

RUPERT WELCOMES MASONIC GRAND LODGE OF B.C.

250 MASONIC VISITORS ARE SIGHTSEEING TODAY--GRAND BALL TONIGHT IN THE AUDITORIUM

CHAS. CARTER WAS ACQUITTED --PROVED ALIBI WITH FRIENDS

ASSIZE COURT FINISHED TWO CRIMINAL CHARGES YESTERDAY -- ADJOURNED UNTIL NOON TODAY -- WILLENCE CASE UP THIS AFTERNOON

At the afternoon assize session yesterday, O'Reilly was shown a copy of a letter he had written to Montrose, Virginia, to a lawyer there saying he would rather go back and stand a trial there. He wrote the letter over the name of H. L. Brady. Prisoner admitted writing the letter.

The jury in the O'Reilly gun stealing charge brought in a verdict of guilty. Sentence was reserved.

Rex vs. Carter

The jury in this case was G. C. Emerson, foreman, W. J. Greer, H. R. Johnson, F. P. Bratt, H. C. Breckenridge, Alex. McRae, N. Demers, Wilfred Kelly, Jos. Howe, Thomas Bramley, F. M. Davis, G. S. Fitzmaurice.

W. E. Fisher for Crown, W. E. Williams for prisoner.

A man named Hancock, accused Charles Carter, negro, of robbing him of $80 cash and a bank pass book in the Grand Hotel.

Richard Hancock, who had been working on the railroad, came down and took a room at the Grand Hotel. He drew his pay check the morning after he arrived. That day he had some drinks. Early that evening he went to room ten with some chums. They drank a bottle of whiskey and he went to sleep. Later he woke up and saw the prisoner leaving the room. His money was gone and his wallet was under the bed.

John W. Andrews, night clerk at the Grand, testified that Carter had taken a room on the night of the robbery. He went up stairs to his room about midnight but he never occupied the room and he never saw him come down. There are two exits from the hall upstairs to the outside. Hancock had a roll of money when he bought some soft drinks about ten o'clock. About one o'clock he came down again and said he had been robbed by a black man. Hancock was partly intoxicated but knew what he was saying. Witness found a strange man in Carter's room, Carter had told him he could have it as he did not need it.

James Weir testified to being with Hancock on the night of the robbery.

Henry Evans, day clerk in the Grand, said Carter on the day before the robbery was playing pool and had to get the friend he was playing with to pay for the game. He had seen Hancock count his money before going to his room on the night of the robbery. He appeared to have quite a roll.

Constable Grady told of arresting the prisoner coming up Comox Avenue. He was drunk and had $59 in cash, mostly in Union

$10 bills and a $25 check. The money was produced in court but the check has disappeared.

Leon Washington, for the defence, said he had met prisoner in morning before the robbery. Carter and several new friends were drinking. Carter had quite a roll of money and was buying drinks freely. He saw Carter in a resort on Comox about eleven o'clock on the night of the robbery. He remained with him until about one o'clock.

Jean Lewis said prisoner had been in her house on the night of the robbery between eleven and twelve and he had stayed until about 2 a.m.

John Hall saw Carter in Smithers on March 14th. He was in a restaurant and had paid for three suppers. He had a roll of bills.

Carter, the prisoner, took the box in his own defence. He was a cook and had been working up the line. He had about $125 when he struck Prince Rupert. He told a lucid story of a day's debauch which ended up on Comox Avenue between 14 and 42. In cross-examination he admitted that he had spent some time in jail at Fort George for gambling.

After hearing the charge from the bench the jury returned in a few minutes and brought in an acquittal for the prisoner.

Rex vs. Wilence

At noon court resumed its sitting. Wilence was in the prisoner's box. He was charged with having uttered and used a forged pass on the railway between Rose Lake and Wolcott about May 20. The check was used to have himself and trunk conveyed over handcars by the section gangs.

J. H. Todd, the superintendent, gave evidence denying that he had issued the order, although it was signed with his initials. Passes initialed were authorized by the railway commission. It is passed from foreman to foreman on the line. He usually telegraphs instructions, seldom using a pass.

Jerry McCarthy, a section foreman, testified to having had the pass handed to him from the foreman adjoining him and carrying the prisoner and his trunks.

