ANOTHER TURKISH ARMY CORPS SURROUNDED

FRENCH LOSE HEIGHTS OF STEINBACH--STILL HOLD VILLAGE--ACCIDENT IN N. Y. SUBWAY

STEINBACH HEIGHTS LOST-- FRENCH ROUTED BY BAYONET

VILLAGE OF STEINBACH IS STILL IN HANDS OF FRENCH--SEVERE FIGHTING REPORTED IN MANY QUARTERS.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Paris, Jan. 6.—The French official report records the defeat of two German attacks south of St. Georges.
Artillery engagements in which the French had the upper hand characterized the rest of the line to the Aisne and in Champagne.
In the Argonne the lost territory in La Grurie we regained, and the German attacks were repulsed.
At Courte Chaussee half a mile of German trenches were blown up.
In the region of Thann, in Alsace, despite heavy cannonading, the French succeeded in retaining the gains at Steinbach and the neighboring region, but the Germans won back the trenches on the nearby height.
Constantine Garibaldi was killed at the head of the Italian volunteers in a successful attack on Courte Chaussee, recorded above.

What Berlin Says.
Berlin, Jan. 6.—The German official report says that the French yesterday continued a systematic bombardment of the villages behind the German front, with apparent indifference to the killing of French countrymen and the destruction of French homes.
At Souain and in the Argonne several French trenches were captured.
The French again obtained a foothold on the heights west of Cornay, in Alsace, but were driven back by the bayonet.
In Poland, west of the Vistula, the Germans reached the Sucka River, taking 1,400 prisoners and nine machine guns.
The situation elsewhere is unchanged.

A WALL OF YPRES MUSEUM.—The Museum of Ypres has been entirely destroyed. One of the walls of the famous structure shows what the bombardment did.

ANOTHER TURKISH ARMY CORPS SURROUNDED BY THE RUSSIANS

AGGRESSIVE MOVEMENTS OF THE TURKS CRUSHED--RUSSIA NEXT TURNS TO TRANSYLVANIA AND ROUMANIA WILL LIKELY JOIN HER.

(Special to The Daily News.)
Petrograd, Jan. 6.—It is reported that the Tenth Turkish Army Corps has been completely surrounded near Ardhan, in the Caucasus, and is now being harassed by the Russian cavalry and doomed to extermination.
The Ninth Corps surrendered two days ago.
The roads along which the Turks sought to retreat were blocked by snow and their position is helpless. The conclusion here is that this is the end for a considerable period of the Turkish threats against Caucasian Russia; and this great victory has been achieved without in any way weakening the Russian strength in Poland and Galicia.
The Russian drive through Bukowina is now successfully concluded and the next step will be against Austrian Transylvania, in which possibly Roumania may take part.

Joffre Rejoices.
Petrograd, Jan. 6.—An official statement issued last night says that our troops gained a complete victory over the Turks at Sari Kamysh. We have beaten two Turkish army corps. At the same time we made the entire Ninth Army Corps prisoners. Included among them was the commander, as well as three division commanders.
Small bodies of Turkish troops which succeeded in escaping are being rigorously pursued and destroyed as overtaken. We are continuing the pursuit in other parts of Turkish forces, which are in full retreat.
Gen. Joffre's Congratulations.
Paris, Jan. 6.—General Joffre has sent a message congratulating the Grand Duke Nicholas on the great victory which he won in the Caucasus.

GASBOAT TOOK FIRE-- BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE

Took Fire on Way to Porcher Island and With the Assistance of Fishermen Towed Into Delusion Bay.

W. R. Morrison had the misfortune yesterday to lose his gasboat. He was proceeding to Porcher Island, where he has a party of men at work putting in bunkers for his gravel pit, when the engine caught fire. The time was about 4 o'clock and he was about two miles from Digby on his way to Porcher. The flames almost at once enveloped the boat, and Mr. Morrison was compelled to take to his dinghy. A fishing boat was within call and came to his assistance. They tried to get a rope fastened to the bow but this was soon covered with flames. Then they fastened a rope to the stern and towed it into Delusion Bay, where it sank in comparatively shallow water, after the boat had burned down to the water's edge.
The boat carried insurance which partly covers the extent of the loss.
The boat carried a 25-horsepower engine and was in first-class shape. It had been used by Mr. Morrison in towing the garbage scow as well as for his own business in towing sand and gravel.

