ALLIES TO RAZE HOUSES WITHIN FOUR DAYS -- LIVE STOCK TAKEN IN BEHIND THE FORTS-- STOCKING UP WITH FOOD

(Special to THE NEWS)
August 31.—It is officially announced here that the government has ordered the residents within the zone of active operations about Paris to destroy their homes within four days. The food has been placed in State warehouses. Boideau presents an unusual appearance. It is transformed into a vast pasture with cows and sheep on the lawns. The number of sheep parks is ten thousand. Many houses in the line of fire belong to poor people whose owners are now at the front. Hundreds of families lack resources and are without refuge. They took the situation without complaint.

THE VALLEY OF THE MEUSE

Now a bloody battleground. A view of the peaceful Meuse Valley along which the armies have been fighting. Mamur is shown in the picture. Liege and Dinant are also on this river.

ALLIED VICTORY AT CUXHAVEN DUE TO GOOD MARKSMENSHIP

ALLIES LOST 29 KILLED AND FORTY WOUNDED
TWO SMALL BOATS WERE SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

(Special to THE NEWS)
August 31.—The naval despatches state that two hours and was a sharp battle. The British cruiser Amethyst and the destroyer Laertes were the only British boats at all damaged. It is not known yet how many were engaged in the fight. The British boats passed the fortress of Heligoland and attacked the German squadron guarding the mouth of the Elbe. The battle of Cuxhaven on Friday last resulted in a tactical draw. The British lost 29 killed and 40 wounded. Two small boats were slightly damaged. The battle was fought at long range off Cuxhaven at the entrance to the Elbe and the victory was largely due to the splendid marksmanship of the British gunners.

SH LOSS WAS VERY SMALL IN NAVAL FIGHT

(Special to THE NEWS)
August 31.—Twenty killed and thirty-eight wounded is the price paid by the British in the naval action against the German fleet. This report has official sanction. Two of the killed were officers.

BRITISH HOLD STRATEGIC POSITION

(Special to THE NEWS)
London, August 30.—Field Marshal General French declared yesterday that the strategic position now held by the allies is such that a decisive victory would probably be fatal to Germany, while a continuance of resistance can, if prolonged, lead only to one conclusion.

GERMAN POSSESSIONS ON PACIFIC

Official bulletin yesterday states that the German naval port of Apia, Samoa Islands, has surrendered to the British.

AUSTRIANS NOW CHASING RUSSIANS BACK TO POLAND

(Special to The News-11:30 a.m.)
Berlin, via Copenhagen and London, August 31.—The Austrians after a reported victory over the Russians at Krasnik, pursued them in the direction of Lublin.

Decisive battles are now in progress with that section of the Russian army. Two million German volunteers have offered themselves for service.

GERMANS LOST NEARLY 900 MEN IN NAVAL FIGHT

(Special to THE NEWS)
London, August 31.—An official statement says that of 1,200 men, the crews of five German warships sunk behind Heligoland, only 330 were saved.

CUT FISHERMAN'S NET TOOK IN WRONG END

Bergston Will Stand Trial Today on Charge of Theft

Joseph Otero is a Skeena River fisherman. Last Monday night he was on the river with a bran new seine net lying to a night drift. This net is about 1,200 feet long and about thirty feet deep. On a dark night it would look a cinch to cut 500 or 600 feet off the outer end of the net and take it away.

A whole net is valued at about $200.

This possibility looked good and on the darkness of Monday night the net was cut. A man named Bergston and another who was helping him are alleged to have done the cutting. Anyway, they started picking up the severed net and hauling it into their boat. Judge then their surprise when instead of reaching the float at the outer end of the net and then silently slipping away, they drew up to the anchored end which was fastened to the owner's boat. Otero heard them coming and with 600 feet of net aboard their boat and the other end tied to the owner's boat, Bergston and his helper could not get away.

Hence Bergston will appear before Judge Young this afternoon charged with theft. A big pile of net is just inside the court house as mute but telling evidence in the case.

