HINDUS AWAY TO-DAY-- LEAVE VANCOUVER IN PEACE

IN VICTORY OVER SPECIAL POLICE CORPS BUT HAVE BEEN BROUGHT TO SUBMISSION BY RAINBOW—MANY CONFERENCES HELD

(Special to The Daily News)

Vancouver, July 22.—Steam got up on the Komagata Maru and she is expected to sail this morning. She will be accompanied by the Rainbow. After many conferences the Hindus finally agreed to the proposals of the officials that the ship should be provisioned and the Hindus provided on the condition that the Hindus allowed the captain to get up steam and sail at once. The captain has returned to ship.

Vancouver, July 21.—After a day spent in negotiating the departure of the East Indians on board the Komagata Maru here, it is believed a satisfactory conclusion has been reached and the undesirable immigrants will leave for the Orient.

Negotiations were attended by the delivering of many ultimatums. For the Hindus on the Komagata Maru, Mr. McNeill acted as counsel. The negotiations were carried on between the men on board the ship and those on shore. The proposals of the authorities was to condition the immediate departure of the ship for the Orient.

This condition was accepted by the shore committee, who then boarded the ship to endeavor to persuade the Hindus there to accept the terms. Up to the present time the Hindus on board accept the terms.

The East Indians on board have been in on all points. Nothing has been conceded by the authorities in the matter.

It will take about twelve hours to get up steam on the vessel. It is expected she will get away about 7 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Vancouver, July 22.—Armed with swords, daggers and crude weapons of their own manufacture, as well as a few revolvers, and fighting like demons with all the fanaticism of their Oriental natures, the 352 Hindus on board the Komagata Maru, urged on by five Sikh and Mohammedan priests, early Sunday morning repulsed 120 policemen and 40 special immigration officers, who attempted to board the vessel from the big steam tug Sea Lion, sent out to protect the captain and his Japanese crew from the Hindus.

Forty members of the attacking party were more or less seriously injured, eight of them having to be removed to the General Hospital. The injured included Chief of Police MacLennan and four police inspectors. Unable to return the fusillade of rocks, sticks, coal and scrap iron that rained down upon the policemen as they huddled together on the over-crowded deck of the tug, the advantage was all on the side of the Hindus, who had made every preparation to repel boarders. Nearly every man on board the Komagata Maru had seen service under the British flag in India and they brought their knowledge of warfare into good use in repelling the attack.

Money is tight and I need it, so here's an offer: Up to August 1st I will supply my regular $25 heating coil for $15. I guarantee this to boil water in fifteen minutes, and not to affect the oven. Forty now in use and giving entire satisfaction. Ask for references. The reliable plumber, Harry Hanson, P. O. Box 395, Phone 489.

WALTER OWEN LED POLICE IN GUN FIGHT

Fish Trap Raiders Attacked by Provincial Police at Sooke

A raid on the Sooke fish traps near Victoria was repelled by the Provincial police authorities early Monday morning only after a fusillade of shots had been exchanged between the pirates and the patrol boat, the latter being in charge of Special Provincial Constable Owens.

The traps belong to J. H. Todd & Sons, and the raid, the first this season, had evidently been well planned. The night was dark, and the two marauding launches stole into the traps and were at work before the patrol boat had learned of their presence. In attempting to get to seaward of the pirates, the patrol boat was seen by them, the launches immediately making a swift dash from the traps.

Constable Owens and the two men with him began firing at the two strange craft, and the shots were returned by the fishing vessels. For a time it was pretty warm work in the patrol boat for the bullets were flying round.

Luckily, however, none of the police officers were hit. In their haste to get out of the patrol boat the marauders left their apparatus for getting the fish out of the traps behind them, and the gear was confiscated by the authorities.

AT THE EMPRESS

The attraction at the Empress to-night and to-morrow night is the great political drama "The Ring and the Man," with Mr. Bruce McRae in the title role. This is another one of the splendid Famous Players series, being run exclusively by the Empress. The plot is a most absorbing one and tells a story of great power and human interest. TELLS GRAPHIC STORY OF FIGHT WITH HINDUS

B. A. McKelvie, Marine Editor of Vancouver Province, in City Today

B. A. McKelvie, formerly of the editorial staff of The Daily News but now marine editor of the Vancouver Province, is making the round trip on the Prince Rupert. Mr. McKelvie was along with the police force that had the fight with the Hindu immigrants on Sunday last. It seems to have been a battle royal with the advantage of position and weapons in the hands of the Hindus. One man struck with a lump of coal fell overboard and narrowly escaped drowning. When the missiles started coming good and fast everybody crowded to the leaside of the Sea Lion with the result that water began to rush into the engine room and rendered liable an explosion. The men kept marvelously cool, however, until the moorings were cut and the Sea Lion got away.

