ALASKAN WOMEN WILL HAVE VOTES

Bill Granting Suffrage to Women Passed the House at Juneau Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily News.) Juneau, March 14.—The equal suffrage bill enfranchising the women of Alaska was passed by the House today. It is expected that the senate will approve, as there is no opposition to votes for women among the members of that body.

MAYOR'S MISSION WAS SUCCESSFUL

Wire Received Today Announcing That Bank of Montreal Will Make Necessary Advances to the City.

Mayor Pattullo returned from a hurried business trip to Vancouver last evening on the Princess Mary. The visit of His Worship was solely on matters pertaining to the city's financial situation. By appointment Mr. Pattullo had an interview with Mr. Campbell Sweeney, general manager for British Columbia of the Bank of Montreal, and with him went into the whole aspect of the city's finances both from the bank's as well as the city's point of view.

Although His Worship has nothing much for publication in the nature of an interview, he appears to be thoroughly satisfied with the result of his visit and is confident that sufficient money will be available for the carrying out of the work contemplated this coming summer. The Mayor found nothing but the most friendly attitude toward the city shown on the part of the bank. Nothing that the latter can do toward furthering the city's interests will be withheld. The object of the Mayor's visit to the head officials of the bank at this present time was not to seek any immediate grant of money so much as to get assurances from the bank as to its attitude toward the city in regard to financial support for the works to be carried on this year.

Since visiting the Mayor this morning the News has received word from His Worship that the latter has since been in receipt of a wire from Mr. Sweeney stating that authorization has been handed to the local branch of the bank to make necessary advances of money to go on with the public works, and that in consequence work will be started up again in Section 1 at the beginning of the week.

HOSPITAL BOARD REJECTS CITY COUNCIL'S REQUEST

ISOLATION HOSPITAL WILL NOT BE ERECTED ON GENERAL HOSPITAL GROUNDS—LARGELY SIGNED PETITION PROTESTING AGAINST THE SUGGESTION.

Mr. J. A. Kirkpatrick, at yesterday afternoon's special meeting of the hospital board, moved that permission be not granted the city to erect an isolation hospital on the site requested at the city council, that is, on the vacant lots belonging to the hospital at the back of the building proper. The motion was put to a vote and carried.

A number of residents in the neighborhood of the hospital attended the meeting, having with them a largely signed petition praying that the request of the city be not granted. Heading this delegation was Mr. G. A. McNicholl, who pointed out to the board the depreciatory effect the building of an isolation hospital would have upon realty values in the vicinity. He further showed how many of the most expensive and permanent homes in the city were to be found close to where it was proposed to erect this pest house.

The city medical health officer, upon being asked for an expression of opinion upon the matter, stated that the locality would not be made one whit more liable to infection from having the building in question erected there. He thought that it was the most suitable place they could build it on at present. Property values might drop slightly for a few weeks but would soon recover again.

Alderman Naden agreed with the medical health officer that there might be a slight sentimental feeling about the matter, causing values to drop slightly for a short time, but it would not last. He himself would be open to purchase if possible any property that dropped below market value on account of the erection of the building in question.

A suggestion from the chairman that the matter be laid over until the council had an opportunity to take it up with the petitioners was not acted upon.

Following the motion of Mr. Kirkpatrick, and its subsequent carrying, Mr. Naden asked how many who voted for the motion would have done so had the vote been taken before the city council passed a vote making a grant of $10,000 toward the hospital. Several demurred at the suggestion of Alderman Naden, Mr. Kirkpatrick especially, who stated that it was a completely erroneous idea that the council had donated the money itself. The money was given by the city, not by the council. After some little further discussion the matter was dropped.

Before adjourning tenders from the Pioneer and Northern laundries for the work of the hospital were opened. The tender of the Northern Laundry was found to be the lowest, but a motion to accept it was lost. It was decided to award a contract for six months ending June 30th to the Pioneer Laundry for the flat work and to the Northern Laundry for the nurses' work.

