M'LEOD VS. M'FARLANE CASE CHIEF TOPIC OF DISCUSSION

DEFENSE TRIES TO PROVE JUSTIFICATION BY WITNESSES WITH SUGGESTIVE STORIES

REV. McLEOD AND HIS WIFE BOTH IN WITNESS STAND THIS MORNING—A TRYING SCENE.

Morning Session

When the alleged slander case opened this morning the court room and passage ways were blocked to the street. Both the plaintiff and his wife gave evidence in rebuttal. In cross-examination the defendant's counsel asked about the fatherhood of a child in Woodstock and the plaintiff made a lengthy address in defence of his character. Counsel tried to prevent him but the judge allowed it, stating that a man had a right to defend his character.

Mrs. McLeod, who has not been well, was almost overcome in the box. She defended her husband's character in every respect.

At times the scene was most dramatic and His Lordship finally adjourned the case "to cool off."

Other witnesses this morning were N. J. McLeod, H. M. Doggett and R. M. McIntosh.

Yesterday Afternoon.

The first witness called yesterday afternoon was Miss Marcia Green. She stated that McFarlane had accused the Rev. McLeod of insulting one of the lady Sunday school teachers. She said she didn't believe it.

Mr. J. H. Rogers gave evidence along the same lines as Mr. McClelan about the meetings and corroborated Mr. Scott's evidence as to check affair.

Mr. R. M. McIntosh also corroborated evidence of Mr. McClelan as to meetings. Defendant met him on one occasion on Sixth Avenue and said: "Mr. McLeod is a dirty-low-down-unprincipled rascal."

Cross-examined this was in connection with defendant's dismissal from the congregation.

Mr. Manson closed the case by reading some extracts, from defendant's examination for discovery, which did not appear to tally exactly with the evidence of witnesses.

Before opening the case for the defendant Mr. Patmore asked for non-suit on one plea of slander, which he claims was not proven.

His Lordship was of the opinion that the plea was proven but contented to reserve his decision.

Addressing the jury Mr. Patmore said his client was no lily white saint such as they were supposed to believe the plaintiff was, but just an ordinary every day man with no compromise for filth. He had been made a deacon without his consent but having accepted had found causes of lukewarmness in the church, had started to fight them and had not yet let up.

As regards the $500 incident—that stood by itself—but he was prepared to prove that the improper relations with women had taken place and that the plaintiff is no fit man to be the pastor of a church.

The first witness for the defence was the girl known in this case as the Elkins girl. She is 16 years of age and lives with her married sister. She told a straightforward story. On her way from Jabour's she was called into the Brotherhood rooms by plaintiff, who offered to show her round. In the back room he discussed her weight and finally said he could lift her which he proceeded to do. He lifted her three times and she instinctively felt his action was not right and ran away. He followed her and said: "Don't tell anybody. This is our little secret."

Cross-examined she held to her story though rather strictly questioned by counsel. She had heard that plaintiff's relations with Mrs. Robinson were very improper, but did not tell her sister about how plaintiff had behaved to her till two months later.

Mrs. W. T. Robinson was then called; her husband went south about the middle of August, 1911. About that time she noticed the visits of plaintiff became more frequent and considered his conversations with her rather more affectionate than she approved of. What she considered the most serious incident was that he had told her he had a beautiful dream about her and offered to tell it. She said: "Do you talk this way to every woman you meet?" and he answered "No, only to you."

He arrived one morning about 8 o'clock with a team to take a book case she had promised him for the Brotherhood and when she met him at the top of the stairs, took both her hands and made very effusive apologies for calling so early.

Cross-examined the witness was very friendly with Mrs. McLeod, who often visited her. She also often had the McLeod children at her house and gave them candy and milk. As an active member of the Ladies' Aid there were many occasions when she had matters to discuss with the plaintiff.

She had never to break away from him but considered conversations serious and "it was a bad look he gave me."

Mr. McLeod was a little given to bantering and she herself was perhaps a little cheerful. She remembered having said at one meeting "I just love all the boys."

The defendant himself next took the stand. He was one of the first three deacons of the church and was appointed in his absence. He noticed rapid decrease in attendance, when Mr. McLeod succeeded Mr. Litch. He had attended meetings referred to by other witnesses and his opinion was that a change was needed. As a result of the second meeting and communication with Mr. Estebrook he had looked forward hopefully to a change in the Fall of 1912, right after Congress. Nothing was done however. Elkins came to him with a story about the girl and he discussed it with N. J. McLeod as previously stated. The defendant repeatedly swore that McClelan told him the Elkins story before he heard it himself from Elkins. He admits also telling the stories to Daggett but considered as the church had no constitution to prepare to call a meeting. De-

LIGHT AND TELEPHONE DEPT. SHOW PROFIT

Monthly Report from Superintendent to the Council

Supt. Duncan has submitted his monthly report to the city council for the light and telephone department. They show a good margin of profit in both services. Mayor Pattullo is particularly pleased with the light and power department which he says was in bad shape, when Superintendent Duncan took it over.