Some big burly policemen had their revenge by returning a few bricks with such effect that the offenders will have something to remind them of the fight.

BRUTAL MURDER WAS COMMITTED

Resident of Trail Attacked at Rossland—Hammer and Knife Used

(Special to The Daily News)

Rossland, B.C., July 22.—John Malatinka, a resident of Trail, was murdered here Monday night. The assault must have been made by eight or nine instruments. He used a hammer and a knife both belonging to the murdered man, who was several times struck on the head by a hammer. The skull was badly fractured. The knife was not much used, there being only a few small cuts on the face. No arrests have been made.

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, July 22.—The Government has appointed a commission of judges of the Supreme Court to bring in recommendations for a redistribution of seats in the Legislature. The commission will consist of Mr. Justice Aulay Morrison, who was appointed to the bench by the late Liberal Government, and Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald, who was recently elevated to a judgeship by the present Ottawa Government. They will wrestle with the problems of population and territory and will make a report to the Legislature, on which a redistribution measure will next session be presented to the House.

To-night's programme at the Majestic Theatre is a strong one. Keen interest is centred on the closing chapters of 'Lucille Love,' and to-night's portion is a thriller. Rattling good comedy is also on the bill.

MINERS RELIEF FUND STOPPED-- NANAIMO STRIKE MAY BE OVER

STRIKE LASTED OVER TWO YEARS AND DURING THAT TIME MILLION AND A HALF OF DOLLARS SPENT IN RELIEF FUND

(Special to The Daily News)

Nanaimo, July 22.—All the men of the Nanaimo local organization of the United Mine Workers of America have been informed that no more relief money will be paid on the island, owing to the financial condition of the union.

This strike has already lasted over two years during which time the United Mine Workers of America have paid out in relief funds over a million and a half of dollars. This turn in affairs may end the strike.

Not only has the strike caused a tremendous financial loss to the country but a large amount of suffering has resulted and bitterness generated that will take many years to undo. All this could have been prevented if the McBride Government had done their duty.

MOSLEY COMMITTED TO STAND TRIAL

Accused of Stabbing Hazel Warren, a Colored Woman

Mosley, the hot tamale man, was charged in police court this morning with having stabbed Hazel Warren, also colored, in the arm.

After hearing several witnesses the magistrate committed him for trial.

According to the evidence of Hazel Mosley, with whom she had been living, quarreled with her and struck her in the arm with a knife. Dr. Cade had bound up the wound.

Lulu Turner, with whom Hazel is now living, gave evidence of Mosley having frequently beat Hazel. One morning shortly prior to the stabbing, Mosley had "beat her and beat her, and slammed her on the floor and continued to beat her until she was unconscious." A doctor had to be called. Lulu also said that Mosley promised to beat her every day until she was obedient. Application was made for bail.

DAILY EDITION Wednesday, July 22, 1914.

The News has stated on several occasions that it had information showing that the City Council had an opportunity to sell their long-term debentures at a splendid figure but refused to do so because a silly old alderman declared that he would never sell them under 90. It happens that the gentleman who had the opportunity of selling two million of the city's debentures at 87 net is now in the city and in an interview with a representative of The Daily News again related the facts. He had been in communication with the 1913 Council but decided to do nothing until money loosened up a little after the new year. As soon as he felt the market was receptive he cabled the city asking if the loan had been made and received a reply in the negative.

Through financial friends he then found out that the debentures could be placed at 97 net to the city. He immediately cabled the city to that effect and asked for authority to negotiate, to which he got no reply whatever. A few days afterwards he cabled again to which he got the reply: "Better offer required. Letter follows." On the receipt of that he again cabled: "Send lowest net terms acceptable," to which there was no reply.

When the letter referred to arrived, it stated that the long term debentures had been withdrawn from the market, and that they had nothing to sell.

These facts are incontro-vertible and if anybody doubts them he can have them verified by enquiring at the office of this paper. During the election campaign, The News declared that Newton and his followers were incapable of handling the city's affairs, but in spite of these warnings the people elected them to office. Having done that they will now have to "pay the piper," but it is quite in order that every citizen should know that nothing but the bungling of the City Council has prevented this city from being in first class shape with all its debentures sold, and in a position to furnish employment to a large number who are now out of work.