IRRECONCILABLE VIEWS OF CANADA'S PREMIER

AN AMAZING CHANGE OF FRONT IN HIS ATTITUDE OF TODAY AND 1909—HANSARD REPORTS OF MR. BORDEN'S SPEECHES CONVICT HIM OF A MOST REMARKABLE RIGHT-ABOUT-FACE PERFORMANCE—WHY HE STANDS FOR A CONTRIBUTION AND AGAINST CANADIAN POLICY HE ONCE SO STRONGLY ADVOCATED.

Ottawa, March 4.—It seems incredible that the Premier who is seeking to gag the advocates of Canadian naval self-defence in the House of Commons is the same R. L. Borden who four years ago this very month made a stirring patriotic speech in the House of Commons in favor of the policy he now denounces. From the records of Hansard the following extracts have been taken, indicating how utterly unreconcilable the views of Mr. Borden are today with the opinions he urged upon Parliament four years ago, and to which he secured the unanimous assent of the Liberal party.

Mr. Borden, Hansard, March 29, 1909—"In so far as my right honorable friend, the Prime Minister, today outlined the lines of naval defence of this country, I am entirely at one with him. I am entirely of the opinion in the first place that the proper line upon which we should proceed in that regard IS THE LINE OF HAVING A CANADIAN NAVAL FORCE OF OUR OWN. I entirely believe in that.

The other Borden, Hansard, Dec. 5, 1912—"There have been proposals to which I shall no more than allude that we should build up a great naval organization in Canada. In my humble opinion NOTHING OF AN EFFICIENT CHARACTER COULD BE BUILT UP IN THIS COUNTRY WITHIN A QUARTER OR PERHAPS HALF A CENTURY.

Mr. Borden, Hansard, March 29, 1909—"I do desire to emphasize, as far as in my power, the importance to Canada of some attempt at naval defence; of the defence of our seaports and the protection of our commerce. Let us look at the question from another aspect. How many cities and towns are there in Canada which would be open to the raids of a second or third class cruiser? I suppose THERE ARE NOT LESS THAN FORTY OR FIFTY CITIES AND TOWNS IN CANADA OF 2,000 POPULATION OR UPWARDS WHICH WOULD BE OPEN TO THE RAID OF AN ENEMY COMING AGAINST US.

The other Borden, Hansard, Feb. 29, 1913—"What will be the purpose of the navy which my honorable friends propose to create when it is created? They propose to have one fleet unit on the Atlantic and one fleet unit on the Pacific. For what purpose will they be placed there, and to what extent will they be effective? I say that the defence of Canada will be by the united naval forces of the whole Empire, and I further MAINTAIN THAT IT WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE FOR A SINGLE FLEET UNIT ON THE ATLANTIC OR A SINGLE FLEET UNIT ON THE PACIFIC TO DEFEND THE SHORES OR COAST LINE OF CANADA AGAINST SUCH AN ATTACK as might be expected if an attack were to take place.

Mr. Borden, March 29, 1909—"I think that an expenditure of money designed for that purpose (local naval defence) OUGHT IN THE MAIN AT LEAST TO BE UNDER THE CONTROL OF OUR OWN PARLIAMENT, and that by making an appropriation of this kind and attending to the defence of our own coasts by co-operation and co-ordination with the Imperial naval forces we would be rendering a real service in the defence of the Empire, and we would be doing our duty not only to Canada, but to the Empire as a whole.

The other Borden, Feb. 29, 1913—"If you have the British navy, the most powerful navy in the world, if you co-operate with it, IF YOU ASSIST IN MAINTAINING AND BUILDING IT UP, I VENTURE TO SAY THAT YOU HAVE ARRIVED, FOR THE PRESENT AT LEAST, AT THE BEST SOLUTION OF THIS PROBLEM that could possibly be devised, and in support of this I take the clear statement of the Admiralty that the best way in which Canada can aid the Empire at the present time is by the provision of a certain number of the strongest and most powerful battleships that money can procure or science can devise.

