MEETING OF SUPREME COURT WAS CONVENED HERE TODAY

JUDGE CLEMENT HAS CHARGE OF ASSIZES—CASE OF INDECENT ASSAULT WAS THROWN OUT BY THE JUDGE.

The sittings of the Supreme Court commenced this morning at 10 o'clock, the Honorable Mr. Justice Clement presiding. Mr. Patullo was chosen foreman of the Grand Jury, which consisted of the following: Alvin E. Wright, Magnus Lofquist, Walter S. Fisher, Arthur J. Smith, George J. Frizzell, Richard S. Argent, Daniel W. Morrissey, James McNulty, Hector Hebert, Thomas D. Patullo, Hubert Ward, Edward S. Wallace, George Mc-

Justice Clement, in his address to the Grand Jury, remarked that had been brought to his notice an attempt had been made by the authorities to influence the jury. A more unwarranted action, he had never heard of. It had been put to them that on account of the hard times it was desirable to make any recommendations regarding public safety. He requested them to take no account of such representations, but to act entirely as seemed best to them. It was not his opinion that the recommendations of a Grand Jury were of much effect. He thought they usually had a resting place in an office pigeon-hole.

There were only three cases to be before them. There was a case of assault in which the accused asked for speedy trial.

With regard to the case of indecent assault, the Attorney-General had left the matter in his hands, and after reading the depositions he was of the opinion that no case was made out. The case was founded on the evidence of a child who did not understand the value of an oath and was not corroborated. According to law such evidence was worthless and accordingly he did not put the case before the jury. A. M. Manson represented the accused and W. E. Fisher Crown.

With regard to the three cases before them, it was clear that they could only return true verdicts. The case of theft, where a woman of the restricted district accused another of robbing her of $700, was clearly a matter of evidence and as such to be decided before a Petit Jury.

The Grand Jury considered the most irresponsible body known to law. They could hold sessions in secret if they wished, but he advised them to make use of the Crown Prosecutor, Mr. Fisher, to assist them in taking evidence.

The case of Rex vs. Ellis Hesketh was brought up for speedy trial. Mr. Patmore, acting for the accused, put in a plea of guilty.

Hesketh was a man of good character and holding a responsible position as engineer on one of the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Company's boats. On the day of the assault he had been suffering from a severe headache and was recommended by some friends to try a little brandy. He followed their advice but somebody mixed the drink with the result that he completely lost his senses and ran "amok" down the street. Mr. Dillman happened to be passing and was looking over his shoulder calling to a friend and Hesketh took offence and knocked him down.

Several witnesses were called to prove the excellent character of the accused and Mr. Patmore, speaking for the prosecutor, said that every civil compensation that could be expected had been given. His client did not wish to press the matter.

Hesketh was released on suspended sentence on his personal recognizance of $1,000 with two sureties of $500 each to appear for sentence if called upon.

The court was adjourned until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

RUSSIANS HOLDING POSITIONS ON VISTULA

(Special to The Daily News.)

Petrograd, Dec. 2.—On the left bank of the Vistula, in the region of Lodz, action continues to develop. On November 30 the attacks of the enemy were directed principally on the front between Leleswy and Sabota to the north of Lowicz.

Our offensive was crowned with success on the left wing.

A reconnaissance during the last few days disclosed the fact that concentration of German contingents from Kalisz in the direction of Sieradz has been considerable.

On November 30 the enemy resumed the offensive near Sieradz, in the region of Lusk, and our advance guard engaged them in combat which lasted all day. To the south after the battle we took possession of Szertzeff, where a Prussian infantry brigade with five batteries was dislodged and fled in disorder.

On the other front there is no essential change. At Plock, besides four barges already mentioned, we took five steamboats and one barge loaded with cartridges.

Communications from the Caucasus report no action of importance on November 30.

KITCHENER GETS HIS WORK DONE

Acts on Principle That Master's Eye Should Be Everywhere

Newcastle, Dec. 1.—The past week has seen a remarkable increase of confidence amongst all classes concerning the immediate results at this stage of the war. The view was expressed by me three weeks ago, after surveying the Belgian front that the German advance on Calais would be highly dangerous for the Germans, and was almost bound to fail. This opinion is now general and it will suffice for our purpose if we hold the present front for the next two months, while the real decision of the continental war is reached in Poland.

