

NANAIMO STRIKERS QUIET SINCE TROOPS LANDED

PRESIDENT WILSON APOLOGIZES TO GREAT BRITAIN--CYCLONE WIPES OUT MANITOBA TOWN

THE TAX RATE IS KEPT LOW; JUST OVER FOURTEEN MILLS

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE CONCERNING ESTIMATES FOR 1913 AND THE RATE OF TAXATION WAS PRESENTED LAST NIGHT.

After receiving the report of the mayor the council last evening considered the report of the finance committee concerning the estimates for 1913 and the proposed rate of taxation. The tax rate is being kept at a low figure, the net rate being 14.40 mills, the report read as follows:

The Mayor and Aldermen, City Hall.

Respectfully submitted,
G. R. NADEN,
DOUGLAS SUTHERLAND,
Finance Committee.

fund and used only for extensions of these utilities.

It will be noted that provision has to be made for the sum of $55,283.72 on account of over-draft and overexpenditures last year. The rate recommended for this year is such as is felt will cover all our current expenses for the year, with a margin for contingencies.

On Alderman Naden's motion it was decided to proceed with the estimates, allowing for the further consideration at the next meeting of all items in dispute. During the consideration of the estimates the mayor called the attention of Alderman Bullock-Webster, as a member of last year's finance committee, to the fact that the present council had to take care of $55,000 of overdue accounts left by the council of last year.

Alderman Bullock-Webster questioned a vote of $5,000 for incidentals, wanting to know what it covered. The mayor replied that it included provision for the expenses of the city solicitor and himself to the eastern cities and to England on their financial mission.

The items in dispute will be further discussed at the meeting of the council next Monday evening.

MORE TROOPS BEING SENT TO STRIKE ZONE ABOUT NANAIMO

RIOTING FEARED AT CUMBERLAND—YESTERDAY WAS QUIET AFTER ARRIVAL OF TROOPS—DAMAGE ALREADY DONE BY THE STRIKERS.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Nanaimo, Aug. 15.—The following troops have arrived here: Ninety men of the permanent force at Work Point, with one Maxim gun; one hundred and forty men of the Fifth Canadian Garrison Artillery; seventy-eight of the Eighth Fusiliers. All are carrying ball cartridges and have a full camp equipment with ammunition wagons and so forth.

The outstanding features of the strike situation show that Alexander Baxter was shot and killed yesterday.

The pit leadings and bunk-houses at Extension have been burned, and the store at Extension wrecked and looted.

Forty strike breakers are besieged in the tunnel.

Number one mine at Nanaimo has been shut down and is being flooded.

The South Wellington mine has been shut down and is being flooded.

The railway bridge has been blown up and a locomotive dumped.

Several strike breakers' homes have been destroyed.

The Temperance Hotel at Ladysmith has been burned down.

All the Chinese residents have been ordered out of town.

The special police had several times to beat a retreat.

The Ladysmith Herald has been intimidated and forced to suspend publication.

When the troops reached Extension, where the armed strikers then had fifty non-unionists besieged in a tunnel, most of the strikers retreated to the bush and the besieged were relieved. They were in a deplorable state, having been without food or water for many hours. Also, as most of them are foreigners, they were almost paralyzed with fear.

The day was a quiet one after the troops arrived, although it was feared that the arrival of the militia would be strongly resented by the armed strikers and that there was certain to be bloodshed.

It is rumored that some militia have been sent to Cumberland, as rioting is feared there. H. M. S. Shearwater is lying off the wharf with her bluejackets ready to land at a moment's notice.

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—Local regiments slept last night in their service uniforms at the drill hall, awaiting further orders to proceed to the strike zone. As soon as the Princess Patricia returns from Nanaimo the Highlanders will embark and proceed either to Nanaimo or Cumberland, taking a machine gun with them.

The Seventy-second Highlanders sailed for Nanaimo at 11:30 last night. The Sixth regiment is being held in readiness.

REPORT OF MAYOR PATTULLO ON HIS MISSION TO ENGLAND

G.T.P. is Ready to Join with Province in Guaranteeing Bonds--- Hon. W. R. Ross is Coming up to Survey the Situation for Government

The council chamber of the city hall yesterday evening was for a second time thronged with people who had gathered to hear the mayor announce the result of his trip to the London money market "in quest of the golden fleece."