Why this amazing change? Why this explicit repudiation of every sentiment in favor of a Canadian naval defence service expressed in 1909? The answer is writ large in the Parliamentary history of the past three years. Mr. Borden could not have formed a Government without the support of the Nationalists and Nationalist Conservatives of Quebec, who were pledged to fight against a Canadian navy to the last ditch. He took their representatives into his Government, and proposed that they support a money contribution to the British navy, which would not involve the raising of men for a Canadian force. The Nationalists, it will be remembered, based their fight against Laurier's navy on the fear of the habitant mothers that their sons would be drafted on board ships and sent to fight Britain's battles all over the world.

A money contribution, it was evident, could be made to look less objectionable than the spectre of conscription. Of the Government's Quebec wing, Mr. Monk alone refused to take the bait, and resigned. The other Ministers stayed with their portfolios, and Mr. Deputy Speaker Blondin, the Nationalist who told how the French-Canadians had to shoot holes in the British flag to gain their liberties, is now busily engaged, under Speaker Sproule, in trying to gag the Liberals, who still stand for Canadian naval self-defence. It is the Nationalist movement that explains the present deadlock in the House of Commons. The Nationalist allies of the Government are willing to "ransom" Quebec's sons by a money contribution. That is why Borden stands today for a contribution and against Canadian naval self-defence the policy which Mr. Foster and he first urged upon Parliament.—Toronto Globe.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY SEEKS AID FROM CITY

MAYOR PATTULLO SUGGESTS THAT COUNCIL MAY MAKE GRANT TO EQUAL AMOUNT RAISED BY SUBSCRIPTION.

This morning Messrs. J. H. McMullin, A. H. Allison, A. J. Prudhomme and Dr. Tremayne, representing the Prince Rupert

Agricultural and Industrial Association, called upon Mayor Pattullo in regard to the association's chances of obtaining a grant from the city toward the forthcoming exhibition to be held in the fall. The deputation received very encouraging assurances from His Worship that the council would do everything possible toward furthering the success of the undertaking. The Mayor suggested that the council might see its way toward making a cash grant equal to an amount of money raised by subscription from the citizens, such sum not to exceed $5,000. The deputation left the Mayor's office thoroughly satisfied with the result of its mission.

CITY CLERK WOODS AND HIS DOGS.

In a letter in today's "News," City Clerk Woods gets very wrathful over the item published yesterday relating to an attack made by his two bulldogs upon a four-year-old child. While the "News" has no objection to Mr. Woods defending himself and his dogs, evidence of which is shown in its willingness to publish not only his statement of the occurrence but several uncalculated and unbecoming remarks which are probably the result of a ruffled temper rather than good judgment, the "News" would draw his attention to the fact that in assuming the article was published "for nothing but spite" he has a much more "fertile imagination" than the reporter he desires to congratulate for possessing such a talent. Mr. Woods would do well to study the dictionary and learn the meaning of the common word "lie" before using it so freely. In his attempt to deceive the public in regard to the motives of the "News" the word is much more applicable to his statement than to any statement in the article in yesterday's "News" that has brought forth such an unwarranted attack.

The statements made yesterday were in exact accordance with the facts as stated by eye witnesses of the affair. They were not colored by the so-called imagination of any reporter. The article needs no defence.

TORONTO'S BOND SALE.

Toronto seems to have been lucky in disposing of over a million dollars' worth of its bonds to an American company at a fair price. The magnitude of such a deal is illustrated by the statement that the total amount sold by all Canada to all of the United States last year is estimated at only $3,800,000. It might be well to ask the critics if they can obtain a bona fide offer of a full million dollars of debentures running nine and a half years at a better figure.

