ALLIES' POSITION IMPROVED— ENTRENCHED ON HEIGHTS

(Special to The Daily News—12 Noon)
Sept. 21.—Military experts claim that while nothing decisive has come of the Aisne yet, the Allies have greatly improved their position and been able to entrench themselves on high ground.
Persons who have returned from Rheims say the German prisoners there narrowly escaped death at the hands of the infuriated crowd when the cathedral was burned down following the German bombardment.
The Germans are still unable to take the city.

GERMANS ARE ENRAGED AT THE RESISTANCE OFFERED

(Special to The Daily News—12 Noon)
Sept. 21.—The Allies have repulsed the German attacks and have made several counter movements amid a storm of shrapnel.
The series of hand-to-hand encounters—French take position at point of bayonet—severe fighting.
The Germans seem in a desperate hurry to finish their task and are enraged at the stubborn resistance.

CHENER PESSIMISTIC— RECRUITING BEING PUSHED

(Special to The Daily News.)
Sept. 21.—Kitchener is pessimistic and recruiting is being pushed.
The Allies are almost at their wits' end in an endeavor to push the Germans. The British are suffering very severely from the efforts of the Germans to overwhelm them and then turn on the French.
Advances from the front say a hand-to-hand fight continued for hours at Noyon Saturday night during a wild storm. After desperate efforts the Germans were driven back.

CHURCHES BURNED BY GERMANS— HISTORIC BUILDINGS ARE RUINED

(Special to The Daily News.)
Sept. 21.—The city of Reims is in flames following an bombardment. There is hope of saving it from destruction. The cathedral and historic buildings have been ruined.
beautifully situated on the River Marne, and has a population of about 40,000.
Its cathedral was the finest old Gothic church in France and contained many priceless art treasures.
France will protest to the powers against Germany's flagrant breach of international law.

RUSSIANS TAKE 3,000 PRISONERS AND 3,000 CASES AMMUNITION

(Special to The Daily News.)
Sept. 21.—An official dispatch from Russian headquarters says that the Russian troops captured the fortified positions of Finiava and Sambor, in Galicia.
The Austrian rear guard has been thrown back between the San River and the region of Radym and Madyko.
3,000 Russians have captured 3,000 prisoners in the region of Rememirov and have taken 3,000 cases of ammunition.

FRANCIS H. LEGGETT FOUNDERING OF SS.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Sept. 21.—The Francis H. Leggett foundered in a gale off Astoria, Oregon, on Friday night and was not sunk by the Japanese cruiser Idzumo, as previously reported.
The steamer Beaver, with three survivors, docked at Astoria on Saturday.
The wreck occurred 60 miles south of the mouth of the Columbia River, and was caused by the deck cargo shifting in the storm.
Seventy-two passengers and crew were drowned.

ENGLISH INFANTRY IN FRANCE.

One of the first pictures to be secured by the British expeditionary forces marching in France. They received a great welcome in Paris and are shown marching to the front in the above picture.

ALLIES MAKE PROGRESS ENEMY PUSHED BACK

(Special to The Daily News—12 Noon)
Sept. 21.—The following official announcement was made today:
First—On our left wing on the right bank of the River Oise, we have advanced as far as the Heights of Lassigny, west of Noyon. To the east of the Noise and the north of the Aisne the Germans are again active. There have been many violent encounters, including bayonet charges in the Crayonne region. The enemy has confined itself to artillery work around Rheims.
Second—in the center, in the Champagne country, and on the western slope of the Argonne River, we have taken Mesnilles, Sur Lui and Massignes. In the Weyre districts the enemy holds Thiaucourt and has cannonaded Haionchatel.
Third—On our right wing in Lorraine and Vosges there is little news. The enemy is fortifying himself at Delmel.

AUSTRIANS RETIRING ABANDONING STORES

(Special to The Daily News—12 Noon)
Sept. 21.—The Austrians attempt to cross the Drina and Save Rivers have failed. The enemy is retiring from Bishegrad, Bosnia, and have abandoned all their stores.
The Montenegrins have captured the Fortress of Gorazda, in Bosnia, and have taken Jabouka and Rogatica, being now only ten miles from the capital of Bosnia.

