In the Vosges and in the eastern theatre the situation is unchanged.

KING ALBERT HAS SCANDINAVIAN AID

Copenhagen, via London, Jan. 10.—The Politikep prints the following message from King Albert of Belgium:

"I am deeply touched by receiving your telegram in which you express the heartiest feelings of sympathy for Belgium. The Scandinavian people have contributed greatly toward mitigating the sufferings of my people, who had faith in treaties and devoted themselves to the defence of their honor.

"I appreciate especially the great sympathy shown by the Scandinavian nations. The Scandinavian in history demonstrates the high spirit of independence which animates them.

"Please give my best thanks to all noble minded and generous donors in Scandinavia. (Sgd.)
"ALBERT,
"King of Belgium."

GERMANS OPPOSE TROOPS FRATERNIZING

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The German army authorities have issued a general order prohibiting in future troops in the field from fraternizing with the forces of the enemy, as they did at several points in the western theatre of war at Christmas. To such an extent was this fraternizing carried out that at one place where Germans and British played football on Christmas Day they agreed to suspend hostilities for two days more.

EFFECT OF ROUMANIA'S CO-OPERATION WITH RUSSIA.—The northern and southern armies of Roumania are in a position to take the Austrian armies on their flanks and to compel a retirement from the whole east half of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, thus removing the menace to the Russian left flank, which has postponed several times the invasion of Germany.

KARLSRHUE SUNK

(Special to The Daily News.)
 Havana, Jan. 13.—It is now claimed that the German cruiser Karlsruhe was sunk by the British several weeks ago in spite of the fact that she was reported recently by American vessels.

ATTEND SERVICE, BUT KEEP POWDER DRY

London, Jan. 13.—Writing to his brother at Southampton, Admiral Sir John Jellicoe says: "On Christmas Day we waited for the Germans, who did not appear, but we managed to find time for church and for three celebrations of holy communion, although the whole time we were cleared for action and all the men were at their guns."

WORLD IN TROUBLE.

The debenture holders of the Vancouver paper sold so as to get back their money before the paper goes so far behind that they will lose it all. The case was deferred till today, when winding up proceedings will probably be granted by the court. A sworn statement shows the finances in a bad way.

TO THE ELECTORS OF PRINCE RUPERT.

Ladies and Gentlemen:
 Wishing to study more fully the details of municipal government, I place my name in nomination as Alderman for 1915, and respectfully request your vote for the same.

With municipal ownership, improved schools, fair play, economy, new work and standard wages as guiding principles, I shall honestly endeavor to justify the confidence if you see fit to elect me.

Thanking these in advance who may decide to vote for me, I am,
 Yours respectfully,
 9-10 WALTER SHAW.

COL. SEPTIMUS DENISON,
 At present Adjutant General of the Canadian militia, who has been appointed to command the Ontario Infantry Brigade in the Second Canadian Contingent.

MEASURE OF RELIEF IS TO BE AFFORDED BUT NOT MORATORIUM

Vancouver, Jan. 9.—As the Provincial government has not yet formulated any definite plans as to what measure of relief will be given in place of a moratorium enactment, Attorney General Bowser, when interviewed by the Vancouver Board of Trade, could make no definite statement as to the government attitude. A committee of Mr. Jonathan Rogers, president of the board; Messrs. C. E. Tisdall, M. P. P.; W. H. Malkin, H. A. Stone and Secretary Blair had been appointed on Thursday to interview the attorney general on the subject.

The question came up by a complaint to the council of the board that statements purporting to have come from the attorney general on the moratorium question were injuring prospective investments. It was said that one man alone was withholding an investment of $175,000 on account of the statements said to have been made by the attorney general, which had given rise to the belief that there would be a moratorium enactment.

While Mr. Bowser made it quite clear that there would not be a moratorium, as the term is commonly accepted, there might be some measure of relief. He intimated that the matter might be left to the discretion of judges before whom cases might come.