In Britain all goes well. Although the navy is confident of its ability to prevent any raid, military preparations against a possible German landing continue at a pressure unimagined before. Any German force arriving at any point on the coast would promptly be overwhelmed. While it is impossible to reveal the details of our land preparations they are such as should satisfy even the alarmists.

Each day Kitchener emerges more prominently as the great driving force of the army. He is not content to remain in his London office, but visits the vital spots, driving, hastening, compelling, as a great business king drives his different plants to attempt and accomplish the seemingly impossible. In the east and south, as in Dunkirk and Paris, one heard everywhere of Kitchener's coming, how he got things done. One danger, in the opinion of some, is that he should not attempt too much himself in place of leaving lesser matters to subordinates. But Kitchener is acting on the principle that the master's eye should be everywhere.

A SERIOUS TYPHOID OUTBREAK IN BELGIUM

(Special to The Daily News.)

It is reported that a shr shrug London, Dec. 2.—An officer of the British medical corps reports a serious outbreak of typhoid in Belgium. Thirty new cases appear daily among the Belgian soldiers, and others among civilians. He says the outbreak must be checked or the Belgian army may be wiped out and thousands of people in West Flanders and Northeastern France perish.

Sofia, Dec. 2.—Reports here indicate that the situation in Serbia is critical. The Serbian army is declared to have withdrawn from Belgrade. Telegraphic communication between Belgrade and Nish has been severed.

GRIM FIGHT STILL RAGING IN POLAND

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Dec. 2.—The result of the important series of battles in Poland is still in the balance, though the impression is growing that the German general, Mackensen, has succeeded in saving his army after the Russians had encircled it.

It is equally clear that the German tactical plan for taking Warsaw has failed.

Berlin admits heavy losses in a three-days' battle in the vicinity of Lodz, but claims success in breaking through the Russian ring.

The Russians emphasize the capture of the German ammunition barges as indicating the beginning of a cut in the German communications.

TALK WITH THE DEAD, BUT FIRST OBEY LAWS

Sir Oliver Lodge Makes a Striking Declaration of Spiritual Faith.

London, Dec. 1.—Sir Oliver Lodge, president of the Society for Physical Research, in a recent lecture here in Browning Hall, Walworth, made a striking declaration of his spiritual faith, expressing his absolute conviction in the future existence, and stating that he has conversed with friends who had passed away.

"I say this," said Sir Oliver, "on definite scientific grounds. I say it because I know that certain friends of mine still exist, because I have talked to them. Communication is possible, but one must obey the laws to find out the conditions. I do not say it is easy, but I say it is possible."

"I tell you that these people still take an interest in the things that are going on, and they still help us to know more about things than we do, and that they are able from time to time to communicate with us."

Sir Oliver said that once people realized that consciousness was something outside the mechanism it made use of, they realized the survival of existence was the simplest thing. It was unreasonable that the soul should pass out of existence when the body was destroyed; people were not limited to the few years they live on earth, and they certainly continued to exist.

PETIT JURY PANEL

The following is the list for the Petit Jury for the present Assizes. No jury was yet selected as only a case for speedy trial has come up so far. The list is as follows: M. M. Wells, Frank E. Clap, Laehlan McDonald, Frank B. St. Amour, Phillip McDonald, Arthur Spurr, Douglas Sutherland, Ralph Tyson, Emil Van Gestel, Haliburton Peck, Walter Clayton, Robert, M. McIntosh, James J. Walsh, George M. Shirley, H. H. Hemmell, Frederick W. Renworth, Oscar J. Kirkpatrick, George Delasala, Arthur H. Silversides, William Blane, Guy G. Cameron, Hays W. Tooker, Solomon Mussallem, Clyde Rogers, John A. Edwards.

GIFT OF B. C. REACHES LONDON—GERMANS RUSHING SUBMARINES

BESIDES GOVERNMENT GIFT OF FISH SMALLER GIFTS ARE INCLUDED FROM PRIVATE PARTIES—GERMANS WON'T FIGHT WITH DREADNAUGHTS.

(Special to The Daily News.)

London, Dec. 2.—The C. P. R. steamer Montreal arrived with 25,287 cases of canned salmon, the gift from British Columbia to the Imperial government; also gifts of 100 cases of canned clams from the Sydney Trading Co., of British Columbia, and 100 cases of salted codfish from John Kendall & Co., of Alberni.

Realizing that Great Britain has a preponderance in Dreadnaughts, work in the German dockyards is concentrated in the construction of submarines and aircraft.