SECOND BRITISH ARMY REPORTED IN BELGIUM

(Special to The Daily News.)
Sept. 21.—It is reported today that a second British army, including the Indian contingent, is in Belgium ready to cut off the German retreat.

RUSSIANS SAILED FROM ARCHANGEL

Archangel, from which Russian troops are reported to have been conveyed to Scotland and thence to France, is a seaport on the north of Russia. It is a port which is icelocked during the greater part of the year, being open only from the end of June to the beginning of October. A single line of railroad connects the port with St. Petersburg, 500 miles to the south. Archangel is in the same latitude as Dawson, Alaska. North Cape, the northernmost point of Scandinavia, around which ships from Archangel for the North Sea must pass, is 500 miles farther north, in the same latitude as Point Barrow, the northernmost peak of Alaska. If the Arctic Ocean shipped could be taken out from there, around Point Barrow, through Bering Strait and down the Alaska coast on a route exactly parallel to that which would be followed in coming out of Archangel to the Atlantic. These vessels would turn their northernmost point just about 500 miles north of Dawson. The movement of a transport fleet from Archangel to Scotland, a journey of about 2,500 miles, is feasible at this season of the year.

GERMANS FLEE BEFORE JAPS.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Tokyo, Sept. 21.—The Japanese expeditionary force attacked the Germans 30 miles north of Kiau Chau and defeated them on September 18. The Germans abandoned their fortified position and fled in disorder.

Already London Masons have subscribed over $50,000 and promises of further generous subscriptions have been made.
The English Masonic lodges are assisting the signatories to this appeal, who rely upon their Canadian brothers to respond generously, and state that subscriptions should be sent to Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, Montreal, who is acting with Sir Richard McBride, Victoria; Hon. William J. Bowser and E. B. McLaren, Vancouver; Lieut.-Col. W. Nesbitt Ponton, Belleville, Ont.; William B. Thomas Waldon, W. H. Thorne, Col. H. H. McLean, St. John, N. "MY HEART BLEEDS," SAYS THE KAISER

Text of His Telegram to President Wilson is Published in London.

London, Sept. 21.—The Daily Mail publishes the text of the telegram to President Wilson as received from its Rotterdam correspondent. It is as follows:
"I consider it my duty, sir, to inform you, as the most notable representative of the principles of humanity, that after the capture of the French fort at Longwy my troops found in that place thousands of dum-dum bullets which had been manufactured in special works by the French government. Such bullets were found not only on French killed and wounded soldiers and on French prisoners, but also on the English. You know what terrible wounds and awful suffering are caused by these bullets and that their use is strictly forbidden by the generally recognized rules of international warfare.
"I solemnly protest to you against the way in which this war is being waged by our opponents, whose methods are making it one of the most barbarous in history. Besides the use of these awful weapons, the Belgian government has openly incited the civil population to participate in the fighting, and has for a long time carefully organized their resistance. The cruelties practiced in this guerilla warfare, even by women and priests, toward wounded soldiers and doctors and hospital nurses were such that eventually my general's were compelled to adopt the strongest measures to punish the guilty and frighten the bloodthirsty population from continuing their shameful deeds. Some villages, and even the old town of Louvain, with the exception of its beautiful town hall, had to be destroyed for the protection of my troops. My heart bleeds when I see such measures inevitable, and when I think of the many innocent people who have lost their houses and property as a result of the misdeeds of the guilty. (Signed)
"WILLIAM I. P."

PASSING EVENTS

The official journal appeared for the last time in Paris on September 4 before its transfer to Bordeaux. In it appeared a decree closing the regular session of parliament for 1914.

The Emperor of Russia, in a letter to a relative in Copenhagen, says that all the money that Belgium has been made to pay to Germany the latter country will be forced to repay with interest in East Prussia.

The Ostend correspondent of the London Express quotes M. Leon Hiard Seater, of Henau, Switzerland, as testifying that the "Germans killed their own severely wounded on the battlefield, only tending those who would soon recover."