GERMANS NOW ONLY SIXTY MILES FROM PARIS

(Special to The News-11:30 a.m.)
London, August 31.—An official telegram here states that fresh forces of Germans have appeared on the Prussian frontier, taking the offensive against the Russians.

The Allies in France have apparently been forced to fall back before the German advance in the neighborhood of Laferre which is twenty miles nearer Paris than the Cambrai-Laon line, where the Allies re-organized after the Germans crossed the French border.

Fighting is proceeding near Amiens.

Laferre is only sixty miles from Paris.

The Ghent district in Belgium is clear of Germans.

Le Fere and Reims, where the Germans are reported in the latest despatches, form a second curtain protecting Paris.

La Fere, at the northwestern end of the line, has an outer line of detached forts eight miles from the city, an intermediate line and a citadel. Reims is an entrenched camp protected by a circle of detached forts, forty-five miles in circumference. A line of five detached forts runs from La Fere through Laon to Reims, completing the curtain. It is probable that this defensive line is now covering the concentration of the principal French army to oppose the German advance through Belgium.

HEAVY FIRING HEARD AT DOVER THIS MORNING

(Special to The News-11:30 a.m.)
London, August 31.—Heavy firing was heard at Dover this morning. It appeared to come from vessels on the French coast.

ARMY MILLION MEN FIGHTING THREE DAYS ON AUSTRIAN SOIL

Rome, August 31.—Despatches from the Austrian headquarters of the Corriere della Sera state that a million men are engaged in a great battle which has been proceeding for three days on the Austrian-Russian frontier. The battle line extends from the Vistula to the Dniester. The fighting is as severe as in Belgium. The Russians have penetrated 20 miles into Austrian territory.

Geo. B. Hull, Dominion resident engineer, and his assistant, Mr. Gringras, returned on Saturday from a trip to Lake Labarge where they were making some survey work for the department.

GERMAN OFFICERS WOULD NOT ALLOW CREWS TO SURRENDER

GERMAN MARINES FOUND SHOT DOWN WITH REVOLVERS BY THEIR OWN OFFICERS--FEAR THE BRITISH NAVY

(Special to THE NEWS)
London, August 31.—The British after the naval battle behind Heligoland found German marines with wounds caused by revolver bullets. The prisoners declared the revolvers were used by their officers to prevent the men surrendering to the British. Count Von Schwerin is among the prisoners. His feet and hands are chained because he refused to give his word of honor that he wouldn't try to escape. He carried a sword given by Emperor William of whom he is a nephew. The German marines admit they stand in awe of the British navy with its superb marksmanship.

RUSSIANS OVERRUN E. PRUSSIA NOW INVESTING KOENIGSBURG

HAVE PENETRATED THREE LINES OF DEFENCES, DEFEATING THE GERMANS REPEATEDLY--ON THE WAY TO BERLIN

(Special to THE NEWS)
Washington, August 31.—The British Embassy yesterday received from London a message that East Prussia is being rapidly overrun by the Russians and that a great part of the region is now in their hands. Three German army corps and several divisions have been repeatedly defeated, losing many men and guns. The Russians are now investing Koenigsburg. Koenigsburg is a city of 200,000 population. It is situated on the Gulf of Danzig and was formerly a Polish possession. It has a fortress of the first-class and is looked upon as the strongest position in the eastern part of the Empire.

The whole of Eastern Prussia has been fortified with four lines of defences running north and south. The fourth and last of these is along the River Vistula, with Danzig on the north end and Bromberg on the south. The Russians have already penetrated as far as the Vistula in some places and if they cross this successfully the way to Berlin is open.

BRITISH FIGHTING IN FRONT DROVE GERMANS OUT OF FRANCE

TWO GREAT GERMAN GENERALS HAD TO RETIRE INTO BELGIUM WITH BRITISH TROOPS CHASING THEM

(Special to THE NEWS)
London, August 31.—The British troops are standing like a stone wall in the van of the second defensive line of the Allies. They have driven the Germans back to Chimay on Belgian soil.