For November the earnings from the light and power were $6267.11, and the operating cost $4,740, showing a net revenue of $1,526.96.

The monthly revenue from telephones was $1999.65, with operating cost of $1,443.24, showing a profit of $556.41. For eleven months the earnings were $21,167.40, and the net revenue $6,708.26.

S.S. PRINCE GEORGE TO GO ON DRY DOCK

The Three Funnel Steamer will Take Turns in Being Laid Up

Upon her arrival in Victoria on January 4 from Prince Rupert, the Prince George, of the G.T.P. line will be withdrawn from the coast service to be repaired and overhauled. The steamer will go into dry dock there to have a number of plates removed, following a mishap in northern waters a short time back. The Prince Rupert at present making the Thursday sailings out of Victoria will be held there on her arrival, Dec. 31, and will replace the Prince George, leaving Victoria on Monday, January 5.

The Prince Albert, will be the first of the smaller boats to clear from Victoria in the new Thursday service. She will leave Victoria at 10 a.m. on New Year's Day, calling at Vancouver, and will make Prince Rupert at 4 p.m., the following Saturday. The Prince John which is now at Esquimalt, being equipped as an oil burner will be ready to make her first sailing out of Victoria for the north on Thursday, January 8. The John has been selected as the steamer which will give the Queen Charlotte Islands a fortnightly service from Victoria.

By this arrangement Prince Rupert will have the twice-a-week service all winter.

Later the Prince George will replace the Prince Rupert on the run.

The Prince Albert in making her trips from the south will arrive on Saturdays and the Prince John, being a little slower, may not get in until Sunday. The John will do all the Islands work. She will leave Sundays for Skidegate and lower island ports and be back on Wednesday to make the Massett trip. Thursday she will go to Stewart and Port Simpson.

The Monday morning sailing for the south will be changed to Sunday at 6 p. m.

Married in San Jose

When Mr. Philip Rodman Backus left Prince Rupert last week for California, it was not known that the object of his trip was matrimony. The news was only given out later. The happy event occurred yesterday, December 16th, at San Jose, the bride being Miss Rita Dinsmore, a charming young lady whose home is in that city.

Mr. Backus is a civil and naval engineer, who has spent a great deal of his time in this city where he has a great many friends who will welcome his bride.

It is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Backus will spend the summer in Prince Rupert.

ENGINEER DONNELLY TALKS OF BIG DRYDOCK WORKS

GENERAL MANAGER CHAS. N. CROWELL TO TAKE CHARGE OF PONTOON BUILDING AND START PERMANENT ORGANIZATION

The lumber for pontoons at the dry dock is now being brought in and work on the construction of these will start soon. This will be under the management of Mr. Charles N. Crowell, who will be the general manager of the plant. His arrival marks the beginning of the permanent organization.

This was the statement of Mr. W. T. Donnelly, chief engineer of the big dry dock, to The Daily News upon his arrival here today.

Mr. Donnelly has just returned from Honolulu, where he had just tested and put in operation a big floating dry dock for the Inter-Islands Navigation Co. The dock had been built from his plans. In Honolulu he enjoyed warm summer weather and everyone there was wearing straw hats and linen clothes.

Concerning the work here Mr. Donnelly said they were making good progress. Since his visit here in the summer the contract had been let for the boilers, engines and electrical equipment. The latter is being made by the Canadian General Electric Co., being the latest pattern of the highest development in steam turbines, and alternating current electrical generators.

The Royal City company have the contract for the boiler work. The boilers will be of high pressure water tube type.

Work is also let for the fire proof reinforced concrete administration building, which will house the offices and drafting rooms. There will also be a building for storing coal.

Specifications are now prepared for the machinery equipment and yard layout.

The rock fill is progressing satisfactorily and he hopes this will not delay the work any.

Steel for the buildings is now being delivered and work on the steel construction will start next week.

There are now more men at work on the plant than ever before.

Two Conservatives Elected.

The second by-election in Macdonald gave the Conservative candidate a majority of 882. At the previous election the majority was 784. This year's vote was larger than last year.

