SONS OF ENGLAND DO HONOR TO PATRON SAINT GEORGE

LARGE GATHERING OF REPRESENTATIVE CITIZENS SIT DOWN TO EXCELLENT BANQUET--GOOD
SPEECHES AND LOFTY IDEALS

The Sons of England were out in full force last night, as well as a large number of other citizens, to do honor to the patron saint of England, Saint George. The banquet was held under the auspices of the Sons of England and Benefit society, of which Thos. W. Silversides is president and who occupied the position of toastmaster in a very able manner. The dining room of the Central hotel was magnificently decorated for the occasion, and the spread that was placed before the guests was all that could be desired.

The toast to the "King" was drunk in a very hearty manner, after which the National Anthem was rendered as only Englishmen can.

"The Day We Celebrate" was fittingly honored by Canon Rix. His speech began with a ripple of humor and rose step by step to the high ideals which made England great. He recited the story of St. George and the dragon--part historic and part myth--and launched out on the two fundamental features of St. George, which had been incorporated into the ideals of the British race, viz.: the defence and honor of women and his sacrifice of everything for a principle. On these principles neighborhood was founded. The Union Jack was great because the purity and greatness of British women had called the best out of her men. Such women as Mary, Alexandra and Victoria the Good were the inspiration of men. But there should be an equal standard for men. He appealed for the transmuting of those ideals in the new land. He urged the young men to seek some good woman, rear a family of good children, and thus become the bulwark of the nation. Believe something. Have a principle and be ready to sacrifice for it. The ideals of St. George could be seen in the English flag--the red cross of Christ on a white background of a pure life. "Fear God, love the brethren, honor the King, and drink to Merry England."

"Our Empire" was proposed briefly by Mr. George Hill, and responded to by Dr. Clayton. The doctor began by telling another humorous "barber" story, but in connection with Daniel Webster. A patron of this barber was assured that he resembled Daniel Webster, but only because of his breath. Dr. Clayton reviewed the contribution of Canada to the empire and showed that we had done our share in both war and peace.

The toast to "Our Province" was proposed by Mr. E. A. Woods and responded to by Messrs. Wm. Manson and T. D. Pattullo. Mr. Manson had come to this province following the instinct to get further west and also because it was British. He believed that developments on the Pacific would make this province the gateway of Canada.

Mr. Pattullo said that the Lord had been generous to B.C. for apparently he helps those who help themselves. He extended a welcome to all who came to make their home in our midst.

"The City We Live In" was proposed by John H. Hilditch. He deplored the lack of accommodation that we had for the inrush that was sure to come.

CALL TO ENGLAND TO RUN BRITISH RAILROAD

Henry W. Thornton, his wife and their two children, aboard the steamship Lusitania, just before she sailed for England. Mr. Thornton, whose recent appointment as general manager of the Great Eastern railway in England evoked a wordy war across the Atlantic, expects to devote his entire energies for several months to a thorough study of the Great Eastern system in order to familiarize himself with those details of British railroading which differ radically from the American management.

JAIL BREAKER REILLY COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Forced the Yale Lock and Walked Out the Back Door--Was Caught at Terrace

Ray Reilly, a young man who had been committed for trial on a charge of robbing the Knox bakery, Second avenue, was in police court this morning charged with jail breaking. He had nothing to say.

Constable Bailey gave evidence that he had been locked in the jail kitchen Saturday evening. There was a Yale padlock on the door. Sunday morning the door was ajar and the padlock gone. The man had walked out of the furnace room.

Reilly was caught by Constable Thos. Parsons at Terrace from a description he had received. He was brought back again last evening and on his arrival here told Constable Bailey he had forced the lock and thrown it away on the hill near Dr. Tremayne's house.

The magistrate committed the prisoner for trial on the jail breaking charge also.

BASEBALL

In view of the fact that we will have recreation grounds in the near future, there will be a meeting held in the office of the Pacific Realty company, Sixth street, tonight, for the purpose of organizing a baseball club, and to deal with matters in connection with the proposed park. All those interested in baseball kindly attend.

