LORD ROBERTS BURIED IN ST. PAUL'S WITH GREAT MILITARY HONORS WITH KING ATTENDING

VON HINDERBERG IS NOW THE HERO OF BERLIN

TREATING GERMANS SUDDENLY STOPPED AND DASHED ON RUSSIANS DESTROYING THEIR CAVALRY.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, Nov. 19.—The unexpected blow delivered by General Hindenberg on the Russian army in Poland has made that general again the hero of the hour. The German wedge from Poland appears to have driven the Russian center over fifty miles back from the frontier.

Russian officials admit the reverses. They attribute it to a too close pursuit by their cavalry, who were dashed to pieces on the German wall when the retreating Germans suddenly stopped. The advance into East Prussia and on Cracow continues.

IN THE PATH OF THE DEVASTATING GERMAN ARMY—Ruins caused by German artillery fire at Boore, France.

A FIELD TELEPHONE—Belgian Scouts making use of one of the latest additions to a modern army's equipment to transmit information to headquarters. In this way one general has complete control over a much wider area than would otherwise be possible.

BODY CARRIED THROUGH LONDON ON GUN CARRIAGE HIS SON DIED TO SAVE IN SOUTH AFRICA—SERVICE ATTENDED BY KING.

(Special to The Daily News.)
London, Nov. 19.—The body of Lord Roberts on the gun carriage his son died to have in South Africa was drawn through London streets to St. Paul's today. Troops lined the streets. Hundreds of thousands of civilians bared their heads in the pouring rain. The service was attended by the King, the first time a monarch has personally attended the funeral of a subject since that of the Duke of Wellington.

The Willows Camp, November 15, 1914.

With squad and company and the many other things of military life the men at the north have, at the end of the first week's experience as they adapted themselves to the new surroundings. From the regularity and a neatness, which has already become a respect among all ranks in the parade. Lieut.-Col. Peck's company has received the unanimous approval of the adjutant of the battalion, Lieut. Townshend. The northern men form a company and they are all fond of the new uniform.

RIVAL NAVIES SHOW SIGNS OF ACTIVITY

(Special to The Daily News.)
Petrograd, Nov. 19.—A navy official says that on the morning of November 17 a German squadron of two cruisers, ten torpedo boats and several other steamers appeared before Libau. The Germans bombarded the city and harbor, setting fire to several buildings. The same day the Russian Black Sea fleet, which had been cruising off Trebizond, steamed close to and bombarded the harbor barracks, setting fire to buildings along the coast. No Turkish ships were sighted off the coast.

SOUTH AFRICAN REBELS ARE AGAIN ROUTED

(Special to The Daily News.)
Pretoria, Nov. 19.—Colonel Colliers, in his report, says that he encountered rebels in the Verhelyst, Hoopskd, district in the Free State under General Beyers. Their strength is reported at 15,000. Brisk fighting resolved itself into a rapid chase for eighteen miles, during which the horses of the government became exhausted. The rebels have scattered in all directions. The government troops took 100 prisoners, large quantity of rifles, wagons, carts, ammunition, stores, etc.

JAPAN'S SIGNIFICANT MOVE—MAY JOIN ALLIES IN EUROPE

(Special to The Daily News.)
Rome, Nov. 19.—The Japanese ambassador left Constantinople last night. His leaving was undoubtedly by instructions from Tokio rather than the result of representations by the Porte. It may be indicative of the intention on the part of the Japanese to extend their activities against the enemies of the Europeans with which she is allied.

WILL RAISE MONEY FOR THE DOMINIONS

British War Credit Is Not All for Use of the Home Government.

London, Nov. 19.—Premier Asquith, in stating in the House of Commons that there would be an additional war credit of 225,000,000, out of which 45,000,000 pounds would be devoted to the army and navy, made the interesting announcement that 30,000,000 pounds of the total would be for the use of the self-governing dominions and to obviate the necessity of their coming into the London market for loans at the present juncture.

2,300 PRISONERS TO BE TAKEN TO JAPAN

German Governor Waldeck Tells Why He Surrendered to the Allies.

