NEW ATTACK ON THE ALLIES FORCE GERMANS TO RETIRE

BRITISH WARSHIPS AGAIN BOMBARD THE BELGIAN COAST IN CONJUNCTION WITH LAND OPERATIONS--GERMAN HEADQUARTERS WITHDRAW.

(Special to The Daily News)
London, Dec. 9.—A dispatch from Rotterdam says another bombardment of the Belgian coast by British warships between the Scheldt and Nieuport began at 3 o'clock on Tuesday in conjunction with the land operations.

Allies Advancing.
London, Dec. 9.—The German official headquarters was re-estimated from Roullois when the British shells began falling on the town after the British recaptured Passchendale, northwest of Ypres. This is an important advance for the Allies.

Allies Gaining.
Paris, Dec. 9.—(Official.)—There was artillery fighting from the sea to Lys yesterday. All the positions won by the French in the past two days were strengthened. In the Aisne region artillery exchanges and fighting resulted in considerable gains for the Allies. Several German trenches were occupied.

DEPART OVERSEAS CONTINGENT MAY SOON LEAVE FOR FRONT

(By P. F. G.)
Willows Camp, Victoria, B. C., December 5, 1914.

The fourth week of the north-western arrival at The Willows tonight and within that time of us—eventful period advanced from squad, and company drill and led out the first month with initial battalion drill on the ground this morning. Under the immediate command of Lieutenant-Colonel Hall and his nine companies, including the base company, signallers, machine gun section and the other bearer corps were put through their paces as a complete drill. Afterwards, with our official photographer and the folks in the north will be presented before them the members of Canada's Overseas Contingent.

Proposals of the one big subject, will the 30th leave for the front, there was an announcement made last night at the adjutant's lecture to the non-commissioned officers that was met with tremendous cheerfulness when he said that events were now moving forward more rapidly and that the Canadian Pacific Railway had been authorized to make arrangements for the moving of some 1,200 infantry and 500 cavalry, between December 25 and January 5 from Victoria. Of course no definite date could be set, as the 30th has barely been outfitted and much is yet to be accomplished in drill, etc., but the informal mention of the prospect of moving at a very early date is received with satisfaction by all ranks, and it is now up to the men to make good for the final inspection. The past week has, thanks to improved weather conditions, permitted a far larger amount of out-door drill and what with route marches, company drill and skirmishing the interest of the boys has been kept alive from early morning until the close of the afternoon parade. B. Company is now complete with its 119 men and officers and the past week saw the return of Capt. C. W. Peck to take over the command of the company.

One of the pleasing features of the week has been the distribution of the splendid assortment of socks, gloves, wristlets, helmets, etc., sent down by the Daughters. (Continued on Page 4)

S. HAZELTON MURDER CRIME RECONSTRUCTED

On the reassembling of the court after the noon adjournment yesterday, Mr. F. S. Peters preferred not to call any witnesses for the defence. He felt satisfied that the Crown had made out no case. Mr. Fisher then addressed the jury. He did not think his case so weak as suggested by counsel for the defence. After careful consideration of the facts he had reconstructed the crime in his own mind.

There was no evidence that made it morally certain that the two men were at Hazelton station about 10:30 on the night of the murder. Taylor had taken a day off and on his way home from the Old Town passed Johnny May's cabin. He offered the Indian a drink and they spent the rest of the evening together. After leaving the station and approaching the Sealey Gulch bridge, where he should have been on duty, Taylor asked the Indian for the bottle, intending to treat his partner, who was doing overtime. The Indian refused to part with the whiskey, a drunken quarrel ensued and culminated in a brutal murder. The drunken Indian immediately started homewards, taking the broken bottle with him, intending doubtless to conceal all traces of the crime before daylight. He took off his blood-stained coat. FIRST DEATH SENTENCE GIVEN IN PRINCE RUPERT

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Rex vs. May brought in a verdict of guilty against the Indian, John May. The evidence was purely circumstantial but evidently no reasonable doubt remained in the minds of the jury as to how Albert Taylor met his death. Their decision was arrived at much more rapidly than was expected. After one hour's discussion they brought in an unanimous verdict.

His Lordship, through the interpreter, Mr. W. E. Collison, asked if the prisoner had anything to say. He replied nothing except that he was innocent.