He gave the committee an instance of what he meant: Were a man to owe some $2,000 on a house, and the interest became due, and on account of circumstances induced by the financial stringency of the time said person could not pay up, he should not be forced to the wall on that account. The judge before whom such a case should come would be in a position to say whether or not the circumstances were sufficiently extenuating to allow the debtor further time in which to meet his obligation.

GERMAN DESERTIONS ARE GETTING SERIOUS

(Special to The Daily News.)
 Paris, Jan. 13.—It is reported that the Germans are strictly guarding the Dutch frontier to check an epidemic of desertion. Eleven thousand Germans deserted to Holland from the Bruges garrison in December.

 I appeal to the thinking, impartial ratepayers to support me for re-election as Alderman with their vote and influence. I stand for limiting expenditures to city income.

RUSSIANS AND TURKS FIGHT BATTLE INCLINES TO RUSSIA

92ND TURKISH REGIMENT TAKEN PRISONERS BY THE RUSSIANS AS WELL AS MILITARY CAMP WITH MILITARY SUPPLIES.

(Special to The Daily News.)
 Petrograd, Jan. 13.—The General Staff report says that in the Caucasus the fighting at Olti, 35 miles west of Kars, continues obstinately.

The bitter fight in the Karagan region inclines in Russian favor.

The 92nd Turkish Regiment was captured, including fourteen officers and fifteen hundred men, and also a platoon of the 52nd Regiment.

The Russians are reported to have captured a military camp with supplies in Turkish territory.

The Turkish army is reported to have occupied Tabriz, Persia.

GERMAN ATTACKS CONTINUE VIOLENT

(Special to The Daily News.)
 Paris, Jan. 13.—The French official report says that bad weather hindered the operations everywhere.

The Germans have made successive and partially successful attacks in the region around Spur 132, northeast of Soissons. Violent artillery engagements are progressing as far east as Argonne.

In the Vosges the snowfall has stopped the Allies' advance.

B. C. UNDERTAKERS WILL OPEN HERE

A new undertaking establishment has just been started in town that seems destined to become a permanent fixture. Mr. Bruce Morton, a bright and energetic young business man, for three years with Centre & Hanna in Vancouver, has arrived in town and will be associated with C. O. Rowe and A. La Fortune, well known locally.

They have purchased the stock ordered by the Dominion Undertakers, which was dissolved owing to the departure for the front of A. Allet, the manager.

The premises at 117 Second Street, formerly occupied by Fisher's undertaking parlors have been secured and are being remodeled and renovated so as to be in a first-class and sanitary condition. They will open for business on Monday.

Mr. Morton is a native of Bruce, Ontario, and is the third generation that has followed this line of calling. He looks like a winner.

TO THE ELECTORS OF PRINCE RUPERT.

Ladies and Gentlemen:
 Having consented to my name being placed in nomination for Alderman, I depend on the business and workingmen's vote for election. As I am not running in the interest of any political party, corporation or individual, but as the people's candidate for the advancement of Prince Rupert, and if elected, will do my utmost to advance the interest of all business and workingmen, and the city in particular. And also any agreement entered into between the city and any corporation or individual must be lived up to.

Faithfully yours,
WILLIAM BEVERIDGE.

CANADIAN CONTINGENT IS IN GOOD HEALTH

(Special to The Daily News.)
 Toronto, Jan. 13.—Lieutenant Colonel Hodgetts, the Red Cross representative at Salisbury, cables reassuringly of the health of the Canadian Contingent. The total general illness is only 3.6 per cent.

There were only twenty-six cases of cerebro spinal meningitis since the landing, with fourteen deaths.

Of general diseases, 11 were pneumonia, 101 influenza, 4 diphtheria, 2 measles, 2 scarlet fever and one typhoid.

ON YELLOW DOGS

A public man visiting New York a number of years ago found the Tammany politicians of the city rejoicing greatly over a clean sweep in the municipal campaign for their gang rule. One of the leaders, speaking with the visitor, remarked, "We control New York in our fist and could elect a yellow dog to office on our ticket."