New York, Nov. 18.—The East and West News Bureau today made public the following cablegram which was received from Tokio: "Permitted to capitulate instead of surrender unconditionally, the former governor of Tsing Tau and his officers were, in compliance with the gracious wish of the Japanese Emperor, allowed to wear their swords and maintain soldiers' honor, Capt. Meyer Waldeck said: "Four or five days prior to the surrender of the fortress the wireless station was destroyed, making it impossible any longer to communicate with Peking. The successful storming of Bismark fort by the attacking soldiers, who recklessly hurled themselves at us by making human bullets of their bodies, sealed the fate of Tsing Tau. It then became evident that the garrison could no longer hold itself against the shelling of heavy artillery. To have done so would have swelled the list of casualties and nothing would have been gained. That forced me to raise the white flag." "The German Charge d'Affaires at Peking says that Tsing Tau fell two weeks sooner than was expected. "The Governor with 2,300 officers and men will be transported to Japan as prisoners on November 21."

BOB ROGERS WILL LET MILITIA CONTRACTS

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Despite rumors to the contrary, it is quite certain that General Hughes when he returns to resume his duties as Minister of Militia, and will carry out the government's program of further heavy enlistment and training and usual. He has, however, been relieved of the responsibility of letting militia contracts, this task having been allotted to a sub-committee of the cabinet, of which Hon. Robert Rogers is the head. A somewhat careless disregard for the patronage list in this regard by the Minister of Militia in the equipping of the first force was responsible for considerable criticism of his regime by certain members of the cabinet. Sir Robert Borden has now been absent at Virginia Hot Springs for over three weeks, and is not expected back until November 15.

LIEUT. COLS. KILLED.

Commanding Officers of Welsh Regiment and Northumberland Fusiliers in Casualty List.

London, Nov. 18.—A casualty list, dated November 3, was issued here. It gives the names of ten officers killed and twenty-eight wounded. Among the killed are Lieut.-Col. C. B. Moreland, of the Welsh Regiment, and Lieut.-Col. Arthur Jex-Blake Percival, of the Northumberland Fusiliers. In the list of wounded appears the names of Lieut.-Col. R. H. H. Boys, of the Royal Engineers, and Major B. T. Pell, of the Queen's Royal West Surrey Regiment.

RUBBER AND SHOE FACTORIES BUSY

The rubber factories at Berlin, Ont., are working two shifts a day to turn out orders for the Canadian and British governments for winter equipment. All shoe and leather manufacturing firms are also working full time, and in some cases overtime, to turn out orders.

London, Nov. 17.—Lady Strathcona has provided an armored motor car for the London mounted brigade.

Rule of reason seems needed in international law.

MASQUERADE BALL WAS MADE GRAND SUCCESS

The Society Circus was carried to a successful finish by a monster masquerade ball given in the Agricultural Hall last night. The attendance both of masked dancers and of onlookers was large. The costumes were of the most varied kinds and some excellent hits were made. At 11 masks were removed, when some genuine surprises followed. Probably the character that attracted the most attention was that of a society lady whose tremendous proportions called attention to her all evening. "She" turned out to be one of the best known members of the Fire Department. Miss Peach, as a gentleman, made a most attractive figure also. The music was provided by the Prince Rupert City Band and by Metlakatla Band. The whole space on the ground floor was given over to the dancers and in spite of the size of the building it was crowded at times during the dances. The greatest good will prevailed and a very pleasant evening was spent. Refreshments were served during the evening in the galleries, where tables were set.

MAURICE MAETERLINCK COMPLIMENTS BRITAIN

M. Maurice Maeterlinck, the famous Belgian dramatist, speaking at one of Lord Haldane's meetings at Newcastle recently, was received with round after round of cheers by the upstanding audience. He said: "It is a pitiful story I have to tell; it is the story of a little kingdom which has kept its pledge and died for it. (Shouts of "Never, never.") Belgium was established as a buffer state against two great contending powers to prevent the passage of one army into territory of the other, and that neutrality was guaranteed by the greatest power in Europe—England. We have kept our pledge loyally. In August Germany sent us an ultimatum saying that we should let their forces go through into French territory. It is untrue that if the request had come from France Belgium would have been more lenient. She would in the same way have endeavored to prevent the French army from breaking the terms of neutrality. Belgium has been called England's foster-child, and England has certainly proved herself a good foster-mother. My countrymen realize that England's word is her bond." (Cheers.)—Ex.

WILL BE BUSY ALL WINTER

An order for 1,500,000 shirts for the British forces has been allotted among the various shirt manufacturers in Canada by the British purchasing agents now in Canada, acting in conjunction with the Canadian government. The order will keep almost every shirt factory in Canada busy during the winter months.