It is reported that the German fleet again has steamed to the North Sea.

CITY MAY VOTE ON RESTRICTED DISTRICT

Prince Rupert is liable to have the distinction of being the first city in Canada to have a plebiscite on whether or not the law of the land shall be enforced. They also probably have the first Police Commission which has not decision enough to do what they think is right without asking the assistance of the City Council.

At a meeting of the Police Commission held yesterday, the report of City Solicitor Peters was received on this matter and it was passed on to the Council for action. The following is the report of the city solicitor:

December 1, 1914.

Chairman of the Police Commission.

Dear Sir,—At the last meeting of your board a reference was made to me to ascertain whether there was any means whereby a plebiscite vote might be taken on the question as to whether or not the restricted area in this city should be abolished.

The question of holding a referendum was dealt with in the old Municipal Act, under Section No. 53, Sub-section 154.

By the Municipal Act of 1914 the old section was repealed and a new section, namely, Section No. 54, Sub-section 164, was substituted.

Whilst referring to these sections I wish to point out that, for some reason best known to the Legislature, the new section is not nearly so broad as the old one. The old section gave power to have a referendum on every question, whereas the new section only gives power to obtain the opinion of municipal electors upon any question which affects the municipality, and with which the municipal council has power to deal; this being a very considerable limitation upon the powers given by the old statute.

I might also point out that a referendum held under this clause of the Act, i.e., Section 54, Sub-section 164, should be ordered by bylaw. If the idea is that a referendum upon the proposed question is nothing more than to obtain the mere opinion of the voters I think such a referendum could be taken, but the result would not be binding upon the present or any future council.

My reasons for making this statement are that it is undoubtedly illegal to conduct a house of ill-fame in any city, and even supposing, which is almost impossible to suppose, that a bylaw authorizing the carrying on of such places were passed, such bylaw would be absolutely futile and prosecutions might be brought, notwithstanding the existence of that bylaw, and, having regard to this point of view, I do not think it necessary to pass a bylaw at all in the matter. In my opinion there is really no authority in the Statute authorizing the holding of a plebiscite upon the question proposed. At the same time I can see no valid reason why the Council should not adopt any means that it sees fit for the purpose of ascertaining the real sentiment of the public upon this much debated question. The result of the plebiscite would not be binding, in law, either upon the City Council or the Police Commission; but that result might fairly be looked upon as a guide which might materially affect the course taken in the future.

I think the City Council might, if it sees fit, at the next elections, by a mere resolution, take the opinion of the voters upon the question. I am not aware that such a course has ever been taken in any other city. This may or may not have been done, but it is undoubtedly the case that at municipal elections the question of a restricted area has very often been brought prominently before the electors.

I remain, yours truly,

FRED PETERS,
City Solicitor.

GERMAN BATTERIES DESTROYED BY ALLIES

It is perfectly futile for Germany to take roundabout ways of bringing the war to an end; if she really wants peace she must ask for it. The United States' offer of intervention early in the war was not accepted by the Allies, and no other offer of the same sort, or for the same purpose would have any better result, no matter from what power it might emanate. This war was of Germany's seeking, and when she becomes thoroughly tired of it she can let the allied governments know without indirection.

Before she does this, however, she had better, with a view to expedite matters, decide what her irreducible minimum is to be. Talking at large would be of no use, except to give Germany a chance to recuperate, and that will certainly not be allowed to her on any plea whatever. In this war the fighting will go on concurrently with the pourparlers, until the Russian army is in Berlin, and perhaps also the allied armies of the west. The only way to prevent what would be a catastrophe from the German point of view is to be frank in admitting collapse and in discussing conditions of peace.

Mr. Asquith, who certainly spoke with authority, stated publicly a few days ago some of the terms on which the Allies will insist: Militarism must be abolished in Europe; "small nations" must be allowed to develop in their own way without foreign molestation, and there must be some way found of preventing any one nation from trying to dominate the others. There must be a general and customary "propriety" of behavior among the powers which shall be binding on all, so that if one feels at liberty to behave in an overbearing way the others will have a recognized right to call it to account. There must be no more reliance on the "balance of power," or the "European concert," or any other traditional device to keep the peace among the nations; an international tribunal of some sort must be found.

