GENERAL FRENCH OPTIMISTIC— BATTLE TIDE FAVORS ALLIES

GERMANS MISCALCULATED STRENGTH OF ALLIES IN WEST AT OPENING OF CAMPAIGN — HAVING FAILED THEN THEIR CAUSE IS HOPELESS.

(Special to The Daily News)
 London, Nov. 30.—Field Marshal Sir John French speaks in an optimistic vein concerning the position of the Allies in a report issued today to the Official Press Bureau. The report covers the activities of the British troops from November 11 to 20. Summing up, he says:
 "As I close this dispatch signs are evident that we are possibly in the last stages of the battle of Ypres and Armentieres. For several days the artillery fire has slackened considerably and infantry attacks have practically ceased."

"In the general military situation," he says, "it does not seem to be clearly understood that the operations which they have been engaged in embrace nearly all the central part of Europe from east to west. The combined French-British armies in the west and the Russian army in the east were opposed by the united forces of Germany and Austria acting as combined armies between us. The Germans elected at the beginning to throw the weight of their forces against our armies in the west and leave only a comparatively small force to meet the Russian advance until their western troops were completely defeated. Their strength enabled them to throw superior forces against us in the west. This precludes the possibility of our taking further vigorous offensive action. The miscalculations made by their commanders at the opening gave them special opportunities for successful attacks and pursuit."
 He speaks highly of the services of the Royal Artillery. The skill and courage of the commanders has been very marked. There is every reason to know the course of the battle. He placed three times as many of the enemy in combat in dead, wounded and prisoners as those of the Allies.

BRITISH STEAMERS SUNK.

Two Vessels Said to Have Been Hit by Submarines.
 London, Nov. 30.—It was reported by Lloyd's Friday that two British steamers were sunk off Ypres by German submarines. The steamers were the Malachite and Primo. The crews of both vessels were rescued. The men from the Malachite were landed at Southampton, and those of the Primo at Freamos, a French port on the English Channel.

PAPERS AIM TO PREVENT RECRUITING

Six Seditious Publications in Ireland Openly Pro-German Attempt to Stifle Campaign for Men.
 London, Nov. 30.—Irish dispatches received here tell of a most extraordinary situation which has arisen in Ireland, which will need prompt and strong action on the part of the authorities.
 It appears that six seditious newspapers, openly pro-German and anti-British, are being published in Dublin and distributed throughout the west of Ireland, with the primary object of stifling the recruiting campaign which is now being carried on there. The news sheets in question are the Irish Worker (Jim Larkin's paper), Sinn Fein, Irish Freedom, The Irish Nation, and Ireland. The last named paper has only recently been made a daily publication.
 Quoted by Germans.
 Last week a prominent German organ gave serious quotations from these news sheets, and also gave an address in Dublin at which, it was stated, that arms could be bought by the Irish rebels. This journal also stated that money was being collected in New York to support the movement. Meetings have been held there recently by Irish-Americans who are hostile to John Redmond, and these and a number of Germans attended, and "Die Wacht am Rhein" was sung.
 Larkin has gone to the United States to lecture against the British government.

LOCAL CATTLE FOR FRIZZELL'S MARKET

That the surrounding district will soon be able to supply Prince Rupert with meat was evidenced by a shipment of cattle, which George Frizzell got last week from the Walsh ranch, on Graham Island. There were 37 head in the flock and Mr. Frizzell improvised an abattoir at the far end of Eleventh avenue and had them slaughtered. He brought the best pack to town today in excellent shape.

CHINK GOVERNMENT IS IN BAD STRAITS FOR WANT OF MONEY

If Finance Not Forthcoming Soon Army of Million Will Be Ineffective.

New York, Nov. 28.—The Chinese government is understood to be in dire straits for money because of its inability to negotiate a new loan. The loan of $125,000,000 which the government negotiated with capitalists of England, France, Germany, Russia and Japan a year ago is almost exhausted. If money is not soon forthcoming the Chinese army of nearly a million men will become ineffective. Because of the European war it is impossible to negotiate a loan with European capitalists and an American loan is the only resource left.
 Two emissaries of the Chinese government arrived in this country two weeks ago and after conferring with capitalists here are now in Washington. One of them is Wong Chin San, secretary of the Board of Finance.
 It is understood to be Wong Chin San's desire to obtain an audience with President Wilson to gain from him some sanction for the loan, as a year ago the President discontinued participation by the United States in it. His reason was said to be that money was not intended for a reconstruction fund, but to down personal enemies of Yuan Shai Kai.
 Representatives of the revolutionists are understood to be now in this country trying to prevent the proposed loan.