Before buying your winter underwear it will pay you to look over our stock of silk and wool combinations and separate garments.—Demers. 266-268

BRILLIANT ATTACK OF ALLIES GETS RESULTS

(Special to The Daily News.)
Paris, Nov. 19.—A brilliant attack by British troops and French sailors drove the Germans from Schoorbakke, Belgium. The floods have left only two roads open to the town. The British approached on one side in armored automobiles; the French crossed on rafts and took the Germans in the rear, forcing them to flee by the only other road open, leaving guns, ammunition, stores and wounded.

Germans Repulsed.

Paris, Nov. 19.—Yesterday saw increased artillery fire in the north, particularly between the coast and Lys. The Algerians at Tracy De Val repulsed a German attack, inflicting heavy losses.

EDITORIALS

Samuel G. Blythe's articles in the Saturday Evening Post are not generally unfair, but he is quite wrong in his supposition that the terrible war that is now ravaging Europe is caused by trade rivalry between Great Britain and Germany.

But there is no need to elaborate this point, because the causes of the war are plain. On neither side did trade rivalry play any part. Germany, according to her own showing, went to war to protect Austria and herself from Slavonic influence; went to war with France because France is Russia's ally; and went to war with Belgium because Belgium was the easiest way to France.

Another view is that Germany went to war because of the military and imperialistic ambitions entertained by the Kaiser and his junkers and officers, and fostered by such men as Bernhardi. This, we think, is the true view. Germany had sixty-five millions of people confined in a small territory. She wanted more room, wanted an empire comparable with that of Great Britain or Russia.

Great Britain went to war not only because of the German attack upon Belgium, but because Germany's whole attitude, her threats against Russia and France, produced great alarm, and aroused the instinct of self-preservation. German treatment of Belgium was bad and without cause. But it does not stand alone. It is a key to German policy. It shows that Germany would ruthlessly trample upon the rights of any nation not powerful enough to defend itself.

Having thus made itself all-powerful on the continent of Europe, Germany would have attacked the British Empire. That, at least, was the fixed belief of the British people, and we are sure that Mr. Blythe must have heard that in England. Why then does he ignore this reason, which accounts perfectly for Great Britain's attitude, and adopt the absurd and fantastic idea that Great Britain is influenced by trade rivalry?

Europe is in arms today because of German ambition—not commercial ambition, but the lust of power, and because Germany has aroused all over Europe the instinct of self-preservation. Great Britain is fighting, not for trade, but for freedom. And that battle for freedom is our battle and the battle of the United States and all other free nations.—Toronto Star.

RUSSIAN OFFICER'S IMPRESSIONS OF THE BRITISH TROOPS

A Russian officer who has been attached to the French armies returned to Petrograd a few days ago. His impressions of service will, wires a correspondent of The Times, both interest and gratify French and British readers.

Respecting the French army, he could only repeat what so many Russian soldiers already knew from personal knowledge and observation. He speaks in terms of unbounded enthusiasm of General Joffre, whose calm and unruffled assurance of victory is a tower of strength.

Russian military circles have been considerably impressed by the modesty of the French war bulletins. It has been noted that General Joffre never boasts of numbers of prisoners and the guns taken.

About the British troops, the Russian officer speaks with delight. "They are immense. The quiet, business-like manner in which they face the day's work is a veritable treat for the eyes, and the moment there is a lull in the fighting they start playing games. I saw them many times break off a friendly encounter among themselves to rush back to the trenches, where they coolly proceeded to pour volleys into the foe."

HERR BEBEL AND THE WAR.

The late Socialist generalissimo, Herr Bebel, said: "When Germany goes to war there will be whole armies of our adherents in the fighting ranks. As long as all goes well and victory crowns our banners they can do little but let themselves be swept along on the triumphant flood. But once let the impression take root that Hohenzollern prestige has lost its magic—once let the War Lord's pride be greatly humbled by a genuine disaster to his arms—then prepare for a miracle!"

CROWN PRINCE IS BLAMED FOR THE FAILURE OF HIS ARMY

SAID HE LED THE KAISER'S ARMY INTO FRANCE AND HAVING FAILED IN HIS OBJECT IS NOW MUCH CRITICIZED.