This time they heard a report, which, if it spoke of the situation in the money market in sombre tones, had a brighter note in it when it referred to Prince Rupert. It would seem from the report, as Alderman Naden said when tendering the congratulations of the council to the mayor on the efficient manner in which he had conducted his trip, that "while Mayor Pattullo has not brought back a million dollars in his pocket the general tenor of the report appears to indicate something good."

It would look as if the mayor had some negotiations still under way and is waiting for a final word before he announces their nature. It might also be surmised from the report that these negotiations may depend to some extent on the decision of the government whether it will join with the Grand Trunk Pacific in guaranteeing the city's bonds. Prospects of this look bright, as Premier McBride has stated that Hon. W. R. Ross will leave shortly to look over the situation.

On the whole the report struck a cheerful note and gave hint of a measure of success which is all the more deserving of praise in face of the very great difficulties with which the mayor and city solicitor had to contend.

Bullock-Webster Bellows.

Nothing, however, is good enough for some people. When Alderman Naden moved that the report be adopted there was strong dissent from one quarter. Alderman Bullock-Webster metaphorically charged into the ring and bellowed his bovine defiance at the chief magistrate of the city. To him the report was nothing less than a red rag which made him (again speaking in metaphor) paw the ground, curl his tail in the air and lower his horns for combat. But he was finally roped and hogtied by the mayor in less time than the slickest cowpuncher that ever whirled a grass rope could bump a long horned Mexican steer.

"Having heard what you have to say, Mr. Mayor," bellowed the bullock, as he brandished his tail in the air, "I must say that you have proved yourself a deplorable failure as the fiscal agent of the city. Having persuaded the citizens into believing in your ability and having got the council to grant you almost unlimited powers, you went to Europe. While there you were given carte blanche as to your actions and availed yourself of this to the utmost. You kept the citizens during all the time of your absence in absolute ignorance as to what you were doing, and acted throughout in a most autocratic manner. As an executive head of the council you are a failure."

When the bullock had finished his bellowing and had relapsed into a state of mere foaming and slobbering, the mayor made a speedy descent on him that settled his business very nicely.

Mayor Pattullo spoke in quite untruffled tones and with, in deed, an almost steely urbanity. "I do not feel at all hurt by Alderman Bullock-Webster's remarks," he said, "for they are the result of ignorance."

The report of the mayor reads as follows:

The Report.

Gentlemen:

In accordance with resolution of the council, the city solicitor and myself proceeded to Chicago, Montreal and London in connection with the city's finances.

At Chicago we interviewed the solicitor for the purchasers of the bonds which were recently sold to a Toledo firm and were able to somewhat expedite matters.

At Montreal we had several interviews with the general manager of the Bank of Montreal, who confirmed previous information as to the financial situation but advised us to go to London, which we did.

In London we had many conferences with the manager of

PLEASURE IN GRIM QUARTERS; JOY RIDERS STEAL A HEARSE

BUNCH OF CONVIVIAL YOUTHS DROVE OFF WITH AN UNDERTAKER'S VAN WHICH WAS LEFT STANDING ON THE STREET FOR A FEW MINUTES.

Seattle, Aug. 12.—Reports of stolen automobiles for joy riding purposes are a frequent occurrence at police headquarters, but the report that capped the climax was received last night when the driver of the dead wagon for the Rosenberg Undertaking Company complained to the police that someone has stolen his team and wagon.

He left the team and wagon standing for a few minutes at First avenue and Pike street, and when he returned the horses and wagon were gone. He heard rumors among the crowd that a bunch of convivial youths had driven off with the grim equipage, but was unable to obtain a description.

Among those who have been unable to resist the call to the newly discovered placer fields at Shushanna is F. W. Renworth, who until a few weeks ago was engaged in the boot and shoe business in this city. For several weeks past the call of the north has been sounding in his ears and he has finally made up his mind to try his fortune. Mr. Renworth is extremely lucky in securing as a partner in the venture Jack McDonald, a well known miner who has a number of claims in the Kitselas district. Before starting on the trip, which is a trying one, Mr. Renworth will spend a couple of weeks in the hills around Kitselas getting his muscles in shape for the long hike. His many friends here wish him the best of luck.