The Russians, after the capture of Lemberg, have been advancing west, and are now encompassing Przemyśl, one of the strongest of the Galician forts, which is fifty miles west of Lemberg. It is believed in St. Petersburg that the fortress will either surrender or be taken by assault within a few days. Its fall would clear the way for the Russian army in Galicia to join with the army that has been operating in East Prussia, and would mean a long stride for the Russians in their advance upon Berlin. Cosacks are also advancing through the passes of the Carpathians to the invasion of Hungary, and 520,000 men are following them. Austria has no men in the field to meet this unexpected development of Russian tactics.

The losses of the French northern army which has been operating in Belgium and between Paris and the Franco-Belgian frontier are estimated at about 100,000 killed, wounded and missing. It is assumed that the majority of the missing are dead, and the total number of dead is said to exceed 30,000. The German losses cannot be estimated with the same probability of accuracy, but it is thought that the German forces opposing this part of the French army must have lost fully 150,000, of whom between 25,000 and 30,000 are estimated to have been killed. The British losses so far in Belgium and France are placed at 15,000.

The Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, has issued a general order providing for the military administration of all foreign territory as fast as it is occupied by the Russian troops. The order calls for the creation of a special province consisting of the territory occupied in Austria-Hungary, and the placing of it under the administration of the commander of the armies operating in the theatre of the war in the southwest.

According to Lady Randolph Churchill, who arrived in London on September 3 from Germany, coming by way of Holland, Prince Frederick William of Lippe took his own life following a mistake of his regiment before Liege on August 4, when his cavalry regiment, in the darkness of evening nearly annihilated a German infantry regiment which had mistaken for Belgians. The Prince shot himself, fearing to face the anger of Emperor William. His widow, with whom Lady Randolph is acquainted, was informed of his death on August 14.

Under the caption, "Teaching the Retailer How to Fight," Forrest Crissey contributes to the Saturday Evening Post an article that should be read and preserved by every retailer in the city. In his own inimitable manner he points out the value of social co-operation between the merchant and the farmer as a means of city community upbuilding. The entries for agricultural and farm products are rapidly coming in and The News is advised that in several cases individuals are sending many more exhibits than last year. The enterprise of the directors in carrying out this big undertaking in face of financial difficulties should receive the emphatic approval and financial assistance of all classes. The city this year has a building for exhibition purposes that is a credit to a community many times larger than our present population. The need now is to see that this structure is filled, not only with the products of the mine, the sea, the field and orchard, but also of home manufactured articles. With the generous rebate offered to those desiring to take space for industrial displays, it is to be hoped that the merchants will come loyally to the front and do their share in making the Exhibition a success.

The annual report of the corporation of the city of Prince Rupert is ready for distribution and copies may be obtained at the city clerk's office. There has been collected a fund of valuable information that should be in the hands of every ratepayer so that an intelligent idea may be had with regard to the government of the municipality.

PORTION OF GERMAN FORCE IN DANGER

(Special to The Daily News—1:30 P. M.)
 London, Sept. 19.—With reference to the Admiralty's announcement of Commander Sampson's armored motor car exploits at Doullens, The Chronicle points out that although it was a small incident, it was of considerable importance, as Doullens is 20 miles north of Amiens and 30 miles inland from the Channel and north from the position occupied by General von Kluck. If the British are in any force in the neighborhood of Amiens, it is evident that the German right wing is in a position of great danger. The general behavior of von Kluck's army implied the existence of a strong body of Allies in the region between the Channel and the German flank.

SASKATCHEWAN HOUSE LIKELY TO PROCLAIM GENERAL MORATORIUM

Regina, Sask., Sept. 21.—The emergency session of the Saskatchewan Legislature opened last week. The purpose of the special session is to confer on the government the power to proclaim, if necessary a general moratorium in the province. Amendments will also be made to the Municipal Acts conferring on the municipality the emergency powers that will facilitate the financing of construction and other municipal works. It is said the government will not enforce the moratorium unless the present situation becomes greatly aggravated.

LOOKING A YEAR AHEAD.

