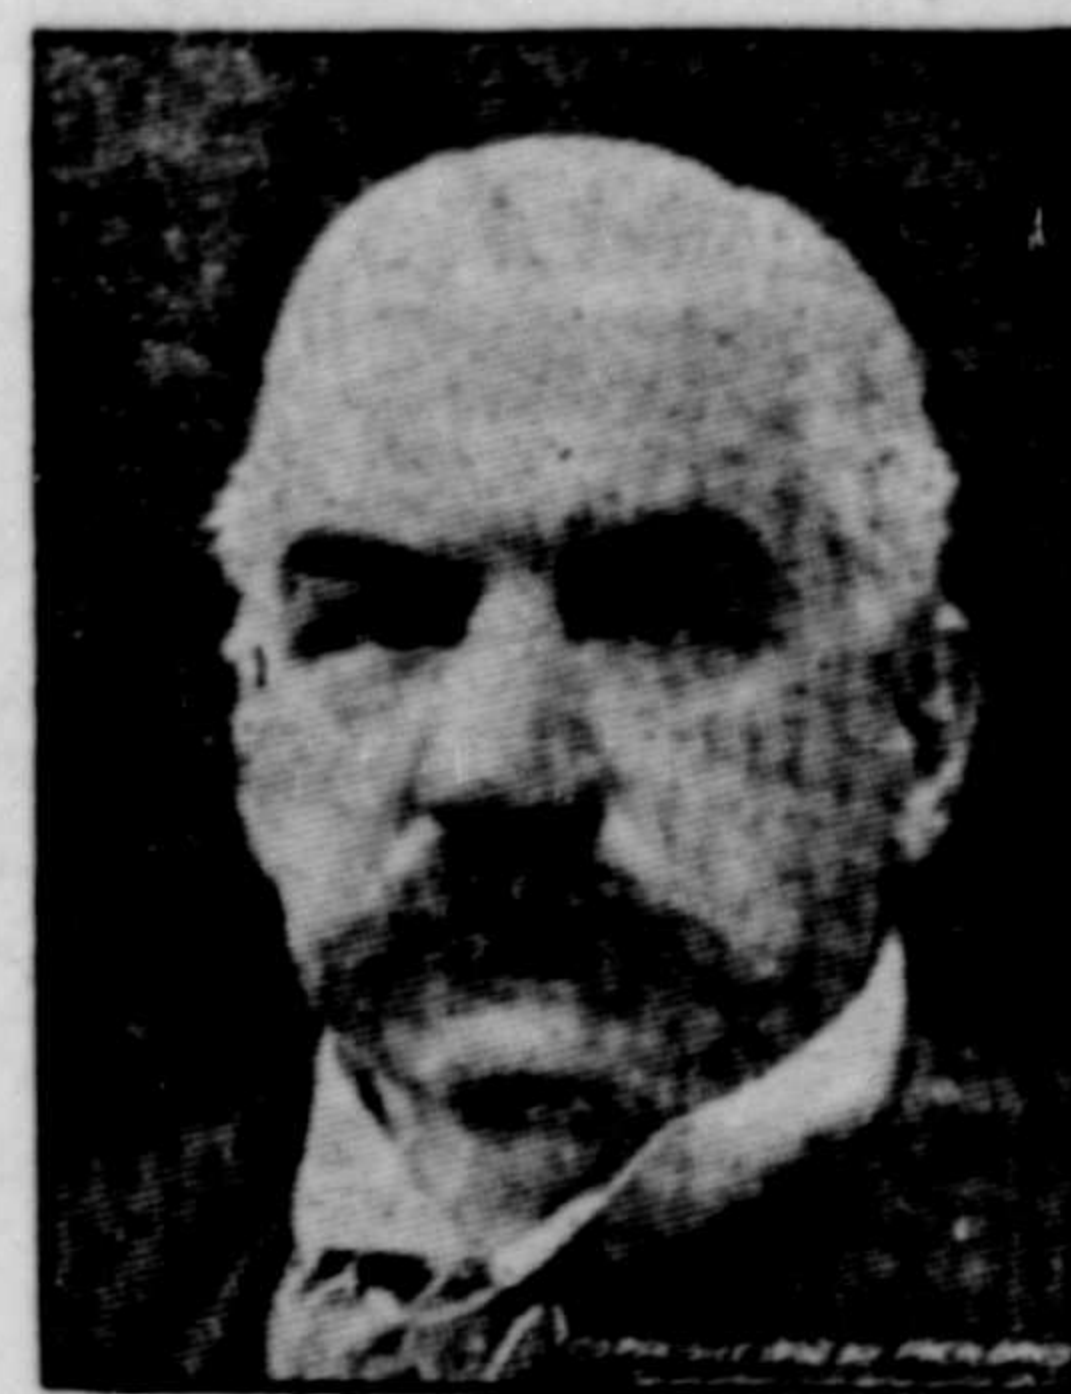

MAN OF MILLIONS HATES NEWSPAPER PHOTOGRAPHERS AND OFTEN BEATS THE ENTHUSIASTIC PICTURE MAN FOR SHAPPING HIM

(BY HERBERT COREY.)

New York, Nov. 24.—The most interesting and impressive feature of the launching of the 27,000 ton battleship New York—which is to be the largest and reddest battleship in the world, and about which columns of statistics have already been printed—was the manner in which J. Pierpont Morgan held his temper. Mr. Morgan was a guest upon the stand at the ship's bow. He was elbows on with the young lady who complied with the tradition of missing the ship with a bottle of champagne, and with a full score of high hatted dignitaries. All around were the newspaper photographers. It was a fine, bright, bracing morning, and Mr. Morgan looked particularly fitting in his frock and new silk hat. Every photographer present took a shot at him.

Now, Mr. Morgan regards a photographer as somewhat lower in the scale of creation than a picnic ant. He has been known to violently wallop photographers over the gun deck with an excellent cane he carries for that purpose. Friends of Mr. Morgan, desirous of attracting his favorable attention, have been discovered in the act of kicking costly cameras to bits. Mr. Morgan's occasional departure for Europe is regarded in the nature of a sporting event on the passenger docks, the betting being on the number of camera men who will break through the interference of the Morgan guards. The snapper who would hang about the corner of Broad and Wall streets on the hazy theory that he could immortalize Mr. Morgan in the act of leaving his justly celebrated money shop would be kicked into a cocked hat by the plain clothes men who are always standing about.