The same man was visiting New York some five years later and another election campaign had just closed. Meeting the same political boss, he remarked: "What's the matter, Old Timer? Why are you so glum?" "Oh, we just had a bitter defeat," was the reply. "I thought you told me your party was so strong you could elect a yellow dog?"

"So I did," returned the boss, "but the trouble is we elected too many yellow dogs."

Conservative politicians, take notice.

The G. T. P. is bringing a number of empty fish cars back to Prince Rupert every week, when they might be hauling coal for local consumption from the Yellowhead Pass. The city some time after testing this coal decided to do business in that line if the G. T. P. would give a freight rate of $3.50 per ton. Figuring on a fish train of eight cars, which carry fifteen tons each, the railway could make nearly $500 per trip that they are now missing, and at the same time help out the citizens of Prince Rupert. It might be contended that fish cars could not be used for carrying coal but as the fish are stored in boxes it doesn't appear how it would hurt the fish and certainly it would not hurt the coal. It might be necessary, of course, to make a special kind of car, with a movable top as well as side doors. A keen business head would soon solve the problem and make this extra money. Will the G. T. P. wake up?
The Springfield Republican, while recognizing the military strength of Germany, says that it has not accomplished the wonders that were predicted. "It has not scattered the French army like chaff. There has been no Metz, no Sedan."

Five months of fighting have left the Germans in possession of foreign soil, but on the defensive.
"So far as one can see Germany's bolt is shot; it can resist obstinately for a long time, but short of dissension among the Allies, of which no sign is discernible, it is hard to see how it can win. Its armies can be replenished from reserves, but they cannot be enlarged. On the other hand, Russian strength has not been expected to reach its maximum before January 1, and in the spring Great Britain will have a powerful new army to send to the Continent."
The Republican then proceeds to discuss the prospects of peace. The Allies, it says, will not be ready for peace till they have cleared their soil of invaders, and if Germany is invaded German pride may make negotiations for peace difficult.
There are many persons who predict a long and exhausting war if, and after, Belgium, France and Poland are cleared of the invaders. But there is another side to that. German obstinacy is being manifested today to the fullest extent. We cannot imagine the Germans fighting any harder for their own soil than they are now fighting for Belgium and parts of France and Poland. If they are defeated upon the ground they have chosen, it will be only after their armed force is broken or very seriously impaired; and it is with armed force that all calculations and prophecies must deal.

We do not venture into the group of prophecy as to whether the war will be long or short; but there is good ground for the supposition that the Allies are now doing their hardest work. The longer they hold Germany off, the stronger they become and the weaker Germany becomes. If they succeed in driving Germany out of the invaded countries, upon what new resources can Germany draw? It may be said that German patriotism will be strengthened by the invasion of German soil. But there has never been any lack of patriotic enthusiasm for the war in Germany. Even the successes achieved over poor little Belgium have been greeted in Germany as glorious victories. It is doubtful whether German enthusiasm will be strengthened by the invasion of Germany; and if that period arrives, it will find Germany with her armed forces greatly weakened, and her power of resistance reduced.—Toronto Star.

SOUNDS LIKE BUSINESS.
London, Jan. 11.—Earl Kitchener, when asked when the war would end, is reported as saying, "Don't know when it will end but I do know when it will begin and that is in May."

FRANCE CALLS UPON HER COLONIAL SONS
Men of St. Pierre Miquelon Are Ordered to Be Ready for Service.
Halifax, N. S., Jan. 13.—Every able-bodied man between the ages of 18 and 42 years has been ordered to hold himself in readiness for military service in France, according to advices received in Halifax by M. Legasse, a St. Pierre merchant now visiting Halifax. The men of the fishing fleet which makes its annual visit from France to the grounds of St. Pierre were called back early in the war. They were all reservists and expected the call. The natives of the islands remained, however, and continued the shore fishing.

It is estimated that out of a population of 5,000 there are at least 1,200 men who will be included in this order, and when they depart for France about 500 families in St. Pierre Miquelon will be left without support. It is suggested that there has been some misinterpretation at St. Pierre of the order received from France. According to the advices from the islands the order also includes men of St. Pierre.