Lethbridge, Sept. 21.—Hugh Boyd, recently appointed special Dominion commissioner to deal with the relief work for farmers, reports that need is not nearly so bad as supposed. Farmers are anxious to prepare for the largest crop possible next year, and to do this they need feed for their horses. The recent wet weather has put the ground in ideal condition for plowing and operations are in full swing.

GOOD CHARACTER SKETCH OF FAMOUS FRENCH GENERAL

LE MATIN PUBLISHES INTERESTING STUDY OF CAREER OF THE GREAT COMMANDER—A MAN OF FEW WORDS.

A recent issue of the Paris paper Le Matin contained the following sketch of General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French armies. It was written by Dr. P. Pujadeu, a member of the Chamber of Deputies. The article is headed "Joffre the Silent."

"You do not know him? I myself know him well from having stayed often with his brothers and with him, more with his brothers than with him, at his house at Rivesaltes, where I spent my Sundays when I was a school-boy, because my own home was farther from the college at Perpignan."

"When he was very young he was silent. A very good and very courteous lad. Silently he received, before the end of his sixteenth year, the degree of Bachelor of Science, with honors, and nine months later, before he was seventeen, an occurrence unique in the history of our great school, he was admitted to the Polytechnic, his place being fourteenth."

"His career since then I will recount very briefly. Surprised by the war of 1870 at the end of his first year at college, like the rest of us, he did his duty. After the war he was charged with the organization of the new defenses of Paris, and it was by him, on his plans, that the fortifications in the Enghien section were created. It was on the slope of a fort that Marshal MacMahon, surrounded by his staff, called the silent young lieutenant and said to him, 'I congratulate you, captain!' Captain at 21. It was grand; but he was sent to the East to organize the working defenses of Pontarlier.

"It is all very pretty, he told me, but I don't want to build any more fortifications. I would rather command troops."

"After Pontarlier they sent him to Tonkin to build fortifications, and even barracks."

"Happily, Gourbet arrived, who sent him, sword in hand, to fight battles, to which he wished to confine his destiny. He went to Formosa with Courbet and, under the fire of the enemy, organized the defenses of the island. Then they sent him to Madagascar to construct the fortifications of Diego-Suarez, which are claimed to be the most wonderful of their kind. He left at last for Dahomey with Colonel Bonnier, who was killed by the Dahomians. Joffre, who commanded the rear-guard, rallied the fugitives, vanquished the enemy and without saying a word was the first to enter Timbuctoo. Since that time he has not left France. Professor at the school of war, general of a brigade, general of a division, commanding an army corps, he has given to his faculty for strategy and organization the fullest development. Speaking of his theories, Colonel Roussat, 18 months ago, said in La Liberté, 'It is like that of Napoleon I., and that was a good period.'

"Unanimously, the members of the council of war, on the suggestion of General Pau himself, designated him commander-in-chief of the armies."

"He said not a word to obtain this supreme honor. He said not a word to refuse it."

UHLANS NOT FEARED-- OVER ADVERTISED LIKE THE KAISER

Probably it is the free use of capitals—the reference for the moment is to typographic capitals, not political—by the Germans that accounts for the fact that we as well as they give a tall initial to the word "Uhlán." At any rate, there seems to be no other reason, since the cavalrymen thus named have no particular claim to that distinction when mentioned in a general way and not with the full title of their respective regiments.

"Uhlán" is not a place name, nor does it designate, like "Cosack," the inhabitants of a country or region. It is an old word, not German at all, but one that seems to have drifted up into Central Europe many centuries ago from the southeast, and in various similar forms it is or was used by all the Balkan peoples and their relatives in Austria, by the Turks, and even farther away than they. Its original meaning seems to have been simply "child," or more definitely a young son. Then it acquired the significance of "prince" in some localities, and finally settled into the designation of cavalrymen, that being the branch of the army into which young aristocrats naturally drifted. The German Uhlans are the only ones about whom much has been heard in modern times, and therefore there is a widespread impression that there are no others.