MANY CANNERS USE NEW SANITARY CAN

E. C. Packers Are Making New
Can for All Their Northern Plants

Sanitary cans which were used for the first time by Canadian salmon packers, last year, are going to be generally adopted by the salmon canneries.

Last year the new system was put in at Mill Bay cannery on the Nass, Balmoral cannery on the Skeena, and at Namu cannery. The new system does away with considerable Chinese labor, automatic machines being the substitute. The system worked very satisfactorily at the canneries adopting it.

This year Balmoral cannery is making sanitary cans for all four for the B. C. Packers' plants on the Skeena, and also the Naas Harbor cannery. The empty cans will be delivered to these canneries and then separate capping machines and steam boxes will be installed in each of the canneries.

Arrangements are also under way to instal sanitary can plants at all the other canneries on the Skeena and Naas next year, so that this season will see the last of the old style solder cans in this part of the coast.

The Prince Rupert cannery, which was new last year, has a sanitary can plant.

Balmoral cannery is already manufacturing cans.

Ladies Will Play

The Ladies' Own have been trying to arrange a basketball match in aid of the hospital but have been unable to make satisfactory arrangements for the skating rink. A double header was planned, a ladies' match and a men's match. The Ladies' Own got a challenge from the B. B.'s and intended playing tomorrow night. But the program was called off. The two ladies' teams have now decided to give the match in St. Andrew's hall, proceeds for the hospital.

IS CORRUPTION FASTENING ITS TENTACLES ON RUPERT?

THE PEOPLE WILL HAVE TO KEEP THEIR EYES OPEN--MEN WHO BREAK THEIR PLEDGES ARE DANGEROUS

It is about time that the people woke up to a realization of what is going on at the city hall.

Recently it has been announced that the city is disposing of a quantity of ten and twenty-year fives at 85.

It will be recalled that last year the mayor, through his newspaper, tried to scare the public by pointing out that the then council was likely to dispose of some of the city's issues at 90, which in the opinion of the mayor's paper was a ridiculously low price.

The present chairman of the finance committee was elected on a platform of refusing to sell any of the city's issues at a price lower than 90.

Yet today we have the spectacle of men, who before election declared in most emphatic terms that 90 was too low a price for fifty-year fives, now selling ten and twenty-year fives at 85.

What has brought about this change of attitude? Is there a graft in it?

Why was an offer of 86 for the long-term issues turned down in the beginning of the year

Banks Island Wants Wharf

Sam Larsen, the first settler on Banks island, is in the city looking for government aid in opening his home island. Gus Bostrom, Herman Helmond and Emil Anderson are also here taking up Banks island. They want a government wharf there besides some roads and trails. There are now a great many settlers on Banks island, but they are handicapped for lack of the means of getting in supplies. Some twenty-five new settlers went in last year. Every one of them is clearing some land and there are several big patches on the island that practically need no clearing at all. If they had a wharf and could get in some stock they all have visions of a rich farming community which would be supplying Prince Rupert market.

Good Demand for Light

"There are lots of complaints heard about things being dull, but the city electrical does not look like it."

This was the remark of a light department man to The Daily News.

"We have filed 150 new contracts this year and issued 76 permits for installations and alterations. We have probably 100 more lighting contracts now than we had at the beginning of the year."

Dancing Academy

Dancing lessons will be given every Monday and Friday evening in McIntyre Hall. Hall rent. M. M. Cooper, instructor. 93-95

Fred Stork, Printe Ru-

pert's first mayor, has evidently not lost any of his old time popularity, which made him an easy winner in Prince Rupert's first municipal fight. At the St. George's banquet last evening Fred got a tremendous reception when he rose to speak. Undoubtedly the boys are still with him. It was a remarkable tribute to a man who has not been in public life for several years.

(Special to The Daily News)
El Paso, Texas, April 24.--General Villa declares that he declines to be drawn into a war with the United States by anybody. All Europe will laugh and say: "That little drunkard Huerta has drawn them into a tangle at last." He hopes the Americans will bottle up Vera Cruz so tight that they will be unable to get water in.

(Special to The Daily News)

The special reserve fleet has been ordered to the Atlantic coast of Mexico.