At Perth in Ontario Dr. A. F. Hanna was elected in a three-cornered fight. Hanna had 135 majority over the independent Conservative, and Arthur Hawkes, the Canada First candidate, got only 70 votes in the whole riding.

Just Plain Barrett

The name of Barrett Lake station on the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific has been changed by the railway to just plain Barrett. The railway company had occasion to send a telegram to the station man at Barrett Lake and when it saw how much longer it took to write Barrett Lake than just plain Barrett, it made the change and so passed an order, which is expected to result in saving stationery, telegraph operator hire and other things, to say nothing about the additional wear and tear on the conductors' lungs if the full name was persisted in.

Fire Hose Arrives.

One thousand feet of new hose for the fire department and the necessary nozzles have arrived and will be put in the fire hall tomorrow. The new motor combination hose wagon and chemical engine is expected any time now. The new wagon will practically be a duplicate of the present one.

Married.

The marriage took place yesterday at the Presbyterian Manse of Mrs. Tallendar of Porcher Island and Mr. Wellington Hays Miller of Refuge Bay. Rev. F. W. Kerr officiated. They will make Porcher Island their home.

Whether we can save money by buying light from the Hydro-Electric is debatable. That you can save money by getting your Christmas gifts at McRae Bros. is a certainty. 295-296

SHUSHANNA CLAIMS BRING HALF MILLION

Sale Made in San Francisco of Discovery in New Fields.

Seattle, Dec. 16.—The James claims in the Shushanna, from which the first gold in that district was taken last summer and brought hundreds of gold-seekers into the country, have changed hands for a consideration of between $400,000 and $500,000. E. J. Ives, Frank Manley formerly of Seattle, and J. J. Price obtained the option on the group of thirteen of the rich pay claims, and will leave the first of the year to develop their property.

Westholme Theatre Tonight.

The opening play of the Josephine Deffry Company will be the late New York success, "The Spendthrift" and not "The Spoilers," as has been previously advertised. The latter play was sent by the Seattle booking office through error.

"The Spendthrift" is an up-to-the-minute story of the method of living beyond our incomes, and tells a beautiful story and handles good advice in a straightforward and convincing manner, as well as pointing a good moral. There is also a vein of good comedy running throughout. Being a society comedy drama it admits of good dressing, which fact is splendidly taken care of by the ladies of the company.

Flowers in December

A stranger walked into the home of Deputy Chief Bailey yesterday. "May I have a couple of those pansies?" he asked. "I want to send them back east to show them that flowers grow out doors in December in Prince Rupert." Needless to say he got the coveted trophies. There are many Prince Rupert gardens still in bloom. When the city gets around to permanent home making there will be thousands of December gardens in Prince Rupert.

THE ORIENTAL PROBLEM

The Oriental question is still uppermost in the Anglo-Saxon world. Politicians and statesmen have tried their hand at the solution but it is still unsolved. Indeed from all the light that has thus far been thrown upon the problem it seems to be almost altogether unsolvable.

It is true that the early bird catches the worm but if there are more worms than one bird can eat what then? One thing is certain; if the other bird can unmon upon the courage there is going to be a fight.

This issue has been fermenting for a number of years and at many times it looked as if the crisis had arrived. Each time, however, the yellow man has either backed down or modified his demand. How long this will continue it is difficult to say.

It is bad enough to have an international problem of this kind but it is a great deal worse when it becomes an issue between the different parts of one Empire. This is what is taking place at this time in British India. In South Africa the Hindu has been persistently legislated against and the same can be said of his treatment in Canada, as well as in the other Dominions. Thus far it has been largely a local problem in each country, and it has been disposed of without any serious results.

behind the movement, and the gravest fears are expressed for the outcome.

In British Columbia we don't want the Oriental, and the fact he happens to be a British subject does not make the pill any more palatable. It is not so much a case of race superiority as it is of race distinction.

Apart from the aesthetic side of the question there is also the economic one to be considered. They have evolved along on a plane that has simple wants and few desires while our type of life demands a greater extravagance.

Of course it may be that this very thing will mean our undoing; that because of the economy of their nature they will yet lay claim to the "survival of the fittest."

It is this aspect of the question that the British Government should keep in mind while they are considering this question. It is just as well to make the issue clear and decisive at once. While the British Dominions would not willingly make trouble for the Mother Country, they must protect themselves first, and any Oriental people whether British or Barbarian who would trample under foot these sacred rights must expect the active opposition of a virile people.

The pessimistic views of trade conditions which the railways put up before the Railway Commission are apparently not taken seriously by the stock holders. If the shareholders believed the arguments their counsel make railway shares would drop out of sight.