WHAT EIGHT MILLION CANADIANS CAN DO

When seven or eight millions of men, armed to the teeth for killing one another and destroying property, can get away with fifty million dollars a day outside of the property they destroy, remember what eight millions of Canadians using goods made by Canadians can do to keep the old ship head up to the storm.
 It isn't a matter of buying silks and bric-a-brac. What keeps the Canadian factory going nowadays is the main part of what you buy every day and the small items multiplied run into a larger total than the big purchase.

ENEMY MAKES EFFORT TO INFLUENCE INDIAN FIGHTERS IN TRENCHES

Germans Drop Leaflets From a Taube Announcing Holy War Which Fall Into Hands of British Troops.

London, Nov. 30.—The life of the Indian troops in the trenches is described in a bulletin from the front which has just been issued by the Official Press Bureau:
 "Nothing sensational has happened in the Indian lines," says the bulletin. "There has been trenching, counter-trenching and a good deal of hand-to-hand fighting, but no Gurkha regiment has penetrated behind the German lines and blown up a powder magazine."
 The report says that the Germans have not attacked the Indian trenches as desperately as they have the other parts of the line, and have been repelled without difficulty. When the Germans have captured an Indian trench, invariably it has been recaptured, usually at night with the bayonet. Despite the cold weather, the health of the Indians is better than that of the white soldiers who accompanied them from India. While feeling the hardships of the trenches acutely they have not complained.

Officers Well Informed.

The officers of the Indians are exceedingly well informed regarding the war. In describing German attempts to influence the Indians, the report says that the operator of a Taube aeroplane threw down over the trenches many leaflets bearing the announcement by a German professor that "Sheik-Ul-Islam" had proclaimed a holy war. All the leaflets fell into the hands of the white soldiers, who were puzzled by them.
 Two Indians were creeping towards a German trench on a scouting expedition one night when a searchlight was thrown upon one of them.
 "He was quick witted enough to realize that no ordinary resource would save his life," says the report. "He immediately rose to his feet and advanced saluting to the German trench."

KAISER'S OFFER IS TURNED DOWN

German Emperor Proposed Japan Taking Up Arms Against Russia but Japan Refused.

Petrograd, Nov. 30.—The newspaper Reich prints an explanation of the mysterious reference by Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, ex-Premier of England, at the Guildhall banquet in London, November 10, to "one of the most impudent messages ever addressed by one monarch to another. The Reich says that on the eve of the fall of Tsingtau the Kaiser sent a message to the Emperor of Japan in which he proposed to conclude peace with Japan by accepting all the conditions which the Mikado would be pleased to fix. The German Emperor exacted one condition, namely, that Japan should attack Russia. The Mikado declined emphatically to accept the proposal, and added:
 "That day when the last foothold of German culture in the Orient falls will be one of the most glorious in Japanese history."
 The Mikado concluded by telling the Kaiser that he had deceived himself enormously by thinking that Japan, like Prussia, was capable of violating treaties.
 The Mikado handed the Kaiser's telegram and a copy of his reply to the British minister.

WORK FOR SOLDIERS.

The ladies of the English Church have been doing their share of patriotic work and on the outbreak of the war organized the Anglican Church Women's Patriotic League. They have recently completed and sent away to the headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross in Toronto a bale containing many articles (478 in all) called for by the Red Cross, such as pillow cases, shirts, surgical nightshirts, nightgales, etc.

The League was promoted at the instigation of Mrs. Rix, to whom much of the success of the work is due, with Mrs. Du Vernet as president and Mrs. T. C. Duncan as secretary-treasurer, and worked in affiliation with the Daughters of the Empire. The week before the contingent left was a specially busy one, as over one hundred housewives were made by the ladies and presented to the men at the farewell meeting in the agricultural hall. The funds for the work were given by the ladies of the church, but the League is specially indebted to the Daughters of the Empire for a most generous contribution of $41.10, which has greatly assisted in carrying on the work.

An American correspondent tells with astonishment of seeing a Scotch regiment leaving for the front while the kilties on the train and their women-folk took up the strain:

"You'll tak the highroad, and I'll tak the low road
An' I'll be in Scotland before you
But me an' my true love will never meet again,
By the bonny, bonny banks of Loch Lomond."