There seems no reason to doubt that in the pending remodeling of the states-system of Europe and Asia the German element in the foreign control of Egypt will be eliminated by expulsion and the French element by voluntary withdrawal. As the Khedive has of his own choice cast in his lot with the Sultan of Turkey he must meet with what stoicism he may the "fate Allah has in store" for both. If Egypt becomes entirely a British province in name as well as in fact it will be interesting to watch the future of Palestine, which is the adjoining Turkish province.

There seems to be already manifesting itself a stirring among the Jews of the dispersion in different countries, and stranger things have happened than a partial Jewish restoration to the ancient Canaan under international guarantees would be. That Russia, France and Great Britain will dominate the coming rearrangement of the map of Europe and Asia is absolutely certain. Russia will probably be glad to get rid of her chronic Jewish trouble; France will be kindly disposed to people of whom she has long been tolerant; Great Britain will be enthusiastically desirous of helping a race the British people have delighted to honor.

What will happen in this direction depends on the Jews themselves. As a people they are wealthy enough to set themselves up under a new institutional organization. Their estimated number is eleven and a half millions. It might be both practicable and politic to let them have a large section of Syria, to the east of Palestine, so as to give them a chance to develop. Their literature and traditions would form a strong bond of union, to say nothing of their esoteric tribal organization. They are supremely intelligent as a race, and the whole civilized world should be willing to see one more "small nation" experiment tried under such exceptional conditions.—Toronto Globe.

PLATOON SYSTEM UNWIELDY

Many Officers Who Had Been Left Without Places Will Get Them

Salisbury Plain, Dec. 2.—The platoon system has been discarded, and the Canadians have returned to the old double company formation, which was worked in Canada, on the advice of the war office. This means that many hours spent in training troops have been practically wasted. The reversion is the result of experience in this line. The platoon system in use by the French and Germans was adopted by the Imperial army, but it is now found that huge companies of 250 men are unwieldy.

Scores of officers who were left without a place under the platoon system will be reinstated.

Colonel Victor Williams has gone to France, following other officers who visit the front for a few day's experience of real warfare.

GERMAN MISSIONARY ATTEMPTS TO WRECK BRITISH SHIP DWARF

London, Dec. 2.—A German tried to blow up the British gunboat Dwarf with an infernal machine in a West African harbor recently, according to a report to the colonial office. It was discovered that he was a missionary.

"When questioned how he found such an act compatible with his work," the report said, "he replied that he was a soldier first and a missionary afterwards."

SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS DON'T LIKE SOUND OF BATTLE

WANT UNITED STATES TO JOIN WITH THEM IN DEMAND THAT FIGHTING BE DONE IN OTHER SEAS.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The United States government has been asked by the principal nations of South America to co-operate with them in negotiations with the belligerent powers of Europe to bring about the exclusion of all belligerent warships from the waters of the two Americas and safeguard the trade of Pan-American countries with each other.

Argentina, Chile, Peru and Uruguay have laid their suggestions before the Washington government, while the Brazilian government is considering the advisability of taking a similar step. Practically all the Central and South American countries have been circularized by some of the principal nations, resulting in a series of diplomatic conferences in Washington and the capitals of South America, which are now in progress.

Trade Is Interrupted.

While the proposals are different in character and scope, they all seek the same end—the restoration of the trade of South America, paralyzed by the European war. The movement also has for its object the removal of possible causes of serious friction between the countries of this hemisphere and the European belligerents on questions of neutrality.

Already Chile, Ecuador and Colombia have had serious difficulties with the belligerents over the use of the wireless and the coaling of foreign warships, whose presence in the Atlantic and Pacific is growing obnoxious to South American countries. None of the nations which have made suggestions is committed to any particular plan, but all seek the co-operation of the United States.

Colombia's Explanation.

Don Julio Betancourt, Colombian minister to the United States, issued the following official statement:

"Mr. Metancourt, the Colombian minister, says that the government of Colombia has maintained every effort to compel all foreigners in Colombia to maintain the strictest neutrality ever since the European war broke out. He said that if either the English or the French governments have proofs of violations of Colombia's neutrality by any persons or corporations in Colombia and would present them at Bogota he could guarantee that most severe punishment would be meted out to the offenders.

"Mr. Betancourt pointed out that the wireless station complained of was now under government censorship in the same manner as wireless stations in the United States, but despite the most active efforts of the Colombian government to make its neutrality at all costs, one of the belligerents may have succeeded in erecting temporary wireless stations hidden somewhere along Colombia's long coastline on the Atlantic or on the Pacific.
