SERVIANS PREPARED TO TAKE PORT ON THE ADRIATIC SEA FROM TURKS

---One Third Bulgars Lost In War---Turkey Must Pay Huge Sum as Indemnity

Bucharest, Nov. 27—It was learned here on the best authority that the willingness of the Bulgarians to treat with Turkey was due to the loss of a third of the original army of 300,000 men in killed, wounded and dead and hopelessly incapacitated from disease. The Bulgarian cavalry, in particular, has been practically wiped out.

Boys of 16 and 17 are being called to the colors at present. Sofia, Nov. 27—It was reported today that Bulgaria's peace terms now call for the renunciation by Turkey of all unoccupied territory, the Bulgarians to hold Tehatalja until the Turkish government pays an indemnity of $140,000,000.

Vienna, Nov. 27—Reports received this morning say that the Servian army has determined to occupy Durazzo. It was said that three Greek gunboats were standing off the town, prepared to open a bombardment and aid the Servians.

THE RUSSIAN MINISTER SAYS PACK YOUR TRUNK

Czar's Minister to Servia Tells Paperman to Pack Their Trunk
(Special to Daily News.)
London, Nov. 27—A Belgrade despatch says that after several hours conference with King Peter, Baron Hartwig, the Russian Minister to Servia said to several of the leading journalists of Servia, "Gentlemen, get ready to pack your trunks, soon. King Peter shares my opinion in this respect." This is taken to imply that the situation is extremely delicate.

ENGLISH JOURNALS GET AFTER BORDEN FOR HIS FLAG WAVING AND JINGOISM

Old Country Papers Deplore Misuse of Flag for the Benefit of The Manufacturers of United States and Canada
---Get After Borden

London, Nov. 26—The Nation contains a whole-hearted protest against "a vigorous organized endeavor to induce, incite or compel all parts of the Empire to arm."
It says the younger nations of the Empire are thereby drawn into the vice of the old, and incidentally it trounces Premier

Borden for seeking to scare the dollars from his countrymen. If these benevolences were really spontaneous, proceeding from a reasoned colonial policy, we would regard them, says the Nation, with unmixed favor. The net result though will be to inspire Germany with new suspicions of our eagerness to increase our naval superiority.

In the Chronicle, P. J. Baker, declares that although it is a horrid thought, there is too much evidence that the English Tory Canadian manufacturer, and the American trust king have combined together in joint investment of money and lung power for the exploitation of the British flag.

ALD. DYBHAVN EXPLAINS THE POINTS IN THE SEWER BY-LAW

ALDERMAN WRITES OF PROPOSED SYSTEM AND POINTS OUT ITS GOOD POINTS—COMPARES CONDITIONS

To the Editor of The News:
For my own satisfaction and also for the benefit of the citizens, I have compared the principles in our design for permanent sewers for our city with expressed opinions of recognized authorities on the subject. And for the consideration of the property holders of our city, who on Saturday are called upon to vote on the question, I submit the following:
1. The design of the system: The permanent sewer system is designed as a combined system for sewerage and storm water. It is designed to serve a population of about 110,000 with an average water consumption on 60 gallons per head per day, and with a maximum actual run-off rainfall of three inches in 12 hours. As it is estimated that the actual run-off in "built-on" areas is about 80 per cent, and in residential areas about 60 per cent, our system is designed to provide for a rainfall of 0.625 inches per hour. The maximum record for the last four years is 2.58 inches in 12 hours.
The "New Form Egg Shaped Culvert" has been adopted. This form of culvert provides "the greatest possible hydraulic mean depth" with a minimum flow. Theoretically a four inch pipe with a fall of 1 in 30 would serve 853 persons at a water consumption of 70 gallons per head per day. Recognized authorities agree that a 12 inch pipe should be the smallest size to be used for any sewer. Our system provides for a minimum size of 18 inch by 12 inch egg shaped culvert.
2. The capacity of the system: In considering the capacity of a sewerage system it must be borne in mind that the amount of the actual rainfall does not flow into the sewers. A certain amount of the rain is absorbed and evaporated, so when our system is calculated on a capacity of a quarter of an inch actual continuous run-off per hour this is equivalent to an actual rainfall of at least half an inch, which takes twice as long to reach the sewer as it does to fall. With the elasticity in any system it is safely estimated that our proposed system will be able to handle even a rainfall of one inch for one hour without taxing it above the calculated capacity.
As to the elasticity of a sewerage system I beg to quote as follows:
The sewerage system for the City of Buenos Ayres is calculated and carried out on a rainfall of one inch and a half per hour, although it is well known that at times the actual rainfall exceeds the rate of six inches per hour.