THE MAYOR'S REPORT.

There would seem to be strong indications in Mayor Pattullo's report of his trip to England that he has some good news in store for the city. The probability is that he has negotiations under way which depend to some extent for their success on the agreement of the Provincial government and Grand Trunk Pacific to guarantee the city's bonds.

As is shown in the report, Mayor Pattullo was successful while in London in persuading Mr. Smithers to offer, on behalf of the Grand Trunk Development Company, to join with the Provincial government in guaranteeing this city's municipal bonds to meet the present emergency.

While Premier McBride did not at first see his way clear to consent to become a partner in this agreement, it would appear as if, in light of later occurrences, perhaps, he had changed his mind when in consultation with Mayor Pattullo at Victoria. However that may be, he has at any rate wired to say that Hon. W. R. Ross would shortly come here to investigate the situation. We may surely expect that the government will see no reason for treating the chief city of the north with any less favor than it has shown to the cities of the south.

The mayor had, as his report shows, the greatest of difficulties to contend with. His mission was pronounced hopeless by the general manager of the Bank of Montreal, an authority whose opinion on financial matters should have some weight. But, after all his arduous labors, he appears to be within reach of success. It looks as if he may be able to rescue the city completely from the tight place in which it was put by last year's maladministration and establish it on a sound financial basis.

All the citizens of Prince Rupert look forward with keen interest to the day when it may be both possible and judicious for Mayor Pattullo to make a further announcement. And when that announcement comes it may be safely expected that it will show the citizens of Prince Rupert that they made no mistake in sending a man of such integrity and ability as the present mayor to further their interests abroad.

EXPLANATION OF STRAIN ON BOTH CAPITAL AND CREDIT

LONDON FINANCIAL PAPERS DISCUSS PRESENT SITUATION IN THE MONEY MARKET—STATIST SAYS THIS IS GOOD TIME TO INVEST.

Every one knows that recent strains of capital and credit have been largely brought about by demands incident to the cost of wars and armament.

It is figured that the Balkan struggle has cost approximately $1,250,000,000, and the London Economist, which argues that it is high time for war loans, so-called, to cease, points out that during the last nine months Roumania has expended about $60,000,000 on mobilization and armaments, while Austro-Hungary and Russia have provided $200,000,000 for the like purposes.

The Economist indicates that the war has been made a ground or pretext for a capital levy of $250,000,000 in Germany, a capital expenditure out of loans of, perhaps, $125,000,000 in France, and a large increase in the army estimates of France, Germany and Russia.

The Kingdom of Italy, which started the trouble by its attack upon Tripoli, has also suffered heavily, and it is not difficult to see why the banking resources of Europe are just now undergoing a severe strain.

The English paper named does not like the situation in Brazil, and it contends that the fall in rubber and coffee hits the two principal export articles.

The situation in Argentina is also characterized as giving anxiety, though it is remarked that in the absence of any specific causes the apprehensions are merely due to monetary difficulties caused by the general scarcity of liquid funds.

It is likewise pointed out that similar uneasiness is felt about

Canada, where land sales have fallen off heavily, while the period of easy borrowing in London for municipal and other purposes has come to an end.

The journal quoted says that financial depression also reigns in the United States; that the civil war in Mexico drags on; that the hopes of settled government in China are again disappearing, and that Japanese finances are in no condition to permit of further military adventures.

A country where tariff prices are already high and where income tax runs up to about 5s in the pound sterling requires a long dose of peace and retrenchment if it wishes to preserve its financial autonomy and its credit abroad.

Though rather gloomy, the Economist admits there are bright spots here and there, noting that India is very prosperous, that the world's crops promise well and that English mills and merchants and shipowners are still busy.

On the other hand, the London Statist takes a more temperate view of affairs. It is conservatively optimistic, and declares that it sees no reason for either overcaution or over venturesomeness.

It hopes that international politics are at last settling down.

