

FIRE IN NAVAL DOCKYARD BRITISH VESSELS IN DANGER

(Special to The Daily News.) Portsmouth, Eng., Dec. 22.—A fierce fire was raging yesterday in the big naval dockyard here.
It threatened the whole district.
The blaze started in a sail loft alongside the Southwestern Railway jetty. It spread rapidly. A semaphore tower was used to signal the adjacent warships and buildings in the danger zone. All the available fire-fighting resources of the port and of the warships were called into requisition. Crews from the battleships in port all went to fight the conflagration. The battleship Queen Mary was in the fire zone and was towed to safety. At the time of this cable it was expected the fire would be kept within a restricted area.

Later—The fire was extinguished Sunday. The damage was great, estimated at between $250,000 and $500,000. Two lives were lost. The dead men remained in the old signal tower calling for assistance until too late. This semaphore tower was destroyed.
It was over a century old and in pre-telegraph days was used to signal warships. The origin of the fire is unknown. It was first seen from the battleship Queen Mary. Many valuable old records and models of warships were lost, including records relating to Nelson.

DERRICK HIT SCAFFOLD; MAN FELL INTO CHIMNEY

Cement Worker Dropped Fifty Feet in Big Chimney at Dry Dock Yesterday

George Parry, a cement worker at the dry dock, had a nasty fall yesterday. Today he is in the hospital with a fractured leg.
Parry was working some fifty feet up on the inside of the big chimney being built at the dry dock. He was on scaffolding.
The steam derrick in swinging around knocked the scaffolding and Parry fell to the ground. His left leg was broken just above the ankle. With the exception of some bruises he was otherwise uninjured. He was immediately removed to the hospital. Parry comes from Chicago, but has been working on cement construction here for some weeks.

FATHER DUNCAN DEPOSED BY U. S. GOVERNMENT

Well Known Missionary Says Colony on Which Life Work Was Spent Taken From Him

Rev. William Duncan, known to the north as Father Duncan, and a pioneer missionary among the Indians will be deposed, the United States Government having given orders that he be practically ousted from the Indian colony of New Metlakatlah, Alaska.
The building up of which he has given his life work. Father Duncan is in his 84th year and for 57 years he has labored among the aborigines of the north. He was the first to preach the gospel to the Haidas of the Queen Charlotte Islands. Years ago he left British Columbia, taking with him a band of Tsimpsean Indians and founding the colony at New Metlakatlah.
The Indians petitioned the government for an industrial school and the rights of citizenship. The government has ordered a government school at the Indian colony and this will supplant the old and respected missionary. General regret is felt throughout the north and an effort will be made to set aside the order.

FOR GRANBY BAY TRADE

Ship Henry Villard Will Be Dismantled and Converted Into Copper Barge

In tow of the steam schooner John A. Hooper, the wooden ship Henry Villard has reached Seattle from San Francisco. She brought north a cargo comprising 5000 sacks of salt. The old windjammer was recently purchased at San Francisco by Captain James Griffith of Seattle. She is to be converted into a barge and operated between Puget Sound port, and the copper mines at Granby Bay, B. C.

The Henry Villard was built at Bath, Me., in 1882, and was formerly a member of the famous Atlantic clipper ship fleet.

The barques Amy Turner and Gerard Tobey, which were recently purchased at San Francisco by Captain Griffith, will also be dismantled and operated to Granby Bay.

gland, was married December 15 to Miss Dorothy Irene Buckeheartiest congratulations and good wishes of his Prince Rupert friends.

New Store Opened

Mr. W. W. Wrathall is a new acquisition to the local business fraternity. He is opening his new store today and has a large display of holiday goods. He has had the store formerly occupied by Douglas Sutherland fitted up expressly for his business. It is his intention to carry a large stock and sell at reasonable prices.

Ben Woodward Got Off

store breaking and robbery, elected for speedy trial and appeared before Judge Young this morning. The evidence did not warrant a conviction and the case was dismissed.

Fred Aeorial, the Indian burglar, pleaded guilty to robbing the Inverness store. He will be sentenced this afternoon.

CHANGE IN AGREEMENT

Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Company Propose to Supply Sub-station at City Line

Mayor Pattullo is in receipt of a wire to the effect that an alteration has been made in the agreement with the Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Company, upon the request of the city. By the change the company agrees to deliver the power at the city line at 2300 volts, which will make it unnecessary for the city to erect a sub-station at a cost of $15,000.
There is also a loss of four per cent in stepping down the power which will be saved under the change, should the agreement be accepted.

While the change is not of great moment, it would mean some advantage to the city, and it was on this point that some opponents based their objections.

Caught With the Goods

Fred Aeorial, an Alaskan Indian, was caught on Friday by the provincial and city police with the goods on him. He was suspected of robbing the Inverness cannery store, and the officers found the goods under the bed in his room. There were silk handkerchiefs, Ingersoll watches, perfume, cigarettes and wearing apparel. Fred confessed to the crime. He is billed for a hearing this afternoon.

Good Trapping Season

The Indians of Masset and Skidegate have obtained this season over one hundred black bear skins, the same number of marten skins, and over fifty land otters. Through the failure of the fishing season the natives spent a great deal more of their time at the hunting grounds, and their returns from the sale of skins should be larger this year.

PRINCE GEORGE AGROUND OFF VANCOUVER PORT

WENT ON SIWASH ROCK—PASSENGERS ALL TAKEN OFF ON TUG—GEORGE GOT OFF WITH LITTLE DAMAGE

Southbound in a dense fog off Vancouver harbor, the steamer Prince George went aground near Siwash Rock on Saturday evening. She was running slowly at the time and the shock was not heavy. There was a little excitement among the passengers but this was soon quieted. The tug Salvor of Victoria went to the assistance of the disabled boat and took the passengers off.