The capitalization of the name is now too well established to be abandoned, but really "lancers," "hussars," and "dragoons" have as much claim to this honor as does the one cavalryman who always get it. Opinions differ as to whether the German Uhlans have shown in the present war the prowess that was expected of them. Some absurd stories have been told about little groups of these horsemen riding about in Belgium, lost and helpless, but it is to be noticed that they are always up where the fighting is hottest, and their courage has been fully equal to the terrible demands made upon it. That they are particularly to be feared, however, has not been demonstrated, and their lances seem, in modern war, to be about as antiquated as bows and arrows would be.

BATTLEFIELD IN FRANCE TERRIBLE BEYOND WORDS

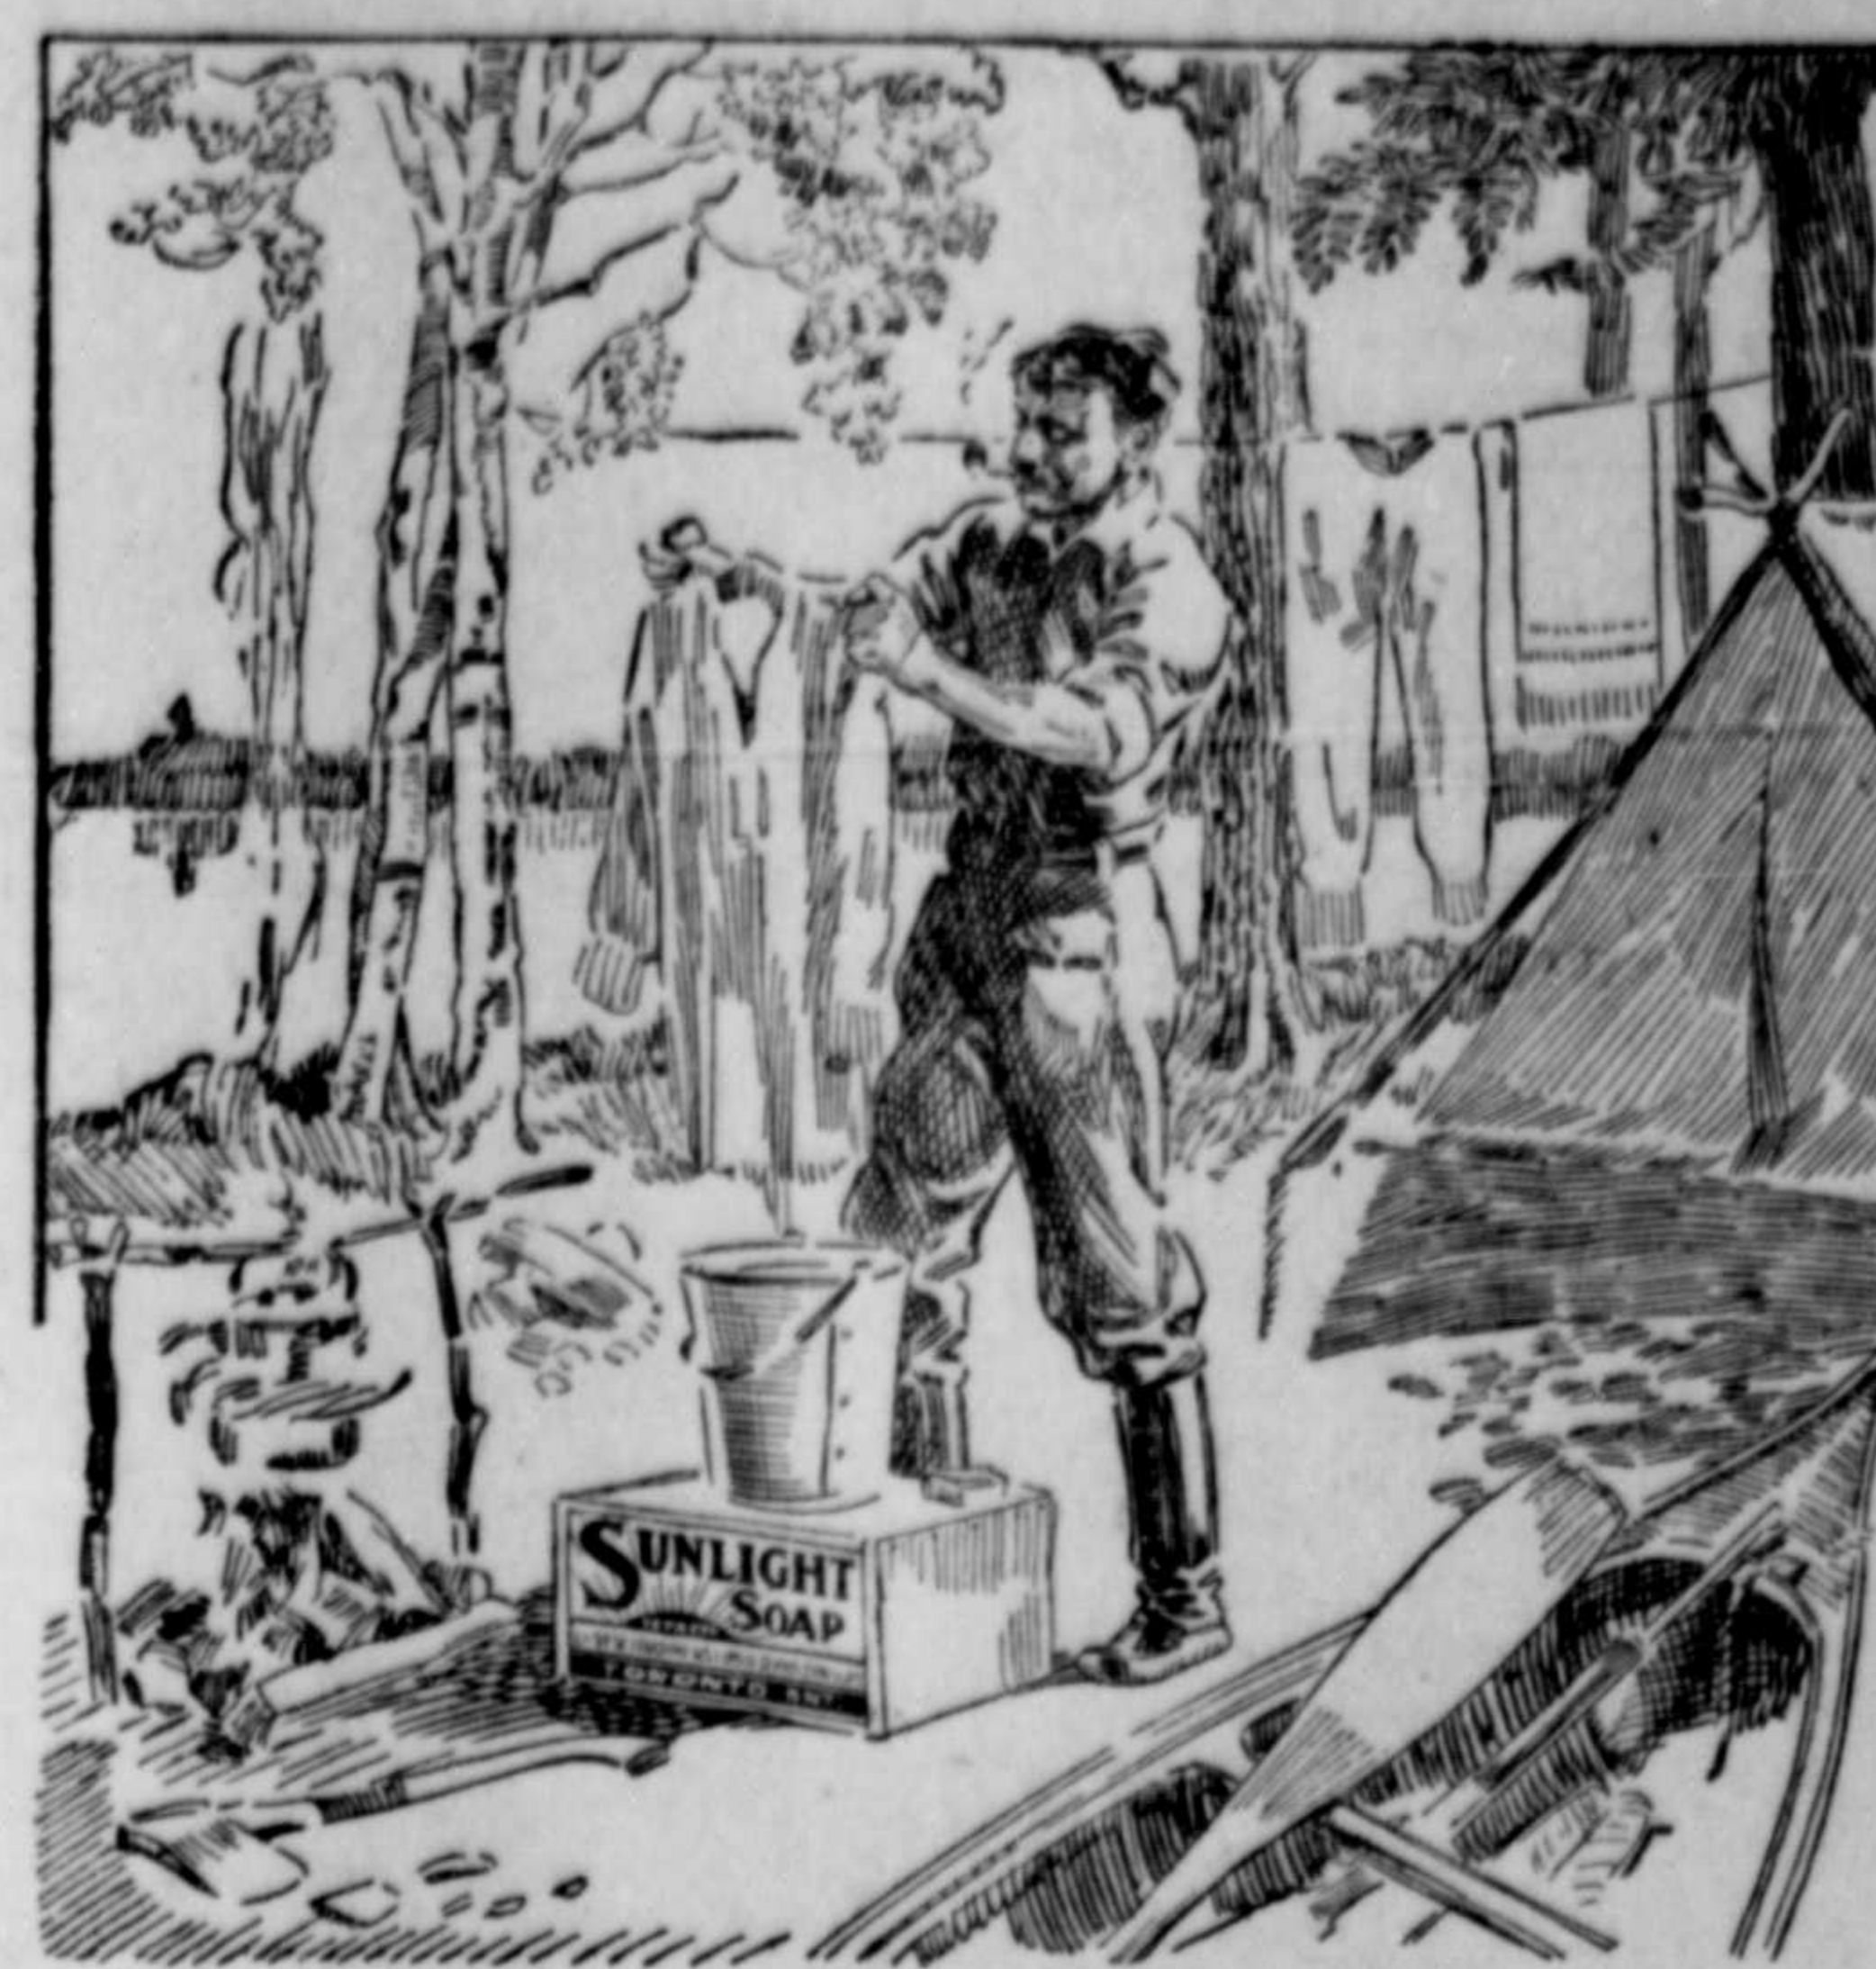

Dead Men and Horses Scattered and Piled in Open Places in Towns.