It is understood that if there has been no mistake representations will be made to the French colonial minister to have it ameliorated. According to the advices received mobilization commences shortly.

ITALIANS FLOCKING HOME FROM STATES
"Thousands of Italians are flocking to the Eastern Coast cities of the United States to catch steamers for Italy. This was something that struck me as very significant."

This was the statement of Dr. Reverdy C. Ransom, editor of the A. M. E. Church Review, who has just arrived at Toronto from New York, to lecture at the University Avenue Baptist Church (Toronto) on the "Ideals of an American."
Dr. Ransom said that the effects of the European war were being felt very heavily in the Southern States, where tons and tons of ginned cotton were lying useless and awaiting shipment.

RUSH TO CANADIAN WEST IS FORESEEN
Ottawa, Jan. 13.—That the high wheat prices which prevail will attract an unprecedented influx of American immigration to the Canadian West this year would appear probable. A very large number of inquiries have been received by the Immigration Department from United States farmers and all indications point to the fact that the West will have many new citizens.

GERMAN COURTMARTIAL WILL YET BE REVERSED
Brussels, Jan. 11.—A German courtmartial at Liege has sentenced a retired Belgian general and Lieutenant Gille to life imprisonment on a charge of assisting 350 Belgians to join the Belgian army in France.

REASON FOR SECRECY ON RECRUITING TOLD TO HOUSE OF LORDS
London, Jan. 13.—"We have every reason to be satisfied with the rate at which men are coming into the army, but nothing will draw from me the number recruited, for the reason that the value of such figures to the enemy would be enormous," said Baron Lucas, speaking for the government in the House of Lords.
"We know that Germany is raising large numbers of new troops outside of the usual military organization from a part of the population not usually trained in arms," Baron Lucas continued. "No information could be of greater value to us than to have details concerning the progress of that work and how many men they are getting and training. The number they have or wish to have would be information of the very highest military importance to the Allies."

CANADIANS MAY CROSS CHANNEL WITH BIG ARMY
Montreal, Jan. 13.—A Salisbury dispatch to The Herald says: "There is a persistent report in the camp that the Canadian expeditionary force will move on January 15. Every officer and man in the contingent believes that in less than four weeks the Canadians will conclude training and enter the theatre of war."
Whether or not this report is true it is impossible to say, but there have been several developments lately in connection with the training of the Canadians which would lead one to believe that there is some foundation for it.

It has been generally stated that Kitchener's huge army will begin to pour into France next month, and the Canadians, as well as the British territorial regiments, are considered a part of this force. Of Kitchener's army, it is expected that the Canadians will be the first to cross the channel, following closely on the heels of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, the first regiment from Canada to go."

BERLIN REPORT
Berlin, Jan. 11.—The German official report states that the French attack at La Boisselle has failed completely.
The enemy, who had established themselves in a small section of the German outer trenches at Soissons attacked afresh, but unsuccessfully, and the battle continues.
East of Perthes, the Germans recaptured that portion of their trenches which the enemy had taken, heavy French losses.
In the Argonne German attacks have made progress.
In East Prussia and Northern Poland the situation remains unchanged.
German attacks in Poland west of the Vistula are making slow progress, the weather being unfavorable.
John Bass, correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, is reported from Warsaw to have been wounded in the face by bursting shrapnel.

"I am a veteran of the Crimean War and the Indian Mutiny, volunteering from the Royal Artillery into the Royal Engineers, and served under Lord Roberts during the Indian Mutiny, and am a pensioner of the British Government. Pierce hand-to-hand fighting and continual exposure left me a great sufferer from Rheumatism, so much so that my legs swelled up, making it impossible for me to walk. WHEN PEACE HAS RETURNED—HOW CANADA WILL PROSPER

LEADING ECONOMIST THINKS THE WAR HAS SILVER LINING FOR CANADA—GETS ADVANTAGES WITHOUT LOSSES OF CAMPAIGN.