NOTE SENT TO BRITAIN ON FT. ERIE SHOOTING

Canada is Expected to Make Apologies and Pay Indemnities to Families of Men.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Formal representations were made to Great Britain through the British ambassador regarding the action of the Canadian troopers in firing on American duck hunters, near Fort Erie.
These representations will be followed up by others of a more definite character as soon as Secretary of State Bryan receives a full report on the details of the incident. He stated that he had advised the American vice-consul at Fort Erie to interview all witnesses and parties concerned, including those who did the shooting. He instructed the vice-consul to take charge of the body of the man who was killed, and provide all medical treatment necessary for the wounded man.
That Canada will make formal apologies for the incident, denying responsibility for the action of the troopers, is thought certain. She will probably be asked, however, to pay an indemnity to the family of the dead man and to punish those who did the shooting.

PROHIBITION WILL BE PUSHED IN ALBERTA

Province-Wide Organization to Be Formed to Achieve "Dry" Victory in June.

A movement has been launched in Calgary to promote a vigorous prohibition campaign throughout Alberta with a view to carrying the province-wide plebiscite on prohibition which will be submitted to the electors in June. Harold W. Riley is the chairman of the new organization, which has been formed, and Rev. R. Pearson has been delegated to take care of the publicity department.

The proposed prohibition legislation was initiated, according to the terms of the act, by petition, which received the necessary number of signatures, and then passed the provincial Legislature at its recent session.

It now goes to the people and it is here that the big contest will occur. The prohibition men have resolved to leave no stone unturned to put Alberta in the list of "dry" territories and the preliminary organization has been formed with the intent of effectively organizing the whole province and pushing the propaganda everywhere.

The herring have at last begun to pour into the harbor. Several boats have been busy all day and appear to be getting all the fish they can handle. It is reported that they have been exceedingly plentiful outside the harbor for several days. Fishermen say they never saw bigger schools. The cold storage people are busy putting away all they require for bait and sale.

GERMAN AVIATOR SCATTERS GREETINGS

Drops No Bombs, but Leaves Letters—Pathetic Appeal From Colonel.

Dunkirk, France, Jan. 6.—A German aviator paid a visit to Dunkirk during Christmas week, but he dropped no bombs, only peaceful Christmas greetings. The hazardous trip from the German lines was undertaken at the request of a Prussian colonel, who wanted to know where his son, killed at Soissons, was buried, and the parcel of letters and cards which the aviator dropped into the principal square of the city contained a letter asking for this information, together with letters from several French airmen, prisoners in the hands of the Germans.

The cards were signed by the aviator himself, and bore the conventional greetings of the season, together with a message that he had been led to undertake the mission by his admiration for the gallantry of the captured French airmen.

CATASTROPHE IN NEW YORK-- CAR IN SUBWAY TOOK FIRE

LATEST REPORTS INDICATE THAT LARGE NUMBERS LOST THEIR LIVES--TOOK PLACE DURING MORNING RUSH TO BUSINESS.

(Special to The Daily News.)
New York, Jan. 6.—More than one hundred persons were overcome by smoke, cut, bruised and otherwise injured in a fire aboard a train in the Broadway subway near 55th Street at the height of the rush hour this morning.
In the panic, the police reported, a score lost their lives, but later it developed that there was only one known death.
Scores were unconscious, but prompt oxygen work saved them. The entire fire fighting force of Manhattan was engaged in the rescue work and streets were torn up to get at the two burning cars.

Latest Report.
New York, Jan. 6.—From fifty to two hundred persons lost their lives early this morning in a subway fire which is not yet under control. Firemen are dynamiting the streets to get at the dead and dying.

CONSULS IN BELGIUM.

German Request for Cancellation of Exequators Not to Be Hurriedly Dealt With.

Washington, Jan. 6.—There is no disposition on the part of Germany to hurry its request for the cancellation of exequators held by neutral consuls in Belgian territory under German military rule, according to State Department officials. The German note was sent by mail to the Washington government, which will consider the subject at length before making a decision.

