

DANGER OF SPLIT IN BRITISH CABINET NOW OVER

ALDERMAN MAKES OVERTURES FOR ANOTHER POWER AGREEMENT—MAY GET IN CABINET

APPROACHES POWER COMPANY JUST WEEK AFTER ELECTION

ALDERMAN WHO OPPOSED BYLAW NOW MAKES OVERTURES FOR ANOTHER AGREEMENT—COUNCIL IN DILEMMA OVER POWER SITUATION

Just a week since the close of the municipal election campaign it is just a week since the alderman, at the solicitation of the present mayor and his supporters, snowed under the agreement bylaw. Every alderman will recall those can-screches of "franchise incorporation steal" and the mayor's plea to "kill the agreement at any cost." Following the election people naturally thought the hydro-electric agreement was as "dead as Caen-ghost," as the mayor said. Isn't it?

Yesterday one of the city aldermen who was also one of the best opponents of the present bylaw, approached an officer of the Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Company and asked the company would enter into negotiations for another agreement with the city.

Usually the company's officials are surprised, and so were the alderman's citizens who heard of the interview.

"What do you think of it?" asked the Daily News of a publisher who took an active part in the recent election, favoring the bylaw.

"It convinces me in my pre-vious supposition that the oppo-sition of the bylaw were totally impractical of the necessities of the situation and they are only now being able to realize the seriousness of the situation."

"It strikes me that these men are not sincere in their opposition to the bylaw. If they looked upon it as an attempt to steal a franchise, which they said they did, why should they be making overtures to the same company one week after election? It doesn't look good to me."

Other opinions were also expressed to The Daily News, and none of them failed to note the significance of the early attempt to sidestep the policy on which the mayor was elected.

Whether the Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Co. will entertain any future negotiations remains to be seen, but the fact that the city council has even informally been looking to them in the power dilemma does not reflect very creditably on the mayor's party.

The mayor's assurance that the power situation is not a serious one does not relieve the situation any. While it may be true that only three applications for electric signs are the only applications not taken on, there are many others who want more power who have not applied because they know they cannot get it. Many of the larger light consumers would also like to install more lights, but cannot do it at the present prices.

Providence is coming to the rescue just at the present time with bright days and longer hours of daylight, but so far no practical suggestion for getting more electric current and of reducing the present outrageous price of lighting has been forthcoming.

THE TALE OF THE UNEMPLOYED

Timely cartoon by James Frise showing the tendency of the big corporations at this particular time to switch on to the municipal councils the responsibility for providing work for the unemployed, who are many in most cities in Canada.

Capitalist (indignantly): "What does this mean?"

Laborer: "We want work."

Capitalist: "I have none to offer you. Go and see the mayor at the city hall. When everything is booming again I can use all of you and more; too. But not now. Drive on, James."

BORDEN AND CHURCHILL TRIED TO BRING ON WAR SAYS HUGHES

CLAIMS RECKLESS BUILDING OF ARMORIES AND THE TAX ON FOODSTUFFS HELPS CREATE HIGH COST OF LIVING

(Special to The Daily News.)

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—Mr. Jamieson continued the debate on the speech from the throne and said that the leader of the opposition was harping on the high cost of living. This was partly due to the world-wide conditions, but also in Canada to the course pursued by the government from 1896 to 1911. Immigration had been fostered which brought too few producers and too many consumers. The needs of agriculture were ignored. Little was done to popularize rural life or increase production. Mr. Jamieson suggested four principal remedies for the conditions which now prevail, arising out of a lack of sufficient production. They were, improvement in the agricultural conditions, better roads, establishment of the parcels post and extension of rural mail delivery.

Mr. Hughes in reply stated that the prime minister had made it quite apparent that he does not approve of the action of the senate in reference to the Naval and Highways bills. Mr. Borden in conjunction with Mr. Churchill, the Montreal Star and others had endeavored to bring about a war with Germany. Having failed in that purpose the premier is disposed to have a bout with the senate. As a matter of fact, Mr. Borden's speech itself was ample justification for the action of the upper house. The high cost of living, said Mr. Hughes, was increased by the reckless expenditure of the present government. He particularly instanced the expenditure of the military department, where he said the present policy was to build drill halls all over Canada. Other things that contributed were the gift of $15,000,000 to Mackenzie and Mann and the millions that were collected in taxes on foodstuffs.

HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR CABINET POSITION

Report That New Appointee Will Be Member of Canadian Ministry

(Special to The Daily News.)

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—It is possible that the successor appointed to succeed Lord Strathcona in the office of high commissioner in London will have a cabinet position. This will have the direct advantage of keeping the Canadian ministry close to imperial affairs and the Canadian representative on London in close touch with the situation in Canada. That being so, the appointment will be more of less political and would end with the defeat of the minister who receives the appointment.