M. J. Shea, roadmaster, said he had asked prisoner what authority he was travelling on, but got no answer from him. Later he had wired for information as to the pass and was told it was unauthorized. Constable Russell arrested the prisoner. That concluded the Crown's case.

The jury is: E. H. Mortimer, D. C. Stuart, Dan Jabour, C. T. Hewart, T. Brambley, M. C. Mus-tard, John Jay, N. Demers, H. Johnson, H. G. Helgerson, Alex. McRae, and G. Fitzmaurice.

W. E. Fisher appearing for the Crown, and W. E. Williams for the defence.

All Masons and their ladies are invited and urged to attend the entertainment provided in connection with the programme arranged for the three day visit of Grand Lodge, June 17th, 18th, and 19th: Welcome at wharf, ball, reception and tea for ladies, picnic, etc. No further invitation or tickets will be printed for the ball, or for other events. All of the Fraternity are welcome and are expected to attend. Programmes may be obtained from Lee L. Baker, Secretary of Reception Committee, at office of West-Enhaver Bros., Second Avenue and Third Street 138-40

FINANCED AND BUILT BY PRINCE RUPERT PEOPLE

HOTEL PRINCE RUPERT

The finest building in the North and Prince Rupert's first modern hotel, throws open its doors to the public today. It is a hotel equipped with every modern convenience and comfort for the use of the public—a credit to the city and to the enterprise of the local capital which is behind the project. The officers are: President, G. W. Morrow; Vice-president, H. B. Rochester; Secretary-treasurer, Kenneth Munro; with J. C. K. Seeley and Laura Morrow as added directors. The hotel will be under the joint management of G. W. Morrow and H. B. Rochester. Fred Henning, who was with the company in the old hotel, will be chief clerk, and K. Munroe will be night clerk.

THE GRAND LODGE OF A. F. & A. M. OF B.C. MEETS IN PRINCE RUPERT

Princess Alice Brought 200 Delegates--Prince Rupert Brought 25
First Business Session Tomorrow--Sight-Seeing Today and Grand Ball in Evening

With 201 passengers, including many of the most prominent men in British Columbia commercial and social life, the magnificent C. P. R. steamer Princess Alice drew into port at 10 o'clock this morning. Capt. McLeod was on the bridge. The Princess Alice brought the delegates to the Masonic Grand Lodge meeting here. They were a bright, happy and talented crowd.