London, Nov. 18.—Telegraphing from Copenhagen, W. Duckworth, special correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, says:

"A neutral subject, who has just returned after a week's stay in Berlin, says the Crown Prince is being blamed for the failure of the German advance in France. The people had put their trust in him to reach Paris within the scheduled time. Now he is being openly attacked for failing to penetrate the French right."

"An enormous number of slightly wounded men and boys limp about the streets of Berlin, drive in open motors or are seen in the restaurants and theaters. These are so numerous as to seem to be part of a gigantic street campaign to advertise the army. Every man appears to be decorated with the iron cross. The number of iron crosses distributed now is approaching 100,000."

"Gaiety in the cafes seems forced, many informants say. The general impression is that the people realize that the success of the German arms has been too long delayed. This, along with the mysterious whereabouts of the Kaiser and the awful monotone of statements in the daily reports of the headquarters' staff have, it is feared, some deeper significance."

"Winter shadows are black in Berlin. Hundreds of women are in mourning. The people are beginning to learn that they are faced with an economical crisis. It is reflected in the faces of the business men in the street, in the increasing numbers of the unemployed, and in the sudden jump in the cost of living in the last fortnight. More business houses have closed, and still further reduction of salaries have been made by those houses remaining open."

LONDON DOCTOR'S TRIBUTE TO THE BRITISH SOLDIER

Dr. Ludwig Tasker, of Alexandra Park, London, who is with the R. A. M. C. at the front, in the course of letters just received, speaks in eulogistic terms of the bravery of the British soldier.

If the people of the United Kingdom could see the conditions under which our fellows fight, how they fight, and how they die,

I swear that every head would uncover to the colors of any regiment bearing the name of a battle, because that name had been won through the blood of real heroes. Believe me, the Victoria Cross is won over and over again in a single day. They are brave! What if you were to see how the wounded act after the excitement of battle! They suffer their wounds, great and small, without a murmur; they get their wounds dressed, take chloroform, give consent to have their limbs amputated, just as if they were going to have their hair cut. They are gloriously brave. Men who have been in the thick of the fight all day, seen their chums wounded and killed, their own lives not worth a second's insurance, still these men cook their food and go off to sleep, and, most wonderful of all, go back to the thick of it next day.

An officer of the Bedfords, while in the trenches was opening a parcel and a letter from his wife, and in the excitement of the moment I suppose the poor fellow forgot his cover, and he was shot through the heart. A pathetic incident also occurred in the case of a Tommy whom we picked up. He had been shot in the chest. By a curious coincidence the bullet which killed him had also passed through a corresponding spot in a photograph of his wife which he carried with him.

BROUGHTON STRAIT IS CLOSED FOR DEFENCE

Authorities at Ottawa Take Measures to Protect Vancouver.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—It has been officially announced here that the western portion of Broughton Strait, near Vancouver Island, is closed to navigation for purposes of defence. Vessels going by way of Ellen Point Channel are in danger of being fired on, it is announced. While no reason has been assigned officially for this action, it is popularly believed to be due to apprehension as to a possible attack from the German fleet that defeated British warships recently off the coast of Chile.

The cause of the war has been traced to Martin Luther. Why not keep right on back to Adam and Eve?

THROUGH HELL AND OUT-- TWO SOLDIERS' EXPERIENCES

Here are two scenes from the war which vividly show the contrasts in fate which come to men. The first shows the man who, in a very hurricane of hell, comes out unscathed and writes a remarkable unpremeditated account to his family.

Through Hell and Out. "I've been through hell and out again, and none the worse, but it was through God's help, for if anyone in Antwerp ought to have been killed it was I.

"I was tearing down one of the boulevards at forty miles an hour—we didn't waste much time—when thirty yards off a woman opened the door of her house and came out. I just saw her, and then there was a thunderous crash and a shell burst right at her door.