It is inclined to think the autumn may not be so trying a time as a little while ago it seemed to be, and, therefore, it thinks those will be doing good business who, having money to spare, take advantage of the present low level of quotations to invest at least a portion of their available funds.

PATIENT AT ASYLUM IS BLAMED FOR FIRE

Demented Woman Is Suspected—She Died from Burns Received.

Brockville, Aug. 11.—Last night the barns of the Stag farm, north of Brockville, acquired some time ago by the government as an addition to the lands of the Eastern Hospital for the Insane, were burned, with their contents, including a quantity of hay, grain and implements. The fire is supposed to have been the work of Margaret Sullivan, a patient.

She was detected near the barn where the blaze started and was so badly burned that she succumbed to her injuries a few hours later. Damage was done to the extent of about $4,000, with no insurance.

REGAINS SPEECH AS RESULT OF EXCITEMENT OF CRICKET

BOY CONCEALED HIS RESTORATION FROM ALL AROUND HIM UNTIL HE HAD WRITTEN TO HIS MOTHER ANNOUNCING HIS FORTUNE.

London, Aug. 11.—After being dumb for ten years, a Leeds boy found the power of speech restored to him yesterday during the excitement of a cricket match. Not less remarkable was the boy's conduct in concealing the restoration of speech from all around him until he had written a letter to his mother, breaking the news.

The youth, while trying to get an extra run, found himself trying to shout. He even thought he heard his own voice, and, much puzzled, stole away to the woods after the match was over and there found that his voice was restored.

For a long time he remained talking to himself, and getting a sound then went back and without telling anyone what had happened wrote to his mother. He became dumb after an attack of influenza years ago. The doctor predicted that he would probably regain his speech even after the lapse of years.

WELL, WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THIS?

It is an actual photo of a "creation" recently seen on one of the French race tracks. It was worn by a prominent society lady, not a mannequin.

INVENTS INFERNAL MACHINE TO TERRIFY A SOCIETY GIRL

EXPERTS EXAMINE ELECTRICAL CONTRIVANCE INVENTED BY YOUNG CRIMINAL TO FRIGHTEN GIRL INTO GIVING HIM MONEY.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 11.—In the presence of electrical experts, federal officers and detectives here today was demonstrated what was declared to be perhaps the most remarkable death dealing machine invented in recent years.

The invention is the work of W. L. Cummings, 23, who confessed to federal and municipal officers when he was arrested that he threatened to use it to destroy Miss Dorothy Bamberger, a wealthy society girl, unless she gave him $1,000.

What is held to be of more importance, the invention, it is said, can be turned to the saving of life by preventing train or ship collisions.

Electricians took the machine into a steel and concrete vault in an office building. Another part of the contrivance, on which were mounted a bell and an incandescent globe, was placed in a closed room across a hall. Then the electric current of the machine was turned on. On the unattached box in the other room the bell rang and the lamp glowed brightly.

In his acknowledged letter to Miss Bamberger, Cummings sent a diagram of his invention, saying he would place a suitcase of nitroglycerin in her room and explode it from a distance.

The demonstration today, say the electrical experts, proves that he could have accomplished this.

In speaking of his invention as he sat in his cell, Cummings said the attachment could be installed in locomotive cabs, where it would give a positive signal if a train ran past a closed block signal.

The prisoner told the police he had been induced to try to blackmail Miss Bamberger by two other men, who, he believed, were members of a New York gang of blackmailers.

BRITAIN'S FAIR POLICY

Why She Will Not Exhibit at the Panama Exposition.

It is estimated that the Panama-Pacific fair will represent a total expenditure of $50,000,000, including appropriations by the nation, the state and counties of California, the city of San Francisco, various states and foreign nations and individual exhibitors.

In the last fifty years it is safe to say the United States government has contributed over $30,000,000 in aid of expositions, domestic and foreign. For all the while this country has been organizing local and national celebrations in the guise of industrial shows, from the Mediterranean to the North Sea Europe has shown the same zeal. It is a form of enterprise of which Great Britain has been more chary than many other countries, so that her complaint in this case is in keeping with her general policy at home.