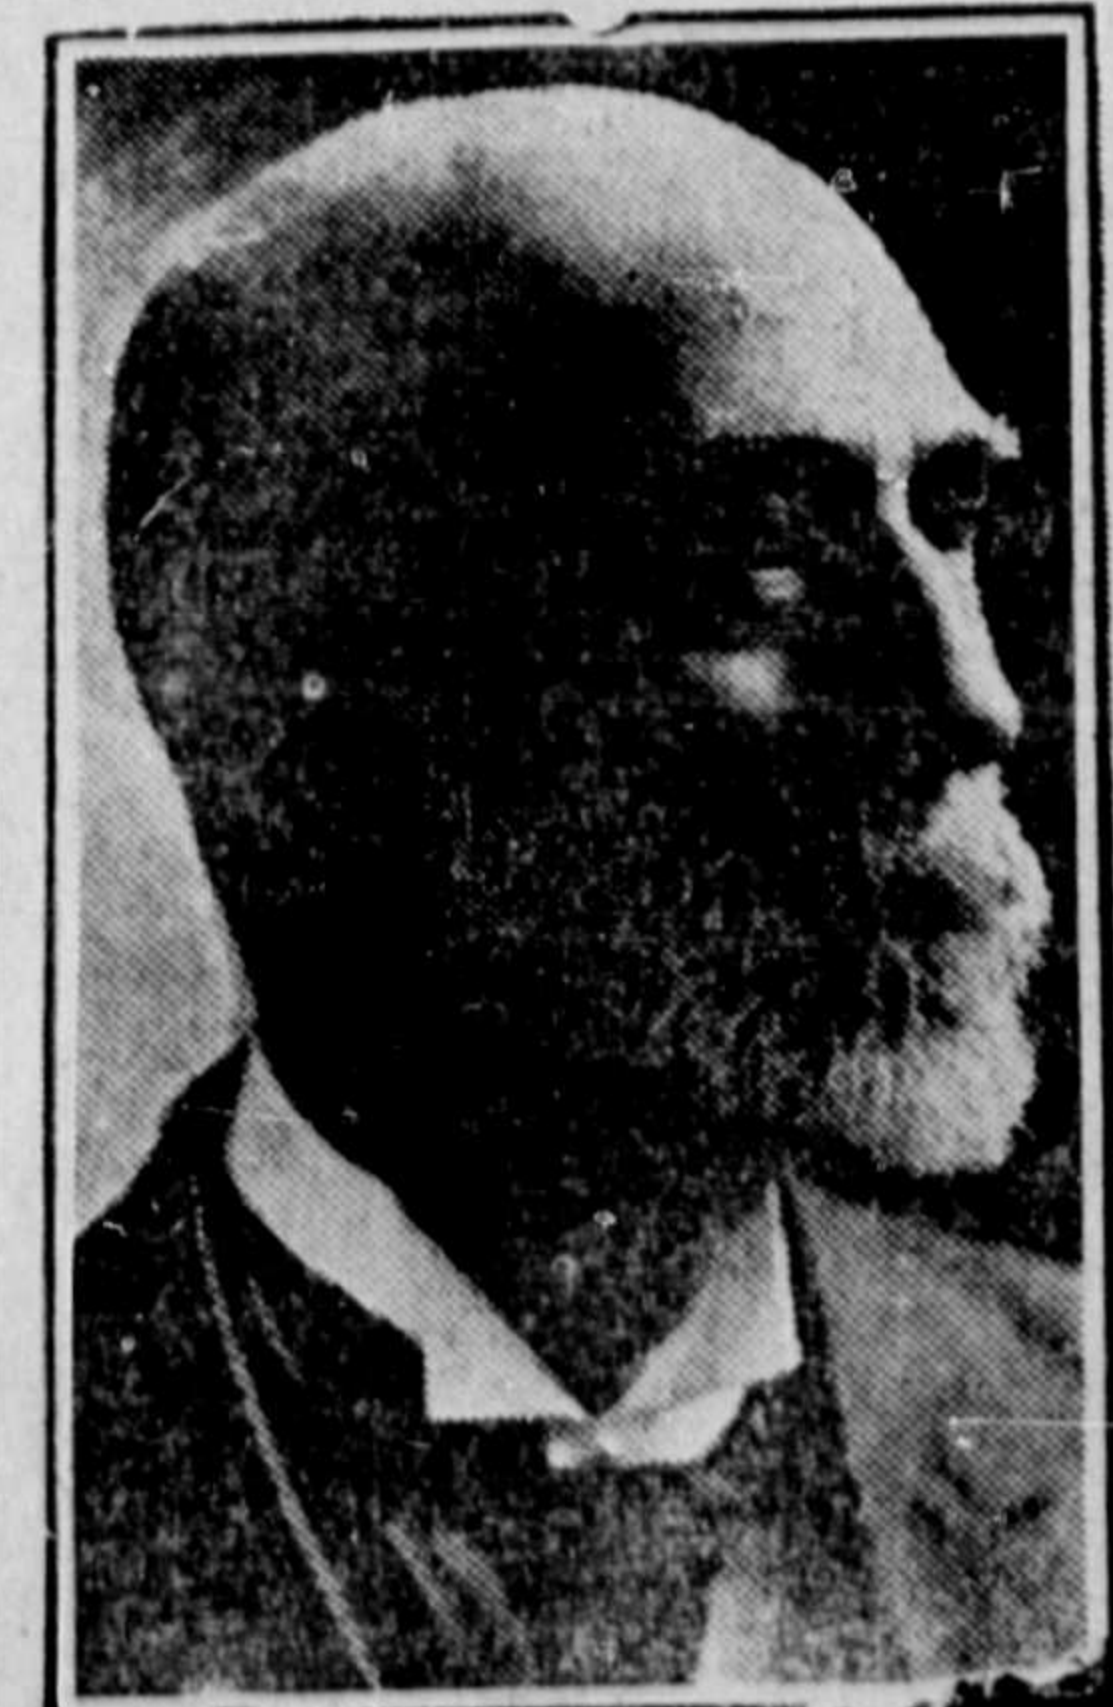

As the boat docked, the Prince Rupert brethren greeted them with grand honors.

Several hundred citizens were on the dock to participate in the welcome.