At ten o'clock when the tide came up the George got off and proceeded to Victoria, where she will be overhauled.

Word to the G. T. P. officials is to the effect that she sustained very little damage.

The accident will interfere with the schedule of the G. T. P. steamers. The George was to have made two more trips before going into dry dock, but these have been cancelled. The Prince John, which was to have taken her place, is now being fitted as an oil burner and is not yet ready for commission.

There will probably be some disappointment over the non-arrival of Christmas mail and holiday visitors who would have been up on the Wednesday morning boat.

"Forget-Me-Not" Tonight

The Josephine Deffry Company begin the second week of their four-week engagement at the Westholme Opera House tonight with the strongest drama yet of-All actors have a favorite role and the role of Forget-Me-Not is considered by Miss Deffry and her managers to be one of, if not the best of her many roles, giving her every opportunity for the display of the various emotions a woman is heir to, running the scale, as it does, from light frivolity to deep emotion. There is also in the play a splendid role for every member of the cast, as well as ample opportunities for elegant costuming, which are amply taken care of by the ladies of the company.

"Forget-Me-Not" will run Monday and Tuesday nights.

funds or property available. His city property, including a house and lot, was made over to his the deferred payments and inter-

London, Dec. 16.—The first

The halibut is sent across by the British Columbia Fisheries, of which Sir George Doughty, M. P.

and he promises regular consignments in future, which will

DAILY EDITION

Monday, Dec. 22, 1913

The yearning for an ideal democracy is as old as Plato. Wherever a measure of liberty existed there did people set themselves to solve the complex question of government. At different stages men came forward with beautiful utopias that promised to bring order out of chaos, but the ideal of a perfect government is still to be found.

This does not mean that the art of government has not advanced. Indeed wonderful strides have been made within the last hundred years, and if the same progress is made in the next century humanity will at least be within sight of its goal.

Responsible government is perhaps one of the most outstanding phases in the present evolution of democracy. The principle was first established in the reign of William of Orange. It has proven a great boon to society, for it made it impossible that the leaders of the government should be out of sympathy with the people.

Responsible government however has developed another phase that will need some remedying before it will meet with universal approval. When a government gets into power the first thing that it does is to select its Cabinet, and this body of men become the responsible head. Thereafter the party followers must look to this inner circle and take their cue from them. Instead, then, of a responsible head that does the party's bidding, we find a despotic body that rules and commands.

Out of this state of affairs has developed the "machine," and so far it seems to work equally well for whichever party that happens to be in power. Machines play a very effective part in modern industry and the political machine does not seem to lack any of this effectiveness. However, it is one thing to turn a machine into a field of grass or grain where there is no animate life to resist it, but it is quite a different thing to use that same machine against the intelligence of men. The political machine, while wonderfully effective, has this one disadvantage, that it has the same intelligence to counteract its existence that did first call it into being.

This centralized authority is perhaps the weakest point in the system of modern government. It is at least the place where popular government stops, and where boss-rule begins. It is an unhealthy bunch of clotted veins that needs the surgeon's knife, before a free circulation of democratic principles can take place.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS ANTICIPATING NEW RAILWAY

PROJECT FOR SIX MILE ROAD TO DEVELOP MINING AND OIL PROJECTS ON GRAHAM ISLAND

Vancouver, Dec. 20.—Plans for a new railway in British Columbia, financed by San Francisco and Portland capital, will soon be officially announced by the promoters, headed by C. D. Emmons, engineer in the employ of the backers of the scheme, he railway will be undertaken on Queen Charlotte Islands, and though only six miles in length, it will make possible vast development, meaning not only a great deal to the islands but to the province.

Plans are for a railway running from Rennell Sound, on the southwest of Graham Island, inland for six miles to what is known as the southern oilfields of the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The leases of this ground are held by those concerned in the railway project. Four miles further inland are the Wilson and Robertson coal camps. The same men are planning to start operations in the spring, boring for oil which geological experts maintain will be found in great quantities, everywhere in the field indicating it to the belief of those interested.

Parrafine, such as a European oil expert on the visit of the international geologists to this city some months ago said at the first glance was artificial, is found scattered upon the surface.

The capitalists are intending to operate on a large scale. The railway line could have been constructed from the head of Masset Inlet and open a richly-timbered section, but Rennell Sound is a large Bay with good anchorage.

Besides the interests which have the Rennell Sound plans under way, the oil possibilities are being developed in the vicinity of Otard and the B.C. Oilfields Company of this city, the Otard Syndicate of Prince Rupert, and by another northern syndicate headed by A. Panvini, an Italian oil expert, who is expected to return in a few days from California, where he has succeeded in interesting a drilling concern to bring in the most modern machinery for this kind of prospecting work. The original company which has been at work for a long time had very hard luck, due mostly to the fact that the country is not opened up by government improvements, and two sets of apparatus were lost in two 700-foot holes, and a third hole is now down about 900 feet.

Saskatoon and English capitalists are to start work drilling for oil between Masset Inlet and Naden Harbor, Carson and Bradbrook, of Saskatoon, being at the head of this syndicate.

Edgar and Wilkner Released

On advice from Victoria, Magnus Edgar and Eric Wilkner have been discharged from custody. They were held by the police in connection with the death of "Frank Hill," the demented Finn who was recently killed at Skeena Crossing while trying to escape from special constables who mistook him for one of the New Hazelton bank robbers.

Down in Montreal there is an agitation for a world's fair in Canada in 1917 to commemorate the half century of Canada's confederation. The owner of La Presse, the big French paper, appealed to Sir Hugh Graham, owner of the Montreal Star, to back the enterprise. Sir Hugh replies that he will do so under conditions, the main one being that the public show a desire for such an exhibition.
