PORT EDWARD TOWNSITE DELIGHTED HUNDREDS

MANY CITIZENS SAW PRINCE RUPERT'S INDUSTRIAL ANNEX FOR THE FIRST TIME YESTERDAY.

Easter Monday, 1913, can truly be recorded as a red letter day in the history of Port Edward, which is rapidly becoming known to the outside world as Prince Rupert's industrial annex. It marked in no uncertain way that there is at least locally an intense interest in the townsite which has every promise of becoming the home of many important industries and the meeting place of continental trains and great ships sailing to foreign ports in every part of the world.

In order that the citizens of Prince Rupert might have an opportunity of seeing for themselves the many natural advantages that were important factors in the choice of Port Edward as an industrial site, arrangements were made for a special Grand trunk Pacific train to leave the city at 2:15 p. m. yesterday, with the future industrial city as its destination. That the promoters did not misjudge the public's interest was evident in the fact that standing room in a train of six coaches and a baggage car was at a premium. More than five hundred people availed themselves of the opportunity of a pleasant holiday outing and a thorough inspection of the development that has already taken place in what, it is confidently believed, will be a suburb of Prince Rupert of no mean importance.

Providence could not have been more kind to the promoters, the weather conditions being most ideal. There was not a cloud in the sky and only the gentlest of breezes came from over the blue waters, which sparkled like myriads of diamonds in the sunshine. Under such conditions it is little wonder that everyone came home with the best of impressions of the future city.

The run to Port Edward, which follows the shore line of Kaien Island, on which Prince Rupert is situated, to Zanardi bridge, crossing there to the mainland, is most picturesque and was made in approximately a quarter of an hour.

Arriving at the townsite, which is about eight miles by rail from Prince Rupert, the excursionists were escorted through the principal streets and avenues and given a splendid opportunity of selecting the sites they considered most promising from an investment standpoint. Judging by the frequent references that were made to the maps provided and the memos that were made thereon, a large number of selections were made and there is little doubt but that when the sale of lots opens on Thursday of this week there will be quite a stampede of purchasers.

It is useless to attempt to describe the townsite as a means of giving any adequate idea of the magnificent view that is to be seen from almost every point. Rising gradually from the waterfront the townsite spreads itself out like one vast grandstand, from which can be seen the calm and peaceful harbor, the picturesque entrance thereto winding in among several islands, the blue sea beyond and in the distance the purple mountains of Porcher, Stephens and other islands. There are natural grades in nearly every part of the townsite. In the business section the maximum grade is only 6 per cent. There are a few lots which do not command a view of the harbor. The total area of the townsite is 1,010 acres, 151 of which are set aside for industrial purposes. Practically all of the lower or business portion of the townsite has been cleared, as well as the streets and avenues in the residential section. Over four miles of plank walks have been constructed, making it possible to get to all parts of the townsite without difficulty.

At the north end of the townsite the Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Co., Ltd., own 10 acres with 125 feet of waterfront. At the present time they have a permanent staff of sixty men employed. A number of comfortable camps and a half dozen handsome and modern bungalows have been erected and a large of

SIR R. CARTWRIGHT ON LAST DEADLOCK

Late Minister Gives Opinion as to Permissibility of Obstructive Tactics.

The following extract from Sir Richard Cartwright's "Life" gives an account of the deadlock of 1885, and his own opinion as to the permissibility of obstructive tactics, in certain conditions, which are of especial interest at the present juncture:

Reporter—How do you stop it?
Sir Richard—By sheer bulldog pluck and tenacity. It was a case of life or death, and we took advantage of every possible form of parliamentary obstruction. For full six months we fought the bill and the estimates inch by inch. For weeks and perhaps for months we saw the sun rise on our debates. We organized ourselves into brigades, relieving each other at regular intervals, and, in fact, left nothing undone that an opposition of our numerical strength could do.

Reporter—I wonder Sir John did not adopt the closure.

Sir Richard—It was an ugly measure for him to force through in that way, and, moreover, under our system I doubt if any closure could have got his estimates through for him. Also, in fairness to Sir John, I think he shrank from such an innovation. He was an old parliamentarian and always greatly preferred to observe the regular parliamentary form of procedure.