Nineteen hundred and fourteen is a year the world will never forget. It is doubtful if since the year one a more momentous date stands out in the annals of mankind. In face of this world-upheaval, many Canadian happenings and tendencies, economic and social, have shrunk in interest for the present, and so many new factors have been introduced by the war that it is impossible to make even approximate estimates of the current situation. It is difficult to take stock of an earthquake while it is still in progress.

End of Speculative Spree.
In the early part of the year the sobering up after our long speculative spree was still going on. We were realizing that we had discounted the future years ahead, alike in speculative values and in much of our railway and municipal construction. The men and the millions that had poured in so freely from overseas were slackening, and the artificial prosperity they brought was fading away. The bumper crop longed for to give a fresh impetus to industry and investment did not come. An occasional gleam like the Calgary oil episode brought back locally the hopes and the recklessness of the good old days of 1900-1911, but for the most part the people of Canada, even those who had not been able to find still greener tenderfeet to whom to pass on their holdings to Eldorado City subdivision property, were facing the situation frankly.

Then came the crash of war. At first it brought dismay and threatened paralysis, but realization that the war had to be fought as doggedly at home as in the trenches, and that there were very notable silver linings, soon rallied business men, in Canada and elsewhere, throughout the Empire. It would be foolish to pretend that the war has not worked and will not work great economic injury, but the claim that the silver linings are broad and substantial is based on solid facts; it is not merely an uncertain plan of self-hypnotism.

Canada's Fortunate Position.
For one thing, we are now in the same box with all other lands. Before the war we stood out before the world as the chief of speculative sinners, and our troubles brought little sympathy but much patronizing advice. Now the greater crash has swallowed up the lesser. All lands, warring and neutral alike, have been shaken to their economic foundations. Our troubles become fairly respectable when viewed as the result of a world cataclysm, not of our own bad judgment. We can blame it all on the Kaiser; one little burden more or less on his head will not matter. When we start again we shall start more nearly on a level than if the war had not come, even though all nations will be nearer to the bottom.

Nor does war mean to Canada one-tenth the economic loss and suffering it brings to the warring lands in continental Europe. Our crops are not trampled by marching hosts, our factories not shelled by the foe. The sea is open to us, thanks to the absolutely overwhelming superiority of the allied fleets, and the machinery of exchange is working fairly normally.

Benefit to Producers.
With our equipment for production uninjured, all that was needed was a market and credit facilities for the marketing. Credit facilities, after the patching up of the broken down machinery of international exchange, have been reasonably well provided. In spite of some natural criticism from disappointed borrowers, it appears clear that the banks of Canada have not only proved able to weather the storm themselves but to give essential accommodation. And as to markets, the crippling of the European food producers has given our farmers a market at wartime prices, and our manufacturers have been greatly stimulated by war material orders. While the conclusion that as many industries have been helped as hindered by the war is unduly optimistic, as railway traffic returns and other general indexes show, conditions are better than any but the most courageous dared to hope in the fateful days of early August. War, too, by stopping immigration and by absorbing the unemployed, or rather a number equivalent to those who would have been unemployed, in military service at home or abroad, has left Eastern Canada, at all events, seemingly less affected by unemployment than in 1907.

Borrowing From Grandchildren.
The bill for all this will come in some day. We shall have to pay in heavy taxes and in scarcity of capital, we and our children. We have, in fact, tided over a crisis by borrowing from our grandchildren. It is perhaps excusable sometimes to ask posterity to do something for us who are doing so much for posterity, but it is a dangerous remedy, only to be used, like breaking the baby's bank, in last resort. It is true that, even from the strictly economic point of view, the war expenditure cannot all be accounted waste. We save more, take up another hole in our belts, spare other luxuries to provide the funds for the luxury of war. And if the Allies win, and win decisively, if they smash Prussian militarism and, true to their professions, surmount the temptation to be Prussianized in their own ideals, then part at least of the load of armament will be taken off the staggering nations' shoulders, and posterity be given more than we have taken away. And of course it is not only in money scales that this war is to be weighed; freedom and honor and democracy and all we fight for cannot be balanced against any economic advantage. For all that, a waste is no less waste because it is the lesser evil, and if for any one nation reasonable war outlay way be considered a necessary insurance premium, for all nations together it is absolute and shameful loss.