Conditions the world over have been unfavorable to the marketing of bonds. Toronto cannot expect to do better than the market price. It may be that there was an error of judgment in allowing debentures to accumulate, but it was an error which resulted from the hope that conditions would be better. Instead of that, they became worse. If the expected had happened, the officials who are now being criticized would have been hailed as far-sighted financiers. The situation, however, would seem to point to the desirability of marketing bonds practically as they are issued. In the meantime no good purpose is served by criticizing sales which are made on the very best terms obtainable anywhere, and which compare favorably with the transactions of other cities, when it is remembered that Toronto has had no authority to adopt a higher rate than four per cent., while some western municipalities are offering five.—Toronto Star.

The Missionary as "The Smiling Fool"

Written specially for the "News" by Rev. J. B. McCullagh, Aiyansh, Naas Valley, British Columbia

Note.—The missionary, unlike the politician or other ideoprist, does not stand or fall according to either the commendation or the condemnation of the world. Indifferent to both alike, expecting nothing and asking nothing, he goes on quietly with his work as something apart from this mundane sphere. On the one hand he seeks not the limelight of fame and renown, on the other he courts not the shade of privacy or religious seclusion. True, his inquiry is for the dark places of the earth, the habitations of cruelty, degradation and oppression, where ignorance, superstition and idolatry do most prevail; but he looks only for the darkness that he may dissipate it. Right into the midst of it he goes, in a way that the traveller, the government official, and the trader can never do; these may abide among the people and do the work allotted to them, but the missionary enters into the darkness, for there his work lies. He identifies himself with the out-cast races of mankind, sits down, not only among them, but with them, stands up for them before God, and sometimes before man. His work is to create a new mental and moral atmosphere for them and prepare them to do battle for the acquisition of a new life and a new world, even here as well as hereafter. Incidentally he lifts them up in a material way, and increases the commercial value of the savage from one to one hundred. The requirements of the Indian in the old Siwash state, and his earning power, may be set down as 1. In his present civilized condition his requirements cover the whole catalogue of modern commerce, his earning power is as good as the white man's, and his commercial value may be well set down as 100. How comes the missionary, then, to be the fool of modern times? I have heard him described as such under many headings—some resigning him to his fate, and others consigning him there! But you can't put him there, because he won't stay there, he won't stay beaten when you beat him! You can't humiliate him, because just as you cannot put him down, so you cannot put him up; as for your joke, he has seen the fun of it all the day before yesterday; you can't honor him, for the pretty little things you try to tack on to him won't stick. Altogether, I presume, people find him very unsatisfactory.

Out of a rare collection of adjectives, from time to time applied to the classification of the missionary as aforesaid, I select the following, which, seriously, appeals to me strongly—for in my own experience I have often found that on the principle of action and reaction being equal and opposite, the due maintenance of a perpetual smile keeps the heart well away from the other thing.

THE SMILING FOOL.

Who is this demented person standing lonely by the shore, While a crowd of nude barbarians scowl askance and look him o'er? Who is he no lark bringing other than the clothes he wears, Smiling back at all that rabble and the threats that reach his ears? "The smiling fool—the missionary."

Nothing of the world has brought him, for the world is far away; All its businesses and pleasures are the things of yesterday. No rewards and no promotion! For a like-work where's the scope? Yet his work lies there before him—in that crowd! He smiles in hope!

A "smiling fool," the missionary?

Days of stress, and years of struggle 'twixt the Day-star and the night; Human passions dark and subtle stand convicted in the light. Now and then a captive exile breaks his chain and comes away, Rapture o'er his tan face stealing as he steps into the day.

A "smiling fool," the missionary?

Pass the years—a generation, and that fiendish, ferly scene Lives but on the page of memory, like a picture on a screen: Lowly at God's footstool bending, in the name of Jesus Christ, See them now, their praise ascending for salvation all unpriced!

A "smiling fool," the missionary?

Deeds of rapine, blood and pillage all the coast have ceased along; In their stead a model village and a law-abiding throng. Throng of honest workers seeking fair to earn their daily bread, Living in substantial dwellings, with God's blessing on their head.

A "smiling fool," the missionary?