It is generally understood that the United States will avoid any action which might be considered a political recognition of the German possession of Belgium. While officials did not comment on the contents of the German communication, they intimated that it contained no evidence of any desire to place the American government or neutral nations in an embarrassing situation.

It is pointed out that a situation somewhat similar to that in Belgium might be raised by Great Britain with respect to neutral consuls in Egypt, lately made a British protectorate. Neutral consuls hitherto have been accredited to the Turkish government as well as to the Egyptian authorities, but unless Great Britain raises the question there will be no change in the status of American consuls.

EDITORIALS

If there is anybody who is not familiar with the part played by Attorney General Bowser in the Dominion Trust Company, he had better read the report of an address by Duncan Ross in this issue. The wonder is how a man guilty of such grave charges can be kept out of the "Pen." It lends color to a statement recently made that if half of the acts of the McBride government in the last few years were uncovered it would place a number of them behind the bars. Perhaps the fear of exposure was the reason why the assets of the province have been squandered in securing a unanimous following. There is an awful day of reckoning awaiting the men who have been guilty of placing this province in its unenviable situation.

It was bad enough for Germany to break into Belgium and trample under feet the liberties and possessions of that country, but their recent conduct is worse than that. They are at this moment compelling the starving Belgians to contribute stores and money for the upkeep of the German army. This, too, in the face of the fact that the charities of the world have been called upon to supply these people with the necessities of existence, and after that Germany has announced the formal annexation of Belgium. If this is the treatment she has in store for the colonies she has been trying to secure it is no wonder if the world in arms should refuse them and make it impossible for her ever to secure an additional foot of land.

G. S. Viereck, editor of The Fatherland, New York, is urging the American people to "stop the war in sixty days" by shutting off American supplies from the Allies. The following letter, written to the New York Evening Post, makes a neat reply, and shows the attitude of a big majority of the American people:

"Germany, having made war, and preparations for war, the chief concern of human existence, is presumably well supplied with guns and ammunition and manufactories thereof. She has the great Krupp works with 90,000 men working night and day and she has taken the Belgian arms-factory at Liege and turned it to her own service against Belgium, with probably 10,000 men more. Now if she can prevent France from getting arms from this side of the water, she can conquer her enemies in sixty days or less.

That it what Mr. Viereck means by bringing the war to an end. He means ending it successfully to the country which began it. The American people are to enable the Germans to march into Paris in sixty days, or less! . . .

"But what then? Germany would levy contributions in cash and territory to suit herself, and, having thus planted the seeds for future wars, would begin to prepare for them, and would still call them defensive wars. It is needless to say that the people of the American hemisphere do not want this war to end merely as an armistice, to break out again as soon as the chief belligerent can get his second wind."

NORWAY AFRAID OF THE KAISER'S GIFT

Statue of Fritjof, Presented by War Lord, Removed From Its Pedestal.

London, Jan. 4.—From a Norwegian woman comes the following illuminating instance of the Kaiser's disinterested friendliness to Norway. The lady's story is as follows:

"The Kaiser used to come to Norway every summer to 'rest.' As a rule, he brought several warships with him. As he was very friendly and always gave presents to towns, acting the part of a good fairy, his officers were allowed to take the warships into all the fjords, and I feel sure that the Germans know a good deal better than our Norwegian navy the depth of every little fjord in Norway.

"Some time ago, to show his gratitude to the hospitable Norwegians, he gave a statue to the country. It was as big as an ordinary lighthouse and was of the Norwegian hero, 'Fritjof,' one of our ancient kings. It was by the Kaiser's order, to be set up at a certain point, where, incidentally, it would prove a magnificent mark for a hostile force.

"As it was put up—you may well wonder at the Norwegian government—the whole statue was of polished metal and looked like gold. Even at night it shone, and the right arm pointed to the mouth of a fjord, very difficult to find by day or night. But at last the Norwegian government has wakened up. They cut off that arm and altered the position.

"Now, after war has broken out, the lovely gift of the Kaiser has been packed, bit by bit, and it rests (forever, I hope) in some big boxes stowed away in some big warehouse. Don't you agree with me that the Kaiser's gift was a 'friendly' one?"