VANCOUVER GIRL SHOT WHILE IN PORTLAND

COUSIN WAS IN LOVE WITH HER — PROBABLY COMMITTED MURDER AND SUICIDE

Portland, Ore., Dec. 15.—Frank Simmons, aged 30; Mrs. Richard Birnie, his mother, and Miss Agnes Ravineau, of Vancouver, his cousin, were found shot to death in the Birnie cottage in South Portland Friday. While the coroner says it is possible that all three were slain by a fourth person, indications are that Simmons shot the two women and then killed himself. Simmons was infatuated with Miss Ravineau, who persistently repulsed his suit because of their relationship. The theory is that a quarrel from this cause prompted Simmons to the deed.

The annual general meeting of the St. Andrew's Society will be held in the Society rooms on Second Avenue, Friday evening, Dec. 19th, at 8 o'clock. A good attendance of members is requested, as a number of important changes will come up for consideration, also the election of officers for the ensuing term.

TAKING WILD ANIMALS IN MOVING PICTURES

Photographers Visit Haunts of the Wild in Bella Coola Valley

Among the passengers on the last southbound steamer, says the Bella Coola Courier, were Messrs. H. B. Meade and C. H. Edmonds, who in company with Mr. H. B. Green, have spent several months endeavoring to obtain moving pictures of wild animals in their native haunts.

Mr. Meade told of how on one occasion he had succeeded in scaling a precipitous cliff in order to take a picture of some mountain goats, it was found necessary for their Indian guide to lie face downwards, grasping Mr. Meade's feet in order to give him sufficient foothold to enable him to operate the machine. Mr. Meade got his picture which will doubtless be practically unique.

Another interesting picture of a full grown black bear was obtained besides many others of extraordinary descriptions.

Mr. Green remains in the Upper Bella Coola Valley, where he will spend a couple of months with the Ratcliff brothers on their trap line, and hopes yet to obtain a picture of one of the famous Bella Coola grizzlies, which have so far succeeded in eluding his machine.

DIVER ESCAPES DEATH WHEN DOWN 40 FEET

Dodged Hugh Pile—Diving Suit Ripped and Man Nearly Drowned

Tacoma, Dec. 16.—Walter McCrary, a diver, working at Point Defiance tunnel had a narrow escape from death. He was in 40 feet of water, sawing off one of the huge piles at the Northern Pacific railroad Point Defiance tunnel. The pile suddenly snapped at the point where he was sawing, the end striking and gashing his arm and ripping a hole in his diving suit as the log shot to the surface with terrible force. The huge pile shot clear out of the water to a height of twenty feet and came down straight as an arrow, plunging into the Sound almost at the exact spot where it left the water. McCrary dodged just in time. He signalled and was hauled up nearly drowned.

OBTAINS POSSESSION OF ALASKAN PROPERTY

Word was received this week from the south that the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co., owning the Hidden Creek mines and reduction works at Granby Bay, and the Swamp Point group, down Portland Canal, have acquired the Mount Andrew mine on Kasaan Bay, Prince of Wales Island, Alaska. The property was secured as an additional source of supply of fluxing ores for the new smelter, now being rapidly completed.

The property was owned by the Mount Andrew Mining Company, of New York, and has been at different times operated under lease by the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company and S. Lichtenstader, of Seattle, who shipped the ore to the Tye Copper Company's smelter at Ladysmith. The ore is magnetic with chalcopyrite disseminated through it and averages 3.75 per cent copper, with $1 to $1.60 per ton in gold. This ore also carries small quantities of metals of the platinum group, notably palladium, but in too small quantities to be of commercial value. Ore has been stripped over an area of two acres and developed by two tunnels and open cuts. The mine is equipped with tramway, steam plant, air compressor and drills.

The Granby company has abandoned its option on the Mamie property at Hadley, Prince of Wales Island, Alaska.

The company has declared a quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share, amounting to $225,000, making a total of $900,000 distributed in dividends this year. The company's profits for October, amounted to $90,000, or at the rate of over $1,000,000 for the past year's operations, as against $1,214,599 for the previous year, the falling off being due to the lower value of the ore of the company's mines at Phoenix.

It Was a Good Bunch

As luck would have it, Pete Lowe's twenty-first birthday chanced to be wet, with the result that the boys from the windjam came to town to help him drown his sorrows. Alas! the latter proved buoyant beyond all comprehension and before they were eventually submerged Joe Rogers and Bob Jamieson wore a smile about a mile long. It is much to the credit of the bunch to say they were on deck next morning, with the exception of Jack Cameron and Tim Williams, and they don't care if they never go back. Anyway, they are a good bunch, and the town received them with open arms—besides it needs the money.