From all indications we are going to have an oil boom on the Queen Charlotte Islands. Booms are always extravagant and feckle. The chances moreover are no better than those on a horse race. Anybody buying oil stock should do so with the understanding that he can afford to lose the amount he invests. If conditions favor him, he may make a fortune, but no man should jeopardize his entire resources by such a wild fling.

Companies offering stock for sale should see to it that every purchaser of stock gets a run for his money. The public will not stand for any wild-catting. Let only treasury stock be sold and let that be sold at a reasonable valuation. If any attempt is made at "wild-catting" the companies will have themselves to blame if the press takes a hand in the game.

MORE PROSPECTORS TAKING TO HILLS

Many Reports of Mineral Discoveries Reach Fort George Daily

Fort George, July 22.—While nothing definite in the mining line has developed during the past week, more and more prospectors, real and amateur, are taking to the hills, and a large number of claims have been located.

All kinds of stories are going around, concerning rich strikes of placer and quartz, but so far The Tribune has been unable to confirm any of them, except by the statements of men who claim to be on the inside.

W. R. Bartley, original proprietor of the Fort George Bottling Works, and an old prospector before he went into the soft drink business in Edmonton, has located a placer claim about six miles up the Fraser and has applied for water rights to work it by the hydraulic method.

Other placer claims have been staked to the south on Hixon Creek and other small streams in the neighborhood, while it is reported that a rich strike of almost pure galena has been found a few miles back of Whites Landing. Sample ore from the group of claims located at this place have been sent to a coast smelter for testing. Unconfirmed rumors say that old galena miners estimate that these samples will run better than 150 oz. to the ton.

More samples from the hills to the west have been sent out and arrangements have been completed for the immediate commencement of work in case assays prove up to expectations.

A crew of men with a diamond drill headed south for some unknown spot a few days ago and there is considerable speculation as to their destination.

Other reports are coming in of strikes farther up the Fraser and several samples showing gold in the native state have been exhibited but information as to where they came from is not forthcoming.

Fox Season Nearly Over

Although more than two hundred young foxes have been captured in Southern Yukon since the season opened the first of June, but few have come in during the past week to Dawson, the animals having reached that age when they are leaving the dens and becoming more wary.

Naas Settler Wants Roads

Aiyansh, Naas River, B.C.

To the Editor Daily News: The Naas we call it; to the natives it is the valley of eternal bloom. The climate is good and the land productive. Back of us lays the Groundhog with its great deposits of coal. The river is teeming with fish. Big and small game is found in the mountains. What we need sorely is roads. At present we must pack every necessity up to 25 miles over a trail which in the spring of the year and fall of the year is almost impassable. The appropriation for the Naas this year was too small to bring much relief.

A limited number of men only are being employed and there is from $12 to $15 per day expenses going on whether there is a large or small number of men working. This country will be going ahead rapidly. Here you will see the prospector with his burden defying the wilderness, to wrest treasures from the silent mountains. Yonder are other men also heavily laden. Into the valleys they go to build homes and communities. Their task is the making of the wilderness into productive fields and meadows fringed with roses is no easy one.

This fair west of ours is a land of great possibilities but is yet in its infancy and as such must be given due consideration to grow and prosper. And yet in order to get the distance needed it must have determined and capable men in the country's parliaments. Does William Manson's past record show that he is such a man? Does it?

A faithful of the fold is at present organizing a Conservative Association in here. What success he will have remains to be seen. He believes strongly in his own abilities and is a supporter of Mr. Manson.

How votes are solicited I will show later on. I shall also quote facts and figures which I am sure will prove interesting.

Respectfully yours, LOUIS FORKRUD, June 21st, 1914

G. T. P. WILL USE OIL FUEL WHEN STRIKE IS MADE

Edmonton, July 22.—That oil will ultimately be used as fuel on all G. T. P. railway engines traversing the mountain and western sections of the road, was the remark made by Morley Donaldson, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, who is on a trip of inspection over the western lines.

"Oil, if found in large quantities in Alberta, will mean a great deal to the province and country, and our company will at once consider the building of oil burning engines once the big strike is made," he remarked.