There is something startling about the seemingly frank expectation that the men were going away to war never to return. But such a regiment as that, or an army of such regiments, is a menace to the enemy than which none could be greater. Those men, as they sing, have no wish to die; they may expect to lose their lives, they may fear they will never return, yet they go, although they do not have to go. The volunteer, they go voluntarily to death, if need be, because as free men they believe that they ought to go and they choose to do so.

It is in the supreme moment in the stress of battle, that the superiority of the voluntary soldier over the pressed man is shown. He is there of his own choice, he is there because he foresaw this deadly moment, knew it had to come, and chose to be in it. He brings to the conflict moral ardor as well as physical energy.

As an offset to the taunt that theirs is a conscript army the newspapers of Germany are seeking to arouse contempt for the British soldiers by describing them as mercenaries, as hired soldiers, as men who go to the front, not because they love their country, but because they are paid a shilling a day.

The men who write in this way in the German press may know better, but it is quite possible that they do not. There are some things the German mind cannot comprehend. This is one of them. They do not see why those who rule a country defer to those who are ruled. They do not see why men should be urged to enlist when they could be forced to do so, nor why men should be paid to serve when they could be made to. They do not grasp the idea under it all, which is, that in British countries the people rule, the inhabitants govern. In earlier days when the recruit accepted "the King's shilling" he got a piece of money that was not of much value, but as a symbol it was beyond price. It was a token of the relation between the King and the subject. The latter joined the army not under compulsion of the King, but voluntarily, and accepted a coin to bind the bargain—the coin symbolized the voluntary nature of this action of a free man, for the fact of acceptance demonstrated the right to refuse to accept.

The pay of the soldier is of the same nature. He is a citizen voluntarily under arms. His pay is evidence of his status in the whole scheme of things.—Toronto Star.

MR. BOURASSA WILL NOT SPEAK AT OTTAWA

People's Forum Decides to Cancel Invitation to Nationalist Leader to Address Meeting.

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—The "Battle of Bourassa" has been fought and won so far as the People's Forum is concerned, and Bourassa will not address an Ottawa audience on Sunday night. The decision was made after a meeting of the organizers of the movement at which harmony did not reign. A minority of those present held out for ignoring the attempts to stir up popular excitement over the visit and for holding the meeting with Mr. Bourassa as the principal speaker at all costs. The majority, however, deemed it wise to defer to the clamor which has been aroused in some quarters by the prospect of the Nationalist leader speaking here. At the close of the meeting a telegram was sent to Montreal informing Mr. Bourassa that the invitation for him to speak here had been cancelled.

The Evening Free Press, in announcing the cancellation of the meeting, says: "The management of the People's Forum has been well advised in cancelling the engagement of Bourassa to speak in the Ottawa Imperial Theatre on Sunday night next. There was a beautiful riot brewing and the Sabbath peace of the Capital was threatened with excitement. The service corps of the Ottawa loyalists has been very busy collecting a plentiful supply of 'ancient hen fruit,' and a vigorous bombardment was on the tapis."

BELGIUM WARNED OF DANGER THREATENED FROM GERMAN EMPIRE

Belgian Premier and Minister of War Made Remarkable Address in Belgian Chamber of Deputies.

Amsterdam, Nov. 30.—The Vas Dias Agency has been authorized to publish a speech of Baron Charles de Broqueville, Belgian Premier and Minister of War, made during a secret session of the Belgian Chamber of Deputies in 1913, when the military bill came up for consideration in Parliament.

The war minister is said to have convened the secret session to communicate information not intended for the public. In this speech the baron said: "I do not desire to influence anyone in this matter, and everyone is free to vote as he pleases. The bill owes its origin to the German bill introduced in 1912, representing the greatest exertion of Germany in a military way since 1870. Germany will have in her first line troops 200,000 more men than France. We learned last summer that the object of this increase was to enable the German army to break through Belgium. This is learned from various powers."

The war minister then read the reports on strategic railways, making it possible for Germany to send 50,000 men into Belgium in less than twenty-four hours after a three hours' march. Baron de Broqueville then proceeded:

"We shall have to be on our guard against Germany. Regarding France, let me remind you that Maubeuge has not maintained, but that Lille has maintained new fortresses, constructed on the southern frontier and that France has increased the number of cavalry and infantry regiments."