Now Fortnightly Service

With the arrival of the Prince George it was learned that from now on the winter service of the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Company will go into effect, when the boat will only come twice a month. The Prince George will maintain the service to the end of the year, when she will be relieved by either the Prince Albert or Prince John, the latter boat now being in dock while undergoing repairs and being changed to an oil burner. The Prince George will reach port on Thursday the eighteenth. For those going south for the Christmas holiday this will be the last sailing.

C.P.R. Trains Stalled

Vancouver, Dec. 15.—A big snow slide occurred Friday at Spuzzum, which delayed the transcontinental trains a whole day. The slide occurred through rough ready frosts splitting the rocks.

NOTES FROM STEWART.

Sam Gourlay will eat his Christmas turkey in Seattle, where he is now visiting.

John Watt, a pioneer prospector of the camp, informs The Miner that he has now located at Smithers.

Archie Patterson, formerly in the customs office here, has been transferred to the office at Whitehorse, Y. T.

William J. Crawford, wife and family, are expecting to leave on the next boat to spend the Christmas holidays in Vancouver.

Jack Harkley, who has been spending a holiday at Calgary with his relatives returned north the first of the week and is in Prince Rupert. Later on he expects to visit Swamp Point and then return here.

The Miner acknowledges the receipt of a very handsome calendar issued from the office of the Stewart Land Co., Ltd. The colored art work shows a typical rural scene set on a green mount, the whole presenting a very harmonizing effect.

F. A. Bell, who owns considerable business property on Fifth Street, and who for the past year has been employed by the Canadian northern Construction Co. at Kamloops, writes The Miner that after spending the holidays in Vancouver he will visit Stewart.

John B. Barnachez, who has been spending a month's holiday in California, visiting on his brother-in-law's ranch, sixty miles east of San Francisco, is due to reach home on next Thursday's boat. While out hunting wild pigs he came near having a very serious accident, being thrown from his horse and trampled upon. He has now fully recovered.

Word has been received by The Stewart Trust Co., Ltd., from the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Co., Ltd., that owing to the general decrease in the passenger business to and from Stewart the company has determined to discontinue the ticket agency at Stewart. A representative of the G. T. P. will be here next Thursday to transfer the supplies.

McLeod vs. McFarlane Case Topic of Interest

Defendant denies having told Abbott the Elkins story in the serious form in which the latter repeated it and says he only repeated what Elkins had told him.

With regard to the $500 incident his testimony differs very materially from that of Mr Burgess.

McFarlane's story is that having heard of McLeod's reference to the sand bagging incident he went to Burgess and asked what he thought about it, and Burgess said—"these are his very words," said McFarlane, "I believe I could look my God in the face when McLeod would blush," also that he (Burgess) had not though much of McLeod since he received the check from Goodman. Goodman's clerk made out the check—Godman signed it and gave it to McLeod and the clerk then came over to the Royal and said: "Go head now. It is all right we have given McLeod five hundred."

As regards the meeting in the Rev. Mr. Scott's room and subsequent meetings with Mr Burgess, the defendant agrees with the other witnesses.

The court here adjourned for supper until 8 o'clock.

At quite an early hour the court room and passages were crowded, and it was only those who arrived soon after 7 o'clock who were fortunate enough to get seats.

In cross-examination the defendant was prepared to absolutely contradict Mr Burgess.

He also maintained in face of four witnesses that he did not tell Mr. Scott that Burgess had the stub of the cheque, and in general his evidence was not materially shaken by the cross-examination.

Mr. C. H. Elkins heard of trouble between McLeod and the girl from his wife. He took the matter up with McLeod and after a period of some little uncertainty dropped out of Sunday school and the church. He had not said much about the story as he did not wish to drag the girl into unnecessary publicity. McFarlane had spoken to him and as he apparently knew something of the circumstances the witness told him the story.

This closed the defence.

For various technical reasons His Lordship decided that neither Mr. McClelan nor Mr. Burgess could be called for the rebuttal, so Mr. Manson called Wm. R. Cobb, the teamster who assisted Mr. McLeod to remove the bookcase from Mrs. Robinson's house. He said he was within three feet of the parties when the alleged holding hands took place and that all he saw was an ordinary handshake and all he heard was an ordinary apology for an early call.

Mr. Manson then called Mrs. W. H. McLeod, but His Lordship considered 10 p. m. too late an hour to put a lady on the stand and adjourned until 10 a. m. on Wednesday.