The United States has chosen Brazil to look after its interests in Mexico, and where there is no Brazilian consul, the French consul will act. O'Shaughnessy left Mexico by special train, escorted by Huerta's chief of staff.

J. F. Pooler, local manager for P. Burns & company, limited, was a southbound passenger this morning, en route to Vancouver, Seattle and probably Portland. While in Vancouver he will attend a conference of resident managers of the big provision concern he is representing here. He will be away about two weeks.

BUDGET DEBATE CONCLUDED FREE WHEAT VOTED DOWN

FOSTER CONTENDS THAT UNITED STATES DO NOT NEED
AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS FROM CANADA

(Special to The Daily News)
Ottawa, April 24.--The budget debate was concluded by Sir Wilfrid Laurier's amendment, which was defeated by 88 to 46. Sir Wilfrid accused the government of failure to make any effort to deal with the existing conditions. The remedy which would reduce the cost of production of farm produce is wider markets. Free implements and free wheat would be a great benefit to the west.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster twitted

Sir Wilfrid with abandoning the policy of free food. He said the importing countries of the world afforded a big market for Canadian wheat and flour and it was unwise to consider exporting wheat in large quantities to a country that already has a large surplus of that product.

Do not follow others, be with the leaders; invest in Port Edward before the industrial development.

DAILY EDITION

Friday, April 24, 1914

A former resident of this city sold four lots to the Dominion government at $35,000 above market value. This sale took place under the cognizance of the local Conservatives, and apparently with their entire approval. Does it seem reasonable that those men are so friendly disposed toward one of their number that they would assist him to secure a rakeoff of $35,000 without themselves getting a share of the spoils? Ugly rumors are afloat around town that this money was divided among a few of the leading Tories. What have they got to say in defence, or will they silently swallow the infamy?

If the council of last year had attempted to conduct business in the same manner that the present council is conducting its business, the hills would have reverberated with the loud protestations of the very men now responsible for the present conduct of business. The truth is that their reiterated misrepresentations and falsehoods were formulated and circulated to poison the public mind so that they themselves might get into office. Now that they are in control, they have forgotten their pledges to the people.

The financing of the city must be conducted in the open. The people want to know what they are going to get for their issues and they will not tolerate any graft. Some ugly rumors are going about. Private sessions of the council will only aggravate suspicion.

Is the city going to get the Wark channel power or is it not? William Manson may be satisfied that it is, but the people will feel better satisfied when they get the record. It looks even further off than the road around the island and the McBride approach to the government wharf.

What is the good of wasting so much money at Woodworth lake if we are to get the Wark channel energy? This is a chance for our local member to save the city an immense sum of money. Will he do it? Probably in about the same manner as he fought for the rights of the city at incorporation time.

The wizards of finance on the city council who would not sell fifty-year fives at ninety are now selling ten and twenty-year stuff at eighty-five. Necessity will penetrate ignorance where argument won't.

A local contemporary says the government is doing great things for Northern British

TORONTO'S FALLING WALL CATASTROPHE

The above picture shows where the bodies of Sandersky and Cohen were taken from the ruins of the wall of the Independent Cloak company, the ruins of which, after being gutted by fire last January, were left standing. By instructions from the city architect, Albert Strong, an expert wrecker was given the job of demolishing the building, shortly after the fire. When the building was in a safe condition, it was turned over to Weinerman, owner of the building, and also a wrecker. He discharged Strong and employed a number of foreigners. The men were poorly paid and absolutely ignorant of their work, and this is held responsible for the collapse. Two killed and five or six injured is the toll of the disaster.

Columbia in the way of developing her lands. Another man has been added to the staff of the horticultural department. Meantime all the lands are tied up in the hands of speculators.

With the mayor refusing to join the board of trade because he can't afford it and the chairman of the finance committee patronizing a cut-rate barber shop, times must be pretty dull at the city hall.

What is being done towards the installation of permanent sewers? It is pretty hard to get information these days with aldermen proposing private sessions of the council.