London, Jan. 6.—The New Year's honors list contained no new peers. The Earl of Aberdeen, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and formerly Governor General of Canada, is raised to the rank of marquisate, and Viscount St. Aldwyn (Michael Hicks Beach) is elevated to an earldom.

DUNCAN ROSS FLAYS BOWSER OVER DOMINION TRUST COMPANY

COMPANY ALLOWED TO RECEIVE DEPOSITS WITHOUT AUTHORITY—BOWSER KNEW THIS AND KNEW COMPANY WAS BROKE, YET PERMITTED ITS EXISTENCE.

At a public meeting recently held in Victoria Duncan Ross had the following to say about the Dominion Trust Company and the part W. J. Bowser played in it:

"During the last few weeks the public have been interested in the lamentable failure of the Dominion Trust Company. Some have been financially crippled by the failure of that concern. No doubt there are some here tonight whose investment or deposit of savings has been made valueless. The provincial liquidator appointed by the court, C. R. Drayton, in his report, states that the depositors, the great majority of whom were workingmen, putting their savings in relying on the fact that the company was incorporated by Act of Parliament and under the supervision of Parliament—that these depositors have practically no standing in law because their deposits were made with an institution that had no authority to receive them.

"There must be a reason for this anomalous state of affairs, and the reason is Hon. W. J. Bowser, Attorney General.

"Let me briefly give you the history of the Dominion Trust Company. It was incorporated with a capital of $5,000,000, of which two and one-half millions are paid up. There are 837 shareholders, 267 belonging to British Columbia, 115 to Great Britain, and others scattered through the Dominion. The people at home here and in the mother land invested their money in this institution, relying upon the fact that it would be properly inspected by the officers of the government. Not only have the savings of the people of British Columbia been wiped out, but a deal of the money we have been always looking for from the motherland is lost as well, giving the province another black eye.

"The company was first incorporated in 1903 under the Provincial Companies Act as the Trust Agency & Loan Corporation, Limited. It had power to receive money on deposit, but not to pay interest on deposits. You are fairly safe under that because if there is no interest there is not likely to be any deposits. In March, 1905, the powers were extended and the name changed, and among the powers given was that of paying interest on deposits. In 1908 this company got further powers from the provincial Legislature.

"Incidentally, throughout all this, the solicitors for the Dominion Trust Company were Bowser, Reid & Wallbridge, at the head of which firm is the Attorney General of this province. The company was managed by a very ambitious young man, W. R. Arnold, who got so ambitious that in 1912 he applied to the Dominion Parliament for Federal incorporation, and asked that the Federal company should take over the business of the provincially incorporated company. The bill got into Parliament and came before the standing committee which deals with that class of legislation. That body took the usual course of striking out of the bill all powers asked for as to receiving deposits, following the policy that has always marked Parliament of leaving banking to the banks. The Dominion Trust Company was, therefore, incorporated without authority to receive deposits.

"That did not seem to worry the company or Mr. Arnold, because their solicitors were Bowser, Reid & Wallbridge. At the next session of the provincial Legislature a bill was introduced amending the act of the Dominion Parliament, and granting power to the Dominion Trust Company to receive deposits and pay interest. The Department of Justice said to this: 'Oh, no, Mr. Bowser, you are all-powerful in B. C., but you cannot amend a Federal statute. Your legislation is ultra vires; you can go a long way but you cannot do that.'

"So the Dominion Trust Company for a whole year continued to receive deposits under legislation of the province which was ultra vires, obtained for it by W. J. Bowser, Attorney General of the province. You will find in the statutes of 1913, chapter 89, this legislation amending an act never passed by the provincial Legislature but one passed by the Federal Parliament. On attention being drawn by the Department of Justice to this being beyond the power of Mr. Bowser and his Legislature to do, Mr. Bowser, in March, 1914, introduced a bill in which he promptly repealed the power to receive deposits.