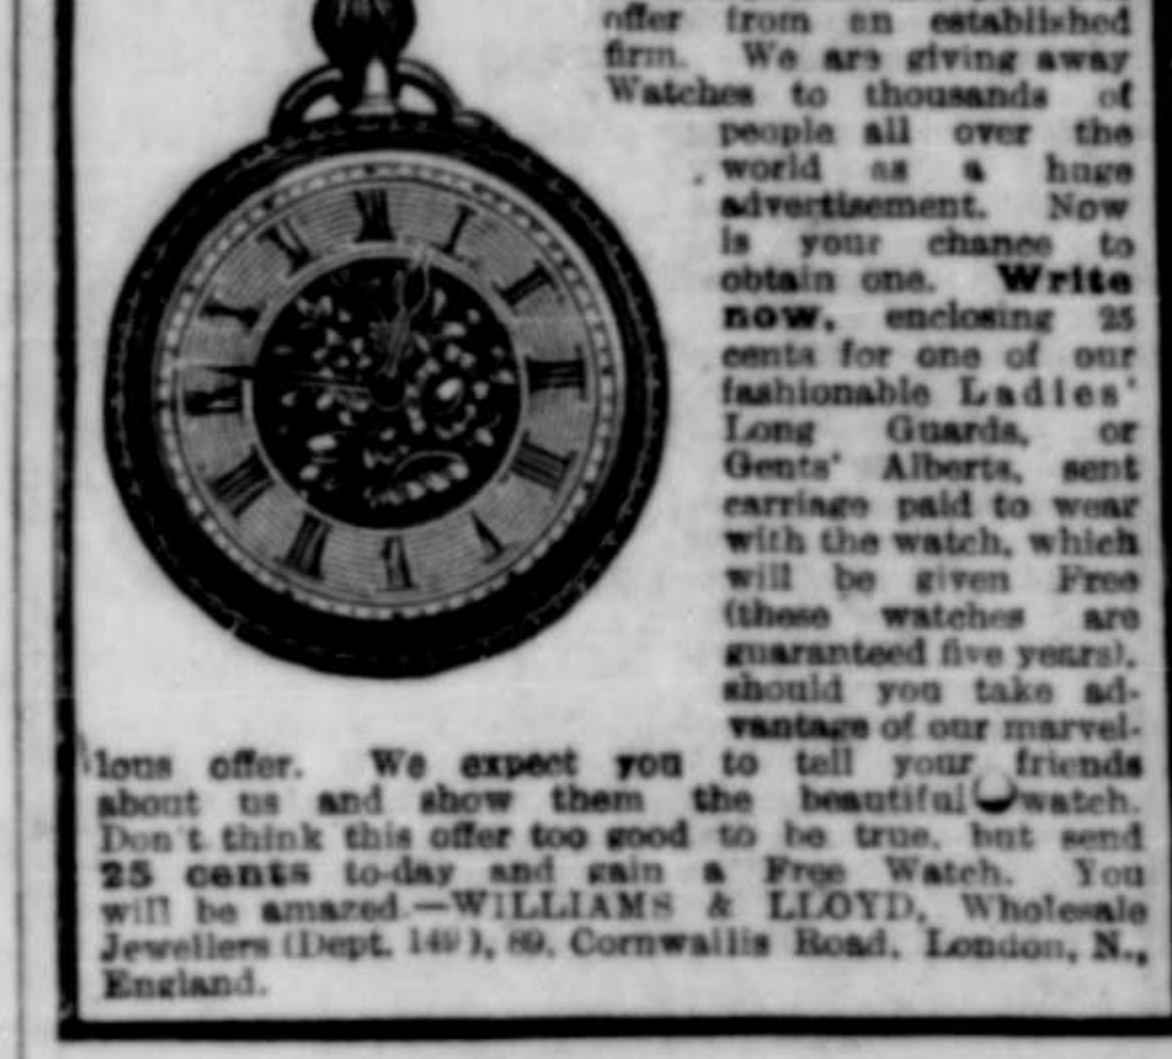

"Then the time came when the town got practically deserted except for just a few people who had trusted to their cellars. They would run out and ask me, 'What is the situation?' and one tried to buck them up by saying, 'The English will save your city, but you had better go.'

"I was in the last car to leave the town, when everyone else had gone. Someone remembered two motor-busses that had been left at the other end of the town, and my captain, I, and two Piccadilly 'busmen had a joy ride once more through the city and got them. It was then dark, except for the glow of the burning houses.

Mrs. D. McLeod, formerly of this town and New Hazelton, almost had a serious accident recently. While out riding with her horse the animal fell on the street, throwing his rider with considerable force to the ground. She was taken to the hospital but it was found that her injuries were not severe.

Mrs. J. R. Morgan had the good fortune a few days ago of shooting a white swan. The shot was fired from a rifle and while the bird was on the wing. Only a year ago she shot a wild goose, also on the wing, and with a rifle. Mrs. Morgan is very fond of accompanying her husband on his hunting expeditions, and usually gets her share of the game.