In designing a sewerage system for one of the largest cities in England, Mr. A. B. McDonald, M. I. C. E., in consultation with W. Santo Crimp, M. I. C. E., Sir W. R. Copland, M. I. C. E., and later Mr. Midgley Taylor, M. I. C. E., adopted the combined system and designed it to carry off a quarter of an inch of rainfall in 24 hours over and above the sewerage flow. The annual average rainfall for this district was about 60 inches with the maximum recorded rainfall of one inch and a half per 24 hours. After the system was completed a storm of the maximum rainfall occurred and notwithstanding the fact that the system was designed to carry off only one-sixth of the actual rainfall no complaints of flooding were reported. I will also add that the sewage was discharged through the ordinary balanced tide flaps as has been designed for our system.
The above mentioned rainfall of a quarter of an inch per 24 hours has been adopted for the designing of sewerage systems throughout that part of the country by such men as Sir John Hawkshaw, Sir Joseph

Canal Construction
City workmen are busily engaged in constructing more plank crossings with toboggan-side approaches. It would, in the estimation of pedestrians, be a good move on the part of the Board of Works to place flags at each end of the crossings so a straight course could be shaped across those artificial waterways.

A meeting of the directors of the St. Andrew's Society will be held in the rooms tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. Important business.

Manager W. J. McLean, of the Canada Railway News Co., returned this morning on the Rupert, from a month's visit to the south, going as far as Portland, Oregon. A week was put in in strenuous work connected with the company's business, the remainder of the time being spent upon a well earned vacation. Mr. McLean, who looks as jolly and prosperous as ever, says he is delighted to return to Prince Rupert, and that everything augurs well for future business here, as far as his company is concerned.

William Silversides, of Silversides Brothers, painters and decorators, returned this morning on the Prince Rupert from a visit to the south.

JURY RETURN VERDICT OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH

The adjourned inquest into the cause of the death of the late Alfred Thomas, who was killed last Thursday morning at the time of the accident to the city fire hose wagon, was resumed this morning at 10.30 before Coroner McMullin.
The evidence of the members of the force upon the machine at the time of its skidding and going over the plank roadway was along very similar lines. They all stated there was nothing unusual, as regards the pace they were going at at the time of the accident.
There were no witnesses outside of the brigade themselves, who actually saw the occurrence. The jury brought in a verdict of accidental death, attaching no blame whatsoever to anyone.

ASSIZE COURT CLOSED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Chief Justice Hunter Comments on Sale of Liquor to Indians

In closing the assizes yesterday, which Sheriff Shirley declared was an assize of general gaol delivery, not one prisoner being sentenced to imprisonment, Chief Justice Hunter remarked that in his experience nearly all the Indians who appeared before him were there as a result of having indulged too freely in liquor, and he would urge upon the government that the sale of intoxicating liquors to Indians be made an indictable offense, punishable on the second offence with the lash.
The assault case against David Faithful and a companion which terminated yesterday morning, being the last case on the list of criminal charges, was dismissed.
Solomon Bright, the only person adjudged guilty by the jury of the charges preferred, was liberated on conditions. He must reimburse the woman he shot, refrain from liquor and aid in the maintenance of law and report regularly to the police as well as to pay a fine.

EDIFYING

The tirade against the clergy of the city for criticizing him and those who signed a petition for the candidature of Mr. Pattullo by Mayor Newton on Monday night, must indeed be edifying to the property holders of Prince Rupert.

'DON'T CARE A BUTTUN'

At the same meeting Ald. Clayton was making a desperate fight for the interests of the citizens on the sewer by-law. For some time he argued for the calling in of an expert, but was talked down, and His Worship informed the Council that he "didn't care a buttun" whether or not the bylaw passed, and hinted that there would be no gratitude in its successful outcome from the electors.