Gain to United States.
The United States stands to gain relatively most by the war. Already the tide there seems to have turned, and when the war ends it will apparently be launched once more on a period of prosperity. That means much for Canada, since, for weal or woe, independently of all tariff arrangements or political sympathies, our commercial fortunes are very greatly affected by those of our great neighbor. Prosperity south of 49 will be reflected north of it. After the war, too, this continent, though perhaps particularly the United States, is going to look very good to warring Europe; immigration may fairly be expected on an even greater scale than before, a scale such as to compel and to permit more careful sifting than in the past.

Increasing Production.
One of the most obvious features of the year has been the awakening to the need for increasing production in every line. We have built the machinery, now it is up to us to deliver the goods. The fear of "draining the country" by exports which prevailed some three years ago has given way to a feeling of the absolute need of making ends meet by increasing exports, even to the dangerous United States. The "Made in Canada" movement, pressed with the vigor of necessity, will do its part in making exports and imports more nearly balance. The new sense of the importance of the farm, of the difficulties which the farmer faces, of the need for the investigation of farm methods, credit, marketing, which was so notable a development of last year, has not continued to mark 1914.

Co-Operative Action.
Especially significant was the recent meeting in Winnipeg between the farmers and the manufacturers, the frank recognition of need to study the other side, and the constructive policy jointly advocated. There will be less barren criticism on both sides hereafter if the promise of this meeting is sustained. Another important tendency is the growing interest in co-operation, among producers and consumers alike. Such experiments in both buying and selling as those made by the grain growers of the West, the co-operative credit associations of the Desjardins type in Quebec, or the yet untried Saskatchewan form indicate the possibility of our finding a happy medium between the stark individualism and the looking to the State for help which have been too often our own alternatives.

More co-operation between individuals in the same occupation, as well as between different classes and sections of the community, may well be the best gift of 1914 to the economic Canada of the future, just as greater co-operation in political affairs is one of its legacies to the Empire.

—O. D. Skelton, Professor of Economics, Queen's University.

BRITISH ARMY IS MANEUVERED FROM LONDON BY WIRE

In Private Soldier's Overcoat and Cap Sir John French Slips Across to England.
London, Jan. 4.—(Correspondence)—For three days the operations of the British army in Flanders were directed by telegraph from the home of Sir John French, near Hyde Park, London, during the general's recent visit here. While it took Wellington three days alone to get a message to Whitehall and as long to receive a reply during the Waterloo campaign, General French was able to communicate directly with Sir John Archibald Murray at the base headquarters at St. Omer, France.
Attracted No Attention.
From a man who was in close touch with Sir John during his recent visit to England, the following details are learned:
"General French arrived at Folkestone, wearing the overcoat and rather soiled cap of an enlisted man. He made no attempt to disguise himself fotherwise and on the channel boat attracted no notice whatever. At Folkestone, he was met by Lord Kitchener and both proceeded by motor to Walmer Castle, near Deal, where Premier Asquith resides. There a council of war was held, attended also by the leaders of the two political parties.
Met His Majesty.
Sir John then came to London, where he attended council the next two days, the King being present on one occasion. His nights were spent in his own home, where hourly messages were received direct from his headquarters at the front. On his trip by train from Folkestone to London and on his return from Victoria Station none of the passengers gave a second look at the old soldier in the private's coat and cap. Nor did they on the boat during the trip to Calais.
On landing at Calais, however, General French appeared in his full uniform of field marshal and was enthusiastically acclaimed by the crowd as he drove through the streets to the station. General French is said to have remarked that this would be his last visit to London until the end of the war.