REAL ESTATE is just as good an investment in Prince Rupert today as it was when the market was active and the speculators were making a quick turnover. No man who holds any bulk of property here anticipates or fears a slump. The big owners have perfect confidence in the city and in the real estate. They are improving their property and getting good revenues. That is where the small owner is handicapped during the period of inactivity. He has not enough money to improve his property and get a revenue. But if he pooled his available means with the savings of others, the whole would make a good working capital. That is where the Prince Rupert Building and Investment Co. is helping the small capitalist to make good. This company improves its property and has an income. It has been one of the most successful organizations in the city. It has paid an average of SEVENTEEN PER CENT in dividends in the past three years. We have a limited amount of stock offered for sale.

THE KING'S CHARGER (Timely Cartoon by Jas S. Frise)

A TRIP UP THE NAAS RIVER

A holiday trip up the Naas River is one of the most pleasant ways of spending a summer vacation. There is a continuous panorama of the finest river scenery to be seen anywhere in British Columbia from the mouth of the river for seventy-five miles. C. W. Brown, and his native crew mosphere is a wonderful cure for the "nerves." There is not a dull or uninteresting mile in the whole distance. From Prince Rupert and return can be made in a week or the holiday can be extended to two weeks or as much longer as one can afford to prolong it and the fare for the round trip is less than $25. This is an excursion that every businessman in Prince Rupert ought to take as the Naas Valley is sure to become one of the greatest feeders of your city and lies almost at your front door. It is very rich in agricultural possibilities and contains many thousands of acres of fertile land with a navigable river running through the midst of it, assuring a cheap means of transportation. The soil and climate combine to produce vegetation most luxuriantly. Boat loads of all kinds of vegetables and roots; many kinds of berries and bush fruits; apples, plums and cherries; fresh eggs and poultry, rich milk and cream; fresh butter and cheese; beef, pork and mutton; will be distributed among your merchants, and the hundreds of settlers that will supply this produce for you will take in exchange from your business men thousands of tons of groceries and provisions, dry goods and clothing, boots and shoes, farm tools and machinery, fencing, hardware and building materials, household furnishings, books and stationery, drugs and sundries, in fact everything useful and ornamental that our advanced civilization can supply to a prosperous, cultured and ambitious people.

How to make the trip is easy. There are no complications in the itinerary. The "Prince John," the "Princess May," the "Venture," will carry you in style and comfort from Prince Rupert to Port Nelson on Naas Bay, and the mail boat will take you from there seventy-five miles up the river to the end of navigation into the very heart of the settlement.

The mail boat, the "Ella," is a gasoline launch, forty feet over all and ten feet beam, with a double tunnel stern. A safe and sturdy little craft, captained by C. W. Brown, and his native crew are all experienced river men who know every bend and current, twist and turn in the river. The deck is covered in for the protection of supplies and a comfortable three-quarter length cabin is at your service. A slave for making tea and cooking meals and a table to spread out the contents of the lunch basket are provided large enough for the use of a small party. The trip up can be made in ten hours actual running time, but stops are made at different points of interest. The current is swift in places and in running through the canyon there is just enough spice of danger to keep your wits from going wool gathering.

Besides the general beauty of the route, taking a bird's eye view of it, there are many objects of especial interest. The operations on the canneries at the mouth of the river where the king of fish, the sockeye salmon, are being handled by the thousands every day, are most interesting. The Indian villages and fishing stations on the river excite the curiosity. There are still some of the old style native houses and these contrasted with the modern houses which most of the Indians now live in form a very interesting contrast. Some of the latter are to all outward appearance invested with a grandeur and a show of comfort and substantiality that is commendable. The Indian in his old home surroundings, is an entertaining character to study. At Gitlak-danika, now the oldest Indian village on the river, there stand towering upwards for 75 feet or more some of the finest totem poles on the coast, most grotesquely carved and very ancient. Some of these totem poles cost over a thousand dollars to erect. These relics of an old Indian custom are becoming scarce. They have not erected any for a number of years. Some of the old Indian chiefs have a wonderful collection of Indian curios, Indian doctor's regalia, chieftain blankets, amalits, crowns, whistles, potlack faces, armlets, anklets, leggings, drums, some of which have been in use at their potlack dances for hundreds of years. At the canyon at Gwinoha the effects of the extremes of heat and cold are visible. The mountains are capped with glacial ice and along the south bank of the river an ancient volcano has poured out a volume of liquid fire which when cooled covered an area of probably 25,000 acres in extent and many feet deep. If this lava bed could be covered with alluvium annually carried down the river it would make a thousand good farms, but as it is there is a barren waste. The purest water in the world gushes in places from underneath it. There are hot sulphur springs in the valley, which are easy of approach from the river. There waters are declared to be of great curative value for rheumatic and kindred complaints.