As the visitors came off the gangway each was labeled with a guest badge and friends took them away to show the visitors the city.

Today will be spent in sight-seeing and making arrangements for the Grand Lodge business session which opens at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Among the prominent Masons are:

Dr. John Watson

Of Queen's University, Kingston, who received the honorable LL.D. degree in Convocation Hall at Toronto University. Dr. Watson is a noted Canadian educationist.

FIVE CITY TEAMS IN FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Organization Meeting Last Evening -- Cup Presented by Hon. Pres.

At a meeting of the Prince Rupert Football League held last night in the St. Andrew's Society rooms, F. H. Mobley was elected hon. president; C. A. Armstrong, president; W. G. Dennis, secretary-treasurer.

The league will consist of the following clubs: Caledonians, City Merchants, Drydocks, G. T. P., and Sons of England.

Mr. Mobley has presented a cup to be held by the winning team of the league competition the schedule for which will not be drawn until after Dominion Day.

Under the control of the League a "sudden death" competition will be held for the cup presented by the Dominion Day celebration committee, the preliminary ties to be played next week at the Drydock and the final on Dominion Day on Market Place. Entries for this competition will close on Friday, June 19th, at noon.

HOSTILE IRISH CAMPS ARE STILL PREPARING FOR WAR

REDMOND HAS UNITED ARMY BEHIND HIM WELL ORGANIZED -- SAYS THEY ARE READY TO FIGHT--ULSTER IS ALSO STILL BUSY

Dublin, June 17.—"I know the Irish volunteers and what they stand for. They want not platitudes but rifle ranges, not adjectives but bullets. Volunteer Ireland is National Ireland and so Nationalist Ireland and Volunteer Ireland are one."

This was the keynote of Professor Kettle's speech before 3,000 Nationalist volunteers at Port Arington on Sunday. They were sturdy men from the countryside of Leinster and most of them had marched miles with pikes and drums and lances—some came comfortably in special trains—to hear Professor Kettle as the henchman of Mr. John Redmond explain the crisis which has threatened to divide Nationalist Southern Ireland into two camps. When Professor Kettle had explained there were but few dissentient voices.

A volunteer who carried an American emblem was asked what that meant.

"Irishmen in the United States are going to help us arm," he replied, and he told me he and his friends in the district had spent many years across the Atlantic. He told me also that the money had been found and that if Mr. Redmond would take the responsibility, a ship-load of rifles would be started within a fortnight.

This is the spirit of Nationalist Ireland. What must be the concern of the whole Empire is what will Redmond do with the army when he controls it. As the Nationalist army is sanctioned and led by Redmond and his colleagues, these men will become, there is substantial reason for believing, an armed and comparatively disciplined army, fully a quarter of a million strong, determined, if necessary, to maintain a Home Rule Parliament in Dublin over Ireland.

Danger of a Clash

There is danger, therefore, that the establishment of a provisional government in Ulster will be the signal for letting loose of forces in Ireland and the creation of a situation which is appalling to contemplate. In Ulster the Nationalist volunteers are the best equipped and disciplined and they will resist the provisional government and call on the National volunteers of the South and Midlands for support. The opposing forces must inevitably come into conflict and the British army will be divided in dealing with such a situation. Ireland's kaleidoscopic situation changes every week and the longer the delay towards settlement, the more determined become this rival forces.

Delegates Have Concert

The Mason delegates had a grand concert aboard the Princess Alice last evening. Bros. Ashley and Bannister organized it and the latter contributed largely to the programme. Bro. Bannister is a pianist of great talent and his playing of Paderewski's minuet was commented on by musicians as being an accomplished piece of art. Several others of the delegates contributed excellent numbers and the audience discovered there was a lot of brilliant talent aboard.

PIONEERS ARRANGE BIG CELEBRATION

Decide on Reproduction of Knoxville of the Days of 1908

A meeting of the pioneers who are interested in the celebration of the old days to be held on July 1st, was held in the city hall last evening.

F. W. Hart and Arthur Cuthbert, who are leaders in the promotion of the event, reported progress. Some fifteen oldtimers have promised to reproduce their shop of the early days.

The location of the remade Rupert road will be on G. T. P. property between Second Avenue and the Premier Hotel. General Superintendent Mehan has agreed to allow the use of the grounds.