His Lordship, addressing the prisoner, said: "You have had a fair trial and have been very ably defended and I have no other course but to pronounce sentence as the law requires. The sentence is that you be taken to the common jail at New Westminster and detained there until the 5th day of March next and then be taken to the place of execution and there hanged by the neck until dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

THEFT CASE POSTPONED— DELAY FOR NEW EVIDENCE

When the case of Rex vs. Harris was called this morning, Mr. Patmore, for the defence, asked for a postponement. The prosecution was bringing some evidence of which he knew nothing until this morning and he wished to work up his case today.

His request was granted, and His Lordship instructed the registrar to arrange for civil cases, today, if possible.

It is expected that Burrowes vs. Harrison will be taken up this afternoon.

PREMIER SIFTON OF ALBERTA ON A VISIT TO PRINCE RUPERT

IN COMPANY WITH DISTINGUISHED PARTY OF BUSINESSMEN HE SEES RUPERT FOR FIRST TIME—BELIEVES IT HAS GREAT FUTURE.

Hon. Arthur L. Sifton, Premier of Alberta, was a visitor in the city, coming in on last evening's train and returning this morning. He traveled in the private car of Mr. J. D. McArthur, the prominent railway contractor, who was also along. Others included in the party were: Mr. Balfour, superintendent of the Union Bank; Mr. S. B. Woods, of Edmonton; Mr. Charles Young, of the National Transcontinental Commission, and Mr. Fisher, a prominent lawyer of Winnipeg.

Mr. Sifton was interviewed by a representative of The News and proved to be exceptionally congenial and interesting. This was his first trip over the G. T. P. and he referred to the excellent roadbed and quality of service. The scenery, too, while perhaps not so lofty as that on the C. P. R. allowed a bigger scope of vision.

The mountains were farther apart, showing a much more valuable country. He was quite satisfied that the route would become a popular one for tourists.

When asked if he thought Prince Rupert would bear the same relation to Edmonton that Vancouver did to Calgary, he replied: "In a sense it will, but the traffic from Edmonton to Prince Rupert will be much greater than that of Calgary to Vancouver. You see, the best part of the Prairies is in the northern half. Edmonton in the last few years had increased in population very much faster than Calgary. Then the Peace River country belonged to the G. T. P. Edmonton and Prince Rupert would benefit greatly from the development of that country. The road from Edmonton to the Peace River, of which Mr. J. D. McArthur was president, was built for 250 miles and would soon be completed.

Mr. Sifton doesn't think that the P. G. E. will hurt this town. This being the main line and having the big shops and drydock will naturally make it the headquarters for the G. T. P.

Premier Sifton is a brother of the Hon. Clifford Sifton, formerly Minister of the Interior in the Laurier government.

AUSTRIA TO PAY FOR ITALY'S NEUTRALITY THROUGHOUT WAR

(Special to The Daily News.)
Rome, Dec. 9.—Prince Von Buelow, the new German ambassador to Italy, is authorized to negotiate a transfer of the province of Trent to Italy in exchange for the maintenance of her neutrality. He asserted that Austria, on Germany's invitation, will proclaim the independence of Trent, where the majority of the population is Italian, and after this is done Italy may occupy Trent. Austria will make a protest for the sake of appearances but Germany will recognize the annexation of the province to Italy. Besides this Trieste will be proclaimed free, although under Austrian protection.

The Kaiser has had a good many bad names hurled at him since the beginning of the war but a recent issue of The Scotsman produces evidence that relegates him to the Order of Annanais. This is what it has to say about him:

"The Kaiser's handling of international politics has been a record of continuous failure, and failure which has been stained on more than one occasion by duplicity. To give but one example of the moral obliquity of his diplomacy, it may be recalled that in 1908 he caused to be published in the Daily Telegraph an account of an interview in which he stated that he was Great Britain's chief friend in Europe, and that he alone had prevented the European powers from bringing pressure to bear upon us to stop the South African war. 'When the struggle was at its height,' he said, 'the governments of France and Russia invited me to join with them to call upon England to put an end to the war. The moment had come to humiliate England to the dust. Posterity will one day read the exact terms of the telegram—now in the archives of Windsor Castle—in which I informed the Sovereign of England of the answer I had returned to the powers, which then sought to compass her fall.' Incredible as it may seem in the face of this explicit declaration, it is now established that it was the Kaiser himself who concocted this plan for the humiliation of Great Britain, and pressed it unavailingly upon Russia and France. 'That the Kaiser was the first,' says Sir Valentine Chirol, in an article in the current number of the Quarterly Review, 'to suggest in St. Petersburg and in Paris the expediency of joint diplomatic attempts to stop the war, and that when his suggestions fell on deaf ears, he secretly warned the British government of the danger which he claimed to have averted, there is now no manner of doubt.' Corroborative testimony is given by Sir Donald Mackenzie Wallace in a pamphlet, entitled 'Our Russian Ally,' which was published a few days ago. 'The incident,' he says, 'has hitherto been kept secret, but may now be divulged,' and he goes on to state the Kaiser's proposals for 'clipping Britain's wings,' which included, besides the stopping of the war, an invitation to Russia to 'make a military demonstration on the Afghan frontier.' It is easy after this evidence of the Kaiser's lack of moral scruples to understand the small regard which he and his Imperial Chancellor entertain for 'scraps of paper.'

NEW APARTMENT HOUSE IS POPULAR

Nearly everybody was saying a few months ago that the apartment house idea was being overdone. That this is not so, is evidenced by the fact that the new apartment houses are all pretty well taken up. The latest to be finished is the McMorde Apartments, on Second Avenue opposite Lynch's store. The location is splendid, being in an open part of the city and with an excellent outlook on the harbor with its myriad islands and unsurpassed sunsets. The suites consist of three and four rooms, respectively, and have all modern conveniences, such as hot and cold water, bath, toilet, electric light and handy coal bins. The kitchens, which contain a range, are very convenient and compact, right in line with the modern idea of saving all unnecessary space. There is also ample space in the hallways and every room has a profusion of light. Considering also that Mr. McMorde has placed the rents at a very low figure, the suites have become very popular and a large proportion are already taken. Messrs. Bainter & Collart are the agents.

GERMANS WON'T GET CANADIAN FLOUR

Cannot Be Sent to Belgium Because Enemy Would Seize It.

London, Dec. 7.—The government has decided that the War Office shall have the greater portion of the first half of Canada's million bags of flour, the remainder being devoted to feeding distressed Belgians now here. The distribution already has begun. The War Office portion is going to the troops, which thus lessens the demand on the home resources, and will be a factor in steadying prices. The suggestion that some of the flour should go to Belgium is impossible of execution, as the Germans would certainly lift the whole lot for their own purposes.

GERMAN PRIVY COUNCILLOR CAUGHT STATING HALF LIE

QUOTED CAMBRIDGE PROFESSOR AS SUPPORTING HIS CASE WHEN DR. STARR JORDAN READ CONDEMNATORY EPISTLE.

Seldom is a public man caught in the very act of deceiving the public as was Germany's Privy Councillor in Boston the other night. It was at a great meeting of the Boston Economic Club. The fact that a Privy Councillor in the German Ministry of the Interior, a California University Chancellor, and three distinguished Harvard professors—Dr. Kuno Franke, who is a German; Dr. Leo Weiner, who is part German and part Russian, and Dr. Bushnell Hart, the American historian—were announced to discuss the war question, drew together the largest attendance of members in the club's history. One incident is notable as illustrating the "pedantic barbarism everywhere and persistently manifested by the most conspicuous spokesmen of German "kultur."

Dr. Heinrich Albert, the German Privy Councillor who has been the official spokesman for Germany on many recent occasions in American journals and before distinguished American audiences, spoke in the language of scholarship and with the accent of authority. He explained and defended Germany's relation to the neutrality of Belgium. He declared Belgium's neutrality had been "practically violated by Britain, France, and Belgium herself." He justified Germany's conduct by appeal to "the law of necessity," as interpreted by various authorities on international law. He put chief emphasis on the game of Dr. L. Oppenheim, Professor of International Law in Cambridge University, England, whom he described as in the front rank of the world's scholars. That name and its academic standing made an impression on the "neutral" Americans.