CATTLE IMPRISONED GIRLS IN AUTOMOBILE

Five Lost on Prairie Spend Night Surrounded by Thousands in Herd.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 11.—Five girls in a touring car, lost on the prairie between Muskogee and Chelsea, Thursday night, were caught in a big cattle herd which held them and the car when the cattle broke up. The girls are May McSpadden, Lizzie Sharpe and Viola Milliam of Chelsea and Misses Smith and Rucker of Claremont.

They had decided to drive from Rucker's ranch to Muskogee, sixty miles. They lost the road and darkness caught them on a wide prairie. The motor went wrong and the big herd of cattle began to mill around the machine. There were thousands in the herd. The frightened cattle were jammed so close to the car that at times it almost tipped over. The cattle dispersed after daylight.

TAKES CARBOLIC AND TELEPHONES FOR AID

Husband's Employer Arrives in Time to See Her Fall—Doctors are Powerless.

Edmonton, Aug. 11.—At 10:30 in the morning, in her rooms over the City Meat Market, 34 Whyte avenue east, South Side, Mrs. Lund took two ounces of carbolio acid, from the effects of which she will probably die in the South Side Hospital within an hour, although medical men are working upon her to endeavor to avert the consequences of the fluid.

The attempted suicide was remarkable in its deliberateness. At a few minutes before the hour stated her husband's employer, Mr. Bridge, of Bridge & Joyce, carpenter contractors, received a phone message from the woman that he was wanted at the Lund rooms over the meat market. When he arrived the woman met him at the door.

"What is the matter?" he asked. "Suicide, I guess," the woman replied.

Doctors were called. In a moment the woman dropped and notwithstanding that doctors and the ambulance were called and that she was taken to the hospital, where she got every possible treatment, there is practically no hope for her recovery.

THE KING'S SYMPATHY

Sent to Wife of F. S. Cody, the Aviator.

London, Aug. 11.—King George conveyed yesterday to Mrs. Cody and her sons his sincere sympathy and sorrow at the death of F. S. Cody, the aviator.

The King telegraphed: "I have received with profound regret the news of the death of Mr. Cody. I saw him on several occasions at Aldershot and I always appreciated his dogged, determined and dauntless courage. His loss will be much felt at Aldershot, where he did so much for military aviation."

AGED VETERAN DIES

Fought Under William Lyon Mackenzie.

Edmonton, Aug. 11.—John Wilkinson, 103 years old, died at the Royal Alexandra Hospital last night. He was born in Ireland and came to Canada with his parents when he was 5 years old. They located at York, now Ontario. He fought in the rebellion of 1837-8 under William Lyon Mackenzie. He was a member of the Orange Lodge for 77 years and a Mason for 80. His oldest son died last year at the age of 79.

It is a waste of time to argue with a fool.

the Bank of Montreal there, and his immediate advice was that we were face to face with an impossible situation, which subsequent investigation confirmed.

We also had numerous consultations with Mr. Smithers of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Mr. Smithers further confirmed the advice already received, but at the same time promised us every assistance, and did, as a matter of fact, go so far as to offer, on behalf of the Grand Trunk Development Company, to join with the government in guaranteeing our bonds to meet the present emergency.

I cabled to Hon. Sir Richard McBride, the prime minister of the province, asking for the guarantee of a million dollars for five years, which would have been placed privately, but received a reply stating that my proposal could not be acceded to.

During our sojourn in London we had good opportunity to study carefully the situation at close quarters, and it may be said that the situation in London has hardly been so acute in many years. The Balkan situation was a source of constant irritation; there was a general uneasiness as to how the half yearly settlements would be met, and added to this was the uncertainty of the Rand strike, which, if unsettled, would have demoralized the London market.

To this general condition must be added the specific one of a distaste for Canadian municipals at this time, due to a variety of reasons, and much aggravated by indiscreet remarks which had been made advising investors to leave Canadian municipals severely alone.

A further depressing effect was that with few exceptions practically all Canadian municipals had dropped in value, in some instances as much as ten points, while others were practically non-negotiable at any price.

Even under favorable conditions the situation would have been sufficiently difficult in view of the large number of undigested securities in the London market. The truth is that there have been more offerings than London, even under the best of conditions, could readily take care of, and when the general uneasiness is taken into consideration it is not surprising that the purse strings should be tightened.