David H. Hays was appointed chairman of the celebration.

It was decided to have only places operating prior to May, 1909 represented on the midway. Fred Stork suggested a canvas place with stalls for the old business fences as being less expensive, but Arthur Cuthbert favored tents.

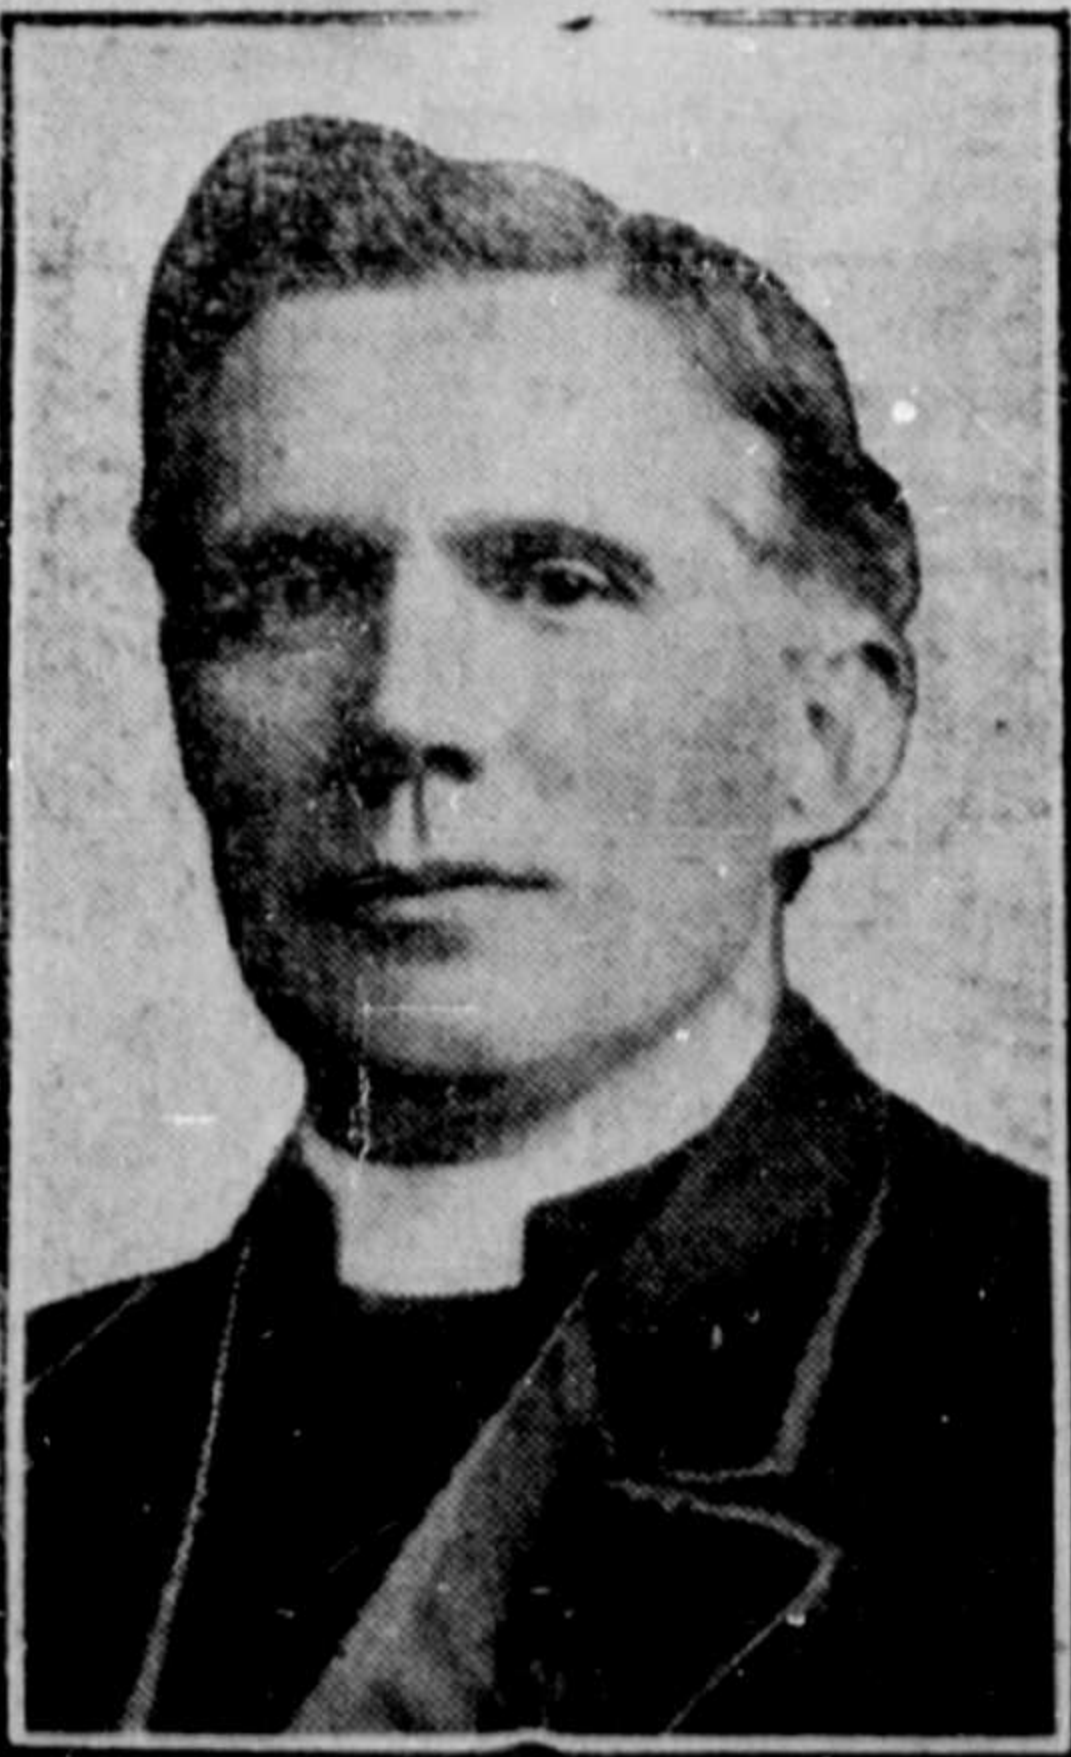

A number of oldtimers were present and expressed their willingness to help the scheme.

DAILY EDITION

Wednesday, June 17, 1914

Prince Rupert will welcome today a very distinguished party. The most worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient and Accepted Masons of British Columbia will convene here from Wednesday till Friday night of this week.

This institution is not only more ancient than the golden fleece and more honorable than the star or garter but it also contains within its ranks most of the leading men in every community where it is established. At the same time it is not an exclusive body. In this Province it contains all grades of society from the Premier to the humblest tiller of the soil.

While Prince Rupert feels honored by this visit and will do everything to make their stay a pleasant one, it is also a privilege for the visitors to see this city in the making and to understand something of the hopes and aspirations of the North. The opening up of the G. T. P. means another chapter in the life of this great Province. The resources of the North are wonderful and the advantages of rapid transportation will quickly develop these and a large population will soon be the result.

It is quite fitting to point out a few of the things that will make Prince Rupert great. It is well known that the G. T. P. traverses the lowest grades on the continent, the maximum being six-tenths of one per cent. This means a greater carrying power which of course is a potent factor in competition. The trip from Montreal or Chicago to Yokohama via the G. T. P. can be made in forty-eight hours less time than by any other route. This is partly due to a longer rail haul which is faster and partly to the curvature of the earth which is less as one approaches the poles. Prince Rupert then has a magnificent harbor—large, safe and deep—which will secure low insurance rates, and contribute toward safety at sea.

The resources of Rupert are manifold. Fish, of course, is King, and one of the greatest wealth producers in the world. Conditions are so, too, that the fishing industry can be conserved. There is no Puget Sound with American fishing traps to destroy our salmon as they have in the south. In the interior there is an abundance of fertile soil. The mountains and hills are full of precious metals. The forests are rich in timber. Coal has been found all over the country and particularly in the Groundhog District where there are immense beds of anthracite. The Queen Charlottes, at our doors, are rich in soil, timber, coal and perhaps oil. With such a magnificent district as this, it is no wonder that the people of Prince Rupert should have such great faith in the future of this city.

