The program at the Majestic last evening was an excellent one and was greeted with a crowded house. "A Bowl of Roses" was a film of beautiful pictures with just a touch of romance running through it. "Saved by Wireless" is a romantic story of love and adventure with a villain who is finally outwitted by the heroine using the wireless to call her lover.

The music was particularly good and is one of the Majestic's features.

FRENCH WAR OFFICE EXPLAINS MOVEMENTS FORCES AT FRONT

ADMIT THAT CENTRE DIVISION HAS BEEN PENETRATED BY GERMANS — BRITISH HELD SUPERIOR FORCE IN CHECK

(Special to THE NEWS)

Paris, Sept. 1.—The following official statement has been issued by the War Office:

"The situation in general is as follows: First in the Vosges and in Lorraine it must be remembered that our forces which had taken the offensive at the beginning of operations had driven the enemy outside our frontiers, and afterwards underwent serious checks before Sarrebourg in the region of Merhague where we were encountered some solid defensive works. Our forces were obliged to fall back and reform one part on the Couronne Senancy, and the other on the French Vosges. The Germans then assumed the offensive two days ago. This attack continues to make progress, although slowly. It is a veritable war of sieges. Each position when occupied is immediately fortified. This explains the slowness of our advance which has been characterized as French local successes."

The second section is in the region of Nancy, southern Vosges. Since the beginning of the campaign this section, between Metz, on the German side, and Toul Verde on the French side, has not been the theatre of important operations.

The third division is in the direction of the Meuse, between Verdun and Mezieres. It must be remembered the French forces took the offensive beginning at Longwy, Neufchateau and Palliseul. The troops operating in the region of Spincourt, Longuyon, have been able to check the enemy's army under the German Crown Prince in the region of Neufchateau and Palliseul. On the other hand certain of our troops have received partial checks which obliged them to fall back on the Meuse without having their organization broken up. During the last few days the enemy endeavored to spread out from the Meuse. Considerable forces by vigorous counter offensive movements. They were repelled with great losses.

In the meantime fresh forces of German troops have advanced in the district of Roeroy, marching in the direction of Rethel. A general action is taking place between the Meuse and Rethel. It is still impossible to see definitely the issue.

"The fourth operations have been in the north. The French and British forces originally took positions in Dinant and Charleroi country, and in Mons. They endured several repulses in the forcing of the Meuse by the Germans. Near Givet upon our flank the enemy compelled our troops to retire. The Germans seek continually to move forward toward the west. Under these conditions our British allies attacked the enemy who were in greatly superior numbers in the region of Le Careau Cabal. They have withdrawn toward the south at the moment.

Our forces operating in the districts of Avesnes and Chimay made a retiring movement which was prolonged several days. In the meantime a general battle took place in the region of St. Quentin and Vervins and at the same time in the Hamponnes district.

"This battle marked an important success, our right having thrown back the Prussian Guards and the German 10th Army Corps, into the Oise. Owing to the progress of the German right wing on which our adversaries have united their best corps, we have made a new retirement.

DAILY EDITION

Tuesday, September 1, 1914

According to a law passed by the Government of the United States all that Canada has to do in order to put food stuffs on the free list is to pass a similar enactment for this country. The following is what A. K. Maclean, of Halifax, had to say recently in Parliament about the advisability of such a course:

With the best possible motives and in all sincerity I do suggest to the Government the desirability of considering the question of placing upon the free list many of the food supplies of the country. It may be that our own production will meet our own consumption and the extraordinary demand which will be made upon our food supply but nevertheless I can see no reason why the question of even the temporary elimination of duties upon the foodstuffs of this country should not be seriously taken into consideration by the Government, I am not suggesting this today as a matter of permanent policy for the Government if their economic views be different, and if it would not be in harmony with their views as to what would be the true fiscal policy of the Government. I am now suggesting it merely as a wise temporary policy and one calculated to meet the unfortunate conditions now prevailing and which may prevail in a more pronounced way during the coming months of this year

There is another thing to be said in connection with the tariff upon foodstuffs and it is that if in the judgment of the Government it would be deemed unwise to place a considerable quantity of them upon the free list there might very well be a very considerable diminution in the rate of duty. It might afford some relief to the people of the country and still

PANAMA CANAL MAY CAUSE WORLD WIDE SPREAD OF DISEASE

Washington, D.C., Aug. 31.—

Fear that the opening of the Panama Canal may be followed by a world wide redistribution of yellow fever and cholera which will threaten very great commercial loss, was expressed by Richard P. Strong, head of the Harvard Medical School of Tropical Medicine. Dr. Strong was formerly at the head of the government biological laboratory in the Philippines and later became prominent through his work in combating the bubonic plague in Manchuria; an extensive study of tropical disease was made.