The Germans under General Von Buelow and General Van Mausen were forced back from Hirson.

A Berlin despatch on Saturday stated that the Germans had pushed the British into St. Quentin department in France. The above despatch shows that the British troops turned the tables on them and forced the Germans under two of their great generals from Hirson in France to Chimay in Belgium, a distance of about fifteen miles.

The British army now on the Continent seems to be pretty well distributed along the whole frontier and are giving a good account of themselves in every district. They are apparently taking the brunt of the fighting and winning.

GERMANS CLAIM THEY TOOK 30,000 RUSSIAN PRISONERS

(Special to The News. 11:30 a.m.)
Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, L.I., August 31.—It is announced here that about thirty thousand Russians were taken prisoners by the Germans during the fighting in East Prussia.

DAILY EDITION

Monday, August 31, 1914.

The British papers which are now coming in tell the story of how many of them fought the spectre of a war with Germany. Not only were many of the leading papers opposed to it but a neutrality league was formed and gained many strong adherents especially from the rank of scholars. The following from a contemporary shows how the tide turned:—

What was it, then, that swept away all this opposition to war with Germany, or rendered it futile? What finally broke down English patience? It was unquestionably the German invasion of Belgium. This reckless tearing up of a solemn international treaty, guaranteeing the neutrality of Belgium, and regarded for eighty-five years by all the Powers as a part, in Professor Westlake's words, of 'the permanent system of Europe' could not but fill England with alarm, could not but frustrate the efforts of the peace party. Early in the discussion the "Manchester Guardian" had admitted that a violation by Germany of Belgian neutrality would be intolerable; and when the thing was done, and the die was cast, it could only bow its head in grief and say: "Now there is nothing for Englishmen to do but to stand together and help by every means in their power to the attainment of our common object—an early and decisive victory over Germany."

Sir Edward Grey put the case in a way to which every Englishman could not fail to respond. "If it is a case that Belgium's neutrality is gone, no matter what might have been offered her in return, then her independence is gone; and the moment her independence goes, that of Holland will follow." This statement, declared Prof. J. H. Morgan, is one to which "every student of international law will unhesitatingly subscribe."

He pointed out by how many binding agreements Germany was estopped from setting foot on Belgian territory. It was not merely a case of the Treaty of London. This was carefully observed by Germany in 1870, when Bismarck was in charge of German diplomacy. After Sedan, Germany thought of transporting her wounded home through Belgian territory, and asked permission to do so. Belgium objected, and Germany acquiesced. Later she took upon herself a still more sacred obligation never to do what she has now done in Belgium. The Hague Convention of 1907 contained this explicit provision: "Belligerents are forbidden to move troops or convoys of either munitions of war or supplies across the territory of a neutral Power." To that Convention Germany was a signatory!

If any doubt remained that it was Germany's disregard of her treaties and ruthless invasion of Belgium that threw away her last chance of retaining, we will not say the friendship, but the neutrality of England it would be dispelled by Sir Edward Grey's speech in the House of Commons, the full text of which has now reached us. He reviewed the whole matter of the relations of England to France, and of the earnest and unceasing efforts of the English Government to prevent the Austrian clash with Serbia from drawing the other nations into war. He had no word of animosity to Germany. But he solemnly pointed out the inevitable consequences of violating the neutrality of either Holland or Belgium, both of them states which had no desire except to be left alone and independent, quoting with great effect the words of Mr. Gladstone, that a wanton disregard of the international guarantee of Belgium's independence would be "the direst crime that ever stained the pages of history."

But, of course, none of these things moved the German General Staff! It had its military plans all made for striking at the heart of France through Belgium, and nothing must be allowed to stay their execution. But the plans themselves have already failed, and in bringing England against Germany have a thousand times outweighed any immediate military advantage that might have been gained. It was a colossal blunder.