Because he, to use a vulgar term is not "the candy kid," he would "not care a buttun" whether the bylaw carried or not, and apparently from spite would not call in an expert to give his advice on the advisability of adopting the system.

This is a serious proposition, Mr. Ratepayer, you are the man who has to pay for this sewerage system, and it will be no little sum either. Are you satisfied that a million and a half can be expended safely on the word of one man? That one man is not so sure that he would not welcome the advice and criticism of an expert. He is the man whose work is under discussion, how much more should you who are paying for it insist that the expenditure of such a sum should not be initiated without the assurance of its practicability. It is up to you, Mr. Ratepayer, to say whether or not you "care a buttun" as to how your million and a half dollars are to be expended.

It was reported on Monday night that local engineers would not give an opinion on the system because they did not deem themselves expert enough in that branch of engineering. If men who are earning their daily bread in that profession hesitate to give an opinion on the system, what do you think of a council who would leave it for the average ratepayer to criticize? It certainly is a fine business proposition, and is on a par with the business methods employed throughout the year.

THE NEWSPAPER'S PART.

Did you ever think of it? Suppose every business man in town took as much interest in the upbuilding of the town and forwarding all public enterprises as the newspaper man. He works for railroads, manufacturing, schools and churches, good roads; urges, pleads, scolds and badgers and cavorts around generally. Imagine his feelings, then, when some lame, string-halted kind of a fellow reproaches him because he don't boom things enough. If the town does boom and the prices of real estate advance and the owners grow rich from the result of his labor, he makes nothing by it. He is like the poor boy at the pictures without the necessary quarter to gain admission. — Morton Mirror.

HANGING IS NOT ALWAYS THE SUCCESS IT IS MEANT TO BE

MANY MEN HAVE ESCAPED DEATH ON GALLOWS BY DESIGN OR ACCIDENT—CLEVER DODGES TO ESCAPE THE DEATH PENALTY

There are many curious tales of resuscitation after hanging. For instance that of Mme. de Balsham, who in 1264, having been condemned to death for harboring thieves, was left hanging on the gallows, according to the London Chronicle, from 9 o'clock on Monday morning till sunrise on Thursday, but revived on being taken down. Henry III granted her a pardon.

Another instance of the kind occurred at Oxford in 1650, when Anna Green, a servant girl, hanged for child murder, revived when handed over to the doctors. Eager inquiries were made of her as to her sensations after suspension, but she remembered nothing, saying that her revival was like awakening from a deep sleep.

Resuscitation after hanging is not uncommon. In 1805 a house-keeper named Smith was hanged at Tyburn. A reprieve came after he had been suspended for a quarter of an hour, and he was taken down, bled and revived.

One William Duell, duly hanged in London in 1740, was taken to Surgeons' Hall to be anatomized, but came to life again and was transported. At Cork a man hanged in January immediately after hurried to a surgery, where an incision was made in his windpipe and he recovered and went to the theatre the same evening.

And after Fauntleroy, the banker and forger, was executed in 1824, there was a widespread rumor that he has escaped death by the insertion in his throat of a silver tube which prevented strangulation and that on being restored to consciousness he went abroad and lived for many years.

A very ingenious attempt to cheat the gallows was made by a man named Richard Johnson, who was hanged at Shrewsbury in 1696. He hung half an hour and his body was about to be handed over to his relatives when the hangman thought he detected some signs of life.

On examination it was found that Johnson had wreathed cords round and under his body connected with a pair of hooks at his neck, by which the usual effect was prevented, the apparatus being cleverly concealed under a frilled shirt and a flowing periwig. He was taken down and then promptly rehung with success.

Perhaps the most startling story about resuscitation after hanging is told of the famous anatomist William Hunter, under whose hands the body of a man who had just been hanged revived while being dissected. This was not all, however, for the fellow insisted on considering Hunter what lawyers term "in loco parentis," as being the author of his renewed existence. In this filial character he repeatedly applied for and finally demanded financial assistance.

But to Hunter's great relief one morning he received a "recent subject from Newgate" the same criminal executed a second time for some fresh offence. The experiment of resuscitation was not again attempted.