Aiyansh is the most important and largest of the villages on the river and has a more modern appearance than any of the rest. This is the place where most of the settlers at present congregate. The telegraph and post office are situated here and there is a very good hotel here where good accommodation is provided and first class meals can be obtained. This village has a large and fertile area surrounding it on all sides. About 5000 acres of the best of it, however, is confined within an Indian reserve and unless some terms can be made with the Indians, will not be very productive. There is, however, many thousand acres outside of the reserve, which to clear and put under cultivation will keep a large and industrious settlement out of mischief for some years and will be as good as anything on the reserve.

It would take the pen of a much more ready writer than I to tell of half the interesting things of the valley, but I will close with the invitation that you come and see.

HALIBUT CONCERNS INDICTED BY JURY

Prince Rupert Named as One of Their Chief Shipping Points

Seattle, July 22.—The long expected indictments based on the Sherman anti-trust law, charging illegal combinations in restraint of trade in the halibut industry, upon which a federal grand jury began investigation last May, have been returned before Judge Neterer against six concerns engaged in the halibut industry, together with five officers and employes of these concerns.

The indictment, which is nearly fifty pages long, recites in detail the rise of the several companies from what, it charges, were small beginnings to be the controlling factors in the halibut industry for the whole country.

The indictment in substance then alleges that these several concerns and the individuals indicted conspired to control and limit the supply and price of halibut taken from the waters of the North Pacific and North Atlantic oceans and the Bering Sea, shipped through the markets of Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Prince Rupert, and Boston; to control the price paid independent dealers for their fish by making exorbitant and unreasonable bids against them; to control the price by refusing to bid against each other; to control the distribution of halibut through the markets by pretended competition against each other; to control prices by refraining from good faith competition in markets allotted by agreement among themselves, and to control markets and prices by intimidation and coercion of independent dealers.

After the indictments were received and ordered filed, the grand jury was granted a recess until October 13, with the reservation that if the jurors were wanted before that time they would be seasonably notified.

Women Foul Bandits

Bartlett Springs, Cal., July 22. Two masked men held up two stages on the Woodland-Bartlett Springs line at the summit of the Brin grade, on the boundary between Colusa and Lake counties, took $12.50 and escaped.

They overlooked $300, which five women in the first stage dropped to the floor of the tonneau before getting out into the road.

Lots of Red Fish

Ketchikan, July 22.—Cannery men report that the proportion of red fish this year is higher than ever before. The Ketchikan Cannery has more red fish up now than altogether last year and the Pure Food Cannery has practically twice as many as in 1913.

Conrad Town Deserted
George Armstrong, in company with a party of Whitehorse people who are spending a few days at Carcross, visited the town of Conrad last Saturday. He says that what was the liveliest little town in the North eight years ago is now wholly deserted except for one resident, an aged woman who lives there all alone. Three of the best hotel buildings in the Yukon, one of them all furnished even to bar glasses and cash register, stand like silent sentinels, reminders of former prosperity and halcyon days.

Mr. Armstrong says there are sufficient buildings in Conrad for a town of five hundred population and that if that section ever has another mining boom, the owners can return and take possession with practically no outlay whatever.—Whitehorse Star.

Looking to Alaska
Burbank, Plant Specialist, Says North Has Marvellous Capabilities
Dawson, Y.T., July 22.—Alfred Burbank, noted plant specialist, brother of Luther Burbank, after visiting here, declares the valleys of Alaska and Yukon have marvellous capabilities for root crop production.

Mr. Burbank says: "Give me time in Alaska and I will evolve a potato that will be adapted thoroughly to conditions there and that will be free from water, equal to any grown in the world, and that will enable Alaska, with her thousands of miles of fine valleys, to supply all the potatoes needed in the United States. America's potato lands are already short and much more will be needed.

"Alaska may be looked to for the future supply. Alaska also should ship cabbages, turnips, celery and all kinds of root crops. "The government railways and rivers afford the natural high-ways. Siberian apples should thrive in Alaska."

Father Rivet will leave here this week for his new home.

General regret is expressed that he must leave Whitehorse and the best wishes of all will accompany him to his new and broader field of labor.
