MONTENEGRINS DEFYING POWERS—GERMANY SUPPORTING AUSTRIA—FLOODS IN MANITOBA

POWERS FORCE THEIR DEMAND THAT HOSTILITIES MUST CEASE

GERMANY JOINS DEMONSTRATION ON MONTENEGRIN COAST
AT THE REQUEST OF AUSTRIA—ALLIES DETERMINED TO TAKE SCUTARI.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, April 5.—The allies have again deferred a reply to the demand of the powers for a cessation of hostilities and say they are unable to do so until Scutari has been taken. Another note was yesterday wired to the allies insisting upon an immediate compliance with the demands made by the powers. Meantime a flotilla of battleships representing the powers has been formed and will start today to make a demonstration on the Montenegrin coast, which will no doubt end the hostilities so far as that country is concerned at least.

Germany's position in Balkan affairs was outlined in detail yesterday by Gottlieb von Jagow, the German Foreign Minister.

Germany, he said, is participating in the naval demonstration on the Montenegrin coast at the wish of Austria. The powers' decision is final, he added, that Montenegro shall not have Scutari.

Herr von Jagow is endeavoring to obtain a settlement of the question of the future of the Turkish Islands in the Aegean sea, which will not endanger Turkey's Asiatic possessions where Germany wishes to preserve existing conditions.

The terms of mediation offered by the European Powers to Turkey and the Balkan Allies were:

1.—The frontier of the Ottoman Empire in Europe shall start at Enos, and following the course of the Maritsa River, and then that of the Egriene, shall end at Midia. All territories situated west of this line shall be ceded by Turkey to the Allies, with the exception of Albania, the delimitation of which shall be fixed by the Powers.

2.—The question of the Aegean Islands shall be settled by the Powers.

3.—Turkey shall abandon all claims to Crete.

4.—The Powers cannot favorably entertain the demand for indemnity, but will admit the Allies to participate in the discussions of the international commission for an equitable settlement of their participation in the Ottoman debt and in the financial charges on the districts to be handed over to them. Turkey is to be asked to take part in the labors of this commission.

ROBBING PETER TO PAY PAUL.

Of all the arguments pro and con on the naval bill we find in our exchanges, none better has been found than Mr. L. W. Patmore's reply Thursday night, before the local Liberal association, to Borden's bug-a-boos British emergency.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED?

Every qualified person who wishes to vote at the next Provincial or Dominion election must register anew. The fact that your name is on the old list makes no difference, as all the old Provincial and Dominion voters' lists have been cancelled. Those who fail to register will have no voice in the public affairs of the country.

Registration must be made on or before April 7th, 1913. Registration forms can be secured at the following places or from persons named:

He showed that Great Britain is now paying off her national debt at the rate of fifty-five millions annually, and for Borden to borrow $35,000,000 from England, then add that and its accruing interest to the national debt of Canada, would be simply to assist the British taxpayers to pay off their national debt by just that amount. See the point?

CAN CANADA DO
NOTHING LIKE THIS.

Are we to believe that in business capacity and power of organization Canadians are inferior to Americans? The upholders of the Borden naval policy and of the Admiralty memoranda concocted in support of that policy cannot escape from the position of deat Madrid. The document is stamped with the seals of the second empire, and is dated September 4, 1870. It places the value of the jewels, which were presents from European sovereigns to Empress Eugenie, at 4,600,000 francs, and the money at 200,000 francs. Close to the bottle a skeleton was unearthed.

Knowledge of Alcohol.

In answer to a question raised by a physician, in the New York Medical Record, as to why medical men should "swamp" the daily newspapers with articles on the hygienic and medical uses of alcohol instead of sending them to the medical journals, Dr. J. M. W. Kitchen, of New Jersey, replied as follows:

The writer is hardly in accord with Dr. Jacobi's criticism of professional writing on alcoholism in the lay press, for it really seems as if the general public is calling on the medical profession to make a more definite statement as to the physical effects on the human body of the moderate use of alcohol than has yet been declared.

We want a generous discussion of the following propositions:

1. The habitual use of alcohol in small quantities, which to superficial observation does no harm, really does physical damage by inducing a habit of dilation of the arterioles with secondary results due to throwing undue pressure on various organs.

2. Any individual using alcohol even in small doses is in the grasp of the alcohol habit and is injured in proportion to the amount ingested and to the regularity of the indulgence.

3. Under all ordinary conditions of health, any physical advantage due to the pleasure of the indulgence or to the nutritive effects of alcohol is far outweighed by its evil effects which are not perceived immediately but are cumulative.