"I do not fear the violation of our independence by France, but I assert that the French General Staff has had to study out the hypothesis of a march through Belgium. Various powers, indeed, have expressed the opinion that were we unable to discharge the duty of self-defence, there would be the greatest danger of foreign powers establishing themselves in our territory in order to 'protect' us."

"During last July a friend of Belgium, the chief of a certain state, declared in writing to the King: 'I give to Belgium the advice of a friend when I urge her to devote herself seriously to the problem of her own defence, for the miracle which happened in 1870, when Belgium remained unharmed between two hostile armies, will not be repeated.'"

The Vas Dias Agency is informed that the chief of state, not mentioned by name by Baron de Broqueville, was the late King Charles of Roumania.

BRITAIN INVESTIGATES ITS GOLD RESERVE

Suspicion That Some Metal Is Going to the Enemy—Stock Exchange Loans.

London, Nov. 28.—Gold is being hoarded in England at such a rate as to cause much discussion. About 30,000,000 pounds sterling ($150,000,000) has been received in gold by England from other countries in the last three months. Moreover, treasury notes have been put into circulation to the amount of 30,250,000 pounds, in addition to 5,000,000 pounds in Bank of England notes. Nevertheless, the increase in gold holdings of the Bank of England has amounted to no more than the gold actually received from abroad. This proves conclusively, it is said, that there is general hoarding of gold.

The Mail suggests that some of this gold is being sent to Germany by means of secret agents, women as well as men, and it demands that a strict examination be made of all tourists to see that they are not assisting Germany to build up a large gold supply at the expense of England's gold holdings.

It is reported that there will shortly be a transfer of 10,000,000 pounds sterling in gold from Russia to London. The gold, it is believed, will be deposited in the Bank of England and "earmarked" for Russian account between England and Russia and to facilitate commercial and financial transactions between the two countries.

The plan of the treasury relief in relation to the 90,000,000 pounds sterling advanced on loans to the Stock Exchange provides that banks to which currency facilities are open will not press for repayment of loans made on securities until a year after peace is concluded. The Bank of England, under government guarantee, will advance to other lenders 60 per cent of the value of the securities held by them on loans outstanding on July 29. Loans are to bear interest, payable fortnightly at 1 per cent over the bank rate. When July 29 settlement price the bank shall have the right to call for repayment of loans.

The Stock Exchange committee will not reopen the exchange without the consent of the treasury. This is the first occasion on which the Stock Exchange has come under any sort of control outside its own committees. It is generally believed that the plan will have beneficial effects, not only for its direct advantage to brokers, bankers and investors, but because of the fact that it will release a large quantity of funds for use in general trade.

GERMANY'S BIG GUNS ALL NEED REPAIRS

London, Nov. 30.—Germany's eight 17-inch howitzers, the great siege guns which played such havoc with the fortifications of Liege, Namur, Maubeuge and Antwerp, have been returned to the Krupp works at Essen for repairs. They have been severely strained and their breeches have been damaged in the fighting, it is said.

What Is "STRONG" FLOUR? Some flours yield more bread than others. There is a reason for this. It is because some flours absorb more water than others. The more water your flour will take up, the more bread you will get. Only "strong" flour will give you the maximum of bread—the light, flaky, nutty flavored kind. And it also means that the more bread you get from your flour, the lighter and better it is. So you see how necessary it is to have "strong" flour.

GERMANS SENT SCHOOLBOYS TO FRONT WITHOUT TRAINING

YOUNG LAD, A PRISONER, TELLS HOW THE PARENTS WERE TRICKED AND HOW THE BOYS WERE HOAXED AS TO MANEUVERS.

London, Nov. 28.—Many people do not believe the stories of the boy army that Germany is sending to the front, but it is, nevertheless, a fact that thousands of young lads are being taken from the schools and sent almost straight to the firing line, says a correspondent of The Mirror.

Many of them are already prisoners in England. Passing through Frintley recently I came across a batch of some 200 youths all bearing the scars of war. One of the lads spoke English. He told me he was 17 last June, and up to eight weeks ago did not know the front from the back of a rifle. "And it is the same with my comrades here," he added. "Eight weeks ago my parents were warned that I must report myself at the barracks to learn my military drills."

"I did some drills for two weeks, and then one Sunday morning an officer came and told us that we were to prepare for a long journey, as we were to go away for a months maneuvers.

"Of course, we never dreamed of going to real war, and it was not until we were startled next morning by the boom of cannon that we knew we had been hoaxed as to the maneuvers."

"My arm is injured and so is my head, with cannon shell fire. I have been all the time like one in a big and awful dream."