Therefore the photographers took advantage of the opportunity on launching day. They fired at him with the telephoto lens, and with the moving picture jigger, and with every other sort of camera down to the $6 affair you put in your vest pocket. The cameras clicked about him like grasshoppers in a fence corner, and he did not notice them by so much as a dropped eyelash. He even took off his hat while he addressed a lady, and his voice was almost drowned by the roaring of cameras. But he did not so much as look the artists' way. "He's on to us," said one of them. "We'll never get his goat again."

LYNCH BROS.

THE DEER SEASON.

Father, dear father, stay home with us now,
Don't go to the north woods to hunt,
Don't set yourself up for a target this year.
It seems like a foolhardy stunt. If you want some shooting that's reasonably safe,
Don't go where so much danger lurks,
But join the Bulgarians, Servians and Greeks,
And shoot at the unspeakable Turks.

Chorus—
Stay home, stay home.
Oh, father, dear father, stay home.
We need you without any holes in your hide.
Oh, father, dear father, stay home.
If you want some shooting where shooting is good,
Go down to dear old Mexico; Or try Nicaragua, where no one gets hurt—
Or leastwise not fatally so.
If you must burn powder, go join in some war,
Where there is but little to fear.
Where men have some chance to escape from the fray,
And are not mistaken for deer.

Chorus—
Stay home, stay home.
Oh, father, dear father, stay home.
Be a burglar, highwayman or safecracker man.
But father, dear father, stay home.

In addition he had to pay ten dollars and costs for being drunk and disorderly. He made the remark upon being arrested that the complaint was a Jewess and it was the mission of all Russians to kill off the Jews.
