PRINCESS MARY AND HER FATHER, KING GEORGE, AT ALDERSHOT

This fine drawing by Mantania in the London Sphere is the latest portrait of his majesty, King George and his daughter, Princess Mary, who looked charming in her riding costume at Aldershot during the opening days of the week. She accompanied her father from point to point on horseback, during his inspection of the army. There is some talk of Princess Mary coming to Canada for a short visit with the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, if they return to Rideau Hall.

MILITANTS ARE MAD AS MARCH HARES.

ettes died this week, her death being caused by the craziest action that could ever enter a mad woman's brain. The idea of a woman being able to stop a race horse going at the speed of an express train! They are all mad, these militant suffragettes, mad as March hares. There is no doubt about it at all. They want the vote; therefore they will poison a prize dog. They want the vote; therefore they will, if possible, kill the Derby winner. They want the vote; therefore they will kidnap one of the children of one of the warmest advocates of woman suffrage. They want the vote: therefore they will destroy the National Gallery. They want the vote; therefore they will burn churches and boathouses. They want the vote; therefore they will do any mad thing which suggests itself to the maddest of them all.

It is no answer to the claim that these women are mad to say they are quite sane in other respects. Mirabeau. Danton. Marat, Robespierre and the other friends of the French Revolution were sane enough in ordinary matters and some of them were even personally amiable; but the first taste of blood made them become insane, and their rapacity for slaughter became insatiable. The militant suffragists are like them. They had a taste of destruction, and their appetite for it is growing. If ever they get a taste of blood ment should have insisted upon detailed statement of the financial operations of William Mackenzie and Sir Donald D. Mann in connection with their railroad schemes. What is the relationship between the Canadian Northern Railway and Mackenzie Mann, Limited? What connection have the two magnates with the construction firms and to what extent do they financially interest themselves in the railroads so liberally assisted?

The financial operations of the C. P. R. and Grand Trun companies are well known, but a mystery surrounds the ramifications and methods of the two knights who have accomplished so much on the friend ly foundation of public credit and subsidies.

Stops the Swing

When Summer

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion-momentum.

If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing, you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre."

Winning trade follows the same natural laws.

Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point.

If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum.

The moral of which is:

Don't stop the business swing in Summer. Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part-so write, if interested.