The troubles to be feared from the spread of tropical diseases by traffic through the Panama Canal are rather heavy financial losses through disturbance of trade between any great loss of life. Modern medicine has so far mastered the ways of checking infectious diseases that in many civilized countries no great mortality is to be feared from these diseases. To the United States and Western Europe the greatest peril is to trade, because medical control of the spread of tropical diseases rests first of all on the stopping of traffic.

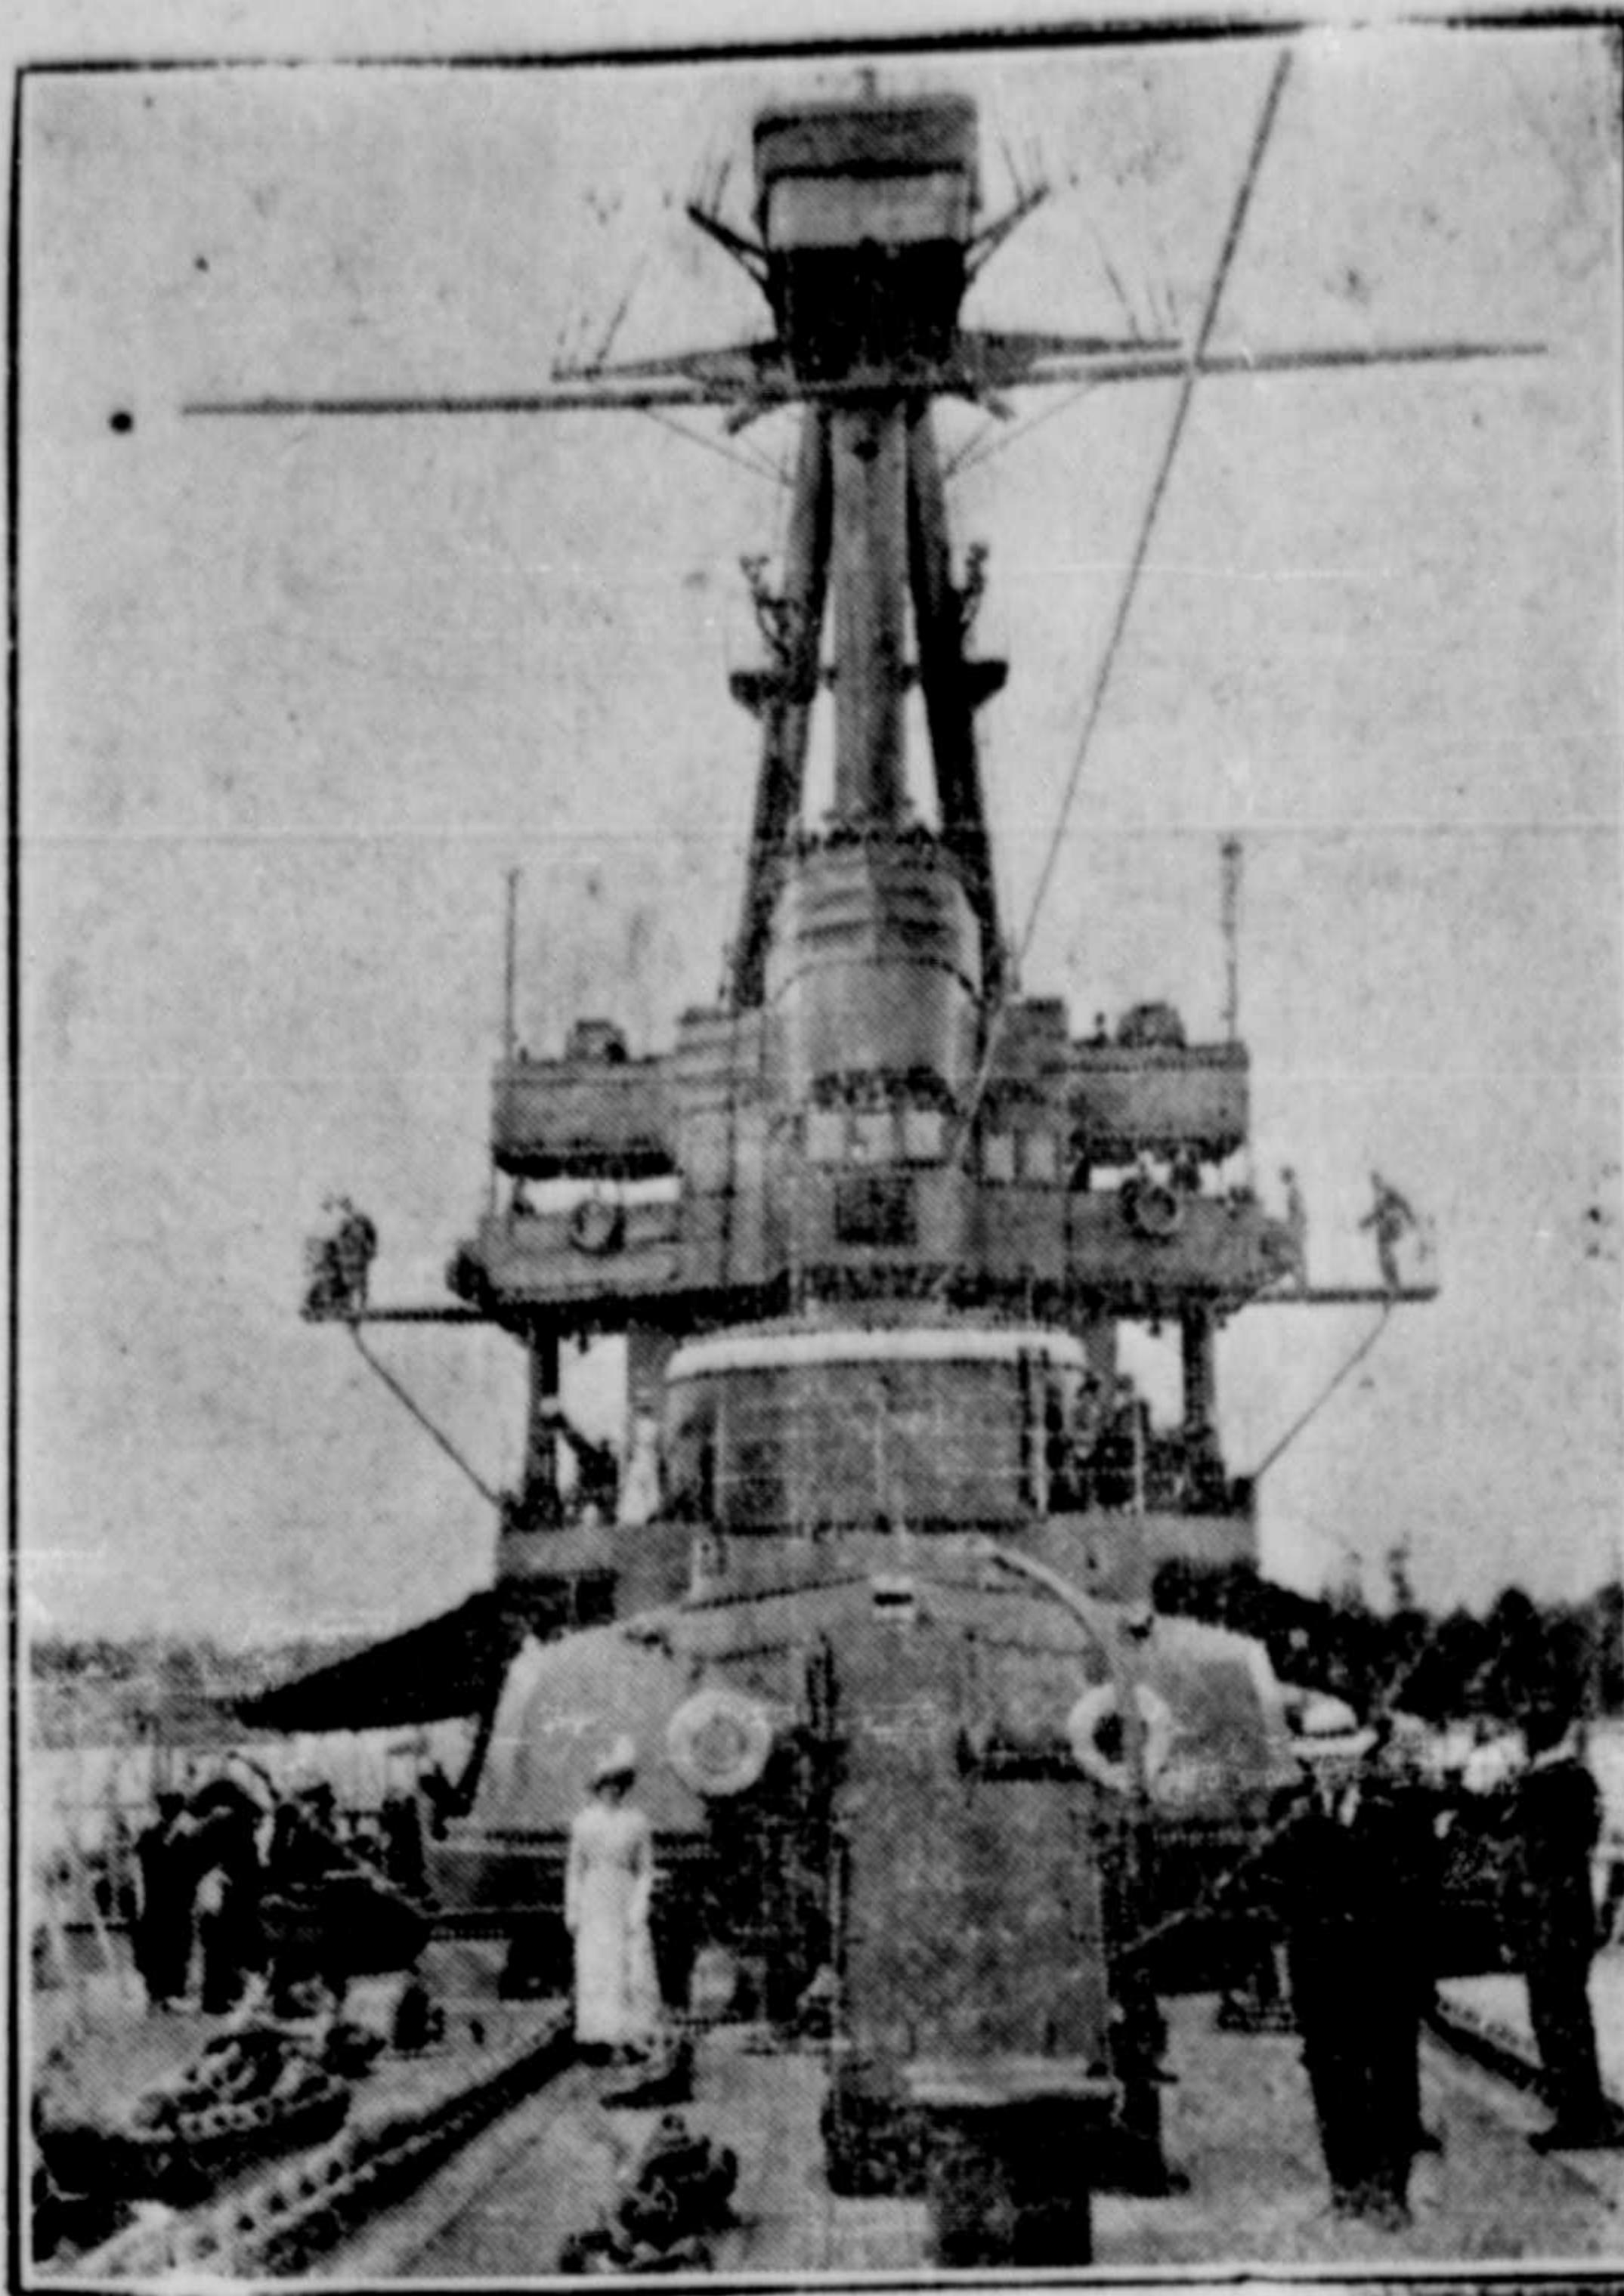

"One of the most interesting and not improbable changes in the distribution of tropical diseases is that the west coast of South America, particularly Guayaquil, may send yellow fever to India and receive Asiatic cholera by way of exchange."

SHIPPING IS HELD UP

Port Said, Sept. 1.—There is an unprecedented state of affairs here through the traffic in the Suez Canal having practically ceased. The port is crammed with ships of all nations. Captains are afraid to proceed. Besides there is a colossal fleet of German merchantmen under seizure. They have been deprived of the wireless installations. The