WHEN PRISONER ESCAPED

Editor News.
Sir,—I would like to explain my part in the escape of the recent prisoner. This man had been allowed to do work around the jail for three weeks and when I was on duty while the jailer went to dinner I simply allowed him to do what he had been doing all along: empty ashes and carry coal. The chief was standing outside the station when the man went out and then went back to his office. When the prisoner didn't come back quickly I went to look after him and found the coal bucket and the prisoner gone. I told the chief at once and he went in the direction he saw the man go.

For my part in this I was fired. The chief told the commission he fired me at once, but I was not fired till the chief returned from the commission sitting. I was not given a chance to state my side of the case and I think I was entitled to this.

Another meeting of the Commission was called for Friday and I pointed out the inconsistency of the chief's position, and that such a prisoner should be kept locked up as the orders called for and that the fault was not mine, but those in authority.

Notwithstanding this they refused to do anything in the matter.

SUMMARY SUNDAY WAR NEWS

(Special to THE NEWS)
London, August 30.—Field Marshal General French says the British losses in the first three days of last week totalled six thousand. The German losses were very much greater.

London, August 31.—The British are in need of great reinforcements. The investment of Paris is possible.

London, August 30.—A Times despatch says the German advance during the week has been with incredible rapidity. They did not give the retreating British forces a moment's rest.

London, August 30.—The British War Office announces that two British officers and twenty-seven men were killed in the Heligoland naval fight. Forty were injured.

London, August 30.—The Russians and Austrians are fighting a fierce engagement today along the River Vucica. The Russians claim a success.

London, August 30.—General French declares the Allies are in a strategic position now. Such a position that a decisive victory for them would be fatal to the Germans. Even a continuance of the present resistance would have the same result.

Paris, August 30.—A German aeroplane threw a bomb into Paris early this morning but no damage was done.

Washington, August 30.—Reports here indicate that Turkey is about to join Germany in the war.

London, August 30.—The British army has been retrained since August 26th, having, after a desperate fight on that day, extricated itself in good order, but with serious losses.

London, August 30.—A German statement claims the British were defeated at St. Quentin and the retreat was barred by the German cavalry. This was announced Saturday and a later despatch says the Germans again had to retire before the British.

WHY ITALY HAS NOT STAYED WITH ALLIANCE

The Triple Alliance got out of existence just in the decisive moment, because no human power has ever been able to reconcile the Austro-Italian rivalry.

The eyes and ambitions of Italy are centered on the Adriatic as those of Britain are on the North Sea. What the Strait of Dover is for the British that of Otranto is for the Italians.

The best harbors on the Adriatic are on the eastern coast; Trieste, Pola, Fiume, Sebenico, Cattaro, Valona, all naval bases of importance are on the Austrian shores of the Adriatic.

They are all Italian names. The people are today, after a century of foreign domination, speaking the language of Dante. Up to the times of Napoleon they were maritime domains of the republic of Venice, Trieste, as well as the Trentino are for the present generation the Italian Irredenta, as Lombardy and Venice were for the old one.

The "Third Italy" considers that if Austria and Germany are victorious, Serbia and Montenegro and the way to Salonica are going to be Austrian possessions. The Austrian Empire would also annex the unstable kingdom of Albania, and probably Valona, the key of the Strati of Otranto would pass in the hands of the dual monarchy.

Italy must also consider what would be the attitude of a victorious Austria towards an ally, which at the decisive moment for her special reasons, although honorable, has failed to take the assigned position.

A victory of the Allies would have no serious consequence for Italy. In fact, with a defeated and probably dismembered Austria, the Italian aspirations to dominate the Adriatic could be realized. Trieste and the Trentino could be recuperated, a protectorate on Albania could be established, and Italy could easily retain Rhodes and the Islands of the Dodecanese with the full approval of Britain and France, the two naval powers of the Mediterranean Sea.