ARE WE VICTIMS OF CIRCUMSTANCES

Question Was Discussed by the Methodist Debating Society Last Evening

The Progressive Debating Society held their weekly meeting last night in the Methodist church, when the question, "Are we the architects of our own fortunes, or the victims of circumstances?" was discussed.

Mr. H. Hanson in a capital paper championed the cause of the "free will," and while admitting the adverse circumstances into which many are born, contended that the difficulties were not unsurmountable if concentrated endeavor were used to that end. He instanced the lives of Napoleon and President Lincoln, men who had "burst the bonds of birth's invidious bar."

Mr. Donald Peddie in opposing this view made out a very strong case, pointing out that the forces of nature so evident in plant and animal life played no less a part in the control of man's existence. The different races of the earth, he said, had different characteristics, which were the direct result of the circumstances in which they found themselves.

A very animated discussion followed the expression of these views.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. T. Roberts, president of the society, who announced that at the next meeting the subject of "Woman Suffrage" would be debated.

WILL VOTE FOR THE PEOPLE
INSTEAD OF GOVERNMENT

PREDICTION OF M. A. MACDONALD, WHO DESCRIBES PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT AS MOST CORRUPT SINCE CONFEDERATION

"When the true conditions of affairs are known, the people of British Columbia will rise in their might and overthrow the most corrupt and inefficient government which ever existed in any province of Canada since Confederation," declared Mr. M. A. Macdonald at a meeting of the Liberal Association of South Vancouver, one of the most successful meetings ever held under the auspices of that body. Mr. Macdonald closely analyzed the work that the provincial government had done and the effect of its maladministration, and declared that the time was ripening, and the date not far distant, when the people would vote for themselves and not for the government as they had been doing in the past.

Land Policy

Dealing with the policy of throwing into the hands of speculators the best of the agricultural and timber lands of the province, he said that the policy had enthused the Liberal party to adopt a policy of financial assistance to settlers and farmers. "I doubt if that policy would be necessary," he went on, "if the government had the million of acres of agricultural land in their hands that they say they have, but which I say they have not. If the McBride government, however, ever adopt it, that assistance will only be given conditional upon support of the government.

"With the most brazen effrontery," he continued, "in a manner that would bring a blush of shame to a fifth-rate ward politician, that government has dispensed the public moneys of the province in such a way that no man can safely feel that he has a share in the national bounty of the province and that as a workman he can legitimately share in the profits unless he will support the McBride government. But the people of this province have begun to realize that in their own interests it is necessary they should band together and unite in smashing that machine.

SIXTH COMMANDMENT COST A LIEUTENANT

German Officer Left the Army Through Religious Scruples

Berlin, Jan. 22.—The case of Lieut. von Brandenstein of the Second Guard Regiment, who resigned his commission because he was opposed to the principle of duelling, has brought assurance from the minister of war that hereafter religious scruples will receive "full consideration" by military courts of honor in matters at issue between brother officers.

A bill against duelling is now before a special reichstag committee, to which a representative of the war department has made the following report on the unusual case of von Brandenstein: "The officer has long been a member of a religious organization which takes the word of the Bible as its guide in all matters, even those affecting the daily life. By reason of his membership von Brandenstein's position in the army was peculiar. One day he declared in the presence of his comrades that, in consonance with the principles of his organization, he could under no circumstances issue or accept a challenge to a duel, because he would violate the sixth commandment. The matter came to the knowledge of the commanding officer, who asked von Brandenstein whether the report was true. Von Brandenstein repeated his assertions.

"The commander called the lieutenant's attention to the fact that he bore a sword, and, in certain conditions, would be obliged to make use of his weapon without awaiting the order of his superior officer, and without time to decide whether the employment of force was in accord with Biblical law. Such conduct would betray a lack of decision and even a short hesitation might be full of consequences in war. No one with such views could remain an officer.

"The officer at first decided to present his resignation. Later he reconsidered and asked that a court of honor pass upon his case. This request was denied, as no attack had been made upon his honor. Thereupon he left the army."

Most Wanton of Devices

"The tango is the most licentious and sensual thing I ever saw," said Rev. Dr. Sipprell. He declared that the harm in it was the greater for the reason that it was being indulged in by people who claimed to be the elite and leaders of society. Therefore many young girls apparently innocent, were being beguiled by the name and fame of the tango. They were charmed into learning what they were told was a graceful and beautiful dance, but instead they were lured into what was the most wanton of all dances.

Demand the Brand

The death of Lord Strathcona will be heard with particular regret throughout the whole of Canada. The character of the man, together with his achievements, and his apparent triumph over the ills of old age make him perhaps the most striking figure that has yet stepped across the stage of Canadian history.