DEATH OF MRS. BELL

Deceased, who was only 22 years of age, is survived by her husband.

The Vancouver World says plans for a railway to run from the mouth of the Naas into the Groundhog district, with ultimate extension to Alaska, are being formed by the Harriman interests, which own or control large coal areas in Groundhog. Fifty square miles are owned by Andrew Laidlaw, of the Oregon-Short Line, who is said to be acting with the Harriman interests.

AERIAL TRAMWAY TO THE RAILWAY SIDING

Rocher de Boule Mine Will Employ Fifty Men on Development Work.

J. E. Oppenheimer, one of the principal stockholders in the Rocher de Boule mine, Hazelton, who is of Butte, Montana, accompanied by Mining Engineer Green, also of Butte, has been at the mine the past week. It is understood that Mr. Green is making an exhaustive examination of the property for the owners, in order to devise the means of development of the mine on a large scale. The installation of a power plant, an aerial tramway to the railway, a distance of three and one-half miles, and the opening of the property at a greater depth by a long working tunnel are said to be some of the contemplated developments at the mine in the near future. The carrying out of these plans will mean that the mine will employ at least fifty men continuously this summer.

SILVER CREEK RUSH WAS NOT JUSTIFIED

Caused by Skookum Jim's Lurid Stories of the Find in Seattle.

Everybody knows "Bill" Drury, of Taylor, Drury, Pedlar & Co., and they know that he is not a man who will either praise or "knock" without just cause. Mr. Drury returned Wednesday night from Silver Creek, the scene of the reported rich gold discovery, thirty miles back from the east end of Lake Teslin, where he staked two claims, and to which reported rich field people are now rushing from all parts of the Pacific Northwest. Asked his opinion of the country, Mr. Drury said:

"All the excitement concerning Silver and adjacent creeks, five or six in number, has been created by Indians who claim to have found coarse gold in that locality last year. I did not see the gold, nor did I see anyone who had seen it. This winter the Indians returned to the district and staked many claims. They were followed by white men to the district who also staked and when I left Atlin a few days ago upward of 300 claims had been recorded and applications were coming in every day.

"I talked with a number of experienced white men who had been over every creek in the district and they agreed that the indications were as good as they could possibly be, but none of them had sunk any holes or found any gold. Skookum Jim, who went to Seattle three weeks ago, has circulated lurid stories concerning the country and has, I am informed, been instrumental in starting a big stampede to the country from lower coast points. "From what I could learn of the country, it is not even as promising as Nansen and surrounding creeks and that, as everyone knows who is posted, has never warranted any stampede."—Whitehorse Star.

DIED AT THE HOSPITAL

Henry Way, a Fisherman, Died This Morning After a Month's Illness.

The average value of silver fox fur is around $1,000 to $1,500 and as high as $2,500.

CHARGES AGAINST G. T. P. CONTRACTORS UNWARRANTED

RESULT OF FEDERAL ENQUIRY INTO TREATMENT OF MEN ENGAGED IN CONSTRUCTION WORK.

Ottawa, March 20.—Government investigation of complaints that men employed on railway construction work along the Fraser River for the firm of Foley, Welch & Stewart were ill treated has resulted in an official report that the complaints were unwarranted by the actual conditions. Following the complaints made last fall, the government received a request from the royal consul for Italy in Canada for an investigation and a fair wage officer at Vancouver on December 16th was asked for a report. The report of the officer, received today, states the men are being fairly treated and paid on the average of $3 a day, of which they pay $2 a day for board.

Serious charges of manipulation of transportation and employment fees were proved to be unfounded. The investigator learned the contractors did not charge an employment fee. Although railway fare was deducted from the wages of the men, the fare was refunded when the workman remained more than six months, the deduction being merely a protection for the contractors against "job jumpers."

The only complaint sustained had reference to the men being paid by cheque. When leaving the work the men found it necessary to discount the cheques with individuals who cashed them. Inquiry of the contractors brought the response that it was impossible to keep at the camps sufficient cash to pay wages in currency. The contractors had provision for cashing small cheques for outgoing men and had an arrangement with the railway company for the acceptance of pay cheques for transportation.