There is another important factor to be considered. This city is 550 miles from Vancouver and therefore beyond the zone of competition. There will never be any reason for these cities being jealous of each other. Each has its own sphere and caters to immense territories that in no way conflict with each other. Each has its own work to do in the development of the Province and as the one prospers the other will catch its reflected rays.

HOW ST. LAWRENCE GULF AND RIVER ARE GUARDED BY WIRELESS STATIONS

The black dots represent Government owned and operated wireless stations under the station name, shows the stations operated by the Marconi Company. The "N.M." and the dots with the rings range in nautical miles. The Gulf stations between Montreal and Port Riche are open permanently day and night during the season of navigation. The rest of the stations, except Pictou, are open permanently day and night all the year around. Pictou is open day and night during the winter season.

MR. ROOSEVELT-- THE SPOILED CHILD

It was unnecessary for Mr. Roosevelt to issue a formal statement asserting that everything is wrong and that "when I return from abroad I shall actively take up the political situation." It is Mr. Roosevelt's ardent conviction that everything must be wrong unless it is done by him or bossed by him.

Mr. Roosevelt is the spoiled child of American politics. He has been flattered and applauded and coddled and deified until he has come to believe that not only the Government of the United States but the Government of all the separate States is his personal plaything.

The Presidency is his favorite toy. The White House is his private property. Every drop of blood in his veins revolts at the thought of anybody else being the Chief Magistrate of the Nation. Like the Turk, he can tolerate no brother near the throne or on the throne. All his instincts of government are Oriental.

Other Presidents after retiring from the White House have usually either given honest support to their successors or refrained from deliberately embarrassing them. Even Andrew Johnson had too fine a sense of the dignity of his former office to assail Grant publicly; but all successors look alike to Mr. Roosevelt. A progressive Democrat like Mr. Wilson is no less offensive in his eyes than a standpat Republican like Mr. Taft. It is not politics or programmes or theories of government that arouse Mr. Roosevelt's antagonism. It is the fact that somebody else has a great office that he once held and is determined to recover.

The same benevolent theory of political despotism is spread over the entire country. Governors and Senators in themselves make no appeal to Mr. Roosevelt's personal ambition, but nobody may be a Senator or a Governor who is unacceptable to him. The Rooseveltian attitude is so preposterous that it would be ridiculous if it did not now and then have its very serious side.

The blame, however, does not rest so much upon Mr. Roosevelt as upon the elements of the American people who have so long inflamed his vanity and egotism. Really great men like Washington and Lincoln are not spoiled by adulation, but in large doses it is dangerous medicine for smaller men. Mr. Roosevelt's egotism was always abnormal, but it has grown enormously on the food that popular folly and popular hysteria have fed to it. A much better balanced man than he might easily have been upset by the hero worship of which he has been the object.

It is a pity that Mr. Roosevelt has been so spoiled. He has unusual energy and unusual capacity for public service. His influence, if it were not so wholly selfish, could be a powerful instrument of public good. If he were great enough to trample his own ambition under foot and make himself a disinterested counsellor of the American people on men and measures a career of extraordinary public usefulness would be open to him. Instead, he has deliberately chosen to make himself a continuing menace to rational political progress.

SWEETSTONE-TWEEDALE

Expert Dancing Duo at the Westholme Opera House Tonight

Tonight the celebrated London dancing duo, Miss Sweetstone and Mr. Tweedale begin a one-week's engagement at the Westholme Opera House in the original Argentine Tango and other modern dances including the Maxixe, Matchhice, etc.

Miss Sweetstone is also an accomplished solo dancer and will be seen in her famous Gipsy dance tonight. Dancing classes are also being formed at which the Tango, One-step, Hesitation, Maxixe, etc., will be taught. Private lessons will be given if desired. Application for lessons can be made by phone to the Westholme Opera House.

A fine programme of moving pictures will complete the entertainment.

Attractive Masonic Windows

One of the business houses of the city which always seizes every opportunity to make a special display and get up to the minute advertising is the Acme Clothing House of Second Avenue. Today they have the two big windows of their handsome and showy store front dressed with Masonic emblems and men's requirements in clothing and furnishings during the Grand Lodge week. One window is devoted to evening clothes and the other to furnishings. It is a very attractive display and a credit to the business enterprise of the young city.

The Royal Cafe is the old, reliable and popular dining place of the city. You can depend on getting the best cuisine and best service.