To the older men of this country he will be best known as plain Donald Smith. Many will take the present occasion to review his life from the time when he first entered Canada as an ordinary poor Scotch lad and they will follow his triumphant march, step by step, through the ranks of the Hudson's Bay Co., and finally up to one of the highest positions in the power of his countrymen to bestow.

It will also be in order to show how his life marks an era in the life of this great country. He came to Canada when everything west of the great lakes was a dense wilderness and though fit for little else than a home for wild beasts. In that great region he became monarch of all he surveyed and throughout its length and breadth his word was law. How well he administered that authority is already a part of history. He lived long enough to see that wilderness become a thriving scene of industry and instead of the log cabins of his company to behold the stately towers of large and prosperous cities.

He was a man of clear visions. Indeed in a very real sense he was a great seer. His keen eye led him to take steps that opened up the way for the great prosperity we now enjoy. In the early days of the company he was one of the ardent supporters of the C. P. R. and perhaps, if it were not for his great faith and optimism that road would have been delayed for many years, and Canada would still be a band of struggling colonies.

His life will for all time be a great inspiration to every poor lad who has to begin life as did Donald Smith in the early days of Canadian history. In him we have a splendid example of the triumph of Scottish pluck. That inherent enthusiasm and resourcefulness which has become characteristic of his race was to be found in him at its best, and what those qualities have made of Donald Smith, they will do for every youth who will set his face as he did. Full of years and of honors he has laid his head down to a well-merited repose.

While the Grand Trunk has been looking well to the matter of elevator construction in Western Canada to provide storage capacity for the ever-increasing grain crop, provision has also been made for shipping facilities at Montreal. BRITISH PUBLIC CRITICIZE BOTHAS STRIKE METHODS

NOT ACCUSTOMED TO THE VIOLENT BUT EFFECTIVE MANNER IN WHICH STRIKE WAS KILLED

London, Jan. 23.—The Chronicle says: "It would be idle to deny that the measures taken by the South African government have created a disagreeable impression in Great Britain. They savor far too much of Russian methods to be congenial to British temper. British artisans are not accustomed to fight their industrial battles with violent weapons. Violent methods breed violence, and we believe a bitter harvest will be reaped from the unhappy events this week unless the union government exhibits as much energy in securing redress for the workers' grievances as they do in arresting their leaders."

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—On his return from driving the last spike of the Canadian Northern line from Toronto to the Rocky Mountains, Sir William Mackenzie said he found money easy. Mackenzie and Mann not only find money easy, but they find the Conservative government easy.

There are 34 entries for the annual billiard tournament now in progress at the Northern Hotel, and exceptional keenness is being displayed by the various competitors. The table is now in excellent condition and some good games are expected when the finals are reached. The tournament is a handicap with M. R. Jamieson as scratch and playing 300 points. The handicaps vary considerably, some only having to play 100 points. One of the most exciting games to date was played on Wednesday night, when Lou Legge defeated A. Pearson. The former had to play 175 while the latter made 125. Wild excitement prevailed when each player wanted two to go out. During the game Legge made some excellent "breaks," which included his reputation, the third commandment, and eventually his cue. He made "caroms" off everything from the marker to the dog under the table. His "potting" was superb, especially the white. It was one of those victories one ready about and rarely sees.—Portland Canal Miner.

Greater than Panama's Bridge of Water

The Panama Canal is the logical outcome of the trend of modern commerce—it is monumental evidence of the present-day need for shortening distance—for lessening time and for reducing cost of distribution between maker and consumer.

In point of distance, the Panama will bring the Pacific nearer to the Atlantic by 1,000 miles. In point of time, the sea voyage between Halifax and Vancouver will be shortened by 24 days. In point of cost, the canal will very materially lessen the expense of carrying freight between these places. But there is a stronger factor than even the Panama in shortening distances, lessening cost and saving time between manufacturer and user.

It is Advertising—

It is the quickest—
It is the most direct—
And it is the cheapest—means of communication between the maker and user of goods.

For instance, Advertising enabled a manufacturer in Nova Scotia to carry a demand for his product from his factory to the Pacific Coast

—in a few days
—at an insignificant cost compared with slower and more laborious selling methods.

In one week, thousands learned of his product where it would have taken years for the news to get around without advertising.

To the Manufacturers of Canada:

You will be alert to take advantage of the Panama route for the physical transportation of your goods. Have you considered how quickly, how far, and at what small cost the Advertising Trade Route will carry demand for those goods?

If you are doing a local business talk over your advertising problems with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

If you are doing a provincial or national business it would be well for you to have the counsel and assistance of a good advertising agency. A list of these will be furnished, without cost or obligation, by the Secretary of Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Lumsden Building, Toronto.