AMERICAN DISGUST AT GERMAN INHUMANITY

The New York Herald Speaks Plainly of Huns' Most Recent Action

New York, Nov. 18.—The Herald says editorially:

"If it is true, as cabled from Amsterdam, that Germany has threatened to prevent the American relief committee from distributing food and other supplies to suffering Belgians, the defenders of 'kultur' in this country will have no more defending to do.

"Germany's attitude toward and action in Belgium is a crime against civilization. Having conquered and over-run a country with they had neither quarrel nor excuse for quarrel, the Germans have stripped the country of not only its valuables but of its food supplies, and at the time neutral nations are compelled in the interests of humanity to undertake the task of saving the Belgian people from starvation Germans continue their pillage.

"Now to their vandalism they add threat of preventing the distribution of supplies to the needy.

"The spectacle is one that not even the greatest admirer of German prowess can view with any feeling save disgust."

JAP SHIPS LOOKING FOR GERMAN CRUISERS

Honolulu, Nov. 19.—That Japan is rushing naval forces toward the coast of Chile to join the other vessels of the Allies in a search for the German vessels that brought defeat to Sir Christopher Craddock's British squadron, was indicated by a report brought here by the schooner Robert H. Hind, which has just arrived from Port Townsend. The schooner's captain said he sighted the Japanese battleship Hizen and armored cruiser Asama on last Thursday, 500 miles southeast of this port and headed in a southerly direction.

The Hizen and Asama appeared off Honolulu harbor soon after the German gunboat Geier put in here for repairs. As soon as the captain of the Geier decided to interne here, the two Japanese vessels put in for supplies and sailed for an unnamed destination on November 11. Both are powerful fighting craft; the Hizen has a tonnage of 12,700 and the Asama is of 9,750 tons. The German squadron is supposed to be near Valparaiso, which port the cruisers Leipzig and Dresden left Saturday at daybreak, after taking coal.

EASTING JUST AS BEFORE THE WAR

London Is Getting Back to Normal Again, Restaurant Keepers Say.

"Everything as usual now. People have recovered their appetites."

That was the answer of one of London's largest restaurant proprietors to an enquiry as to "what people were eating in war time."

"There is an old gentleman who every day for years enjoyed the best lunch procurable," said the proprietor of a city restaurant, "but when the war broke out he knocked off his wine and his poultry.

"He took to ordering sandwiches and water. It was in vain we pressed the best of everything upon him. He would shake his head and answer mournfully, 'No,' and turn to his sandwiches and water.

"Once we successfully tempted him with a bundle of forced asparagus and a spatchcock—but it was only once.

"Other people in varying degrees were acting in the same way, and as a consequence we had any amount of food on our hands.

"We had to sell huge quantities to the poor for next to nothing, so that some poor people at least enjoyed excellent fare during the early days of the war.

"Now, however, things have righted themselves. People are eating just what they want and can afford.

"Our old gentleman," concluded the restaurant proprietor, "has come back to his senses, and today had a dozen bearded oysters, some cold consomme and partridge.

"He finished up with walnuts, port and a fine peach. So altogether he did very well, and is generally looking much better in health and spirits."

It seems to be generally agreed among restaurant proprietors that there has been a great revolt on the part of the public against cereals.

People who started to accustom themselves to a diet of cereal foods, when they imagined supplies would be cut off by the Germans, are taking their revenge now by eschewing these foods altogether.

At this rate the Germans will soon have such big guns that they can do all their fighting without leaving Berlin.

IGNORING BELGIUM

German-American Defenders of Teutonic Actions Conveniently Forget Savage Treatment of Little Country.

Toronto, Nov. 18.—Professor J. G. Hume, head of the department of philosophy and psychology in Toronto University, who formerly studied under Prof. Munsterberg, of Harvard, in an address on the war delivered last night strongly scored the German-American defenders of the Teutonic position in the present war.

The German theologians who had put forward a defence of the war had, he said, altogether omitted to explain the invasion of Belgium, an omission which destroyed the defence. Prof. Munsterberg's argument that the "Yellow Peril" was working hand in hand with pan-Slavism and that the United States should unite with Germany to combat this danger, was declared to be an unmitigated falsehood.

That the war was largely due to Great Britain's jealousy of Germany as a commercial competitor was declared to be without a shadow of foundation, Britain's policy being diametrically opposed to any such policy, her markets having been thrown open to all the world.