PEG KELLY JUMPS FROM SECOND STOREY WINDOW TO RESCUE HAT

POLICEMAN THINKS HE SEES A THIEF AND CAPTURED MAN WHO TOOK HIGH DIVE TO RESCUE HIS NEW HAT FROM DESTRUCTION

Seattle, Nov. 26.—"Peg" Kelly was in his room in the Munroe Hotel, Sixth avenue and Yesler way, leaning out of the window late Wednesday night. In some unexplained manner his hat fell off. Kelly reached for it, juggled it a minute and missed it. Kelly was chagrined. He was in a second story window, but the loss of his hat made distance and gravity matters of second consideration. He went out of the window after the hat.

Kelly's misfortune would not have made the incident a matter of public record, regardless of the fact that he thought enough of his headgear to go out of a window thirty feet above ground to get it, had not Patrolman W. J. Alvey been standing across the street.

Policeman Sees Burglar.

Alvey did not see the hat fall. He did look up in time to see the form of a man midway between earth and the second storey of the hotel. That a man would jump from the second storey of a building in order to catch his hat before it struck the ground did not happen to strike the officer's line of thought. He thought of burglars and immediately started in pursuit.

Upon landing on the ground and recovering his hat, Kelly darted in the hotel entrance and disappeared up the stairway. Isidor Davidson, a guest at the Waldon Hotel, was within four feet of where Kelly struck the sidewalk. The clump of Kelly's timber limb on the stone pavement, Davidson said afterward, sounded as if someone had struck head first. Kelly wears a wooden leg. Davidson was startled to see the person who appeared through the air from above resume his normal position of head above heels and walk calmly off.

Presses Davidson Into Service.

Patrolman Alvey rushed across the street, pressed a revolver into Davidson's hand and told him to guard the front door while he went around in the back. At the back door Alvey encountered the landlord. The landlord became hostile at the mention of a burglar in the house. "We don't keep such like in this place," he declared the housekeeper, "and you'd best beat it while the beating's good." Alvey insisted upon searching the house. When he reached the second floor at about the place where he had seen the man leap he entered. "Peg" Kelly was sitting on the bed brushing off a new tile.

"Peg" Is Indignant

"I should worry," said Kelly, "if a man can't fall out of his own window in Seattle without someone trying to pinch him for it. I went after me new bonnet. Look, it's a perfectly good beaver lid; cost six bucks. What'juthink I was trying to do? Win a prize in a fly contest?"

Kelly was not taken to the police station, but a detailed report was made of how he had tried to save the new lid.

"Why, the way things are now, a seat in the Senate costs more than a seat in the New York Stock Exchange."

SPORTS

Tom McDonald has finally got his new Washington Athletic Club football team under way and is so enthusiastic that he believes his bunch will acquire momentum sufficient to steam roller Multnomah on December 21st.

Once more we arise to remark that anything the Northwestern League desires or is entitled to is sure to provoke a war.

There is a rumor to the effect that Ed Watkins, of Tacoma, punched Cal. Ewing, Well, Cal went to Milwaukee looking for a fight.

Miller Huggins, the new manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is under suffragette rule in its strictest sense.

Dave Smith, the Australian champion sailed for home on November 19th, as he has been signed up for three bouts in that country.

According to the reports from New Orleans, Wolgast made the promoter give him $15,000 for his end and also $1,000 to his referee.

Jack Morris, who did considerable boxing in this country last year and who was being pointed for the lightweight championship of England, boxed Johnny Summers a ten round draw in London the other night.

Sheriff Harburger, of New York, who supervises the bouts held in that city, works as hard outside the ring as the boxers in the ring when he is watching a bout. With every lead made by the scrappers he ducks, blocks, avoids the punches and offer leads viciously with both hands.

Jerry and Fred Delaney, the English boxers that Bob Deady of Philadelphia has under his wing, are making good in this country. Bob is a veteran in the game and knows a good boxer when he sees one in action. Unless the Delaney brothers were the real goods Deady would not be managing them.

Dick Roberts, the veteran English middleweight, died in Haringay, London, Eng., the other day at the age of 55 years. He was a great boxer, but his height handicapped him to a considerable extent. When Billy Madden held a tournament in England to find some one to meet John L. Sullivan, Roberts met Charley Mitchell in the final bout and was defeated by Mitchell.