MARGARET ANGLIN SCORES ON LAWYER

Canadian Actress Defined a Yard for New York Jury—Her Husband Lost Suit

New York, April 22.—Margaret Anglin, the Canadian actress, was in court on a suit by a Mrs. Cooper to recover $25,000 for an automobile accident from the actress' husband.

Miss Anglin was riding in the car at the time, just as it collided with Mrs. Cooper. Counsel for the plaintiff had questioned her at considerable length on the exact distance of the machine from Mrs. Cooper, when the actress first noticed the impending disaster.

"Oh, I can't say exactly what it was," declared Miss Anglin sweetly. "You see, I really don't know much about distance. But I should think it was about a yard."

"Um, hum," nodded the attorney, with a judicial stroke of his chin; "but what should you say was your best judgment of a yard?"

"Thirty-six inches," replied the actress, just like that.

The jury went out and wavered for about an hour, and then sliced 90 per cent. off Mrs. Cooper's demands, and gave her a verdict of $2,500 and her husband $250.

B. C. WELCOMES RAILWAY OPERATIONS IN ALASKA

PRINCE RUPERT WILL BE THE GATEWAY FOR THE ALASKA TRADE—WILL LINK UP WITH NORTHERN LINES

The Grand Trunk Pacific news service has the following on the Alaskan railway traffic:

Despatches received at Grand Trunk Pacific headquarters at Montreal state that President Wilson's action in signing a bill authorizing the expenditure of $35,000,000 for the construction of a railway in Alaska has been received in Prince Rupert and Prince George with great satisfaction. Both of these rapidly-growing towns are likely to benefit by the development of the great territory to the north of them. Indeed the whole of British Columbia expects to obtain many decided advantages from the opening up of this neighboring territory. Prince Rupert prides itself so far as the north is concerned in being the pivotal point. It is the real gateway to Alaska and with one transcontinental railway at its doors and another great network of lines planned by the United States government to the north of it, it feels that its future is assured.

The people of British Columbia realize more certainly than those of any other part of Canada the immense resources of Alaska. Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior at Washington, recently summarized the position in Alaska as follows:

"How rich its waters are we know, because they have been proved, but how rich its lands are in gold and copper, coal and oil, iron and zinc, no one knows. The prospector has gone far enough, however, to tell us that no other section of our land today makes so rich a mineral promise. And in agriculture the government itself has demonstrated that it will produce in abundance all that can be raised in the Scandinavian countries, the hardy cereals and vegetables, the meats, and the berries off which 9,000,000 people live in Norway, Sweden and Finland. It has been estimated that there are 50,000,000 acres of this land that will make homes for a people as sturdy as those of New England. Whether this is so or not, it would appear that Alaska can be made self-sustaining agriculturally."

Alaska has a few inconsiderable stretches of railroad which terminate either in the wilderness or at a private industry. British Columbia thinks that the carrying out of President Wilson's railroad plan will mean a linking up of the lines within the province with those about to be built in Alaska.

It Appealed to Him

The Bishop was talking about small boys.

"Boy nature," he said, "shows itself in numberless ways. I once said to a little boy:

"Do you know the parables, my child?"

"Yes, sir!" he replied.

"And which of the parables," said I, "do you like best?"

"I like the one," he answered after a moment's thought, where somebody loafs and fishes."

HOW THE PANAMA CANAL IS TO BE OPERATED UNDER CONTROL BOARDS

The control boards are approximately operating miniatures of the locks themselves. They have indicating devices which always show the exact position of valves, lock gates, chains and water levels in the various lock chambers, and so far as was necessary are synchronous with the movement of the lock machinery. The side and centre walls of the locks are represented on the board by cast-iron plates, and the water in the locks by blue Vermont marble slabs. The chain fender index consists of a small aluminum chain representing the larger chain of the lock itself. Just as the large chain is lowered into a slot in the bottom of the lock, so the small chain is lowered into a slot in the top of the board.—Scientific American.

The Review of Review prints a classified table of investments in Mexico. The list includes: Railway stocks and bonds. Bank stocks and deposits. National bonds. Mines and smelters. Timber lands. Ranches, farms and live stock. Houses and personal property. Electric railways and power. Stores. Oil production. Rubber industry. Profession outfits. Insurance. Hotels, theatres, etc.