Self interest is a decisive element just as much for the nations as it is for individuals, and in the case of Italy the instinct of self-preservation, the traditions and popular sentiments are all aiming at a single object. That explains why the despatches from Europe persist in foreseeing that Italy will have a "casus belli" with her hereditary enemy, Austria.

It is foolish to be a prophet, but it is well to remember the famous words of a great Italian diplomat, Count Nigra, who said: "Italy and Austria can only be either allies or enemies, and Italy in the great crisis of modern Europe has definitely and deliberately decided to be the adversary of Austria."

GOOD COKING AND STEAM COAL DEVELOPED ON GRAHAM IS.

WILSON VEIN IS 16 FEET THICK AND IN COMMERCIAL QUANTITIES—300 TONS TAKEN OUT THIS SEASON—REPORT OF MINERALOGIST

That Queen Charlotte Islands are destined to supply the fuel for Prince Rupert and the north is the opinion of Prof. Milnor Roberts who has just spent the summer at Camp Wilson, 33 miles up the Yakoun River from Port Clements.

Camp Wilson is located in a coal field comprising some 20,000 acres. It is in control of the Metropolitan Trust Company, bond holders for the Western Steel Corporation who secured the coal licences from J. A. Moore, of Seattle. A representative of the Metropolitan Trust Company was on Graham Island this summer investigating the prospecting work done.

"There are thirty men at the camp," said Prof. Roberts, who is dean of the College of Mines, Washington University, and one of the best mineralogists in the West. There are two diamond drills at work making a thorough test of the whole area of 20,000 acres.

"The Wilson seam upon which we have been working is 16 feet thick and ten feet of it is of excellent coking and steam coal. We have taken out some 300 tons this summer and have used 200 tons of it under our own boilers which operate the diamond drills. This work of development commenced in March and will continue until December."

Prof. Roberts last year spent the season examining the geology of the area and planning the best sports to drill. This season drilling has been actively engaged in and the professor admits that a larger coal body than expected has been opened and he states frankly that the coal is there in quantities and of quality for practical commercial development.

He has made this season a complete topographical map of the district with a twenty-foot contour map of the Wilson area. The Metropolitan Trust Company, while doing the development work, will not likely be operators of the property. The opening of the mines to produce coal in profitable quantities requires an expenditure of at least half a million dollars. The Trust Company are doing the development work to prove the property to turn over to a mine operating company.

One of the necessary expenditures will be a thirty mile railway to tide water. The product, however, is particularly good coal for coking, which is decidedly good news to Prince Rupert. It will be one big inducement for the location of smelters on the coast and the development of the low grade mineral properties of the district.

ALL PRIVATE WIRELESS STATIONS TO BE CLOSED

Seattle, August 31.—Every amateur and private wireless station in the district comprising Washington, Oregon, Alaska, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming will be closed immediately and all communications sent from commercial stations subjected to the censorship of Lieut. M. F. Draemel, of the Puget Sound navy yard, according to an order issued by the department of commerce. R. E. Thompson, radio inspector of the district, is sealing the wireless stations of every ship in the harbor flying the flag of one of the belligerent nations of Europe. Similar procedure will be carried out in Portland, Astoria, Bellingham, Everett and Port Townsend.

There are upwards of 500 licensed stations in the Seattle district.

FOUND NEW COPPER ORE BACK SKEENA CROSSING

(Chalcopyrite)
Geo. T. Fryer, an old time prospector and mining man, recently of Los Angeles, but now of Skeena Crossing, has certainly made good during the month he has spent in this district. Two weeks ago he went into the nearby hills with a couple of Indian packers, and after being out four or five days returned to the Crossing with twenty-five or thirty pounds of as fine-looking copper ore as we have seen in the district.

This ore came from a vein which Mr. Fryer discovered about ten miles distant from the Crossing, in a hitherto unprospected section which had been previously ignored because it was considered to be outside the established limits of the mineral zone.