Jack Britton and Young Saylor are to meet again. They have been matched to box in Dayton, Ohio, on Thanksgiving afternoon. Their battle last September terminated at the halfway period on a foul, Britton being declared the winner. It was an unsatisfactory ending and the sports hope their coming battle will end in a manner that will settle who is the better boxer. It will be a great mill.

Jimmy Dunn, manager of Johnny Kilbane, has established a booking exchange for fighters in Cleveland. In the circulars he is sending the promoters of the country he states that he can get them any boxer in the world without expense to them other than the price for the boxers' services. Dunn states that he has forty boxers under his management. Some managers have all the trouble they want looking after the business end of one boxer.

Tony Ross has eliminated Al. Paizer from the "white hope" stakes.

When we think of the future of lacrosse magnates we can't help recalling what happened to Turkey.

And by the way the Victoria sport writer may just as well trot out the syndicate and unload the $10,000 now that war has been declared in hockey circles.

Don't imagine for one minute, gentle reader that hockey clubs are going to get the stars without doing out just what said stars want.

Once more Tommy Ryan has come to life by declaring that he has quit the boxing game because Jack Johnson has given the sport a black eye.

How times have changed!

Here is our old friend described in the Cincinnati Enquirer as follows: "Gumbo" Smith has been the reigning sensation in Gotham for some months, and has floored for the count nearly all the big fellows he has met. He is not a big, clumsy fighter, as many suppose, but a trim built athlete weighing in the neighborhood of 175 pounds, which is about the same weight at which Wuest goes in the ring when properly prepared.

Dal Hawkins, ex-featherweight, of California is in England on a business trip. He is through boxing.—Eastern Exchange.

Dal has been through so long they have forgotten he was a lightweight.

We never gamble more than $1 per session, but on this occasion we're willing to raise it that cute Eddie Lalonde will play hockey in the east and that he will get more than any other man for the season's work.

Sam Lichtenhein says that the coast newspapers are too windy. We must thank so competent a judge on wind, noise, thunder, etc., as Mr. Lichtenhein for the compliment.

Talk of Cobb Retiring. There is no fear of Ty Cobb quitting baseball because the Detroit club will refuse to accede to his demands. Cobb wants a three year contract for $45,000 and he is very apt to get it. At the rate good ball players are being paid these days, Cobb is entitled to all that he asks for (the reason that he is not only the greatest of them all but he is the best attraction in the game today, and is one of the few players who help the gate receipts regardless of what his team's position in the race may be. As yet there is no controversy over the contract between Cobb and the Detroit club and, in fact, there may not be, but the story is going the rounds that Cobb has confided to a friend that unless he gets his price he will quit the game and go into the brokerage business in New York. That, of course, is all bosh, for Cobb will never quit the game as long as he can star in it, and furthermore it is not likely that the Detroit club would start the season without having him in the line-up.

Tiny Sherlock Holmes. Tommy's mother had taken him to church to hear the evening sermon, and they occupied seats in the gallery. Tommy tried not to allow his attention to wander from the preacher, but it did. He seemed to be particularly interested in a family who sat in front of him, and when the sermon was about half over he whispered to his mother: "Mama, I never saw these people before, but I know their names."

"Hush, dear!" "But I do," persisted Tommy. "Their name's Hill." "How do you know?" "Every time the preacher says his text, 'I lift up mine eyes to the hills,' those two big girls look at each other and smile." Subsequent inquiry proved that Tommy was quite correct.

Edith—Why did she marry him? Ethel—To cure him of drinking. Edith—And did she succeed? Ethel—Yes; she's so extravagant he can't afford it.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Binks—I'm getting along fine, doctor. You need not have stopped in this morning. Doctor—Oh, I was over to see Jones and I thought I'd just drop in and kill two birds with one stone.—Judge.

The Grim Reaper Works Through Neglected Colds. A slight cold does not suggest serious danger, but the suddenness with which a slight cold becomes a serious cold leads to appalling consequences. A slight cold demands immediate treatment.