London, Sept. 19.—The Time's correspondent, from a point near Melun, on Sunday, wired a vivid description of the rout and retreat of the Germans during a hurricane and torrents of rain, which turned the roads into rivers, so that the wheels of the artillery sank deep in the mire. He describes how the horses strained and struggled, often in vain, to drag the guns away, and continues:

"I have just spoken with a soldier who has returned dazed from the pursuit that will go down with the retreat from Moscow as one of the crowning catastrophes of the world. They fled, he declares, as animals flee who are cornered and know it.

"Imagine a roadway littered with guns, knapsacks, cartridge belts, Maxims and heavy cannon. There were miles and miles of it, and dead horses and men. I have seen it again and again, men shot so close to one another that they remained standing after death. The sight is terrible beyond words.

"The retreat rolls back and trainload after trainload of British and French are swept toward the weak points of the retreating host. This is the advantage of the battleground which the Allies have chosen. The network of railways is like a network of spider webs. As all railways center on Paris it is possible to trust troops on the foe at any point with almost incredible speed, and food and munitions are within arm's reach."

SCHEME TO SPRING ELECTION IN CANADA

Borden Government Thinks It Sees an Opportunity to Extend Its Term.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—It is reported here that a November meeting of Parliament is likely to supplement legislation passed at the recent war session. The government expects the session will be short and non-contentious and hopes early in the spring to find conditions favorable for going to the country and getting back to power after a haki election.

The government is now accumulating a big election fund, war expenditures favoring this, and hopes the Liberals will be compelled to go into the fight practically penniless.

MORE "MYSTERY" AT THE WESTHOLME TONIGHT

The fourth episode of the famous "Million Dollar Mystery" will be shown at The Westholme tonight and tomorrow under the title "The Third Floor Flat." In this installment the "Black Hundred" makes a desperate effort to secure Florence, the heroine, for the purpose of extorting from her the secret of the whereabouts of the million dollars which disappeared from the safe on the night of Hargreave's escape in a balloon. How these attempts at capture and perhaps torture are foiled by the presence of mind of the girl herself is most interestingly shown in this episode. A first-class program will be shown in addition to the "Mystery."

Authentic information about football games, either scheduled or postponed, can be had by calling up Fitz Cigar Store.

PRINCE ALBERT HAS BEEN FLOATED

The Prince Albert has been floated and taken to the south for repairs. A party of local hunters who were outside the harbor Saturday afternoon saw her go by. She was towed by a tugboat and had the scows and derrick used in floating her hung on behind. She also had her own steam up, but it appeared to be used for pumping only. There was a slight list toward her stern. Otherwise she appeared to be in good shape.

CANADIAN VOLUNTEERS MUST EXPECT HARDER TASKS THAN PARADES

Col. Sam Hughes Says That Contingent at Valcartier is Now Through With Reviews.

Valcartier, Sept. 21.—His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, last week, for the second time, reviewed the troops at Valcartier. Twenty thousand men passed by in half battalions, marching with the step of veterans. "I am more than proud of them," said Colonel Hughes, after the review, "but they have had enough of this work," he added. "They are not going across to march only. They must now put in all their time shooting and learning field movements for the active service which they must face."

One feature of the review was that it was witnessed by General Crozier, of the United States army. His visit was an official one and it was taken to indicate a sympathetic feeling of the government of the United States toward the Allies.

During the parade, Lieut.-Col. E. G. Shannon, of Prince Albert, Sask., a member of the 105 Winnipeg Light Infantry, was thrown from his horse and sustained a fractured arm. He was removed to a military hospital at Quebec. Excitement was caused early in the evening by a fire which destroyed the moving picture show on the grounds. The owner, it is stated, had been overcharging the men, and has not changed his program since opening and it is thought that the fire was of incendiary origin.