ENGLISH HAND-MADE LACE

MADE BY THE COTTAGES OF BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

This is the old-fashioned lace made on the cushion, and was first introduced into England by the Flemish Refugees. It is still made by the village women in their quaint old way.

Our Laces were awarded the Gold Medal at the Festival of Empire and Imperial Exhibition, Crystal Palace, LONDON, ENGLAND, for general excellence of workmanship.

BUY some of this hand-made Pillow Lace, it lasts MANY times longer than machine made variety, and imparts an air of distinction to the possessor, at the same time supporting the village lace-makers, bringing them little comforts otherwise unobtainable on an agricultural man's wage. Write for descriptive little treatise, entitled "The Pride of North Bucks," containing 200 striking examples of the lace makers' art, and is sent post free to any part of the world. Lace for every purpose can be obtained, and within reach of the most modest purse.

FROM PRINCESS MAY TO LONELY STATION

Two Well-known Seamen on C. P. R. Passenger Boat Become Lightkeepers

Two old shipmates on board the C. P. R. steamer Princess May have given up their posts and are voyaging to St. James, Queen Charlotte Islands, to tend the great first-order light which is being constructed there. Taylor Ash, for many years quartermaster under Captain John McLeod, has been appointed by the Dominion Government lightkeeper for Cape St. James, and A. J. Macdonald, the other quartermaster in Ash's watch, is to be his assistant.

These two seamen are now en route to their new homes on board the lighthouse tender Quadra, and will be landed at Cape in a few days. The big light will not be placed in operation for about a month, but Ash and Macdonald will spend the time becoming acquainted with their new surroundings and getting everything shipshape for their lonely vigil in the northern wilds. These two men will have only their own company, and their nearest neighbors are at Rose Harbor, where there is a whaling station, and at Ikeda, which possesses a wireless station and a mine.

Ash has been in the employ of the C. P. R. for about 15 years. He has served in the capacity of quartermaster on the Princess May for a lengthy period, and is well known all along the coast. Although he has never gone up for examination for mate or master, Ash probably knows the northern routes as well as any skipper. He always liked to be on the ship Captain McLeod commands, and he hated very much to say goodbye to the vessel, while the men on the May regretted just as much to see him take his departure.

It is expected that the big light will be flashing its broad beams across the Pacific before the middle of next month. The Cape St. James light is the second first-order light to be erected in the north in connection with the development of Prince Rupert as a great shipping port. The Langara Island light is the other, and will be used by ships coming in from the Orient, while Cape St. James will assist ships proceeding north from Victoria and San Francisco.

SKATING PARTY LOST IN THE WOODS

Enjoyed Jolly Evening on Salt Lakes Across the Harbor

About forty young people took in the skating party and picnic to the salt lakes across the harbor last evening. It was a novelty for many of them and the experience was a little rough, but all state today that they thoroughly enjoyed it.

The party went over in a launch, which was unable to land there nearer than the rocky shore outside. The forty then proceeded to hike it through the brush, with skates, boxes of refreshments, crockery, tinware, etc. It was tough going, but they finally landed at the lake and the boys soon after had a roaring fire going. Several hours of splendid skating was enjoyed and hot coffee and refreshments were served in liberal quantities.

The journey home was accomplished with the aid of a rowboat which carried the crowd to the launch. They docked in the city at 4:30 a. m.

MUD BURIES CITY HALL IN SEATTLE

Slide of Thousand Tons Dumped Into Fifth Avenue

Seattle, Jan. 22.—More than one thousand tons of earth were dumped on Fifth Avenue last night. Part of the Court House Hill came down as a result of the recent heavy rains that have prevailed.

The earth his banked against the wall of the city hall. There is an ever-increasing pressure as the slide continues.

Many men and teams are working clearing away the slide. The windows and doors of the city hall have been battened up to prevent the earth and water from invading the basement.

PAISLEY HAD MEDALS FOR SAVING LIVES

Man Who Disappeared Off the Prince Rupert Was Great Long Distance Swimmer

J. Paisley, the person who disappeared off the Prince Rupert on her last trip down, is a seaman who had won several medals for life-saving. A chum of his who was in the same training ship talked to The Daily News this morning.

Paisley's home is at Palmer's Buildings, Walls End, England. He first came out to this coast in the Prince Rupert on her voyage over from the shipyard. He was a good sailor and a great long distance swimmer.

Briggs, Paisley's friend, says he believes Paisley jumped overboard as soon as he heard the cry of a man overboard. He has frequently done the same thing. He was a great swimmer, and Briggs says he cannot understand why it was he was never found or even seen by those who took the lifeboat to the rescue.