"For a whole year it had received deposits under improper legislation, and then for nearly another year it received them after losing this shadow of power. The reason was that it had received from the law office of Bowser, Reid & Wallbridge, more powerful to amend legislation than the Legislature itself, a document which I will trouble you by reading at length. This fake trust agreement which I have in my hand was prepared in the law office of Bowser, Reid & Wallbridge. If there are any depositors here they will find it pasted in the fly-sheet of their pass-book—an agreement between the Dominion Trust Company and its depositors, not authorized by the provincial Legislature and in direct opposition to the only legislation it has, that from the Dominion Parliament. Here is what it says:

"DOMINION TRUST COMPANY.
 "Savings Deposit Company.
 "DOMINION TRUST COMPANY, hereinafter called the Trust Company, hereby acknowledges to have received from the registered owner of this Pass Book, as shown by the books of the Trust

CLEMENCEAU URGES JAP INTERVENTION

Former French Premier Argues This Would End Property Destruction in France.

Paris, Jan. 5.—Georges Clemenceau, former Premier of France, in a two-column article, breaks a lance in favor of Japan's armed intervention in Europe. He writes:

"When Lord Kitchener said the war was likely to last six months or three years he evidently overlooked the fact that it is taking place chiefly on French territory, and that it is therefore France who most suffers from the wanton destruction of lives and property. It is unquestionably to the interest of all concerned that the Allies should be able to overwhelm their foes and thus end the terrible conflict."

Clemenceau does not see any reason why the Allies should scorn the help of Japan while the intervention of other powers at present neutral would be welcomed, but he adds that the matter would naturally require long negotiations, and that the transport of troops is also no light, quick task. He therefore urges the Allies to immediate action, and suggests the calling of a diplomatic conference for preliminary negotiations in order to gain time, and have Japan's troops on the European battlefields early in the spring.

Japan's intervention has been much discussed here, although Hanotaux has taken an attitude against its realization. His chief argument is that France should decline Japan's help in order to retain as much as possible "the purely French character of the final victory."

This argument is not considered convincing, as, in case of victory, France, says Clemenceau, "could hardly claim all the laurels, since Britain, Russia, Belgium and Serbia would have contributed their resources to the result."

ONTARIO SESSION LATER.

Government Won't Call It as Early as Was Reported.

The New Ontario government, according to reports from the East, does not intend to rush into a session of the Legislature with quite the hurry which was first predicted. Unless unforeseen events occur the session will meet either the last part of the first week in February, or early in the second week. The exact date has not yet been decided upon.

The administration of the liquor license law will not be transferred from the Provincial Secretary's department to that of the Attorney General, as was rumored some time ago.

Company and hereinafter called The Depositor, the sums entered herein from time to time and initiated by the duly authorized officers of the Trust Company in trust for investment on account of the Depositor upon the following agreement, viz:
"1. THAT the said sums shall be invested or loaned upon such securities as the Trust Company shall deem safe and advantageous to be taken in the name of the Trust Company, but to be held by the Trust Company as Trustee for that Depositor.

"2. THAT the Trust Company shall guarantee the repayment of the above mentioned sums upon demand or upon fifteen days' notice at the option of the Trust Company, together with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. Interest will not be allowed on deposits remaining less than one calendar month. Accrued interest will be added on the last days of March, June, September, and December, to all accounts open at those dates, computed on the minimum amount on deposit during each calendar month. The rate of interest payable to Depositor by Trust Company to be subject to change, or variation upon fifteen days' notice in writing to the Depositor, such notice to be sufficient if sent by letter addressed to the address shown by the books of the Trust Company.

"3. Deposits will be repaid only to the Depositor in person, except in case of unavoidable absence, when the written order of the Depositor, duly authenticated and accompanied by the Depositor's pass book will suffice.

"4. THAT in consideration of such guarantee, the interests and profits (if any) resulting from the investment or loaning of the said sums mentioned, over and above the rate of interest payable to the Depositor by paragraph 2 shall be retained by the Trust Company as and for its own benefit as remuneration for such guarantee and management.

"5. UPON the payment of the sums hereinafter mentioned and guaranteed interest the trust securities shall become the property of the Trust Company freed from the terms of the trust and without any formal assignment or release from the Depositor, and this pass book must be given up to the Company, SIGNED and dated at Victoria, etc."

"The ipse dixit of Bowser, Reid, & Wallbridge is more powerful than an act of the provincial legislature. Under the trust company legislation of the province provision has been made for the thorough inspection of trust companies. After the passage of the Dominion statute in 1912 the officer of the finance department who may also be held to be acting under the authority of the attorney-general, had full power to go to the offices of the Dominion Trust Company and say that not one further dollar should be received on deposit because it had no authority to receive such money. But that officer, in the person of the inspector of trust companies, was stopped by this provincial statute, which had no value in law.