"I am pushed forward with pushes and curses. I go blindly onward. Ping, ping! come the bullets. My friends fall, calling 'Mutter!' I go on; I fall because the body of my friend impedes me. At once many fall on me. We struggle up, broken and bruised, only to be jeered at as cowards for falling without wounds, and then we are pushed on again."

Turning at the word to advance, he left me sobbing, like the poor worn child he is.

GERMAN SUBMARINES WENT TO BOTTOM

Stayed There While the British Fleet Was Recently Bombarding Zeebrugge.

London, Nov. 30.—Some new details of the bombardment of Zeebrugge, Belgium, which the Germans were preparing as a naval base, have reached the London papers.

The correspondent of The Express on the Belgian frontier telegraphs that refugees report that the first shell thrown by the British ships on Zeebrugge fell among the German submarines in the inner harbor. After twenty sailors had been killed or wounded the submarines were ordered to gun the gauntlet of the fleet. Some of the submarines returned to Zeebrugge, the correspondent laconically remarks, and he added that the fate of the others is unknown.

In describing the bombardment, the correspondent of The Daily Mail at Amsterdam, says:

"The German submarines in the harbor basin hid themselves below during the bombardment in order to prevent their destruction. When the warships retreated they rose again and went in pursuit, but soon returned."

How London must envy the Eskimos those six-months days!—Columbia State.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—The first "Canadian Navy List" has just been published. It is published by the Naval Service Department, and contains some interesting information relative to the ships of the Royal Canadian Navy. The flag officers are: Vice Admiral Charles E. Kingsmill, Director of the Naval Service, and Rear Admiral Wm. O. Storry, R. N., superintendent of the Esquimalt dockyard.

There are two captains, Capt. R. G. Corbett, of the Niobe, and Capt. E. H. Martin, who has charge of the Halifax dockyard. The former is lent by the Royal Navy. There are six commanders, but only two of these are in the permanent Canadian service, Walter Hose, of the Rainbow, and R. M. T. Stephens, the chief of staff. Three commanders are temporary: John T. Shenton, Henry Thompson, and F. W. H. James and Commander C. W. Trousdale, of H. M. C. S. Earl Grey, is lent.

One lieutenant commander, John H. K. Clegg, is also lent by the Admiralty.

The ships belonging to the Canadian navy are the Diana, Shore Establishment at Halifax; the Niobe, a cruiser of 11,000 tons; the Rainbow, a light cruiser of 3,600 tons; the Shearwater, a sloop of 980 tons, at Esquimalt, and the Shearwater II Shore Establishment.

There are thirteen Canadian fleet auxiliaries; the Malaspina, Galiano, Restless, Newington, Canada, Curlew, Albacore, Gull-nare, Petrel, Scotsman, Gladiator, Constance and Margaret.

Three officers of the volunteer reserve are serving on the Niobe and eighteen at Esquimalt.

Two submarines bought just before the opening of the war for the Pacific Coast waters, are named "CC1" and "CC2." The former is in command of Lieut. Adrian St. V. Keyes, who is also named as commander of the submarine flotilla, while the other is in command of Lieut. Bertram E. Jones.

"I have worked it out quite logically," said Beerhöhm. "It's very plain. The bylaws of this club state that the membership thereof is composed of noblemen and gentlemen; and, since the person who took my umbrella is certainly no gentleman, it follows that he must be a nobleman."

WOUNDED AUSTRIAN VIOLINIST RECOVERS

Fritz Kreisler and Red Cross Nurse Wife in New York City.

New York, Nov. 27.—Fritz Kreisler, an Austrian violinist of note who served as a lieutenant in the 3rd Kratz Regiment and was wounded in battle near Lemberg, has reached New York on the steamer Rotterdam. He was accompanied by his wife, who served as a Red Cross nurse in the Austrian army.

"I was wounded on the night of September 16," said Mr. Kreisler. "While resisting a charge of Russian Cossacks I was knocked down by a horse, and as the rider passed over me he sank his lance into my right thigh. It caught in my coat and before he could withdraw it I shot and killed him. I lay in the trenches for hours until I was found. I was then taken to a hospital near Vienna and nursed back to health by my wife."

Mrs. Kreisler saw duty in German and Austrian Red Cross hospitals. She came into personal contact with the American Red Cross units and she said that they were receiving unbounded praise everywhere.