Prince Rupert securities have suffered in common with other municipalities as well as specifically. It has happened that a considerable number of financial men in London have visited Vancouver and Victoria, but have not visited Prince Rupert, and their visit to Vancouver and Victoria did not, I am sorry to say, add to their good opinion of Prince Rupert. We were able to throw considerable enlightenment in this direction, with, I think, advantage all round; nevertheless the fact still remains that in considering municipal securities as a form of investment underwriters will the more readily handle securities of a city of 50,000 to 100,000 or more people than those of a city of 6,000 because the situation by reason of population calls for no explanations.

Every day issues are bought and sold in London the integrity of which, in my opinion, is on nothing like as solid foundations as Prince Rupert, yet the market will not look upon our debentures with the same degree of favor as upon the debentures of older and larger cities, a circumstance which we must realize and take means to adjust.

At the present moment an immense territory is being opened up in Northern British Columbia, of which Prince Rupert is the metropolis. Already in this present stage of development the southern portion of the province has profited in a commercial way by hundreds of thousands of dollars from Northern B. C., while the exchequer of the province has profited likewise by hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The government of the province has guaranteed terminal facilities in the southern cities, and also is assisting a joint sewer scheme. There can be no doubt that this assistance is given because it is thought necessary to do so in order to secure a larger and quicker development, as well as to protect the public health.

It is quite as essential that the government should come to the assistance of Prince Rupert in order that we may have at this time not boulevarded streets, parks, etc., but the essentials to do business at all—namely, sewers, water and traversible streets.

The position of Prince Rupert is entirely unique and the government as joint owners with the Grand Trunk of the townsites have a ver special interest at stake, as well as duty therein, and entirely apart from the general principal of assistance it would seem to be the part of wisdom, as a business precaution, for the government to protect its own interests as well as those of the city at large.

Before I left Prince Rupert at all I asked the government to join with the Grand Trunk in guaranteeing our bonds. All that I have since learned accentuates not only the desirability but the necessity of this course. Here we are building the terminal of a great transcontinental railroad, compelled by force of circumstances, though having a population of only 6,000, to provide for a large city. Though only four years old we have not only been paying our own way, but have been assisting with large amounts the southern portion of the province. We are thoroughly capable of continuing to pay our own way, but it is not asking too much to request a guarantee which will enable us to secure the necessary finances to carry out urgent public works during this formative period in order that we may be in a position to properly take care of the people and trade which are certain to come here upon the completion of the railroad next year.

The building of a terminal such as Prince Rupert is extraordinary and ought to be met fairly on its merits and without timidity.

Having these things in view and knowing the situation as I do I interviewed Sir Richard McBride, the prime minister of the province, as Victoria.

I am pleased to say that the prime minister listened carefully to our representations, and not only did he appreciate the emergency of the situation but freely admitted the special claims of Prince Rupert.

At his request I submitted our requirements in writing, and he suggested that it would probably be necessary to send some one up here to look over the situation, with a view to verifying the urgency of our claims. Since returning to Prince Rupert I have received a telegram from Sir Richard McBride stating that Hon. W. R. Ross was leaving soon to look over the situation. It will take little argument to show Mr. Ross the necessities of the situation. For instance, take the matter of sewers. At the present time we cannot give connection in the business section, while many of the residential sections are entirely without sewer accommodation. It will take a year to instal the proposed trunks and another year to instal laterals under the best of conditions, and by that time our population will in all probability have doubled. How important it is therefore that this work should start immediately is at once patent. Practically all of the work outlined for the year is equally important.

Taking into consideration the amount of private and public works under way and contemplated, and with city work progressing, there is no reason why Prince Rupert should have a dull moment between now and the completion of the railroad, besides which government assistance will save the city many thousands of dollars when we pledge our securities.

In conclusion I am free to say that I believe our trip to London will be provocative of much good. We were able to correct many misrepresentations in quarters of special value to the city, while we were fortunate in coming in contact with a considerable number of people whose influence and good will will be of distinct advantage to the city.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

T. D. PATTULLO,
Mayor of Prince Rupert.

A motion to lay the report on the table for the present was carried.