Time goes on; coast safe and open—door of commerce with the East! Indians take their place with white men, last they may be, but not least. Yet men take it all for granted; say it merely happens so, Fail to see the seed was planted by the man behind the hoe— That "smiling fool," the missionary.

Still remains another picture, it is not enacted yet, But the day is surely coming when the judgment will be set; And I know that many an Indian, past and present, there will stand, Plucked like brands out of the burning by the missionary's hand. That "smiling fool," the missionary!

Naas River, B. C., 3rd Feb., 1913. —REV. JAMES B. McCULLAGH.

Comment.—In all ages there have been fools—and fools! That is to say, in addition to the ordinary supply of Nature, there have always been certain other individuals so called in their day and generation. The altruist may be right or wrong—time alone can decide which—but the world, at any rate, writes him down a "fool" to begin with, classifying him either as a harmless faddist or a dangerous meddler amenable to correction—the kind, no doubt, for whose back Solomon prescribes the birch! No "higher" critic could be surer of anything beyond his ken than I am that the one great fool of the antediluvian world was Noah, harmless, of course, and no doubt bearing himself the expenses of his own hobby, otherwise he would never have been allowed to build his vessel. But that ship away inland on the stocks for over a century must have supplied the old world with no end of a joke! And if we could look at Abraham from the point of view of his own people we should very likely find him to be the "wandering fool" of his time. I am not sure that his own wife did not come round to the same view. She certainly acted as if she did. Even according to present day standards, Moses must be considered a "great fool" in sacrificing his brilliant prospects in Egypt to champion the cause of the over-employed. Most of the old prophets were looked upon as "fools," and dangerous ones at that, and because they stood for pellucid politics they were intolerable. In the estimation of the level headed Romans the early Christian church was composed entirely of fools, dangerous to the state, but coming in handy now and then to enliven the arena with the lions. Socrates was a fool, and had to take the hemlock. Gallio was another, and had to swallow the earth's motion round the sun. All the inventors in their turn were fools and gave the good, wise world no end of trouble. Columbus was a fool, and the Pilgrim Fathers followed in his steps, which accounts for the large surplus of colonels indigenous to the United States today. And so we might draw the tale to great length and point the moral ad infinitum, but what we have said is quite sufficient to assure ourselves at any rate that the missionary is in capital company, and there we leave him.

The Attitude of the Church Toward Armaments

The headlines of one of the city's press states that the arming of Europe affects trade. Germany's policy of large increase in the army has been followed by other nations. The effect has been the upsetting of commercial conditions and disturbing of financial arrangements of the world.

Peace Manifesto Whereas the Parliament of Canada is soon to decide its attitude to Naval armaments and

Whereas the loss of life and physical suffering entailed by war falls largely upon the producing classes, and the resulting sorrow and bitter struggle for existence upon their wives and helpless children; and

Whereas the immediate duty of civilized nations is to right the wrongs of the vast numbers within their own borders who are handicapped by poverty and harsh economic conditions; and

Whereas the development of the United States has been made possible by drawing upon the population of all sections of Europe, and the development of Canada depends upon her ability to draw largely upon the same sources; and

Whereas because of the complete inter-dependence of the world's financial and commercial centres, a great European war would produce practical industrial paralysis in the United States and Canada with its attendant frightful loss and suffering;

Therefore, we believe that the time has come in the history of Christian civilization when a serious inquiry should be made by the nations of the world as to the necessity of war. In order to secure this inquiry we would suggest the following procedure to the Parliament of Canada now in session:

1. That both parties unite in a Declaration which will make it quite clear to all the world that while Great Britain should exhaust every possibility in order to avoid the awful catastrophe of a European war, yet should such a war result, Canada is ready to stand or fall with the Empire.