IMPORTANCE OF NICKEL OUTPUT IN CANADA

The importance of Canada's nickel industry may be more fully realized when it is considered that Canada produces over 80 per cent of the world's output of nickel.

In 1913 the Canadian Copper Company's smelter at Copper Cliff, in the Sudbury district, treated 665,000 tons of ore, containing over 44,000,000 pounds of nickel, or about 90 per cent of the total output of Canada. The nickel was recovered as matte and shipped to the United States for refining.

Pure nickel is employed in small amounts for a number of purposes because of its strength and durability and its white color, which resists tarnishing.

Steel containing 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent of nickel has certain of its properties greatly improved, so that for many purposes it is replacing ordinary structural steel. Its value for armor plate has long been known, and the rivalry of the great maritime nations in the building of dreadnoughts is one of the causes of the recent increased demand for nickel.

In 1913, Canada exported 43,344,307 pounds of nickel, contained in ore or matte, to the United States and 4,826,783 pounds to the United Kingdom.

In the Letter Box

Editor, The Daily News.
 Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space to reply to The Journal of yesterday morning, as it is a good time to clear up some misconceptions which The Journal seeks to instil in the minds of those not familiar with the question under discussion.
 The Journal says that I would lead the public to believe that Sir Wilfrid's navy would spring up by magic and adds "the proposition of Sir Wilfrid was a fanciful one, which could not have provided vessels for the present war and not for many long years following it."
 Let us impale The Journal upon its own argument. If the class of cruisers proposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier could not have been completed for the present war nor yet for years to follow, how long would it be before the dread-noughts proposed by the Borden administration would be in commission? Of what use, therefore, would have been the grant of $35,000,000?
 As a matter of fact, the argument of the Liberals that it was men, not money, that Britain needed, has been more than proven in the present war. Today, it is not money but men that Britain wants. She is lending money to everybody—including Canada—to supply her with men.
 The truth of the situation is that the policy of Sir Wilfrid was a practical one which would have been rendering valuable assistance at this time, while that of the Borden administration was a makeshift one which could not possibly have been of any practical assistance as yet.
 While this is the case, I do not believe that the action of the Borden administration in any degree affected the determination of the Kaiser in his declarations of war.
 A Kaiser who did not hesitate to challenge the hosts of Britain, France and Russia, not to speak of Belgium, which has a population equal to Canada's, would not likely be influenced by any action that an unmilitary nation like Canada, situate thousands of miles away and with so small a population, might take.
 Even the fact that we possess so great a warrior as The Honorable Samuel Hughes and so great a maker of warriors as Joe Merryfield would, we opine, far from alarm the Kaiser.
 In conclusion, let me say that I like the editor of The Journal very much, but I regret to say that more and more he allows party prejudice to preclude the fair statement of an issue. Some day he will discover how empty blind partizanship is, and how satisfying is the promulgation of those things making for the good of all irrespective of political parties.
 Faithfully yours,
 T. D. PATTULLO.

PUBLIC OPINION IS AGAINST FOOTBALL
Indications Point to Cancellation of All League Games in Old Land.
 London, Nov. 30.—Indications are that it is extremely improbable that league football will continue. Public opinion, undoubtedly, is hardening against it, while nearly every daily paper except perhaps one or two devoted to sport condemn its continuation. Saturday the Pall Mall Gazette showed the strength of its convictions by announcing that for the future it would publish no football news.
 Premier Asquith has been tackled on the subject in the House, suggestions being made that legislation should be enacted to stop professional football or that the grounds should be commandeered for military purposes. The Prime Minister, however, intimates that he thinks the matter may be left to the good sense of the parties most concerned.
 The Football Association representatives meet this week to discuss the whole question.
 Eleven players of the Heart of Midlothian Club of the Scottish League, including Gracie and Low, Internationalists, have enlisted this week.
RESERVISTS CALLED OUT.
Danish and Swedish Army Reservists in Ottawa Ordered to Report at Once.
 Ottawa, Nov. 28.—Danish and Swedish army reservists living in Ottawa called at the newspaper offices today and stated that they had received orders to report for duty at the earliest possible moment. The orders reached them by mail.
 Many thousand reservists of the French, Belgian, Russian and British armies have been sent forward by the Canadian government. The statement that Danish and Swedish reservists have been called to the colors has caused much surprise here.
HAS GONE TO FRANCE.
 London, Nov. 27.—Col. Grant Morden, of Montreal, who was recently appointed second in command of the advance remount depot, has proceeded to France.