GRAND DAFFODIL BALL OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE

BEAUTIFUL DECORATIONS AND MANY LOVELY COSTUMES—THE DAUGHTERS ADD LUSTRE TO THEIR REPUTATION

The spacious ballroom of the Kaien Island Club was thronged with a brilliant gathering upon the occasion of the third annual Daffodil Dance of the Queen Mary Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire. That the floor was crowded throughout the entire evening was a tribute to the officers of the order, who have already acquired a most enviable reputation as entertainers.

The scene in the ballroom was like fairyland when at 9:30 the first strains of the opening waltz floated through the room. The windows and walls were hung with streamers of yellow bunting and trails of greenery, while hundreds of daffodils were used in a decorative scheme hitherto unsurpassed in the city. Cozy sitting out places were arranged in the gallery and in convenient corners, while devotees of bridge were enabled to indulge in a quiet rubber under most comfortable circumstances. Werner's orchestra rendered a pleasing programme of new and popular airs and responded most generously to repeated encores.

The programmes were extremely pretty with their festive daffodils, the work of Miss Alice Du Vernet. Supper was served at midnight from small daffodil-decorated tables and was most delicious. It was close upon 3 o'clock before the strains of "Good Night Dear," brought this delightful function to a close.

A few of the gowns noticeable were:

Mrs. McClymont, the vice-regent, in a lovely gown of white satin and lace.

Mrs. Morte Craig looked very

FOR POPULAR GOVERNMENT.

The Hamilton Herald says that the only real motive of the Liberals in resisting the naval bill is a desire to get back to power. The Herald professes to be independent, and really exercises a great deal of independence. Why, then, should it echo a purely partisan view of the conduct of the Liberal party? Why not give the Liberals credit for a sincere desire to uphold the historic Liberal principle of self-government?

But if the Liberals do hope that they could win a general election on the issue of self-government, what does that mean? It means that they believe the people of Canada are in favor of self-government and would reject the Borden policy as dangerous to self-government. In other words, the Liberals desire that self-government and popular government shall prevail. If, on the other hand, the people are willing to surrender their hard-won liberties, let them say so. Why condemn the opportunity to speak?

LOSING A PROVINCE.

Under the above caption the Toronto Globe has a strong editorial upon the prodigality with which the public domain of this province is being handled, following upon a lucid criticism of the subject by Mr. Britton C. Cooke in Canadian Colliers. The Globe says the most serious feature of the wasteful alienation carried on by Sir Richard McBride is the entangled condition of the farming and fruit growing land of the province. Minerals and timber, though vast in extent, must be exhausted some time, but the farm and the orchards are perpetual sources of wealth. It must be admitted that even with the discovery of an unsuspected capacity for fruit production and with the introduction of irrigation and other modern aids, the mountainous nature of the Pacific province limits its agricultural area. The vast prairie expanses of farm beyond farm do not exist. The natural condition of the province makes it a threatening calamity for the McBride Government to cover up the otherwise available agricultural area with the superimposed strata of title deeds. These strata of title deeds that cover up the farming areas destroy them for productive uses as effectively as if they were covered by rock slides or by river or sea inundations.

When a Socialist member of the Legislature challenged the Minister of Agriculture to go into any public Government office and get information as to where good land to settle on could be found there was no assuring reply. A Liberal newspaper sent a reporter on the rounds of the offices in quest of good land to settle on, and he found none. That reveals a deplorable condition, especially as the province is dependent on outside sources for food supplies, and imports to the value of some twenty millions.

It is not asserted or even hinted that the province has not good land in abundance for farms and orchards. But the land is not available on account of the apparently insurmountable legal obstacles. The world can scarcely match this masterpiece of Governmental hothery. The man who wants to make the soil yield its potential wealth must bargain with speculators, who demand more than its returns warrant. Land that will not meet the demands of holding speculators is commercially and industrially as worthless as land that will not repay the cost of cultivation.