IN TWO PLACES AT ONCE.
Much Doubt As to What Happened to the Von Der Tann.
Vancouver, Jan. 11.—Saturday night and Sunday reports were received from various places in Brazil of a fight between the German cruiser Von Der Tann and the British cruiser Invincible, in which the German boat was said to have been sunk with all on board. No official confirmation has been received of this story, which appears to be discredited. A Petrograd dispatch today says that the Von Der Tann was damaged by a collision in German waters several weeks ago, and if this is true she could not have been in the South Atlantic at all.

AMERICAN BERNHARDI TALKS VERY LOUD—WOULD TAKE CANADA
Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—The United States, in the next half century, will increase in population from 100,000,000 souls to 400,000,000.
So Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Old Plymouth Church, New York City, told member of the Board of Commerce, in an address here. While this is in process, the United States will be forced to seize Mexico, Central America and Western Canada, Dr. Hillis declares, because of their geographical location and because Americans own great volumes of land.
Dr. Hillis' address was, perhaps, the most enthusiastically received of any offered before the Board of Commerce. Five reasons were given by the speaker why the United States would be supreme "tomorrow." They are: Political democracy, educational democracy, industrial democracy, ecclesiastical democracy and the American family.
"As long as we maintain a high standard of morals and rear pure and large families," said Dr. Hillis, "our success is assured in the centuries to come. It is when a nation falls into an idle mode of living through its wealth that it falls as a world power. I do not believe the United States is going to do this."
"We will ultimately intervene in Mexico and take it over," Dr. Hillis asserted. "Americans own millions of acres of land in Mexico, and the government has spent $325,000,000 on the Panama Canal in Central America."
Chief Justice Hunter's Comment.
When asked for a statement in reply to the remarks made against him by Hon. W. J. Bowser in Kerrisdale on Friday evening, Chief Justice Hunter said: "I must decline to enter into any newspaper controversy. It would be against the ethics of the bench for me to reply to public attacks. The Court of Appeal is open to anyone who feels aggrieved at any judgment of mine. I can only remark that it seems strange that the Attorney General is under the impression that the Court of Appeal sits at Kerrisdale instead of at Victoria. This, perhaps, is not to be wondered at, as in my thirteen years' judicial experience I have seen Mr. Bowser but once in court."

MUST NOT INTERFERE WITH CAMPAIGN PLANS SAY GERMAN GENERALS

Kaiser Definitely Set upon—German Government Said to be On the Verge of Making Big Loan
London, Jan. 13.—The Daily Mail publishes a statement said to have been made by a neutral business man who has just returned from Berlin. According to his statement, the Kaiser is now definitely barred by his generals from interfering with the strategy of the campaign. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, the national idol, is reported as having made his non-intervention a condition of retaining command in the east.
The Daily Mail's informant also says that the German government is on the verge of issuing a huge new war loan, at least as much as the preceding issue of $1,250,000,000, and that the Germans boast there is abundant money to subscribe it. The Berlin banks are said to be offering 2 per cent interest on deposits, which is depicted as an indication that they do not particularly feel the need of attracting cash to their vaults.

FRIENDLY IS BRITAIN'S REPLY TO U. S. NOTE
Great Britain Points to Alleged Fraudulent Practices by U. S. Shippers.
Washington, Jan. 10.—Great Britain's preliminary reply to the note of the United States government in the treatment of American commerce by the British fleet, was made public here and in London today by mutual agreement between the state department and the British foreign office.
The British communication concurs in the view of the United States that commerce between the neutral nations should be interfered with only when imperatively necessary, and officials of the Washington government construed it as conceding that the principals expressed by the American note were just and upheld by the previously accepted usages of international law.
The only formal comment made tonight was contained in a brief statement issued by Secretary Bryan, who said:
Preliminary Answer
"This answer being preliminary and not being intended as a complete reply, we will postpone comment until the full answer is received."
Briefly, the British note, while conceding the principles of the American government's contentions, points out difficulties in actual practice, refers to alleged fraudulent practices by shippers and cites statistics showing an increase, rather than a decrease, in support of Great Britain's suspicions that Germany and Austria have been indirectly obtaining contraband through neutral countries. The note promises, however, that Great Britain "will make redress whenever the action of the British fleets may unintentionally exceed" the limits of international law.