"If Mr. Bowser was as solicitous for the interests of the public as for those of his clients, the Dominion Trust Company, from the passage of the Dominion act, not one dollar could have entered the company's coffers, and nearly one million dollars of workingmen's savings would have been saved to those workingmen who had and have a right to look to W. J. Bowser to protect them when they place their savings with a company subject to government inspection. That, though, was not the worst of it. When he found that the legislation passed by himself and forced through the legislature would not be upheld by the Dominion authorities thority of Dictator Bowser and not by any authority of Dominion or provincial parliament; in fact, the legislation of the province was ultra vires. So the man primarily responsible for the loss of the depositors' money is W. J. Bowser. The company was in 1912 incorporated by the Dominion without any authority to receive deposits. It continued to receive them without authority for a year. In 1913 Mr. Bowser had passed legislation amending a Federal act, which he had to have repealed the next year on the intimation of the Department of Justice that otherwise it would be disallowed, after it had given the Dominion Trust another year of illegal power.

"Then when the last vestige of assumed authority was destroyed he advised the company to get around it by pasting this fake agreement in its pass-books and when he had nothing else to do to help his clients he had prepared in his own law office this fake under which the Dominion Trust continued to carry on until it failed, receiving deposits which it has never had power to receive since 1912, and deceiving depositors into the belief they were still depositors when they were contracting to lend."

Several questions were asked by persons in the audience, and it was quite apparent that the subject is a very live one. The fake agreement came in for a lot of warm condemnation, one speaker calling it a plan to "chase the devil around the stump," and another describing it as a hoodwinking of the depositors. The fake was further explained by Mr. Ross, who pointed out that, stripped of its legal verbiage, it simply meant that instead of being depositors, as they thought, the depositors were lending their money to the company.

STILL LOOTING BELGIUM.

Germans "Requisition" Merchandise to Value of 57,000,000 Francs From Country.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The Belgian minister has filed with the State Department a protest against the requisitioning by German military authorities in Belgium of merchandise worth 57,000,000 francs. He asserted that the policy of the Germans meant "the ruin of industry in Belgium."

The protest set forth that the goods were not taken for the use of the German army, and that consequently the seizure was in violation of the fourth Hague Convention. The merchandise included cotton, rubber, tool machines, canned goods and metal.

The Housekeeper is Right

Sometimes a housekeeper requires a quick leavening agent, and finds she has no baking powder.

What does she do?

She raises her biscuit by a mixture of cream of tartar and soda, or soda and sour milk. She may not get the proportions quite right, but she knows her food is safe. But does she ever use a mixture of alum and soda? Was there ever a housekeeper who bought alum and soda to make a home made baking powder? Intuitively she feels it would be unsafe.

Then why use baking powder made from alum or the same mixture that the housekeeper would not dare to mix and use in her food?

Alum is alum, whether bought in the drug store or in baking powder.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

LODY LIVED IN VANCOUVER.

Notorious German Secret Service Agent Spent Year on Coast.

Investigations made recently are said to have disclosed the fact that Lody, the German spy who was executed in the Tower of London about a month ago, was a resident of Vancouver for a year previous to transferring his activities to Europe. While in Vancouver he was in the employ, it is declared, of a German real estate firm which had offices on Pender Street.

Lody was proven to be one of the most dangerous members of the great German espionage organization, which has ramifications all over the world. He posed as an American citizen, having secured a passport which lent color to his assumption. Long residence in the United States also enabled him to pass muster as an American. His trial created a tremendous stir in London. He was tried by a military court-martial and shot.

Although no particulars are available as to the extent of Lody's activities while in Vancouver, it is understood that he secured much information of value to the German secret service department.

Many a candidate who imagines the eyes of the whole world are upon him isn't even known outside his own precinct.

CAUGHT KONIGSBERG IN SHALLOW WATER

Details of the Bottling of German Cruiser on East Coast of Africa Exploit of H.M.S. Chatham.