Immediately, Dr. David Starr Jordan, known the world over as a non-partisan internationalist, and who had already spoken, craved the liberty of endorsing the German Privy Councillor's estimate of Prof. Oppenheim, "perhaps the very greatest authority on international law," and Dr. Jordan's personal friend. "I visited him in England at the very time when these issues were trembling in the balance. Germany had not yet invaded Belgian territory. We both agreed that Britain ought not to interfere. But Dr. Oppenheim by birth and by education and by citizenship is a German. He was professor in Freiburg and in Basle before going to Cambridge. He is still a German citizen. At this moment I have in my pocket a letter from him written since the war began." Dr. Jordan read the letter as follows:

"Dear Dr. Jordan.—When we met last we did not know that Germany was perpetrating the greatest international crime which has been committed since the time of Napoleon I, namely, the violation of the permanent neutrality of Belgium."

"This deliberate act has changed

ed the face of the case entirely, and nothing can be done but to fight and to try to vindicate the authority of international law.

"I cannot tell you how I am suffering. I am entirely thrown out of gear. I sometimes think I shall not live to see the end of this dreadful war.

"L. OPPENHEIM."

It was not a surprise to find the neutrality in that distinguished Boston audience swing very positively not only against Germany's military methods of lawlessness and brutality, but also just as emphatically against the half-truth and half-falsehood methods of the German Intellectuals whose whole program has been proved to be the deceiving of the people and the newspapers of the United States. Ambassador Bernstorff is utterly and irreparably discredited. If the reputation of Prof. Munsterberg is more hopelessly shattered than that of his colleague, Prof. Francke, it is only because he has talked more. Dr. Dernburg has proved himself more plausible than the others, but no less misleading. Dr. Albert came to his undoing in the white light of his Boston experience when his half-truth was shown to be falsehood at its basest. That this is the fate of every one of Germany's Intellectuals who have undertaken so blunderingly to beguile American neutrality.

"And the parson made it his text that week, and he said likewise

That a lie which is half a truth is ever the blackest of lies; That a lie which is all a lie may be met with and fought outright,

But a lie which is part a truth is a harder matter to fight."

When you bake bread you want to get as much bread from your flour as possible. You cannot get full value in bread from poor flour. Your flour must be of the very best, made from Number One Hard Canadian Wheat by the best possible process—The Royal Standard. That kind of flour is "strong," it yields the maximum number of loaves from the sack.

Moreover, Royal Standard Flour is made in British Columbia and it makes jobs for over a hundred people. You can help yourself and the province both by using Royal Standard Flour.

"I have used "Fruit-a-lives" for Indigestion and Constipation with excellent results, and they continue to be my only medicine. When I first started about six years ago to use them, I took four at a dose but gradually reduced the dose to one tablet at night. Before taking "Fruit-a-lives", I took salts and other pills but the treatment was too harsh. I thought I might as well suffer from the illness as from these treatments. Finally, I saw "Fruit-a-lives" advertised with a picture in which some one recommended them very highly, so I tried them, and I have no hesitation in recommending them." ANNIE E. CORBETT. KAISER IS NOT A GREAT MAN-- GREATNESS WRONGLY ATTRIBUTED

ALLOWED A SYSTEM TO DEVELOP THAT HE COULD NOT CONTROL--NOT EXCLUSIVELY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE WAR.

(The Spectator, London.) In the popular imagination the Kaiser appears to be taking much the same place that was occupied by Napoleon Bonaparte a hundred years ago. Our newspapers are not perhaps quite as brutal in their references to the Kaiser as their predecessors were to his prototype, but the general populace is certainly unsparing of its epithets, and is frankly outspoken in its desire for personal vengeance. How far it may be possible and desirable to have a personal reckoning with the individual primarily responsible for the present war is a difficult political and international question which need not for the moment be considered. Our only present purpose is to try to form a somewhat better balanced conception of the Kaiser's character than that which seems to be gaining ground.