whole of Germany's commerce with Australia, Asia and East Africa, is absolutely paralyzed and the only vessels passing through the canal are those flying the Italian flag. These are besieged by hordes of foreigners anxious to get away from Egypt, among them many German and Austrian officers who have been arrested by the British authorities while attempting under disguise to get away.

FRANCE AFRAID PARIS SEIGE-- TO MOVE CAPITAL TO BORDEAU

THOUSANDS OF CITIZENS LEAVING PARIS IN ALARM
OVER GERMAN ADVANCE--BRINGING TROOPS FROM SOUTH

Washington, September 1.—The French Embassy here hears that the French may move the capital from Paris to Bordeaux.

Thousands of citizens are now leaving Paris in fear of the German advance.

French troops from the south have been brought to the defence of the Paris forts.

Bordeau is in southeastern France o the Bay of Biscay.

Paris is strongly fortified. With the old forts and half trained forces Paris was able to hold out in 1870 for a three months' siege.

The French profited by the lessons of that disaster. The new line of defence is moved out to seven miles from the city limit and is made up of a line of forts, redoubts and batteries seventy-two miles long. In rear and four miles out is the circle of eighteen forts that held off the Prussians in 1870. It would require an army of more than half a million men to invest the city. The trade movements of the last twelve months indicate that Paris is well prepared in gold and food to withstand a long siege.

The Germans must reach Paris with over half a million men and stay there long enough to secure its reduction.

AUGUST CUSTOMS RETURNS DOUBLE

Splendid Increase Shown Over
Last Year's Receipts

The Prince Rupert customs returns for the month of August totalled $24,850.38. This is far in excess of the receipts for July, which were $11,463.04.

The receipts for August, 1911, were far higher than for the same month in any previous year. In 1911 the returns were $7,600.46; in 1912, $15,733.30; in 1913, $13,990.63; while in 1914 they were $24,850.38.

The customs returns are generally accepted as evidence of the business that is transacted.

HYDRO MACHINERY DELAYED

The machinery ordered by the City Council from the Canadian General Electric Company for the hydro-electric plant at Woodworth Lake has not been shipped as contracted for and the city enquired why. The company states through agents that there has been a mix-up in orders as to the freight routing of the machinery.

This appears to be more or less of a subterfuge to excuse the delay. The City Council protests no instructions for routing were given and they have been urging shipment.

The company states shipment cannot be made before September 15th and the concrete base for the plant cannot be built before the base of the machinery arrives.

QUESTION OF CITY GARAGES

Dr. McNeil has requested the privilege of erecting a garage on Second Avenue on a lot adjoining Pattullo & Radford's block. The city engineer referred the question to the City Council. The Board of Works were not prepared to make a report last evening although the Mayor forced the issue to a discussion. Eventually the request of the Board of Works to lay the question over for a week was agreed to.

G. Freddell, representing the Pioneer's Association, offered the City Council one or two pages in an illustrated booklet which is being produced under the auspices of the Pioneer's Association. The question after some discussion was left to the finance committee to report on.