Mathieu's Syrup of Tar and Cod Liver Oil taken at the outset removes all possible danger. It heats the inflamed parts, strengthens the tissue and builds up the whole system to defy further attacks.

The Tar is the healing agent. The Cod Liver Oil the strengthening element; combined properly as in Mathieu's Syrup they are invincible. Large bottle 35 cents.

DRAMATIC CAREER OF A BOY WITHOUT A CHANCE

Started as a Newsboy; is Now Mayor of Nottingham, England.

From newsboy to mayor is the record of Councillor Thomas Ward of Nottingham, who has just accepted an invitation to be mayor of the city next year. Born in one of the poorest parts of Nottingham fifty-four years ago, Mr. Ward has seen more than the average of the vicissitudes of life. At the age of seven he was selling newspapers in the street. From thirteen to sixteen he was serving a hard apprenticeship in the Hull fishing fleet in days when steam was unthought of for fishing craft. Returning to Nottingham, he worked for two years in the pit as a loader, but came out during the big strike. Then he started on a remarkable voyage around the world. Starting out from Plymouth on a sailing vessel, he reached Sydney after a passage of eighty-four days. After six months in Sydney he made for San Francisco in a ship which took fifty-four days. He was soon on the move again, and this time he made his way right across the continent to New York. Part of that distance he walked and the rest he accomplished by getting lifts on wagons and railway trucks. It was August when he left San Francisco, and Christmas when he struggled into New York, whence he shipped as a stoker to Glasgow. He thus completed a voyage around the world before he was twenty-one. Seeing from an advertisement that a porter was wanted in a Nottingham yeast establishment, he applied for and obtained it, and ultimately became the owner of the business. He has been a member of the Nottingham City Council since 1904, and three years ago he filled the office of sheriff. For fourteen years he has been a member of the Board of Guardians.

BORES HIS WAY FROM OREGON PENITENTIARY

Salem, Ore., Nov. 26.—T. L. Gordon made a clever escape from the state penitentiary the other day. He was a member of a class of fifteen convicts studying theosophy from 7 to 9 each Wednesday evening under the direction of Walter A. Denton, a volunteer teacher.

As the class went into the prison library Gordon slipped behind a partition and was not missed until the class started to return to the cells.

Search revealed that Gordon, in an adjoining room, had bored holes through the floor, letting himself down into the basement, from where he had made his way into the prison yard and scaled the wall by aid of a ladder. No trace of him has been found.

Gordon was received from Union County December 31, 1911, convicted of burglary and sentenced to two to five years.

Albert B. Kelly, an advertising expert of Philadelphia, sat in the Markham Club turning the seventy or eighty pages—mostly advertising matter—of a magazine. "Advertising is such an art," he said, "that many people actually buy periodicals as much for the advertisements as for the reading matter."

Mr. Kelly smiled. "I sat in an editor's office the other day," he continued, "when a poet entered.

"Glad to see you've accepted that sonnet of mine," the poet said, feverishly, pushing back his long hair. "I do hope it will be widely read."

"It's sure to be," said the editor. "It's sure to be. I've placed it next to one of our most striking ads."

Bazelgette, Sir Alexander Binnie and Mr. Bateman. England is in the same latitude as Prince Rupert.

"The time of concentration is the longest time required for water from the remotest points of the portion of the drainage area being considered to reach the outlet of that portion." "The storm causing the greatest rate of discharge in a storm sewer will usually be the maximum rain lasting a length of time equal to the time of concentration." The time of concentration for Area D is estimated to be 27 minutes. "Of rain which falls in a given period not more than 50 per cent. flows off the ground within the period of the fall."

3. The combined system: Mr. Vernon Harcourt, M. I. C. E., says: "Especially in large towns where the volume to be provided is the greatest, the separation of the rainfall from the sewage has been considered impracticable." "In large towns the cost and inconvenience of laying a second system of drains and sewers throughout so as to separate the rainfall from the sewage offers a serious obstacle to the introduction of this method."

Having satisfied myself that our proposed system compares very favorably with the opinions of the above mentioned authorities on this subject I feel quite justified in recommending the voters to support the scheme.

Your obedient servant, JOHN DYBHAVN, Chairman Board of Works.