GEORGE'S REGAL POMP IN INDIA

King George's Visit Depicted in Glowing Colors at the Westholme

When King George of England went to India last December to be crowned there as Emperor of that country, one of his greatest delights was to take an hour or two away from the burden of the day's ceremonial, and ride out into the country on what is known as the "Taxicab of India." The taxicab of India does not run on wheels, nor does it require a plentiful supply of gasoline, though it has its regular chauffeur.

From time immemorial, the people of India who could afford it, have used the elephant as a means of conveyance, and though the "Sahibs" of that country have introduced the gasoline consuming machine, so much in vogue in this country and in Europe, the natives have fought shy of it, and prefer to be carried around on the back of the Behemoth.

The accompanying picture of King George riding on the back of an elephant, was caught by one of the camera men of the Kinemacolor Company, which controls that remarkable invention which produces scenes and incidents, not only in motion but in all the original colors of nature.

The "Mahout" or chauffeur of the elephant, has a peculiar manner in reaching the seat from where he guides the animal. At a signal, the huge beast gently wraps his trunk around the driver and lifts him onto his back. The King ascended the elephant's back in a novel manner. The animal knelt down while the attendant in the rear of the King also knelt beside the animal. Stepping onto the back of this attendant, His Majesty was enabled to reach the seat reserved for him on the "Taxicab of India," that was to take him for a ride. The most amusing thing of all is the manner in which the servant himself reaches his position. When the elephant rises and starts to walk, the dusky Hindoo grasps the pachyderm's tail and climbs to its lofty perch on the elephant's haunches.

Hundreds of these interesting episodes are shown in the Kinemacolor Durbar pictures which have caught the fancy of New York, and which are now being exhibited in that city at the New York theatre at the "$1.50 seat" of prices, to crowded houses. Arrangements have been made by which the superb Kinemacolor pictures of the Durbar will be seen in this city at the Westholme Opera House commencing tonight.

PROVINCIAL AND FEDERAL RELATIONS

Federal Commission to Determine Upon Readjustment of Fiscal Arrangements.

Mr. E. V. Bodwell, K. C., has been chosen by the British Columbia government to represent the province upon the federal commission to investigate the financial relations between the province and the Dominion and determine upon a readjustment of the fiscal arrangements of the two governments.

Sir Richard McBride has been informed that the Dominion government representative on the commission will be Mr. Z. A. Lash, K. C., a prominent member of the Ontario bar and an eminent constitutional lawyer.

TO REPRESENT B. C. ON INDIAN LANDS

John P. Shaw and D. H. McDowall Provincial Members of Royal Commission.

Among other announcements made by the provincial government at Victoria is the selection of the two representatives for British Columbia on the royal commission on Indian lands. Mr. John Pearson Shaw, member of the local government for the Kamloops constituency, and Mr. D. H. McDowall, who recently served on the commission on insurance, are the provincial appointees.

The Dominion representatives are Mr. J. A. J. McKenna, associated for years with the Department of Indian Affairs, and Mr. Thomas White, K. C., of Shelburne, N. S.

Let the Great North Pacific Make Profits for You

Here is an opportunity the like of which may not come to you again in a lifetime. Prince Rupert, known the world over as the Pacific Terminus of the great Grand Trunk transcontinental, the town that made as high as 600 per cent. profits for those who bought lots at its early sales, has to have a great Industrial Annex. There are not sufficient industrial waterfront sites to be bought or leased at Prince Rupert now and the great development now at hand with the completion of the G. T. P. and the opening of the Panama Canal will demand a host of them. Port Edward fills the bill. Prince Rupert ABSOLUTELY NEEDS Port Edward. Many prominent Prince Rupert business men and several of the most prominent Canadian men of affairs are behind the project, which is capitalized at $1,000,000, all subscribed.

Be among the First Investors is too big an enterprise to be described here. Write for detail literature. Get the facts NOW while you have time to buy at the starting prices. Values will advance at Port Edward as rapidly as they did at Prince Rupert. Port Edward's future is assured. The great Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Co. has selected Port Edward for its big plant and is installing now. Other big Canadian industries are negotiating for sites now. Port Edward has one of the finest harbors on the Pacific of a natural type; it has seven times the docking capacity per unit of waterfront that Prince Rupert has; it lies on the mainland and the main line of the G. T. P. runs straight through it, fifteen minutes running time from Prince Rupert. Port Edward has been laid out by expert engineers to meet the needs of an industrial annex and it is 100 per cent. efficient with absolutely modern facilities in every regard. Development work is now going on.