In the Letter Box

To the Editor of the Journal.
Sir.—The statement published by W. S. Fisher in Saturday's News that Mr. McMullin had made efforts to get me to stand aside as commanding officer of the regiment here is an unqualified falsehood. I certainly offered to stand aside in favor of Mr. McMullin when first appointed, but he absolutely refused to accede to that. He has never suggested it since, but has, on the other hand, been most loyal to me in every way. Yours truly,
C. W. PECK.

Editor The News.

Sir.—In reply to Mr. Peck's letter in Sunday's Journal, I have only this to say: The officer who called upon Captain McMullin and registered the protest of the other four qualified officers states most emphatically that Captain McMullin told him he would see Mr. Peck and use his influence to have him step aside, and that subsequently Captain McMullin told him he had seen Mr. Peck who stated that the objection of the officers amounted to nothing. My only object in showing my letters to Captain McMullin before publication was as stated to Captain McMullin at the time in order that I would not do him the injustice of misquoting him. Captain McMullin took no exception to any statements in my letter but requested that it be withheld from publication as set forth in my former letter.
W. S. FISHER.

MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

Extraordinary Serial Story Begins Tonight at the Westholme Theatre

With their usual enterprise the management of the Westholme Opera House have secured the greatest serial story in moving pictures ever produced by any company entitled "The Million Dollar Mystery." This serial will be shown in weekly instalments of two reels every Monday and Tuesday for twenty-two weeks. The story tells of the disappearance of a million dollars in bank notes and the herculean efforts made by the owner to retain, or at least recover his property on the one side and the would-be thieves to make way with the loot on the other. The production of these pictures involved an immense outlay, and is without doubt the most pretentious moving picture production ever attempted. The developments of this story are extremely sensational and exciting. As an additional incentive to stimulate the interest of the public, a bona-fide prize of $10,000 is offered by the company producing these pictures for the best solution of the mystery at the conclusion of the series. Any one not connected with the producing company is eligible in this competition, the only condition being that the solution must not contain more than one hundred words. This is of a prize drawing in any sense, but simply a reward of superior merit offered in good faith. Naturally those who follow the story from the very beginning will stand the best chance in this competition.

An excellent program will be shown in addition to the "Million Dollar Mystery," with special music by the Westholme orchestra.

THOUSAND ARMORED MOTOR CARS ORDERED

Will Be Shipped to War Zone by Philadelphia Firm

Philadelphia, August 29.—Armored steel automobiles for use by the European powers engaged in war are being manufactured here by the Auto Car Company and will be shipped as soon as completed. The cars have been sold to nations on each side of the conflict. One order includes fourteen cars which will be used by the British Government. Negotiations with France, Russia and Greece have also been entered into and it is said that orders for a thousand cars have been placed by various powers.

A large New England company will mount rapid-fire machine guns on the cars. Cars ordered by England will be shipped from Philadelphia to private individuals in Canada and reshipped to the front. Most of these will be equipped for carrying guns. Demonstrations of the cars have already been given in New York before the diplomatic representatives of Greece and Russia.

18,000 ALIENS ENLIST TO FIGHT FOR FRANCE

Americans Included in List of Italians, Spaniards and Others

Paris, August 31.—The great square fronting the Invalides in Paris presented a striking spectacle today, when 18,000 foreign volunteers assembled in orderly formation under the flags of their various nations to be mustered in. There were 4,500 Jews from all countries who desired to serve as a separate command; there were also 3,000 Belgians, 4,500 Italians, 2,600 Russians, 2,000 Swiss, 1,000 Spaniards, 600 Rumanians, 335 Luxemburgians, and 125 Americans.

All these volunteers were obliged to wait until the completion of the mobilization of the French regular forces, which was accomplished yesterday. In the meantime 30,000 foreigners resident in France have inscribed their names provisionally on the rolls of a committee calling itself "the friends of France."

Only those volunteers resident in Paris presented themselves today. It will take several days to comply with all the formalities and examinations and make the men into anything like an organized body of troops.