4. The primary physiological effect of apparent stimulation is only the beginning of paralysis due to the coagulative effect of the alcohol on cell peripheries, and deepening the effect to the cell centres reduces vital activity in the cell.

5. So-called moderation results, in the vast majority of cases, in indulgence that is measurably immoderate, and usually shortens life and weakens self-control.

The question that is now before society for its decision is whether society must suffer the consequences of the grossly ignorant and damaging use of alcohol in order that those who are would support a flag ceremony, or, better still, a talk once a week to the children in every school about the greatness of their own country. Before this could be done, it might be as well to have it decided whether there is really a Canadian flag or not. If there is not, there should be. The only basis on which we can create a united nation in Canada is to give the citizen a common flag—not the British flag. That is the Empire flag. We want a Canadian flag as well.

passed away and I betook myself to literature, hoping that I should not only equal, but that I should rival many in mental accomplishments. Other things were before me and other things passed away, because, do what I would, I was called to another career; and now I find myself, at the end of a long life, not a philosopher, not an author, but simply an old man who has endeavored to do his duty in that state of life to which it has pleased God to call him."

INFLUENCE OF ITALY
ON BRITISH THOUGHT

DR. FRASER HARRIS, OF DALHOUSIE, IN A SCHOLARLY ADDRESS BEFORE THE CANADIAN CLUB, DEALS WITH INFLUENCE ON COMMERCE, ART, MUSIC, LITERATURE AND SCIENCE

Dr. D. Fraser Harris, professor of physiology at Dalhousie University, recently delivered his illustrated lecture, "The Influence of Italy on British Thought," before the Canadian Club at the School for the Blind. An audience that filled the auditorium, both floor and galleries, listened to a scholarly and charming presentation of a phase of Italy's history that appeals most strongly to the student of that romantic land.

The value of Dalhousie University intellectually to Halifax was emphasized while listening to Dr. Harris, and appreciation of the privilege of having the college as a source from which to draw such learned lecturers as the speaker of last night was felt by the audience.

Dr. Mackay Presided.

Dr. A. H. MacKay, president of the club, was chairman. At the close of the lecture Mr. J. A. Chisholm and Hon. George E. Faulkner expressed the thanks of the audience in neat speeches. A number of Dalhousie students of second year medicine officiated as ushers.

Equally humanistic, and therefore of Italian origin, was the learning acquired by Queen Elizabeth, Lady Jane Grey, the Countess of Bedford, the Countess of Pembroke, the mother of Francis Bacon, and Mary Queen of Scots.

This enthusiasm for learning for its own sake, though scarcely so widespread in England as in Italy, still deeply and fruitfully affected the best English minds.

Shakespeare's Debt to Italy.

Turning now to literature, nearly every one knows that the influence of Italy on Great Britain, whether by "influence" we mean a political or an intellectual one. If we except musical compositions, then, in the estimation of most people, it would seem that certain modes of cooking, waiters, marble angels, table tops, street pianolas, ice creams and products for the Italian warehousemen would comprise the contributions to British life emanating from that fascinating peninsula.

The fact is that most of us have no adequate notion of the magnitude of our indebtedness to Italy even in the handling of merchandise and all manner of trading, ad yet our everyday language is full of testimonies to it.

Commercial Influence.

Do not f.s.d. stand for livri, soldi, denari, although we call them "pounds, shillings and pence"? Journal is but "giornale," bank and bankrupt are "banco" and "banconotto," while the very form of the word "company" on the notes of the Bank of England today is an Italian and not an English form at all ("compagnie"). To those of us who know Lucca at the present time, it is almost ludicrous to think of it lending our King Edward I funds wherewith to meet his part of the expenses of the Crusades.

Not only was there much commercial reciprocity between England and Italy in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, but the galleyes of Genoa and Venice carried more merchandise to and from the shores of England than did all the English ships taken together. Italy taught England how to trade, she has certainly bettered the instruction.

Art and Music.

It is a commonplace of knowledge that art in Italy was magnificent when elsewhere it was scarcely born, and long after, when Germany, France, and The Netherlands had each its own school of painting, the education of no artist was complete until he had stretched his canvas under the Italian sunny sky.

But what is true of painting is equally true of the allied arts of decoration in stone, wood and plaster. Some of the choicest bits of ecclesiastical architecture in England—Henry VII's chapel in Westminster Abbey and King's College, Cambridge—are not native work at all, but Italian, while most beautiful plaster mouldings on the ceilings of many English and Scottish mansions—Holyrood Palace, to name only one—were fashioned and fixed there by Italian hands.

Coming next at a post planted near an old construction camp, mile post 135, there south 80 chains, east 80 chains, north 80 chains, west 80 chains to place of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