Be alive to this opportunity. Prince Rupert and Port Edward are distributing points for a literal empire, the richest and most varied in all Canada. The G. T. P. and the Panama Canal, now on the eve of materialization, will throw it open to the world.

Canada has not yet grasped the significance of the development of the Great North Pacific, a kingdom any king might be proud of, a mine of treasure incalculable, unguessed. The next few years will see it startle the world.

People will rush to it in armies. YOU HAVE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO ANTICIPATE IT, IF YOU ARE BROAD ENOUGH, AND TO REAP THE PROFITS INVOLVED.

Port Edward Townsite has the backing and the approval of the Grand Trunk Pacific. A contract has been entered into assuring complete service to this new industrial centre, but even were there no contract the railroad company's attitude would be the same. There is no room for an adverse opinion about Port Edward.

But don't try to make up your mind one way or another from the few brief facts given here. Clip out the coupon and mail it at once to either of the general sales agents. This will not obligate you in the slightest degree, but it will bring to you the whole story of Port Edward and enable you to learn just what this great industrial centre has to offer YOU.

Big Profits Made at Prince Rupert

Prince Rupert began its career much less auspiciously than its Industrial Annex, Port Edward. Had you, reader, realized what was about to take place at Prince Rupert in 1909, you would have invested a few thousand dollars that would have made for you a fortune in a year or two. There were numerous instances where as high as 600 per cent. profit was made on original investments and the average was 300 per cent. Yet people said that Prince Rupert could not possibly be a good investment. Values at Prince Rupert are still climbing and will continue to do so because real development has only just begun. It is a new country, with new ideas and you must readjust your estimate of things in general if you would understand it. Port Edward offers you the same opportunity now that Prince Rupert offered five years ago. Are you going to look into it thoroughly, or not?

The building is nearing completion. Work has been started on the erection of a power house, for which $183,000 has been appropriated, which is to be completed in August of this year. Altogether there are 125 men or more employed on the townsite.

While the harbor is not nearly as large as that of Prince Rupert, it is of sufficient size to accommodate the largest ocean going vessels. It is two miles long with a turning basin 2,000 feet across. At the entrance to the harbor there is a passage 550 feet wide with a depth of 36 feet at the lowest spring tides. One of the great advantages of the harbor is the possibility of building pier wharves. These can be built at an angle of 45 degrees to a length of 600 feet. At low water there will be a depth of 36 feet at the outer end and 26 feet at the inner end with little dredging. Eleven such piers are available, giving a combined docking length of 14,320 feet.

Columns and pages could be written in praise of the numerous advantages that Port Edward possesses as an industrial townsite. All that it lacks is the industries themselves to make it a scene of enterprise and activity and there seems little doubt that with the completion of the G. T. P., the opening of the Panama Canal and the development that is taking place all through Northern British Columbia these will come with almost unheard of rapidity.

LAIRD O' DRUMBAIG
Jack Stewart Buys Scotch Estate from Duke of Sutherland.

The Duke of Sutherland has sold the land of Drumbaig, in the southwest of Sutherland, to Mr. J. W. Stewart, the Canadian railway contractor. The lands extend to several thousand acres, mostly grouse moor. The Duke of Sutherland's Scottish estates are not in the market, but Mr. Stewart, who was born in Assynt, has succeeded in acquiring Drumbaig by private negotiations.

NOME DOG RACES
Gabriel's Team Wins in Dash from Solomon to Council.

NOME, Alaska, March 22.—The 100 mile dog team race over the snow trail from Solomon to Council was won by the Gabriel dogs in 12 hours 40 minutes and 30 seconds. Christiansen was second and Akuguk, a native driver, third. The race was close, the three teams running together all the way.

The 412 mile all-Alaska sweep-stake dog team race, the classic event of the north, probably will be run April 3. The purse will be $4,000, of which $2,000 was raised by a Kirmess held recently.