That the German cruiser Konigsberg is effectively bottled up in the Kelwa River, German East Africa, is established by a letter which has been received by Mr. J. R. Connorton, of Olive Street, Victoria, from his brother-in-law, Mr. Stanley Bardo, of Zanzibar. A brief telegraphic dispatch was received some time ago announcing the fate of the Konigsberg, but no further particulars have been received. Mr. Bardo gives details which make it clear that the vessel has been put out of commission for the rest of the war.

Following are extracts from the letter referred to, which is dated November 11, on the point in question:

"They have got the Konigsberg bottled up in the Kelwa River. She is seven miles up. She has taken her wireless masts down and has tied branches of coconuts on top of the masts to make them look like coconut trees. H. M. S. Chatham has found her there, and is now keeping guard at the mouth of the river. They are going to take a collier, called the Newbridge (She has hundreds of tons of the best Welsh coal aboard) up the Kelwa River and sink her so that the Konigsberg cannot get out. The Chatham sent a launch up this river about seven miles. She suddenly came on the Konigsberg just around a bend. The Germans started firing at once, and hit one man on the launch. The Chatham sent several shells at the Konigsberg without being able to see her. According to some natives several shells hit her. They also struck a mail steamer called the Somali, which was full of ammunition and stores. She caught fire, and has been destroyed. A shell also hit a steam launch going from the Konigsberg to the Somali and sunk it.

"November 12.—I have just got news of the Konigsberg. H. M. S. Chatham went back to the Kelwa River with the collier. The Konigsberg had come down in the night to the mouth of the river, and was anchored there just round a point. The Chatham bombarded her with 6-inch guns, and the Konigsberg went back up the river six miles. The collier had armor plate put all around the chart house where all her men would be. They put the Royal Naval Reserve men on her, and sent her up the river, followed by the Duplex, a smaller boat, which was to take the men off the collier when they were ready to sink her. All the way up the river they were fired on from both sides with 3-pound guns. The Duplex was like a pepper box. The armor plate saved the naval men. They got the collier up to the narrowest part of the river, and left for the Duplex. A hole was blown in the collier by means of an electric wire, and she was sunk in the right place. Two of our men were killed and fourteen wounded. One of the R. N. R. officers, Lieutenant Triggs, had a shell pass right through his shoulder, and I am afraid that the arm will have to be amputated."

BUY COTTON AND COPPER OUTPUT

British Economist Has Scheme For Solving Contraband Problem

London, Jan. 6.—Arthur Kitson, author of various works on economics, writes to the Morning Post suggesting that the simplest way out of the difficulty between Great Britain and the United States arising from the detention of American cargoes by British warships is for the British government to contract to take the entire copper and cotton supply of the United States for the next year or two. Mr. Kitson says it would be a profitable undertaking, as it would shorten the duration of the war by depriving Germany of these commodities and England could supply neutral countries with such quantities of them as would satisfy their local demands.

Prince Rupert has already the nucleus of a miniature army. The tramp, tramp, of little feet and the strains of "Tipperary" is a familiar spectacle down town. The little shavers, about knee-high to a grasshopper, have already at least caught the spirit of war's pageantry, and with a little rod for guns thrown across their shoulders they strut around like real soldiers. Thus throughout the world the present war is sowing the seeds for the next.

Ed Hoffman, a Russian, was sentenced by Judge Young this morning to two months in jail on a charge of stealing $50 from a fellow-countryman. His Honor, in sentencing him, said he was going to deal lightly with him, as the intent to steal was not clearly established. There was too much of this going on in the city and he was going to deal severely with it in the future.

Dan Martin, who conducts a boatbuilding business at Cow Bay, is reported to be seriously ill in Vancouver. He took blood poisoning in his hand several weeks ago and was treated in the hospital for several days. He insisted, however, on going to Vancouver before he was quite well, and had a relapse on the way down. He was taken to the hospital in Vancouver from the boat, and is still in a serious condition.

In comparing the price of fishing supplies in Prince Rupert and Seattle yesterday, The News stated that gasoline was 6½ cents in Seattle and 49½ cents in this city. It is not gasoline but distillate which sells at that price, and is used entirely by the fishing boats. It should also be remembered that in Seattle they quote "wine gallons," while here we have the "Imperial" gallon, about a sixth larger. The price of a wine gallon here would be about 16½ cents.