The primary mistake made by the public is the attribution to Kaiser Wilhelm II. of greater powers than he possesses. He is, as we have just said, primarily responsible for the war because he could, had he chosen, have prevented it. But to say that he was its only or chief organizer is to go too far. What he has done has been to permit himself to drift along with the tide of Prussian Junkerdom. Inheriting the traditions of the Hohenzollern House, he has leaned upon the military caste, but he has not had the strength to control his own prop. They call him in Germany Wilhelm the Greater, which may be a delicate way of saying that he is not 'the Great.' There is, in fact, nothing really great about the present German emperor, except perhaps his appearance. From the stage point of view, he plays the part of an emperor to perfection. He is always in the limelight, always on parade, and if great nations could be successfully governed by skillful actors Kaiser Wilhelm would have been an ideal emperor. The trouble is that behind his good acting there is little or no solidity. He is a man of many semi-accomplishments and wholly successful in none. For example, his eloquence has never really helped him. Indeed, it has often done him harm, for he has never remembered Bacon's cunning advice that Kings, if they must speak, should make long discourses and not use short, sharp sayings that fly about like darts. In the purely military sphere it is more difficult to ascertain what the German opinion of the Kaiser's qualifications now are; general failing due to his passion for histrionics, the Kaiser has a particular failing due to the semi-sacred character which he attaches to his own person and his own role. A man who can believe that he is divinely inspired in everything he does is necessarily devoid of a sense of humor as to be incapable of fairly judging his own actions. Already, indeed, the Kaiser seems to have reached a point in which he regards the Almighty as his personal subordinate. So much is this peculiarity of the Kaiser's self-conceit appreciated by persons who know him most intimately that even his own son publicly laughs at his father's vanity. There is a well-authenticated story that while the Crown Prince was in India he was strolling one night after dinner under the glorious Indian starlit sky when a companion called attention to a star of peculiar brightness which he could not identify. "Oh," said the Crown Prince, "I suppose that is some new decoration which my father has conferred on the Almighty." Even if the story be only invented, it serves to indicate a frame of mind in both father and son which is highly significant.

If the above analysis of the Kaiser's character is just, it would clearly be unfair to describe him as intentionally malignant. He is a man with a mission; his mission is to advance the glory of his House and of the German Empire. He does not wish of necessity to injure a single living creature; but if any living creature ventures to cross his path, of course it must be wiped out, as his generals were ordered to wipe out "French's contemptible little army." In the main, however, a man who has filled his mind with the conception that he is divinely inspired to carry out a mission is more dangerous than a man inspired by deliberate malice. For malice quickly betrays itself, and has no redeeming feature which will win the applause of the world; whereas the self-satisfied actor who can strut on the stage and fill the house with rhetorical mouthings, and appeal to sentiments which have always moved mankind, is sure to command a certain amount of sympathy, however mischievous his actual deeds may be.

That is the situation that Britain and her allies have to face in the present moment. There is no trustworthy evidence of any kind that the Kaiser is generally out of touch with his own people. In time of peace the Liberals may strive, not very successfully, to curb his autocratic power; in time of peace the Socialists regard him as their enemy; but now that war is in being the Kaiser is effectively the figurehead of his country. His people rally to him because he plays his actor's part so extremely well

SETTLED OUT OF COURT.

The case of Philpott vs. Beatty was settled out of court. Philpott was applying for an order to set aside a judgment by consent for $5,333, given by the Prince Rupert Fish & Cold Storage Company, Limited, to Mr. Beatty shortly before the company went into liquidation. This judgment is now set aside by consent of Mr. Beatty. There was also a counter claim of Mr. Beatty that Mr. Philpott's judgment, $2,500, be also set aside. This was dismissed. Mr. Philpott securing his judgment. The liquidators of the company, the Continental Trust Company, are also secured for $50 damages caused by the sheriff in levying on Beatty's judgment. It is understood that in view of settlement out of court Mr. Philpott and the defendant company rebated a portion of the cost by way of compromise. F. Peters, K. C., acted for Mr. Philpott; A. M. Manson for the liquidator of the Prince Rupert Fish & Cold Storage Company, and W. O. Fulton for Mr. Beatty. Mr. Beatty is a prominent financier of Toronto.

(Continued From Page One.) of the Empire. Color Sergeant J. E. Hammond on counting the number of gifts found that it would be impossible to supply every man in the ranks—there being some twenty-two short—so the boys drew for the presents. Needless to say every man among those who were lucky to draw a gift was highly appreciative of the kind thought that prompted those whose nimble hands had fashioned his present, and before leaving there is no doubt that every one will be a recipient of some token from the ladies of Prince Rupert.