The estimated amount of money in these several lines totals at $2,434,246,420, of which $793,187,240 represents Mexican capital, leaving $1,640,059,180 for foreign capital. Contrary to the very general opinion, the greater part of this is owned in the United States, the share of that country in Mexican investments being put at the sum of $1,057,775,000. British capital is a poor second in the list, being down only for $321,302,800. France comes next with $143,446,000, and all other countries are grouped together and stand for $118,535,380. The largest single item is "railway stocks and bonds," which shows a total of $1,026,633,400, of which $664,340,000 was contributed by the United States, Great Britain being down for $168,917,800, which is more than $30,000,000 in excess of Mexican capital so invested. Only about 20 per cent of the money invested in railways in Mexico belongs to Mexicans.

British investors lead in three lines, viz.: National bonds, timber lands, and electrical rails and power. The figures for national bonds are: Held by English, $67,000,000; by French, $60,000,000; by Americans, $52,000,000; by Mexicans, $21,000,000. The American capital invested in mines and smelters is nearly $250,000,000, or about three-quarters of all the money so placed in Mexico. Much has been said about British capital invested in oil, but it is only $10,000,000, whereas the American investments reach $15,000,000.

These figures are illuminating if correct, and the Review of Reviews is usually very accurate. The United States papers have told us that it is the vastness of British interests in Mexico which leads the British government to be not unfavorably disposed towards Huerta, and not a few Canadian papers have alleged that these interests so far transcend all others that it is the duty of Great Britain to take a more aggressive stand towards the disturbed republic; but these statistics show that for one dollar which Great Britain might be interested in protecting, the United States has three dollars which its government ought to safeguard. It has been an international practice, where foreign investors' interests have been jeopardized by distracted conditions in any country, to entrust the protection of them to the government whose people have the largest amount at stake. Therefore, regarding the situation in Mexico from a business and financial point of view, it is quite in accordance with the best diplomatic usage to permit the United States to assume the chief responsibility in bringing order out of chaos in Mexico, so far as that can be accomplished by outside pressure.

The Husband—While I detest these low cut gowns, there is certainly one consolation. The more back, the fewer hooks."

Sir: Another example of how high handed things are run politically in Prince Rupert the following will illustrate: There is a labor bureau run by men in high office and who do not pay one cent for the privilege, which is clearly against the law of the land. "Well, I'll let you go this time, but if you ever come up again I'll fix you good."

"Many thanks, your honor; I'll not be back," and Bill skipped down stairs like a boy just out from school.

SONS OF ENGLAND DO HONOR TO PATRON SAINT

Mayor Newton in response said the resourcefulness of the citizens was equal to the task and any accommodation required would be forthcoming.

"The Motherland," proposed by Mr. Arthur Silversides was ably responded to by Mr. Fred Stork. It was the land of his father and his mother and in a very real sense his mother land. He reviewed the impressions one receives from the great pageants of Empire. London was the headquarters of John Bull as a visitor could soon tell. He hoped for the time when the old firm would become John Bull & Sons, Unlimited.

"The Ladies" was fittingly proposed by Mr. Fitzmaurice and equally fittingly responded to by Mr. J. C. Brady. Mr. Brady is capable, too, for as he told his audience he was married within the past year. All greatness springs from noble women and should be perpetuated by gallant men. Men may try to deceive their wives—he did sometimes—but the feminine mind knows. It was more complicated than city finance. "On behalf of the noble women of our country I thank you for the honor you have conferred on them."

"Kindred Societies" was proposed by Mr. A. W. Edge and responded to by Mr. J. H. Kelly. "The Press" was proposed by Mr. Frank Salter and responded to by Mr. H. F. McRae.

A number of musical selections were interspersed by the Messrs. Davey, Ling, Froud, Davies, Darton, Evans, Waddell and Woods, which added cheerfulness to the gathering. A comic selection by Mr. Owen was well received, as well as a recitation by Mr. Brady.

An orchestra composed of W. J. Briggs, Walter Miller, J. L. Lee, J. B. McKay and Jas. Kelly rendered excellent music.