2. That the Parliament of Canada should approach the President and Congress of the United States, looking towards joint action in making overtures to the European nations, to call at once a Council of their representatives to consider afresh their international relations. This council should proceed with an exhaustive investigation of the causes of the present situation and should honestly and earnestly seek to find some method of adjusting international differences more in harmony with the spirit of civilization, and recognizing the fact that the ties that bind all people into one world family are now so many and so intricate that no two nations can even prepare for war without seriously affecting all others.

The refusal of any European nation to enter such a conference being an unfriendly act, may be followed by economic penalties, such as a surtax on its commerce with the United States and Canada.

3. That it be arranged by the United States and Canada that as soon as an understanding has been arrived at between European powers, they will call a Council representing the world's powers, to establish a permanent court for the settlement of international disputes by reason and righteousness and not by blind passion and brute force.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT IN FAR NORTH

Alaskan Towns Leading Dawson and Whitehorse in the Bowling League

Tonight will witness the final of the international tournament which started on February 11th, the contesting teams being those of Juneau, Skagway, Dawson and Whitehorse.

Readers of the Star have probably noticed that the Whitehorse team has been bringing up the rear in the tourney, but they will also notice that the team outplayed Dawson last Friday night and both Dawson and Juneau Tuesday night of the present week.

Now, while there is no doubt that the local aggregation could outplay the Skagway team to-night and win the tournament—if there were a few more games to play instead of one, we have advised them not to do it, but to permit the Skagway team to win, providing Juneau does not gain on that aggregation tonight the 42 pins which now separate them, in which event Skagway and Juneau will tie for first place.

By the Whitehorse team gracefully permitting itself to take fourth place in the standing, it will leave it in a position to issue a challenge for another series of contests without manifesting any spirit of bragadocio which sometimes crop out in winning teams. The scores of the various teams are:

Table with 2 columns: Team Name and Score. Skagway 17,389; Dawson 17,347; Juneau 16,553; Whitehorse 16,435.

"Livingstone Day"

Next to Robert Burns, there is no Scot of whom his country is prouder than of David Livingstone. Tomorrow all Christendom unites in the celebration of "Livingstone Day," the hero's birthday being March 19th, 1813. In the Empress Theatre at 7.30, Rev. F. W. Kerr will give an account of his work, and the transformation of Africa wrought through his labors. An afternoon meeting for "Ladies Only" to deal with social questions will be held in the Empress Theatre on Sunday at 3.30. Rev. Mr. Crux of New Westminster will address it.

Methodist Services.

Tomorrow's services will have a double emphasis in the Methodist Church. Mr. Crux will speak in the morning on "The Noblest Fellowship," to the Sunday school on being "Followers of Soldiers of Christ," and in the evening the centenary anniversary of the birth of Livingstone, the great African explorer, scientist and missionary. As the special services are all missionary in character this will be an enthusiastic way of celebrating this significant event. Mr. Lee will be an added force in the meetings of next week and a special invitation is offered to all who read this to partake in this spiritual mission now in the second week. The good done and help received by any one is a means of blessing to the whole city.

A Busy Season for B. C. Fisheries, Ltd.—Geo. L. Clayton Appointed Manager of Operations.

Mr. Wilfrid Doughty, managing director of the B. C. Fisheries, Ltd., accompanied by Mr. George L. Clayton, returned from a visit to Skidegate, the headquarters of the company's operations, yesterday and are registered at the G. T. P. Inn. It is announced that Mr. Clayton, who is well known in Prince Rupert, having been identified with the Atlin Construction Co. in the building of the huge cold storage plant at Seal Cove, has accepted the position of general manager of the B. C. Fisheries and will assume active direction of that company's affairs from now on. The association of Mr. Clayton with the B. C. Fisheries Co. a general manager will be a distinct advantage to the company, his long experience with everything to do with building and equipping fishing and cold storage plants being probably greater than any other man on this coast. The company have all their plans laid for an extremely busy season and will probably employ in the neighborhood of 500 men. It is expected that the fertilizing and oilery plants recently completed will be operated in full swing this coming year. Mr. Wilfrid Doughty, although retiring from the position of active manager, will still be busily engaged in looking after the business end of the various branches of the company's affairs.