There have been many visitors from the north out at the camp since my last letter, including Major J. H. McMullin, Lieutenant Pettigrew and Lieutenant Bullock-Webster, of the Prince Rupert Light Infantry; A. W. Edge, who sent up a box of apples for every section; George Kerr and several others. Among the wives of the men in Victoria just now are Mrs. George Gibson, Mrs. Reitel, Mrs. Percy Godenrath, and Mrs. Leslie, who will be down here until the departure of the 30th. Mrs. Captain C. W. Peck has been a guest at the Empress Hotel since her arrival in the south.

A further period of two weeks has been given probationary non-commissioned officers of B. Company to qualify and everyone is keen in attending both company and non-com. lectures, so that when the crucial day arrives they will at least have had an opportunity of learning much of the ethics of soldiering, and it will be up to them to make good to hold their stripes.

The Willows Camp has now at least 2,000 troops, as besides the 30th Overseas Battalion there are nearly 500 B. C. Horse and the commands of the Fifth (Artillery) Regiment, the 88th Fusiliers and the 50th Highlanders. These last two regiments are now taking on recruits, that will pass later on into the Third Canadian Contingent for active service, and with the Fifth Regiment also supply the men to man the defences at Esquimalt and other points on Vancouver Island. Every exhibition building is occupied to its capacity and scores of tents were erected this morning to take care of the 350 troopers of the B. C. Horse who are due in camp this afternoon.

CANADA'S ARMY IN MOVING PICTURES AT THE WESTHOLME THEATRE TONIGHT.

As an object lesson in patriotism and loyalty, tonight's pictures at The Westholme should prove invaluable and it is no doubt with this in view that the Dominion government set the stamp of its approval and authorization on these pictures, which bear the title, "Canada's Contribution to the British Empire." There are five full reels, showing the various mobilization camps at Victoria, Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg, Quebec and Valcartier. No doubt many faces will be easily recognized by their friends among the soldier boys at Victoria, Vancouver and Valcartier. The Westholme orchestra will play suitable selections of Canadian and British airs, including the famous battle song of the British soldiers, "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary."

S. HAZELTON MURDER CRIME RECONSTRUCTED

(Continued From Page One.) ed trousers and washed them in the river. He found only one paddle in the boat and, leaving bottle and blood-stained coat and cuff, started off to the ferry to get another. He found the ferryboat unlocked and in his dazed condition forgot the evidence he left behind and went straight home. He threw away the blood-stained shirt on the trail and arrived at his cabin about 12:40 a. m. in his underclothes.

Mr. Adair Carss ably summed up the case for the defence. He pointed out that no witness had been produced who knew both men and saw them together on the evening of the 28th. He emphasized the difficulty of identification on so dark a night. Circumstantial evidence is proverbially dangerous and in this case each link is very incomplete. The jury must consider a man innocent until he is proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt. Every step in this case was surrounded with doubt. He asked for acquittal.

His Lordship in charging the jury said circumstantial evidence is often stronger than direct evidence. It is not usual for a man to commit murder in the presence of eye-witnesses. Where facts might be easily explained, and the defence did not do so, the inference was fairly against the accused. For instance, why had the defence not brought evidence to show where the accused was after 6 p. m. on September 28, if he was not with the deceased. Drunkenness was no excuse for murder unless the murderer were absolutely incapable of forming an intent. Whether the murderer of Taylor was in this condition or not, the jury could judge from the position of the fatal wounds.

The jury retired at 3:50 p. m. and returned at 4:50 to ask for further definitions of "murder" and "manslaughter." His Lordship gave this information, and fifteen minutes later the jury brought in the verdict of guilty.

NEW SUBSTITUTE FOR PHYSICAL EXERCISE

Most people are ill because of their abnormal living. They do not take proper exercise or give their bodies half a chance. The trouble is that most people have not time in these strenuous days to attend to these matters. Consequently a system has been started to take the place of this, which consists of a massage treatment combined with vibratory and electric currents. This will immediately reduce obesity, strengthen the muscles, quicken the circulation, stir up a torpid liver, bring nerves to their normal condition, remove the broken down tissues and build new ones, giving you an exhilarating tone, putting a dash in your eye and a snap in your step.

Miss B. Kayne has recently come to this city and being an expert in this line is opening up an office in the Alder Block, where these up-to-date treatments can be had. She is a graduate of the Loma Linda College in California and her methods are the very latest results of science.