Mr. and Mrs. McClymont returned today with the Masonic party. They went to Vancouver to assist in welcoming the party to Prince Rupert.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McLennan arrived today among the visiting Masons. Mr. McLennan is Master of Tyee Lodge, although not residing here at present.

Mr. H. H. Watson, M. P. P. for Vancouver, arrived today as one of the visiting Masons. Mr. Watson has been here on several occasions.

One of the best decorated shop windows in town is that of Deemers & Co. Suitable Masonic emblems are shown surrounded by bunting of royal purple and gold.

Mr. F. J. Burd, perhaps the most genial visitor among the Masons, is business manager of the Vancouver Province. He is an honorary member of Tyee Lodge. He is accompanied by Mrs. Burd.

The fine weather of the past week has greatly improved the salmon fishing on the Skeena and the fishermen are now picking up fifteen to twenty fish on a tide. The spring fishing should remain good now until the sockeye season opens.

Mr. and Mrs. Starr Parker returned on the Princess Rupert this morning after spending a few weeks in the South on a holiday. They attended the rose festival in Portland, and while there were joined by Mr. Parker's father, of Ontario. Mr. Parker, Sr., accompanied his son to Prince Rupert and already likes the place so well that he thinks he will stay.

A 12-year-old boy was in police court this morning and found guilty of stealing a watch. The magistrate allowed him to go but told his mother that she was at fault in allowing her child to roam the streets at ten o'clock at night. The magistrate extended this warning to all parents.

This morning two Indians, David Maxwell and Wm. Tait, were charged in police court with being drunk and having whisky in their possession. Two white men are mixed up in the affair. The hearing will take place this afternoon.

W. C. Dittmars, of the firm of Armstrong, Morrison & Co., Vancouver, and an officer of the Masonic Grand Lodge, is in the city. His firm is building a large steel bridge at Pitt Meadows for the Provincial Government.

The Most Worshipful Grand Master Wm. Henderson is senior architect for the Dominion Government in this Province. Some one who heard him speak suggested that he might also be of Scotch extraction and a Presbyterian, but this is a guess.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Prepared chalk covers a multitude of skins.

Note carefully the man who owns a soft, persuasive voice.

Many a woman acts rather stiffly after her first tango lesson.

Some women are born shapely and some others employ expert dressmakers.

If a young man has money to burn any number of anxious mothers try to hand him a match.

Spoiled children and foolish parents are often found in the same house.

Anyway, a man never sits down on the floor when he puts on his hosiery.

FOUR WINTERS OF RHEUMATISM

Cured of Sciatica And Muscular Rheumatism By "Fruit-a-lives"

RIDGERTOWN, ONT., May 21st, 1913. "Fruit-a-lives" cured me of Rheumatism. It was the only medicine that made any impression on me. I was a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism. I was laid up for four winters with Sciatica and Muscular Rheumatism, and was completely crippled. Some neighbor of mine told me that "Fruit-a-lives" helped him, and I started in to take them. I used "Fruit-a-lives" faithfully for two years, taking them every day as I saw they were doing me good, and the results were marvellous. For over two years, I have been completely free from any Rheumatic Pains whatever, and I give "Fruit-a-lives" the credit." W. H. RACHER, 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. Informal Meeting of Masons

After the reception at the wharf the visiting Masons as well as many of the local body assembled in the lodge rooms, in an informal gathering.

D. H. Morrison, the local deputy grand master, extended to the visitors a hearty welcome to the city, and invited each of them while in Rupert to become one of Rupert's boys.

Short addresses were delivered by the M.W. Grand Master Wm. Henderson, D. G. M. Jas. Stark, P.G.M. J. M. Rudd, P.G.M. F. J. Burd, and P.G.M. H. H. Watson.

A feature of the proceedings was an address of welcome from F. J. Bird, who is an honorary member of Tyee Lodge, and from E. B. Paul, an honorary member of Tsimpsan Lodge.

Printing Shop Aboard Alice

One of the unique features of the Princess Alice Service is a printing plant and newspaper, A. Considine, assistant steward, is editor and publisher of the Princess Alice Herald, and turns out a neat little sheet. He furnished the local press with a printed list of the delegates to the Grand Lodge. He also issues a printed bill-of-fare for each of the meals.