"A PACK OR LIES" SAYS CITY CLERK WOODS

Makes Light of the Attack of His Dogs on Little Child and Uses "Naughty" Words

To the Editor Daily News:

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly give space in today's issue of the News for the following letter:—
"With reference to the News item headed 'Little Child Was Attacked by Dogs,' and which was evidently considered of sufficient importance as to merit a front page insertion in your issue of the 14th instant.

The facts are as follows: Mr. Hendricksen, father of the little fellow who was 'pretty badly mauled' called on me at 7.15 last evening with the very respectfully put request that I kindly keep my dogs up. On inquiring the reason for this request he informed me that my white dog puppy had knocked down his smallest child and, so he was informed by a Mrs. Cobb, would have 'bitten him up' but for her timely aid in driving off the dog, which by this time had been joined by his playmate 'Leo'—'the dog that wanted to start something' at a city council meeting held a week or two ago."

The dogs in question are both very fond of children and play with those living around Borden and Taylor Streets, including the little fellow referred to, and therefore it was with surprise that I heard Mr. Hendricksen's reasons. His request was very readily granted.

In talking over the occurrence with Mr. Hendricksen, which occurrence is greatly to be regretted, we agreed that the dogs were simply playing with the boy, and in the play the puppy got the boy's arm in his mouth, nipping it with just enough force to cause blood—as if from a pin prick—to show on the surface of the flesh at one point only.

The boy was not playing in the vicinity of his home but on a private sidewalk within three feet of my dog's kennel, and the so called "vicious attack" was nothing more than a puppy dog romping with a child and knocking the child down. The proof of this is the child was playing around early this morning 'as happy as a sand boy.'

As regards the attack upon the lady mentioned, by the same two dogs, that is all rot, and is a creation of a too fertile imagination. I understand that the affair was not a serious one—it being simply that the brindle dog; not two dogs, ran towards the lady and barked, then ran away and back again, barking the whole time—a thing any dog will do.

I do not object in the least to the publication of anything my dogs may do, but I do object and very strongly too, to a pack of lies being published as truth, and for nothing but spite.

Might I, therefore, Mr. Editor, trouble you to convey to the reporter, responsible for the news item referred to, my congratulations on his possessing such a fertile imagination, and my regrets that his great talents are not used in a more lucrative employment than the hunting for copy for a fourth rate newspaper, which evidently uses anything to fill up with.

Yours truly,
ERNEST A. WOODS.

A REVELATION IN MOVING PICTURES

Homer's Odyssey and a Foe to Richelieu the Most Spectacular Productions Ever Shown in This City.

Homer's Odyssey, a classic masterpiece, was shown last night for the first time in Rupert, along with the wonderful cinematic production, "A Foe to Richelieu."

Packed houses greeted the opening and never in the history of motion pictures has such a spectacular and gorgeous production ever been attempted. It thrills and staggers the imagination. Most remarkable of all is the getting such wonderful, living, breathing, sensational realism into a moving picture production.

The "Odyssey of Homer" pre-figures a new era in film making, and dwarfs some of the biggest of legitimate stage productions. The companion cinematic production, "A Foe to Richelieu," is a revelation in colors, as well as a most gripping and interesting subject.

Nearly 6,000 feet of film is used in the two productions, furnishing nearly an hour and a half of highly enjoyable entertainment.

Red-Blooded Manhood

Through history's early records right down to the present day, heroic manhood has commanded first attention from the fair sex. Every woman admires the man whose physical bearing stamps him a disciple of ancient Hercules—and a man of power among men. What man does not feel proud of a rugged constitution—of vigor in every fibre of his make-up—has put scores of men in this enviable position—endowed them with virile and will do the same for you. It is 100 per cent easier to wear than other apparently efficient devices—400 per cent more efficient—contains electric batteries but no unnecessary frills to pay for. Long case with its use.
